120 miles of Subway!

Here and there in the vicinity of Sudbury, tall headframes rise from the rugged landscape. Deep down, as much as a mile beneath the surface, more than 120 miles of underground railway have been built. On its tracks 146 electric locomotives haul ore from the working areas to the great hoists which lift the ore to the surface.

Most of these locomotives are powered by Edison nickel-iron batteries—which are themselves partly made of nickel—but some 20-ton giants, like the one in the picture, operate by trolley from overhead wires and can haul as much as 130 tons of ore in one train.

120 miles of subway would be a major undertaking anywhere. In the Inco mines, each mile is an example of the planning and engineering necessary when 13 million tons of ore have to be raised to the surface each year.

Map of World Now Is Ready For Distribution

"As maps go it's attractive, but nothing to rave about," says E. D. Baldock, chief federal cartographer. "As far as we were concerned it was just a job that we worked on when there was time."

They worked on it at different periods, because the surveys and mapping branch of the mines department gives top priority to maps of Canada.

This is the first world map done by the Canadian government branch in 16 years, and in an interview Mr. Baldock confessed it involved a great deal of frustration.

OLD PLATES USELESS

Plates used to print the last world map published by Canada were politically out of date, and anyway they were worn out because they had been used to print 100,000 copies.

Then, conditions after the Second World War were chaotic from a cartographer's viewpoint as boundaries were being changed and countries were acquiring new status.

So instead of revamping the prewar drawings it was decided to start afresh on a design measuring 45 by 25 inches.

COLORING PROBLEM

One big problem was the application of 53 tints on the color map, which shows sea trade routes and Canadian diplomatic posts abroad.

The iron Curtain countries are tinted yellow.

The map shows the 38th parallel partition between North and South Korea and the three boundaries of the Indochina states of Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam.

Closer to home, Canada is shown with such recent geographic details as the railroad leading to the Knob lake iron ore centre in northern Quebec, the aluminum city at Kitimat, B.C., Baker lake, Uranium city and other mining centres in the Canadian North.

27 Persons Meet Violent Deaths In East Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ontario had 15 fatalities, Quebec eight, Nova Scotia two, New Brunswick and Newfoundland one, a Canadian Press survey shows.

Highway accidents claimed 14 of the victims. One person was drowned and one died in a hunting accident. Other causes were shootings, fire, asphyxiation and a mine rockfall.

Peter Landry, 58, of Pembroke, and Sgt. James Cardinal, 28, of Camp Petawawa, were fatally injured Saturday night when struck by a car driven by Barry M. McCormack, of Cobden, Ont., at the outskirts of Pembroke. Landry's wife is believed to reside in Sudbury.

Mrs. Julien Lacroix, 23, of Thunder Bay Beach, a Georgian bay resort area, died Saturday when a truck driven by her husband went out of control and struck a tree beside a road near here. Her husband is in serious condition in hospital.

At Binbrook village, near Hamilton, Albert Fletcher, 58, was struck by a car Saturday night and fatally injured. Earlier, Rondald Hover, 22, of Toronto, was killed when the car in which he was riding struck a telephone pole near Hamilton.

Only weekend drowning was that of William Lynch, 43, of Woodbridge, near Toronto, a father of six children who lost his life when his boat upset in Luther swamp near Orangeville.

Ontario provincial police are investigating the double shooting Saturday night at Arnprior of Clifford Desmond Presley, 31, and his wife Dorothy, 27, found dead in an upstairs bedroom of their farm home.

A fire in Toronto early Saturday took the lives of Mrs. Rita Walton, 21, and children Vernon, 1, Leslie, 2, Barbara, 6, and Rosemary, 11. Two other children escaped when fire destroyed their second-storey apartment. The father, John Walton, 33, was hunting in northern Ontario.

Mrs. F. M. Shearer, 72, died Saturday night when she and her son, Gordon, 38, were overcome by carbon monoxide while sitting in the kitchen of their Peterborough home. Her son was released from hospital after treatment.

A 36-year-old mucking machine operator, William George Third, was killed Saturday when struck by a piece of falling rock underground in a Timmins area mine.

Two men were killed and two others seriously injured Saturday in a collision between two trucks at Sept-Iles, Que. Dead are Narcisse Gagnon, 38, and J. Abel Grenier, 35, both of Sept-Iles.

Two women were killed in a two-car collision Sunday night at St. Fabries de Beauvirage, Que. Their names were not immediately released.

new Esso EXTRA WINTER GASOLINE

the gasoline that gives you protection against

- carburetor icing
- gas line freezing

Does your car stall when idling? Research now proves a major cause of this is ice in the carburetor and gas line! Yes, ice! Even at above-freezing temperatures—in fact up to 55°F.—ice forms. To overcome this, Imperial Oil developed NEW Esso Extra with special anti-icing qualities that prevent stalling. This new gasoline also prevents gas line freezing . . . you no longer need to add remedies to the gas tank . . . or need run the risk of your car refusing to start.

If you stall, don't blame your engine until you try new Esso EXTRA

OTHER GASOLINES
a major cause of engine stalling

As you start your car, air is sucked through the carburetor and gasoline enters the air stream. As the gasoline evaporates, it chills the carburetor. Moisture in the air condenses on this chilled metal and freezes into ice, if the humidity is high and the temperature between 55° and 28°F. When idling, the ice forms a bridge between throttle plate and carburetor wall, the flow of the fuel mixture (see arrow above) is stopped . . . the car stalls.

NEW Esso EXTRA
Prevents stalling
caused by carburetor icing

New Esso Extra will not, of course, stop stalling due to mechanical defects but the special anti-stalling qualities of new Esso Extra prevent the formation of ice from the moisture in the air. The opening between the throttle plate and carburetor wall cannot become bridged with ice. The fuel mixture (see arrow above) continues to flow through the carburetor to give you smooth performance, free from stalling.

'Boom-Boom' Spearheads Canadiens To Double Victories Over Week-End

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

FOR A WHILE!

The Memos were "Kings For a Week-end" regardless of what happened last night in Cornwall and Clinton. Saturday night games saw the Kingston Goodyears rip into familiar form and hand the strong Cornwall aggregation a 6-3 setback, while down in Brockville the Magedomas treated a capacity house to a 6-3 victory over the Whitby club. The league is developing into a tense, hard, evenly-fought struggle with no team as yet showing power enough over the rest of the pack to break away into a commanding lead.

From the playing standpoint, only four points separate the cellar dwellers from the top-keepers in this loop, since the Memos gained an extra pair of points and Whitby lost ditto through the protest over an ineligible player. That is a far cry from the group of a year ago when the ultimate provincial champions, the Oshawa Transporters, pulled away at the start into a lead they never relinquished but twice during the schedule—and they were overnight affairs so to speak.

Unless one or other teams of the loop crack, and that doesn't appear likely at the moment, this eastern Senior "B" group has all the earmarks of a hard-fought nip-and-tuck struggle right down to the wire. And the fact that only four of the seven clubs are eligible for playoff berth will make the battle all the more interesting. It is too early to make any predictions, although some of the experts have some inkling as to the extent where they have picked a group winner, or at least the playoff-berth "coppers."

The "feeling-out" period of the first two weeks of the schedule has resulted, in this department's opinion, at least, that there is a decided scarcity of "weak sisters" in the group. All but games thus far have resulted in close scores with the exception of the Kingston-Clinton game when the Goodyears won 10-1. The rest have ended in two or three goal margins which indicate that no team is a pushover for any or all of the rest. In other words it looks to us, if the present pace and apparent equality of strength maintain themselves, that it is a "yer pays yer money and tykes yer choice" affair.

FOOTBALL

The powerful bout of Jacko Thompson and the hip-swivelling capers of the speedy halfback, Casey Schreiber and Ron Stewart put the hearts of the Golden Facts of Queen's supporters back into normal position Saturday afternoon after the winless Redmen at Ole McGill had turned a comfortable first half score into ashes. The best the surprising Gaels could do in this half was two points, thanks to Thompson's educated boot. However, Schreiber and Stewart schooled the "All's well" in the second chapter when both flyers ripped off 45-yard runs into pay-dirt. The Gaels won 28-8 and enter the intercollegiate play-offs for the first time since 1937.

Meanwhile Varsity and Western hooked up in a 13-13 stalemate in London which leaves the playoff question in this Senior collegiate race a knife-open affair with the two teams tied for first place a distinct possibility when the schedule ends next Saturday. Queen's meet Varsity on that date at Toronto—and here that should be a battle—while Western clashes with McGill down Morrpall way. Varsity and Western victories would give Queen's, Varsity and the Mustangs eight points each. However, if Queen's win and McGill pulls a miracle, there will be no playoffs.

Scores seemed to be in order Saturday for down Montreal way the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in a Big Four playoff rehearsal with the Montreal Alouettes, gave plenty of notice they will be no pushovers for "Peahead" Walker's Larks next Saturday when the big game is scheduled. The Larks had to ruffle their feathers—and did it in a dramatic fourth quarter, to pull the game out of the fire to win 19-15 but the Tigers' claws had left their mark. Fisk Flow, too, and Hamilton's Montreal rat the gate and a fifty-buck fine for being a bad boy.

In Toronto the Argos and Ottawa Rough Riders went through the motions before the smallest crowd of the season, and the Toronto club handed the Ottawans an 18-12 defeat, their twelfth setback in 13 games. Nobby Wirkowski flung two touchdown passes to Al Pfeiffer to clinch the verdict for Argos.

Meanwhile, closer at home, Coach Johnny Sissons of the Quinte High School, can take a well-deserved bow. Johnny, a former grid star, coached his first Belleville secondary school team to a COSSA championship in Bowmanville, Saturday. Johnny welded his juniors into a well-balanced squad and the youngsters came back with a brilliant performance to show their appreciation.

* * *

But on the other grid fronts it was not so good. Up in Peterborough Bev Goulding's perennial PCVS champions maintained their record defeating BCI seniors 23-3 to sop another title. Here in Belleville, the Oshawa CI gridders scored two last-minute touchdowns to edge the BCI juniors 20-17 in a hard-fought tussle.

BILL GREEN PASSES

Sportdom, especially in the ranks of the oldtimers, suffered a severe shock this morning with the news of the sudden passing of Bill Green at the Hotel Belvedere. Bill belonged to the rugged days of sport in this city and was one of the best hockey players ever developed here. His name was a household one in the days when Ed. Thomas had such players at the late Daw Whalen, Pat Boland, the Goyers, etc., who blazed Belleville's name across the hockey horizon. He was the epitome of sportsmanship, ability, fair play and competition while playing. Off the ice he was man's man, a gentleman, a friend of all who knew him, and ready at all times to help the other fellow. He helped organize the Old Timers' Hockey Association here and was one of its most ardent supporters. Sportdom and Belleville in general will miss a "grand guy," a friend and sportsman.

Big Hab Scores Four Goals As Montreal Takes Over Top; Leafs Take Chicago for Pair

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bernie Geoffrion, who hasn't had a bad year since he hit the National Hockey League, is heading for one of his greatest seasons in the game. He's scoring at the rate of a goal a game.

The 25-year-old rightwinger registered four goals and an assist during the weekend to lead Montreal Canadiens to two victories which gave them sole possession of first place in the league race.

The Boomer scored twice in Montreal Saturday as Canadiens walloped Detroit Red Wings 4-1. He added the other two Sunday night when Canadiens edged the weak Bruins 4-3 in Boston.

In 13 games, Bernie, a native of Montreal who joined Canadiens in the 1950-51 season, has scored 13 goals. He also has five assists, which gives him the lead in the scoring race with 18 points.

Even if Geoffrion fails to keep up the pace, he is virtually a cinch to score more than the 30 goals he got in 1951-52, his best year.

LEAFS NOW THIRD

Canadiens' wins gave them 19 points, one ahead of the second-place Wings and seven up on the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Red Wings have played one less eighth victory in 13 starts. They beat New York Rangers 5-0 and Ted Lindsay's goal at 2:33 of the first period at Detroit. It was Lindsay's 250th NHL goal.

Leafs, meanwhile, snatched a home-and-home series from second-place Wings and seven up on the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Red Wings have played one less eighth victory in 13 starts. They beat New York Rangers 5-0 and Ted Lindsay's goal at 2:33 of the first period at Detroit. It was Lindsay's 250th NHL goal.

Leafs, meanwhile, snatched a home-and-home series from second-place Black Hawks. They defeated Chicago 3-2 at Toronto before 12,- 388 fans Saturday night and 4-1 in Chicago Sunday night.

Geoffrion tallied the 99th and 100th goals of his NHL career Saturday. Mosdell and Eddie Litzenberger got the others. Vic Stasiuk scored the Detroit goal, at 16:10 of the first period.

RICHARD NETS WINNER

Canadiens scored three times in the second period at Boston to take a commanding lead. Richard beat Sugar Jim Henry with what proved to be the winning goal at 10:35 of the third session. Jean Beliveau tallied once and Geoffrion got the other two.

Real Chevrefils, Eddie Sandford and Milt Schmidt scored for Bruins, who suffered their third defeat in 10 games.

Leafs, who moved into third place over the Rangers, scored four goals within nine minutes of the second period to dump the Hawks Saturday. The game was highlighted by Parker MacDonald's first big-league goal.

RETRIEVES SOUVENIR

The 21 - year - old leftwinger, brought up by Leafs from the American League Pittsburgh Hornets last week to replace injured Harry Watson, slapped the puck past Al Rollins at 4:22 of the second period. He was thrilled, naturally, and skated into the Chicago nets to retrieve the puck as a souvenir.

A slim crowd of 7,254 Chicago fans watched Leafs hold off a third-period rally. It was the roughest game this season at Chicago. Referee Bill Chadwick called 21 penalties, including majors to Jerry Toppazzini of the Hawks and Tim Horton. George Armstrong of Leafs got a misconduct for arguing a penalty.

No games are scheduled until Wednesday, when Leafs are at New York and Hawks at Boston.

Teeps Plaster Barrie 10-0; Majors Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Happy Emms had no reason to be happy today.

The new coleiful coach of Barrie Flyers has been disturbed with his losing club in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league this season. The Flyers didn't give Emms a boost Saturday because they were plastered 11-0 by the defending Memorial Cup champion TeePees at St. Catharines.

It was one for four junior games during the weekend and turned out to be the worst drubbing a team has suffered this year. The loss left Flyers in sixth place with two wins in six starts.

In another Saturday engagement Galt Black Hawks defeated Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks 5-2. Guelph Biltmores whipped Toronto St. Michael's Majors 5-1 and Toronto Marlboros defeated Hamilton Cubs 4-0 in a Sunday doubleheader at Toronto.

Biltmores and Teeps slipped into a three-way tie for first place with Majors as the only starters. Each has 10 points, one ahead of Marlboros.

TEEPS POUR THEM IN

Canucks were handed their seventh straight loss by the Black Hawks. Bob Beckett led the winners with two goals. Jim Marshall, Duncan Brodie and Floyd Smith scored the others. Whitey Young-berg and Jack Smola tallied for Canucks.

Biltmores took advantage of St. Michael's penalties to grab their fifth win in seven games. They allowed the collegians a 1-0 lead in the second period and then bounced back with five straight goals.

Sonny Larose scored what turned out to be the winning goal at 12:55 of the first period. Bob Pulford, Gary Aldcorn and defenceman Don Kendall added the others in the third session.

No games are scheduled until Tuesday night, when Majors travel to Galt and clash with the Black Hawks.

Mercurys, Indians, Dutchmen Win Week-End Senior 'A' Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Owen Sound Mercurys may not be in top spot on the Ontario Hockey Association Senior 'A' League, but they're tops in the goal scoring department.

They also have the least-goals-against record of any team in the league.

So far this season the second-place Mercurys have scored 46 goals while giving up only 19. Next best in the goal-getting department are the third-place Stratford Indians with 38. Hamilton Waterloo Dutchmen are next in line in the goals against division. They've given up 21.

Elsewhere Saturday Chatham Maroons were hosts to Stratford, giving in 4-1 to the Indians. Mickey Roth was the Indians' big gun. He scored two goals while Billy Flick and Tommy Walker added singles. Eddie Rutch scored for Chatham.

The extra man proved the important factor. Three of the five goals were scored while the opposing team was short handed.

At Kitchener, the Dutchmen rapped in four first-period goals to coast to a 4-2 win over Windsor Bulldogs. Rightwinger George Scholes tallied three in a row after McKenzie had opened the scoring.

BOUNDS, TRAPPERS WIN

Two games were played in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior southern group Saturday night. Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds defeated Pembroke Lumber Kings 3-2 at Sault Ste. Marie while North Bay Trappers edged Sudbury Wolves 6-4 at North Bay.

Eskimos Down Blue Bombers; Larks Squeeze Ticats 19-15; Argos Defeat Ottawa 18-12

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A couple of games back a little demonstrated Saturday that the pay-for-play fellows are closing out the 14-game schedule as to their 1952 livelihood depended on their showing.

Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders, both out of the playoff picture, played it hard all the way at Toronto before Argonauts pulled out with an 18-13 decision. At Montreal, the Als and Hamilton Tiger-Cats put on a no-holds-barred Big Four playoff preview and a two-touchdown final quarter drive gave Als a 19-15 victory.

Argo quarterback Nobby Wirkowski got in the way of an errant flit in the opening quarter, played the remaining three-quarters of the game with vision from only one eye and tossed two touchdown passes to give Argonauts the nod. Lime powder from a yard marker aggravated the injury when he went down and the eye hemorrhaged early in the second quarter.

He now is in hospital and doctors hope to get him out Wednesday or Thursday. Dr. L. A. Eckert, club physician, said that unless complications set in he expected Wirkowski would regain the sight of the eye in a few days.

EJECT PLAYER

Tackling was hard and tempers flared in the Hamilton-Montreal game. It was marked by one ejection—Chuck Hunsinger of the Als for taking a poke at Tiger-Cats' Ray Ramsey. The Hamilton player needed nine stitches to close the cut on the bridge of his nose.

A crowd of 11,672, the smallest of the season for a Big Four game at Toronto, saw Argonauts and Riders trade first-quarter touchdowns. Argos made it 12-6 at the half and increased it to 18-6 in the third before Gene Roberts scored Ottawa's second major.

Wirkowski tossed two touchdown strikes to Al Pfeiffer and set up another by Gene Wilson with long heaves in a deadly attack that enabled him to complete 21 of his 39 throws. Norb Hecker converted the Toronto majors.

Quarter Jim, Root of Riders scored Ottawa's first touchdown in the opening 15 minutes. Robert converted both.

Tiger-Cats led 15-7 in the fourth quarter before quarter Sam Etcheverry got his Als rolling with two converted touchdowns. Alex Webster, Red O'Quinn and Bill Bewley scored the Montreal majors. Ray Poole converted the three and Tex Coulter added a single.

Pete Martin and Lou Kusserow went over for Hamilton touchdowns both converted by Tip Logan who also added a 18-yard fourth-quarter field goal.

Auburn Whips Unbeaten Miami; Irish Win

By ED WILKS

NEW YORK (AP)—Such stars as Wisconsin's Alan Ameche, Oklahoma's Notre Dame's Ralph Guglielmi and Penn State's Lenny Moore had another terrific day in U.S. college football Saturday, but none was as peppy or punishing as Joe Childress, a relatively obscure fullback with almost forgotten Auburn.

With Childress carrying the load—he smashed out 164 yards in 29 carries—Auburn grabbed the gold ring on the upset merry-go-round and toppled previously unbeaten Miami of Florida 14-13.

Two touchdowns in the final period—one by Childress, who also converted after each—stopped Miami's string at six games.

That was the upset of the day on yet another crazy mixed up football Saturday.

Iowa, long spoiler of the Big Ten, cleared another team from the title and Rose Bowl picture by whomping eighth-ranked Purdue 25-14. And little Miami of Ohio, an unbeaten power in its own mid-American conference, toppled big-time Indiana 6-0.

Wisconsin had no trouble with Northwestern, 34-13. Ameche, a fullback, now has gained 1,000 yards on 680 tries. The old college career mark of 3,146 yards was set and staged Doc Kelly converted three years ago.

Notre Dame again was the offensive thrust for the Irish, passing for two touchdowns, scoring one and setting up another with a punctuating Penn for 380 yards and 13 completions in 18 attempts.

Golden Gaels Blank Redmen As Mustangs, Varsity Draw

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Intercollegiate Football Union officials are just as confused as the Monday morning quarterbacks. A couple of interesting ifs confront them before the six-game schedule ends next Saturday.

The confused situation arose Saturday when the second-place University of Toronto Blues and University of Western Ontario Mustangs battled to a 12-12 tie at London. The league-leading Queen's Golden Gaels assured themselves of at least a playoff spot by defeating their winless McGill Redmen 20-0 at Kingston.

The Varsity-Mustang draw, their second of the season, put a monkey wrench into the already-complicated college playoff rules. These situations may arise in the schedule wndup:

1. If McGill upsets Western and Queen's continue their winning ways with victories over Varsity at Toronto, it would leave Western and Varsity still in a second-place tie. But who plays Queen's for the title and when?

2. If Western beats McGill and Varsity beats Queen's it would mean a three-way tie for first place. Then what?

League rules call for a playoff only if the second-place team has beaten the first-place club. Western has beaten Queen's this season. There's nothing in the books to prevent playoffs resulting from a three-way tie for first or a two-way tie for second.

Varsity haven't won a game in London in 17 years. Gino Fracas, 24-year-old Western half, put Mustangs ahead 12-0 in the first 30 minutes on two converted touchdowns and it appeared the Mustangs were home free.

The Blues battled back, scored matters in the third and fourth quarters to take the split in pitsts. Ritchie Bethune and Bill Horton scored the Varsity majors.

It was a close 3-0 game at the half as Kingston put Queen's broke out with an aerial offensive in the last two quarters to wrap up their victory. Gery Schreider, Ron Stewart and Al Kocman went over for the majors. Bethune, Schreider kicked two converts and Jocko Weirs added three points on long punts.

Peterborough Trims Belleville CI Qualify for COSSA Gridiron Final

Relying mostly upon ground plays mixing in the odd air attempt, the Garnet and Greys advanced into the final Saturday when they disposed of Belleville Collegiate 23-3 at Riverside Park.

Within two minutes of the opening kickoff the Goulding-coached team rolled to their first touchdown on four ground plays. This major score spurred the Garnet and Greys to a 17-0 first quarter and they never were threatened staying ahead 18-0 at half 23-0 at three-quarters and conceding a field goal to Belleville in the fourth.

Little Bob Whitton, Rich Brown, Bob McKinney and sports from Bob Baker, Jim Bellamy and Wayne Harrison, gave PCVS a steady ground attack behind a determined line. Belleville had a particularly hard day with Whitton the smallest plunger on the field.

GOOD PUNTING

The passing wasn't productive in yards gained by either team but passes by Terry Roberts and Jim Bellamy did pay off in two PCVS major scores. Phil Bennett had trouble hitting Belleville receivers as PCVS linemen charged through smothering him several times.

Lanky Jan Geneja's punting and driving plunges gave the Belleville team hope for a comeback. His punts especially in the second quarter drove the Garnet and Greys back 45 and 50 yards a kick. Along with Can Bunston, Geneja went through for lengthy gains, some 15 yards, in the fourth quarter causing some concern along the PCVS bench. Marsh Ivy Cliffe kicked single on the 10-yard line put Belleville in touchdown territory. Then a short punt on the third down was run back to the Belleville 28 by McKinney and settling up another wrestle Brown plunged to the six-yard line and Whitton went over from there. Weir's convert attempt failed.

Minutes later, Belleville's Bennett was rushed and fumbled on a pass attempt, PCVS recovering the ball on the 15. Whitton and McKinney placed the ball on the three before Rich Brown literally rolled over the touchdown. Jocko Weir's convert was good for an 18-0 score.

With time running out in the first, Bellamy faded back to the PCVS 30, threw 42 yards to McKinney in the clear at the Belleville 15. McKinney romped over. Weir again converted leaving the score 17-0 at quarter time.

Geneja's punts repeatedly kept PCVS from scoring up a larger score in the second quarter when the Garnet and Greys held the ball throughout inside Belleville territory. But PCVS did score a field goal to deadline when Jocko Weir field attempt went low bouncing over the line.

A one-yard interception by PCVS Don Stewart, set them up for their final major in the third. Brown, Whitton and McKinney carried the ball to the Belleville 10 with twins PCVS plunges were stopped. Finally Roberts-to-Roberts paved way for the score. Even though PCVS had two convert attempts both failed.

A long run by Geneja a pass by Bennett and a roughing penalty to PCVS placed Belleville in position for a field attempt in the fourth. Geneja split the uprights in half from the 30-yard line for Belleville's three points.

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Bridge is full of comprehensive signals; bee-ootiful signals. With them a system becomes scientific. Without them, the effective science of the game is reduced to a guessing contest.

The most prolific signal in a scientific game of bridge is a take-out to a new suit. It's a signal that orders partner to keep the bidding alive at any cost.

Culbertson rules say a takeout to a new suit is forcing for one round. But they include this exception: such a new suit bid is not forcing when made by a player who has passed a chance to open.

Goren rules say the same thing, including the exception. That both these brilliant and famous masters agree seems to throw power enough to the favor of the recommendation.

But my rules do not recognize the exception. Accordin' to Gordon a takeout to a new suit is forcing for one round. Period. At least, so far as the response to an opening bid is concerned.

♠ A J 8 4 2
♥ K 10 7 2
♦ 9 3
♣ K 3

As dealer you would pass if you were in your right mind. When it comes to your north partner supposs he opens with a bid of one heart. Your first response is a takeout to one spade.

You also have enough for an assist in hearts and a no-trump bid. You are unable to show all three of these things in one bid. It is comforting to know your partner must bid as you prescribe chance.

This example or a number like it is not proof of any rule. It is shown here merely as an illustration of what might happen; that it is possible for the greatest experts to be wrong.

My future series will furnish more direct proof, a kind of proof that is not dependent on any one or number of hands. If it is not convincing for you or are probably too far gone to be cured.

Oshawa CI Edges Belleville CI 20-17 Wins COSSA Junior 'A' Semi-Final

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

The Oshawa Central Collegiate Institute proved to have too much power in reserve on Saturday afternoon as they overcame a 17-4 deficit in the fourth quarter, shading Fred Bradley's CI Juniors 20-17 in the COSSA Junior "A" semi-final, played at Alberts College.

Belleville's Red and Black appeared to have the situation well in hand up until the final five minutes of the fourth quarter when the Oshawa crew set up a series of short end runs around the left side that carried them to the Belleville 10-yard line. Radkowski finally tore through the middle for the major and followed up by also booting the extra point, cutting the local's lead to 17-14 with two minutes left to play.

The visitors took to the air for the winning play after holding BCI and taking possession of the ball in the latter's territory. Radkowski heaved the ball to their outstanding halfback, Vogge who bullied his way across the line, the play covering near 25 yards in all. Radkowski added the convert for the final score and the game ended with Belleville scurrying the ball to the centre strip.

BIG RUNBACK

Bill Jones' 45-yard runback of the opening kickoff shot BCI into an early lead with Barry Ray's counter attempt, nearly a 6-0 lead before Oshawa had laid a hand on the ball. Both teams hogged the dirt for most of the quarter but a heaved pass for Oshawa when a third-down kick bounced into the Belleville end, Radkowski hauling in the lone T.D. with Barbarie's convert knotting the score at 6-6.

The winners netted the only point of the second quarter on a rouge kicked by Ray on the last minute of play. Vogge's great execution, over-the-head catch of Marchui's pass led to the Belleville 20-yard line and when they failed to gain, the 200-pound Vogge made it 7-6 at the start of the third quarter, made it 8-6 at about the eight minute mark in the third quarter with another rouge and Belleville's boys took over at this point.

Barry Ray and Bill Jones again led the local's attack with Ray toting the rubber on several end runs as we as handing the convert while Jones came up with a couple of fine boots to count the major and the 12-8 score. Then with eight minutes gone in the final period Ken Vogelsang swept around the right end for the touch and scores are to go all the way, an 85-yard gallop and the 17-8 score. Radkowski's complete convert and after Belleville missed the convert.

The teams:

Bears Defeat Bisons 4-1; Tie for Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Hershey Bears defeated Buffalo 4-1 Sunday night to move into a first-place tie with the Buffalo Bisons into last place. Yet before the game Hershey had led Buffalo by a scant point in the standings.

The race is this close: Hershey and Cleveland have 14 points, Providence 13, Springfield and Pittsburgh 12 and Buffalo 11.

Hershey, trailing 1-0 on Bison Sam Bettio's goal, sewed up the win in the last five minutes of the second period with goals by playercoach Murray Henderson, Arnie Kullman and Jerry O'Brien. Ken Parker added the fourth goal in the final period.

The Springfield Indians won a 6-5 overtime contest from the defending champion Cleveland Barons when Walt Atanas scored his third goal of the game at 2:17 of the sudden-death period. Atanas' hat trick spoiled a four-goal effort by Eddy Olson of the Barons. Cleveland goalie Emile Francis was exceptionally busy, making 44 saves, 11 of them during the overtime.

At 1-1 tie between Pittsburgh Hornets and Providence Reds was broken wide open by three Hornet goals within 3:30 seconds in the second period. The Hornets went on to win 6-2. Pittsburgh's rapidfire marksmen were Jack Gordon, Frank Mathers and Willie Marshall.

Cataracts Blank Senators 4-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

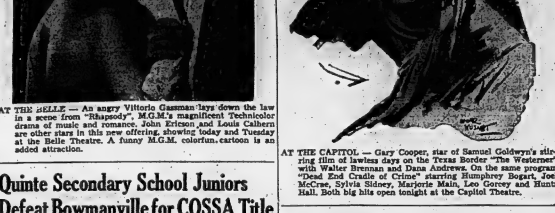
The field is beginning to spread out after a full round of weekend games in the Quebec Hockey League.

The Shawinigan Falls Cataracts still lead the pack with eight wins in 10 games and strung out behind them are Quebec Royals, Quebec Aces, Chicoutimi Saguenays, Ottawa Senators and Valleyfield Braves.

The Cataracts continued their winning ways Saturday, trimming Ottawa 4-0 for goalie Bob Perreault's third shutout of the season. Dick Wray scored twice for the Cats and Eddie Kachur and Connie Broden once each.

They edged Valleyfield 3-1 in overtime in Ottawa Saturday on Bert Gadsby's goal. Leo Gravelle had scored earlier to match a tally by Goodie Rewucki of the Braves. Bill Eminicki set up both Ottawa goals.

The tall-end Braves bounced back from the Saturday loss to edge Quebec 4-3 in another overtime game at Quebec Sunday. Hollie Leclerc tallied the winner for the Braves.



Andre Corriveau, Bruce Cline and Klimek Jamenicke had counted earlier for the Braves and the goals were matched by Earl Johnson, Michel Labadie and Gerry Ehman of Quebec. The win left Valleyfield two points behind fifth-place Ottawa.

Montreal kept pace with Shawinigan Falls by rallying for three goals late in the third period to defeat Sherbrooke Chinooks 4-3 Sunday in Chicoutimi. They trail the Cataracts by one point.

AT THE BELLE — An angry Vittorio Gassman lays down the law in a scene from "Rhapsody", M-G-M's magnificent Technicolor drama of music and romance. John Ericson and Louis Calhern are other stars in this new offering, showing today and Tuesday at the Belle Theatre. A funny M.G.M. colorfun cartoon is an added attraction.

AT THE CAPITOL — Gary Cooper, star of Samuel Goldwyn's sizzling film of love days on the Texas Border "The Westerner" with Walter Brennan and Dana Andrews. On the same program "Dead End Cradle of Crime" starring Humphrey Bogart, Joel McCrea, Sylvia Sidney, Marjorie Main and Elizabeth Hall. Both big hits open tonight at the Capitol Theatre.

Quinte Secondary School Juniors Defeat Bowmanville for COSSA Title

(By ERIC MOODY)

Quinte Secondary School Juniors trampled over Bowmanville Maroons Saturday, 6 at Bowmanville and won the COSSA championship Jr. "B" with a score of 23-0.

Bowmanville's return of the kickoff drive was snuffed when Sills intercepted a pass by Richards. Quinte drummed down to Bowmanville's 20-yard line where Walmsley was intercepted by Marlow. Bowmanville's attempted aerial attack was again foiled by interceptions of passes by Quinte.

With a change in tactics, McLaurin of Quinte galloped to Bowmanville's 30 yard line from which Walmsley punted a rouge.

Bowmanville's return march could not make enough headway and Quinte featured spectacular rugging by McLaurin and Gilbert to set up Sills for a 20 yard dash for the games first touchdown. The convert attempt failed leaving the score at the end of the first quarter at 6-0 for Quinte.

Early in the second quarter Bowmanville advanced to Quinte's 20 yard line and sent Marlow skirting the line only to be nailed by Phillips. Walmsley then booted the ball out of scoring position and Quinte was able to hold Bowmanville down.

The battle raged around Quinte's 45 yard line until Sills loped 30 yards to end the first half with the score still resting at 6-0 in favor of Quinte.

The third quarter saw Bowmanville receiving the kick-off and being held by Quinte. Quinte's return drive was also stalled. This type of playing continued for the remainder of the quarter. Both teams featured fast tackling and clasy passing but failed to score.

Encouraged by their alim but effective drive, Quinte drove with renewed vigor in the last quarter and Ferguson plunged for the second touchdown. The convert was not made.

After erasing Bowmanville's small ground gain, Walmsley freed a long 36 yard pass to Green who was tackled one foot from goal line. Walmsley then plunged over for the third touchdown and Kemp kicked the convert. It was Green who again caught Walmsley's pass and set up the fourth touchdown play in which Hobbs grabbed the pigskin and sizzled over. The convert was completed by Kemp, bringing the score to 23-0 for Quinte.

The remainder of the game saw Bowmanville go all out to score but Phillips pass interceptions and tackling by Musgrove and McLaurin held them scoreless.

Teams:

Quinte — Kemp, Cox, Sills, Fox, Walker, Geromes, Walmsley, Pearce, Beaty, Hobbs, Dickey, Jamieson, McLaurin, Phillips, McLaughlin, Elliott, Ritchie, Aquino, Yorke, Carlaw, Musgrove, Ferguson, Green, Masters.

Bowmanville — Wood, Reynolds, Vanstone, Ferguson, Fairey, Brunt, Brickle, Leaver, Werry, Cousins, Lewis, Alexander, Lunn, Fowler, Richards, Cowling, Johnson, Marlow, Bow, McCullough, Trimble, James.

Winnipeg Wins Playoff Berth

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Rams won a berth into the Canadian intermediate football final by defeating Fort William Redskins 17-13 in a sudden-death western final at Winnipeg Stadium Saturday.

Rams had to stave off a last ditch Redskin drive which was halted on the Winnipeg five at the final whistle, after they had conceded a safety touch about one minute earlier.

Quarterback Dede Brown, Billy Yee and Mort Corrin scored Winnipeg touchdowns. Corrin converted one and added a single when a field goal attempt went wide.

Ed Harris and Ron Fitzmaurice tallied majors for the Redskins, with John Brotherton converting the second. Ritchie Kolizsyk connceded the safety touch to give Fort William its other two points.

Rams will play the eastern winner in Winnipeg Nov. 19 or 20.

McLeish Heads Lawn Bowlers

TORONTO (CP)—Austin A. McLeish of London, Ont., was elected president of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association at the 24th annual meeting Saturday.

S. A. Stevens was named vice-president and Roy R. Knight, secretary. Both are from Toronto.

The association decided to hold the 1955 provincial playoffs at Kitchener, the interprovincial match at Trenton and the international meet at St. Catharines.

The ladies' lawn bowling association elected Mrs. M. W. Telfer, Parkhill, president.

STUDY GAMBLING RING

LONDON (CP)—Wolverhampton Wanderers, English league leaders put on an impressive show Saturday for Russian soccer officials who watched them handily defeat Burnley 5-0.

The Russians were scouting the Wanderers for the Moscow Spartak team which plays Wolverhampton in an international exhibition game Nov. 16.

They had a camera and took many notes. What they saw was a fast offence—probably the fastest in England—and an excellent defence which stopped Burnley in mid-field. Only good goalkeeping by McDonald saved Burnley from a worse defeat.

The Wanderers are expected to make a good showing against the Russians, probably better than Arsenal which plays Spartak Nov. 9.

Arsenal, which recently lost to Moscow Dynamos in a visit to Russia, is not the power in British soccer it used to be. It managed only a 2-2 tie with Bolton Saturday.

However, the London team did introduce a newcomer who may help. He was striker Jim Fotheringham, a 20-year-old who outplayed his opposing forward, Nat Lofthouse, and gave promise of a bright future.

The weather was a combination of rain, mud and smog for Saturday's soccer schedule but only one game was postponed.

Blackburn, leader in the second division, led the scoring parade with nine goals in a shutout victory over Middlesbrough. Frank Mooney and Eddie Quigley scored three goals apiece for Blackburn.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — To meet the unexpected ably avoid having too many irons in the fire; be brief to use your brittle mind properly. Do not let infinitesimal matters disturb you. Be gracious.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A forced cheerful attitude is better than none. Don't relax and take things for granted now. The next one, ready to grasp advantages, will come out on top. Why not you?

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Matter pertaining to money, stocks, investments need close attention now. Enjoy your work, adhere to your principles, and don't be gullible.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — It won't hurt to heed sound advice, especially from staunch friends, loved ones. News in the p.m. may affect your plans. Ponder carefully, take advantage of opportunities. Results can be good.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — This day may test your nerves, stability and foresight — perhaps all at once. Your imagination can help. Leo natives can make headway by shrewd management.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Guard against taking things for granted. Nothing has luck. Some unexpected turn of events may irritate, cause an upset in plans. Keep calm; later things will be righted again.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — You can't afford to relax in either personal or business matters. Situations may appear more troublesome than they really are. Don't give up; keep plodding.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Use the inauspicious hours, especially for matters apart from regular work, duties. Details are important; don't neglect them. Devote due time to necessary tasks.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — At first glance dull. However, under the surface it is advantageous for creative ideas, new methods, future plans. Be hopeful.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Promote your better characteristics — patience and a friendly nature. Personality can soften hard facts. Keep your sense of humor and don't neglect the "little" but important things.

December 32 to December 22 (Capricorn) — Your thoughtful, serious self can fit into this rather puzzling day splendidly well. With dignity and propriety you will go farther than many under the same circumstances. Emphasize these traits.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Perseverance can overcome difficulties which today may seem insurmountable. Continuous effort with a real conviction of values can hardly miss. Don't lose yourself in daydreaming; act, too.

YOU BORN TODAY are active, full of good ideas, and can generally put them over when really trying. You have great tenacity and the will to win, and when things are going normally and you are working in a harmonious atmosphere, you seldom do less than big. Though you can be kind and gentle, you still have a strong will and are likely to dominate a situation with firm and decided opinions. You could succeed especially as lawyer, manager, director, teacher; would be excellent as surgeon, nurse, chemist, actor. Avoid worry, extravagance. The balance of 1954 promises advantages.

Birthdate: Mark Akenside, English poet.

Two Toronto Cheer Leaders Were Abducted

BRANTFORD (CP) — Two University of Toronto cheer leaders were abducted by members of Western Ontario students Saturday when they tricked the girls into getting off their London - bound train.

The girls, Marni Littlejohn and Judy Francis, both 20, were on their way to the intercollegiate football game between Varsity Blues and Western Mustangs in London.

CHOOSE PARTY HEAD

BAY ROBERTS, Nfld. (CP)—The Newfoundland CCF party wound up its first province-wide convention here Saturday by entrusting its political leadership to Sam Drover, a confirmed Liberal who broke with Premier Joseph Smallwood's administration. Mr. Drover sits in the legislature for the constituency of White Bay.

Would Set Up Board

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The CC if elected to power at Ottawa, would tackle the unemployment problem by setting up a national investment board, a federal candidate said Saturday.

Fred A. Burr of Windsor, CCF candidate for Essex North, said the board would co-ordinate and direct the policies of Canada's financial institutions and supervise the provision of funds to private industry in accordance with plans of the national planning commission.

"If the government does not own the banks, then the monopolies will own the government," he told a regional party conference.

PICTON

Minister of Municipal Affairs Refutes Liberal Chief's Charges

PICTON — Charges by Liberal leader F. Oliver that the Ontario government has been niggardly in its assistance to municipalities in Lennox reached the $2,000,000 in grants; to 1953, $135,000,000 in 1954, $147 millions. Assessment in Ontario has jumped from three billions in 1943 to six billions this year.

USED AS EXAMPLE

Mr. Dunbar used Richmond township as an example, saying that the levy there was the $0 mills, instead of 40, if it were not for government grants.

Leadership of the Frost Government was instanced by the speaker. Two years ago, Mr. Goodfellow brought in the Disabled Persons Act; this year the Dominion Government are taking it over. In old age pensions, Ontario was first to reduce age; Ontario says, with means test,-between 65 and 70.

Speaker said that recent by-elections reflect confidence in "the best government Ontario ever had."

Educational grants this year will total 63 millions. "We must look to the future," said Mr. Dunbar.

Highways will cost the Ontario department 30 millions this year to be paid to municipalities. This is exclusive of 148 millions for Queen's Highway.

LITTLE ABOVE NORMAL

Unemployment in the province is a little above normal, said the speaker. "We are dealing with relief as in the old days, but men earning their bread by honest toil," said Mr. Dunbar.

CRITICAL OF SPENDING

George Hastie, MPP, was critical of Federal Government spending, claiming many things of extravagance as well as lost markets, creating an unfavorable trade balance.

Officers elected were: President, Reeve Walsh, Hillier; vice-president, R. R. Church, Fred McPherson, C. B. Sills, Murray Hall; secretary-treasurer, Tom Walker, with Earl Morgan as assistant; auditors, Barney Hepburn and Walter Higgs.

Norris Whitney, M.P.P., introduced Hon. Mr. Dunbar. He paid tribute to Reeve Walsh, Hillier, Adolphustown, who died last week. There is every reason to expect an election this year or two distant future, and we must be prepared, he urged.

Clarence Mulligan spoke of attending the provincial convention in Toronto, Conway, Ont., and lauded the need of a young people's organization.

A vote of condolence to party leaders George Drew and Leslie Frost was moved by L. B. Calnan and H. S. Collitver.

$60,000 Fire Loss at Moonstone

MOONSTONE, Ont. (CP) — A $60,000 fire for a time Sunday threatened to wipe out the village, 12 miles northwest of Orillia.

Fire destroyed a 100-year-old general store, owned by Lloyd Dunlop, his living quarters, a post office, a warehouse and a garage.

The blaze was discovered, an alarm was put in by Allan Bandeary, bringing the Brigades of Coldwater, Flos township and Victoria Harbour.

As flames shot up 100 feet in the air, the three brigades and hundreds of residents poured water on the engulfed buildings, which were all attached.

FREE RIDE FOR DEER

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (AP)—A deer slid down a 100-foot cliff Sunday in the gorge of Watkins Glyn and landed, apparently unhurt, in front of two women walking along the floor of the gorge in Watkins Glen state park. Unable to climb out a steep 150-pound doe was trapped until a state trooper lassoed it. The animal was tossed to a ledge and then carried it up the stairway to the top of the cliff and sent a mile farther to the edge of a wooded area.

KING IN SWISS HOSPITAL

Yacht Club Enjoys Most Successful Year

PICTON — Though a regatta was not held, Prince Edward Yacht Club enjoyed a most successful year, according to reports presented at the annual meeting at the club house, Friday night. The facilities of the club were much used by local and visiting yachtsmen.

Commodore H. B. Tully presided for the meeting which followed a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. Vice Commodore Sam Gentile assisted. Treasurer K. J. Mitchell presented the financial report showing a surplus of $1,-862.82. There were 94 club members. Purchase of land during the year accounted for $668.51.

It was decided to charge $1.00 per day for power and water used by visiting yachts. Some improvements to the club are planned this year.

Pair of Jeering Women Tree Big Black Bear

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)—A pair of jeering women treed a bear here—and kept the 500-pound marauder there until a posse hunting it elsewhere could help them out.

Mrs. James Hutchinson, 53, said she and her 19-year-old daughter Marie could have killed the animal, but the menfolk had all the guns.

The marauding bear took refuge in a tree in the James Hutchinson farm, after being run for miles by the hunting party.

Mrs. Hutchinson and her daughter kept the bear treed by shouting at it for 30 minutes until two men arrived to finish it off with six shots.

BONN (AP) — The Organization of Former Prisoners of War called on the West German parliament Tuesday to demand the release of all German war criminals before ratifying the Paris agreements. The organization also called on the government to limit West German armaments, industrial and sport relations with the Soviet Union until the Russians free all German war prisoners.

French Troops To Launch Drive Against Algerians

BATNA, Algeria (Reuters) — French troops backed by tanks and planes will launch an all-out offensive "in the next few days" against rebelling Algerians in the rugged Aures mountains, a French official said here today.

"We have the situation well in hand," he declared. "In the next few days we shall affirm France's will to end all disorder."

As he spoke an estimated division of French soldiers, including paratroopers, were massed in the mountains. Further reinforcements are on the way.

According to latest estimates, the Arab bands in the mountain region are about 3,000 strong. The French believe half of them are "forced recruits" who will give up the fight as soon as they get a chance.

PATROLS ACTIVE

The immediate plan of the French in this mountain command centre is to send mobile patrols to prevent the rebels from concentrating and to reassure loyal mountain tribes. Correspondents have already been set up in the heart of the mountains, French officers said.

Saboteurs Sunday night cut telephone and telegraph communication between Algeria and Morocco. The sabotage took place in western Algeria, a region which had been quiet since the wave of terrorist attacks which set off the current tension a week ago.

In Algeria the nationalist daily Alger Republicain was seized as it came off the presses. Three other dailies were banned by the authorities last Friday.

MANY ARRESTED

An official source Sunday night announced that a total of 370 terrorist suspects have been arrested in the last week.

In Batna troops arrested a 27-year-old baker, said to be the chief of the revolutionary cell. Disturbances fled into the surrounding hills.

Say Eisenhower Vetoed Attack On Chinese Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Post and Times-Herald says today President Eisenhower overrode a 5-1 recommendation from the joint chiefs of staff that would have authorized an American air attack on the Chinese mainland to prevent a Communist landing on Nationalist Quemoy. The paper says the joint chiefs' recommendation had the backing of State Secretary Dulles.

The copyrighted story by Chalmers M. Roberts says the president's veto was exercised at the extraordinary meeting of the national security council in Denver, Col., Sept. 12. That was nine days after Red artillery on the mainland opened up with a 6,000-shell barrage against Chiang Kai-shek forces on the island only seven miles away.

The article says also that the Quemoy affair spurred the president in renewed efforts to find a way out of the impasse of American policy in the Far East.

FREED BOMBERS

The shelling of Quemoy led Washington to believe that the Communists were softening up the Nationalist outpost for a possible landing. The Democratic-Times-Herald article says one quick result was U. S. permission for China's air force to bomb attacking artillery and search out and attack any troop and shipping concentrations in the Quemoy area.

Also within a day or two of the opening of the barrage, it says, a majority of the joint chiefs voted in recommendation to the president that the Nationalists be allowed immediately to bomb inland in Red China, and that American planes be allowed to make such flights if an all-out attack on Quemoy developed.

Paving or voting for that recommendation are Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs; Admiral Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, and Gen. F. Twining, air force chief of staff.

The minority member was reported to be Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, army chief of staff.

Ridgway's dissent was said to have been based on the argument that air and naval action inevitably would call for dust soldiers and the army was not ready.

Seven Sitdown Strikers Leave Dark Mineshaft

ABERDARE, Wales (Reuters)—Seven sitdown strikers left the dark mineshaft of Tirherbert colliery near here at 1 a.m. Sunday after being underground four days and three nights.

The last part of their strike was a gesture to total darkness except for the fading light of their miners' cap lamps. Late Saturday electric power in the mine was cut, blacking out the engine-room where the strikers were crouched to avoid the damp darkness of the mine corridors.

The men began their "staydown" strike in an effort to get mine manager Jack Ellis transferred. Union officials said feelings between the men and the manager came to a head with a disagreement over the haulage system. Other members on strike remained underground.

Bear for Punishment

ALASKA'S GIANT Kodiac bear plays rough. But the people who run the Bronx Zoo have found the perfect toy for him. It's an aluminum beer barrel, which in his playful moments he can bang, bounce and generally maltreat without serious damage. Having seen barrels (filled) being tossed around trucks, we can understand why breweries have turned to these rugged, attractive containers. Another reason, of course, is that aluminum is an excellent protector for food and drink, preserving their purity and flavour indefinitely. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Malenkov Chats With Diplomats At 3-Hour Party

By SIDNEY WEILAND

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Western diplomats were today discussing the unprecedented informality of Sunday night's 3½-hour party in the Kremlin at which they talked on frank and friendly terms with Premier Georgi Malenkov and other high Soviet leaders.

They believed there would be further opportunities for such talks, but they doubted whether any basic change in Soviet foreign policy was indicated.

But for the first time it was held in the glittering banquet hall where the czars greeted foreign envoys 500 years ago.

LEADERS CHAT

And Malenkov, Nikita Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, defence minister, and other government leaders came to shake hands, drink toasts and chat with American, British, Canadian, French, Yugoslav and other ambassadors. The Canadian envoy was John R. C. Watkins.

It was the first time the American ambassador, Charles E. Bohlen, and French envoy Louis Joxe had met Malenkov.

After dining with the envoys the Russian leaders, in high good humor, split up to walk among the 1,500 guests. They talked with Western diplomats—sometimes with interpreters—on the burning issues of the day with an informality never before known in Soviet Russia.

Both Malenkov and Khrushchev brought their wives—the first time they have appeared in public with their husbands.

Foreign correspondents were invited to the reception and were allowed to stand around the top table taking notes of toasts and speeches.

TOAST TO ARMIES

Afterwards Malenkov told a reporter: "We want to live in peace with the British people."

Bulganin drank a toast "to all armies which participated in the war."

Malenkov and Khrushchev singled out the Yugoslav ambassador, Dobrivoje Vidic, for a long talk and assured him of the Soviet Union's desire for "peace and friendship" with Tito's Yugoslavia.

Duplessis Hints Quebec to Modify Rental Controls

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—The Quebec government is not going to scrap rental controls just yet, but it may modify them in the near future.

Premier Duplessis hinted during the weekend he is open to bids by any town that thinks provincial controls on rents should be lifted in its area.

He said the law governing relations between landlords and tenants is an abnormal one, but times are not yet sufficiently normal to justify its abolition. There still are landlords that must be controlled, the premier added.

MAY GET POWER

Mr. Duplessis spoke Saturday night at the closing session of the Quebec Union of Property Owners Leagues.

He went on:

"I wonder if the law shouldn't be amended to give municipal councils power to ask the legislature to abolish rent controls in their particular municipality.

He suggested municipal councils should then have the right to decide by a simple majority vote if they wanted to keep provincial rental controls.

He said he noticed that delegates had raised the question of assessments being brought into line with the real value of properties. That was a long-standing question. Everyone wanted property valued at its worth.

UNDER STUDY

"If we could find a solution, I think we would have solved one of the most pressing problems of the day," he said. "There should be a way of finding a solution, even without turning things upside-down would raise assessments to their true value without raising taxes."

The government was studying the question.

Two of Three Czech Airmen Now in Montreal

MONTREAL, (CP)—Two of three Czechoslovak airmen who "borrowed" a plane and flew to the British zone of Austria 18 months ago now are residents of Montreal. The third decided to remain in England after getting that "far away from the Iron Curtain."

Lieut. Vladimir Krman and warrant officer Joseph Fleischhacker said they have no immediate plans apart from settling down as good Canadians, but they hope to be able to return eventually to aviation.

"Just now we are too happy enjoying our freedom to think too far ahead," Krman told a reporter.

It was early on March 13, 1953, when Krman, Fleischhacker and WO. Gustav Molzar took off from their base at Piestany, Czechoslovakia. They were determined to escape the Communist regime.

"We passed Bratislava safely but near Vienna we were picked up by Russian radar," said Krman. "I descended, flying only a few yards above the ground and making a sharp turn to the south. A few minutes later we saw Russian MIG fighters flying in the direction of our previous course. The radar had lost us. After an 80-minute flight we landed at Graz."

The three airmen were granted asylum in Britain. Krman and Fleischhacker decided this summer to try their luck in Canada. Molzar remained in London.

The two who came here are members of the Ascension Lithuanian church in Montreal. It was religious persecution by the Communists that first made them think of escape, said Krman. In the Czech air force Communist officers ridiculed all religion as "superstition."

Krman said that in Czechoslovakia prices are high and wages, like the standard of living, are low.

Queen Mary Crew Threatens Strike If Captain Changed

Objects to Switch Planned For Queen Mother's Voyage

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — A new hurricane shown on the weather charts buffeted the Cunard and Steamship Co. today over the question of who's going to pilot Queen Elizabeth Mother Elizabeth home from her visit to the United States and Canada.

Cunard blew up the storm Monday by announcing that Capt. Ivan Thompson, commodore of the fleet, would take charge of the liner when Queen Mary put to sea next week.

But crew members of the 81,273-ton liner threatened to go on strike unless their regular captain, Donald Sorrell, was permitted to do the honors for the royal voyage.

MEANT NO SLUR

The company said today it intended "absolutely no slur" on Sorrell. It is customary for the liner's senior captain to man the bridge on royal trips.

Thompson, 48, normally commands the liner Queen Elizabeth, which carried the Queen Mother from Quebec Oct. 26.

The stand of the Queen Mary's crew was voiced in a protest petition signed by about 1,000 of the 1,260-man complement and handed to company officials.

Crew members told reporters Sorrell was "universally liked and a wonderful older nature action" if Cunard does not accede to their demands by Wednesday noon. The crew is supposed to muster for the liner's scheduled departure at 7 a.m. The Queen Mother is scheduled to board the ship in New York Nov. 17 and sail for home the next day.

The crew's petition referred to the efforts Sorrell has made to shield the giant liner. In 1945, as relief captain, he docked the ship without tugs in the stormbound New York port.

Sorrell said he had known nothing of the protest move which came to a head soon after the big ship arrived from New York Monday night.

FOLLOWS ORDERS

He would have felt it a great honor to bring the Queen Mother home," he said, "if am very disappointed."

But he added, "I am a sailor. If I am told by my employers to hand over my ship to another skipper, a superior, I do."

Canada Invites Russia to Join Atoms Committee

By WILLIAM HARCOURT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Canada today invited Russia, India and Brazil to become members of an advisory committee proposed in a resolution to establish President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace pool.

The other members of the committee would be the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

In making the suggestion, Canada's Paul Martin said he was acting on behalf of the seven countries who sponsored the resolution, now before the political committee.

The seven countries—Canada, the U. S., Britain, France, Australia, South Africa and Belgium —had decided only Monday night to seek the participation of the other three countries.

Martin added that the seven agree that if Russia, Brazil and India don't participate, they would complete the seven-power resolution.

The inclusion of Brazil in the group was prompted by a desire to give the committee proper geographic representation.

The seven countries now written leaves space for the inscription of the members of the advisory committee. Specifically, the committee would advise the UN secretary-general in connection with a proposed conference of atomic scientists.

Martin spoke as debate continued on the U.S. proposal for international co-operation on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

EXPECT CLASH

Some delegates looked for a new East-West clash in the debate over Russian insistence that the proposed international agency be under the UN Security Council, in which Russia has a veto power.

Monday, Russia's Andrei Vishinsky asked why the seven-power resolution failed to specify that the agency report to the security council.

'Hero' Confesses He Struck Match, Causing Blast

ALLEN, Okla. (AP) — A remorseful superintendent, crushed with heroism by his students, accepted responsibility for striking the match which accidentally touched off a deafening gas explosion at Allen High School Monday injuring himself, the principal and 45 pupils.

Three of the injured, including principal Freeman Pickle, are reported in critical condition. Twenty were still in hospital today. The one-story brick school building was virtually demolished.

The superintendent, J. N. McKeel, who suffered shock, cuts and bruises, told a reporter: "I presume I set off the blast in an attempt on my part to find a gas leak. I had no reason to think there was a general leak."

Students were flung against the ceiling and blown through windows by the blast. McKeel said it took place shortly after they settled in their seats for afternoon classes.

Discovery of New, Accurate Test For Cancer Using Urine Told Doctors

By FRANK CAREY

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Possible discovery of a new and highly accurate test for cancer—employing urine—was announced today to the Southern Medical Association.

Doctors H. C. Tetrell and H. H. Beard of Fort Worth, Texas, said they have found a chemical means of urine the amount of a sex hormone "excessively abundant" consistently found in urine collected over a 24-hour period.

They told the SMA's annual meeting that this hormone occurs in only small amounts in normal individuals but that it showed up at substantial levels in 94 per cent of 200 persons known to have cancer.

And the researchers described a "relatively simple" method for separating the hormone from other substances in the urine. This allows a quantitative measurement of the hormone, depending upon intensity of the color change.

The doctors said this ability to detect large quantities of the hormone suggested possibilities of:

1. Detecting cancer before symptoms become apparent.

2. Testing for the presence or absence of any signs of "spreading" of a cancer following surgical removal or "chemical consideration" found in urine collected over a 24-hour period.

Beard told a reporter that, aside from studies of cells or tissues, most tests for cancer in the past have employed blood samples. But he said these "have the drawback that they produce a large number of false positives" due to the complexity of substances in blood.

Labor Calls for Federal Plan To Forestall Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today called on the federal government for a five-way program to forestall of unemployment.

In its annual submission to the cabinet, the 580,000-member congress also asked for improved unemployment insurance, a national health plan, more federal housing aid, taxation changes and careful planning of immigration.

Declaring there is a prospect this winter's unemployment will be well above the post-war record figures of last winter, the TLC said its concern has become sharper since it was indicated recently that Parliament will not convene until after Christmas.

Its submission, presented for the first time by newly-elected president Claude Jodoin of Montreal, called for these measures to hold down unemployment:

1. Enactment of a "anti-dumping" legislation to "stop the importation of goods which are ordinarily produced in Canada." Existing anti-dumping legislation calls for boosting tariffs when foreign goods sold in Canada at less than their normal domestic price.

2. A program of public works to include projects "planned for the purpose of producing employment in such conditions as now confront us."

3. Encouragement to the construction industry to provide maximum employment during the cold weather months when construction normally slows.

4. Encouragement to the planning of spending by governments at all levels—federal, provincial and municipal.

5. Establishment of an advisory committee on seasonal unemployment, to include labor representation.

The congress said it lays particular stress on the anti-dumping recommendation, saying imports from cheap markets have caused unfair competition and resulted in layoffs of workers.

In connection with employment, the congress also asked the government to take great care that Canada's share of materials and equipment goes into the St. Lawrence seaway project. The government also was asked to see that on completion, the seaway does not become a deep waterway for ships of other countries to the virtual exclusion of Canada's.

In dealing with unemployed persons capable of work, the TLC said the federal government should not cept responsibility for them.

On unemployment insurance, the congress recommended a wide range of amendments to the federal legislation, chiefly the increase of benefit payments to at least two-thirds the weekly wage of the insured person.

The maximum now is $24 a week for those with dependents and $17.50 for single persons. The government is contemplating some increase, but not on the scale proposed by the TLC.

The TLC also suggested shortening the period of employment needed to qualify for benefit rights, lengthening the period in which benefits may be drawn, and increasing the amounts paid in supplementary benefits during the winter.

Sick pay was requested, too, that benefits be paid to persons becoming ill during periods of illness.

On health insurance, the TLC asked the federal government to draft the legislation in a government-subsidized, contributory plan covering surgical and medical, dental, surgical, dental and optical care, hospital treatment and mental treatment.

Rumor Filibuster Is Planned By Supporters of McCarthy

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reports persisted today that friends of Senator Joseph McCarthy, (Rep. Wis.) might try to talk to death a resolution proposing his censure, on which the Senate opens formal debate Wednesday.

McCarthy professed ignorance of any such plans but said several of his supporters. But two influential Democratic senators who asked not to be named said they had been informed an attempt may be made to keep debate until the Senate's Dec. 24, when the extraordinary session which convened Monday dies automatically.

That was the final deadline in an adjournment resolution which agreed on by congress last August. Charles Watkins, Senate parliamentarian, said if there is no vote by that hour, a pending censure resolution would expire with the 83rd Congress.

That, presumably would mean starting afresh with any move aimed at Senate rebuke of the Wisconsin senator, who has predicted the vote will go against him.

Senator William Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said he remains hopeful of getting a vote this month. A special committee recommended censuring McCarthy for his alleged "contemptuous" attitude toward a Senate sub-committee which investigated many of its members, and his treatment of Brig.-Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a witness before the Senate investigations subcommittee McCarthy heads.

If McCarthy's supporters try to drag out Senate arguments to avoid a vendict, they may feed greater strength than they have been credited with them.

McCarthy's aides now claim the backing of about 25 senators, but the Republican leader

Retired Juvenile Court Judge Rotary Speaker

A retired judge of the Toronto juvenile and family court yesterday stressed the importance to parents of maintaining intimate contact with their children.

"I know it is sometimes a little hard to get close to a boy," the judge admitted.

"But," said he, speaking in plain terms, "if you walk with your boy and have something to eat with him, "that is a great moment he will never forget."

"Then you can talk. The door is open."

"Do not let him think you are perfect," the judge added. "He knows a great deal better. You cannot fool him."

Judge Mott's advice came during an address in which he laid down several maxims for improving conditions in the modern world. He is in Belleville for the meeting to learn that life is best in sharing the good in others and appreciate opposite viewpoints; establish good contacts with other people.

This is an important time in the history of the world," the judge said. He noted a quotation made by Albert Einstein that if the next war is to be fought with atomic weapons the "war-immediately following will be fought with stone clubs."

"I am not pessimistic in any sense of the word," he said.

"There is something very interesting about society. Society seems to perpetuate itself."

When we observe the many organizations in society today we are striving to perpetuate themselves for the benefit of mankind "you cannot be too pessimistic," he said.

He said there were two great urges in civilization — the making of a living and all that goes with it — which has always been a mighty challenge to every person, and the search for happiness, as distinct from pleasure."

IDEAL MAXIM

The ideal maxim for living in such a world, said Judge Mott, was first clarified by Confucius with "you must treat others right so he will treat you right."

That ideal has been picked up by different philosophers and has been ringing across the ages until today it is a great driving impulse "if only we could interpret it," Judge Mott said.

"People should share with each other," he said.

"If you have only have as you share. If you do not share you will never have."

Also they must establish contacts with people and "keep the lines of communication open."

"Always keep the open door. The easy access," he said.

Judge Mott was introduced by Court Miller and thanked by George Lanning.

Among guests at the meeting yesterday was Rev. H. Davis, newly-appointed Pastor to Bridge Street United Church.

Local Men Are Interested In Natural Gas Franchise

A group of local business men is interested in securing a franchise for the sale and distribution of natural gas in Belleville when it is available in this district via pipeline from the Canadian West.

Members of city council were advised to this effect at their regular meeting Monday evening through E. Gus Porter, local solicitor, who said he was representing a group of citizens with adequate finances to carry out the distribution of gas in Belleville.

He pointed out the importance of keeping business local as much as possible and asked council to keep the local group in mind when it was considering the granting of non-exclusive franchises to gas companies.

TWO FRANCHISES GRANTED

Later in the meeting Alderman William Ellis said that he had there several gas distribution companies anxious to get the distribution of gas in the city. He noted that three years ago a franchise had been granted to the city to the Eastern Gas Syndicate, which is now operating Cobalt Gas, while a few weeks ago an agreement had been entered into with the Lakeland Gas Company.

Council had acted in good faith in leasing to the latter company with Lakeland Gas but one thing which he was asked not to do was to give any one company any advantage over any other. He said he was not against the company to get the actual distribution but that the city would have to be approved by the fuel control board and there would be hearings to be held by the people. There was some possibility, however, that provincial regulations on the matter might be changed.

COUNCIL RECOMMENDATIONS

Council turned down a recommendation from Major J. Bath that the city solve the problem as to whether non-exclusive franchises should be granted or would have to be with approval of council.

There was considerable discussion on the mayor's recommendation and one on one from Alderman Argue calling for a deputation to advertise the fuel board asking it to receive judgment on the application of Lakeland Gas for approval of its agreement with the city.

Such recommendations were lost as was a recommendation from Alderman Jeanne asking that a letter be forwarded to the fuel board requesting that judgment be reserved on the Lakeland application for approval of its agreement with the city.

City Solicitor R. A. Pringle said in his opinion the agreement with Lakeland Gas could never come into force unless the agreement was approved by the people. It was on this advice that council acted in turning down the recommendations.

5-Year Tender For Collection Will Be Asked

The downtown area of the city will have new garbage collections commencing at five o'clock and the former noisesome equipment as well as the present city collection will be discontinued, it was decided at a recommendation approved in council Monday evening.

In all other sections of the city collections of garbage will commence at seven o'clock so as to not disturb the early morning sleep of residents.

The garbage collection question has been thoroughly discussed for two weeks ago, when council decided that all collections should commence at seven o'clock. The matter was referred to the public works committee for considerations on hours of collection and also on whether noisesome equipment was necessary in collecting the refuse.

Last night the public committee brought in a recommendation calling for a five-year contract for the collection of refuse at five o'clock in the downtown area and seven o'clock in the residential areas. There was no mention made of noisesome equipment.

Alderman Argue said necessity of noisesome equipment if collections are not to start until seven o'clock," objected Alderman Argue.

Alderman Bruce Smith as chairman of public works, noted that the tenders had been received, the tenderer would be able to provide noiseless equipment at little or no extra cost to the city.

The city clerk comptroller will call for tenders on the above basis.

Council Approves By-Law Completing Sale of Property

Threat of a lawsuit from the unsuccessful tenderer on the old Birchall did not prevent city council Monday evening from passing the by-law completing the sale of the property to P. S. Follwell at a price of $10,500.

Two weeks ago council had accepted the tender of Mr. Follwell at a price of $250 higher than any other received.

Louis Marzakas, local solicitor, speaking for R. W. Hurley who had offered a tender price of $10,105 for the old Birchall building, declared that the Follwell tender had been "irregular and was not tender at all."

He asked that council reconsider the matter and rule the Hurley tender the only legal one received.

Mr. Marzakas asked a number of questions in reference to when the Follwell tender was received noting that the Hurley tender had been the only one received by the city late in the afternoon on the date tenders were closed. He also wanted to know when was the Follwell tender as for and stated that only a deposit of 10 percent of the tender was included.

"You may only state your case Mayor John Both told Mr. Marzakas. "You cannot enter into a discussion with council. You will get your answers later."

When the matter of finalizing the sale of the birchall came up for consideration, Alderman Argue suggested that this might be a good time to review Mr. Marzakas with the answers he had sought earlier in the meeting.

SOLD LAWYER'S ADVICE

Alderman Tice as chairman of property, rose to give the details of the sale, declaring that Mayor J. Both investigated various offers and Alderman Argue suggested that this might be a good time to review Mr. Marzakas with the answers he had sought earlier in the meeting.

SOLD LAWYER'S ADVICE

Alderman Tice as chairman of property, rose to give the details of the sale, declaring that Mayor J. Both investigated various offers and Alderman Argue suggested that this might be a good time to review Mr. Marzakas with the answers he had sought earlier in the meeting.

SOLD LAWYER'S ADVICE

Alderman Tice declared that no one had been informed that the whole matter had been explained thoroughly in council.

Alderman Ellis defended the action of the city in selling the Birchall property declaring that tenders had been correctly called. Only one tender had been received, the title had been extended. The tender from Mr. Follwell was the only legal one and had been opened at the same time.

It is not the business of this council to decide what is a foolish offer, the tender was not irregular and a last contender had any by-law" he said.

Mr. Marzakas pointed out that council had been striving for three years to sell the property and it was only natural to accept the highest offer.

TOLD OF DETAILS

Alderman Tice again rose to his feet and said he would not keep quiet when everyone else was talking on the subject. He said he would tell the facts of the tender call and its sale to Mr. Follwell.

He went on to note that tenders had been called and one sealed tender was received. He had been approached by Mr. Follwell, who said he had been out of town and was unaware that tenders had been called. He had submitted a sealed tender and both had been opened by the property committee following which he had made the recommendation to sell to Mr. Follwell to give council a chance to deal with the matter as the property was for sale.

"After a full explanation of the matter the tender to sell to Mr. Follwell was approved," he said.

R. A. Pringle said in his opinion any action brought against the city by the unsuccessful tenderer was not likely to succeed. He noted that a writ had been issued against the city but had not been served.

The question was raised whether Mr. Follwell could use if the sale of the property did not completed. Mr. Pringle admitted he had previously said that the sale was not binding on the city until the by-law was passed but since that time he had made the down payment and had given Mr. Follwell a receipt.

He said nobody had asked his advice on whether the money should be returned.

BETTING PRECEDENT CLAIM

Alderman Gerald Hyde said he was in favor of council accepting the Follwell tender on the grounds that the tender was such that it was beneficial to the city. Not to accept it, "The city is setting a very dangerous precedent in accepting it," he said.

The by-law selling the property to Mr. Follwell was carried by a vote with Alderman Clarke being excused from voting.

Approving the by-law were Alderman Hyde, Norman, Mouncey, Reid, Smith, Tice and Mayor Both. Opposing were Aldermen Argue, Hyde, Safe and Thomas.

But council closed the door on such a move when it refused to again accepted by the city. Approval was given to a recommendation from Alderman Safe that no tenders be accepted after the closing date and that all be accepted without a firm price. The recommendation will be added to the procedure by-law.

Excellent Year In Building Says Inspector

"One of the best years in building we have had in some time," was the report of David Barkey, city building inspector, yesterday referred to construction activity in the city for the end of October.

For the first ten months of the year 142 permits for the construction of residential units were issued in the city as compared with 110 for the full twelve months last year. Ten of the units were for apartments and the balance for dwellings.

Total permits issued to the end of October numbered 275 with a construction value of $2,963,372, added to this already in November are the permits for the new addition at the Belleville General Hospital at $610,000, and a permit for $76,500 for a new addition to the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

One of the reasons for the increased home building this year, according to the city building inspector, was the lowering of down payments required by prospective home owners under National Housing Act loans.

Find Sea Scouts' Life Preservers Were Inferior

OAKVILLE (CP) — Lifejackets found on the bodies of two Sea Scouts drowned during a Lake Ontario squall last summer were of inferior quality, a coroner's jury was told Monday night.

The jury decided that Sea Scouts Donald McCausland, 12, and Donald Baldwinson, 15, died preventably by accidental drowning June 6. Four Sea Scouts and their instructor died when their boat sank.

The coroner's jury recommended that all lifejackets used by Sea Scouts be regularly inspected and preferably government - approved and that any sailing expedition should contact the weather station at nearby Malton before setting out.

John Moffat, divisional superintendent of the department of transport's steamship inspection service, said kapok lining of the lifejacket found on one of the bodies was low grade material "if it were kapok at all."

The quality of the other was "very poor indeed," said Mr. Moffat, "if don't think it is sufficiently moisture-repellent."

Head Injury Needed 42 Stitches to Close

TRENTON (Special) — Thrown from a horse she was riding on Sunday, Judy Allore, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Allore, 154 Wragge Street, Trenton, suffered a head injury that needed 42 stitches to close. Her father was leading the horse owned by Norman Bassett of Wragge Street when the animal stopped suddenly. The girl went headlong over the horse's head. Other children playing in the vicinity of the rider may have frightened the animal.

Given emergency treatment at the Trenton Memorial Hospital the girl is reported to be making satisfactory progress despite shock and considerable loss of blood.

AVERTS SERIOUS FIRE

Prompt action by Mrs. J. C. Neil averted a serious fire at the Neil's Byron and Princess Streets intersection on Saturday.

When firemen arrived they found the mother pouring water on the flames that had worked into the wall from a mattress burning in the children's bedroom.

Firemen believe that the Neil's oldest son, Ronald, may have started the fire while playing with matches. The lad ran downstairs in the basement to tell his mother who was doing the family wash. She dashed upstairs and carried her youngest son Joey, 2, from the smoke-filled bedroom. She also called the firemen.

Smoke and water damage, thought to be partially covered by insurance, may run to several hundred dollars.

SIGN LANGUAGE IS GOOD ENOUGH

When Mrs. Ernest Tack, a Japanese war bride, arrived in Canada to join her husband, all she could say on seeing him was "Hello." Corporal Tack, who met his future bride while serving with the Canadian army in Korea, says that he can't speak Japanese and she can't speak English, but "that hoan't proved to be any problem." The couple intend to settle in Napanee, Ont., despite Mrs. Tack-to join her husband. (Central Press Canadian).

Fire Chief Tells Council Radio Equipment Needed

City council will consider purchase of mobile radio equipment for installation on the new combined pumper-aerial truck purchased for the fire department.

Alderman Angus Duffy told council that Fire Chief Gerald Vance was anxious for the new truck to have radio installed as better efficiency would result. The fire committee, however, had felt the equipment for the radio equipment could not be afforded so the matter had been referred to council.

Chief Vance told council that the new truck when delivered would be stationed at the Dundas Street firehall in the east end of the city. With the radio equipment constant communication would be assured between the truck and fire stations. Cost of the new fire truck will be $19,045, exclusive of debenture carrying charges. Cost of radio equipment would be about $850.

Council approved the installation of a blinker light at the intersection of Bridge Street and Bleecker Avenue, and also the re-location of a hydro pole at the corner of North Front St. and Moira.

Approval was also given by Fire Chief Vance to attend a chiefs' training course at Toronto on November 17-18-19.

A recommendation from J. D. Lee, consulting engineer, who made a report on sidewalks constructed by the Tatham Company, was approved, the recommendation calling for the release of the 10 percent holdback on posting of a bond guaranteeing the construction work.

CLOSE GATES AT NIGHT

Iron gates closing off the underpass beneath the highway at the east end of the city were approved by council. Alderman Bruce Smith noted the gates would be open from eight in the morning until five in the evening for the convenience of school children in the district.

Council approval was given to the action of the hospital board of governors in calling for and letting the tender for the new hospital wing.

Mayor Both wanted to know if council could give such approval and city solicitor R. A. Pringle noted that such approval should be given in case the hospital building account was overdrawn.

A recommendation from the local board of health calling for the installation of the provincial building code for the present city code was referred to the board of works. Alderman G. Hyde said in his opinion the city plumbing code was stronger than the provincial code, which had been designed so as not to create too great a hardship on the smaller municipalities.

Council approved of a health board recommendation calling for the suggestion of the odd-even system for parking on Bridge St. and Moira.

Lt. Thornton said the recruiting unit would welcome interviews with male applicants from 17 to 23 and with female applicants of 19 years and over.

Qualifications for male applicants call for physical fitness at least Grade 8 education with passing of certain learning ability tests. U.S. Considers Fighter Escorts Near Red Lands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is considering giving fighter escorts to American aircraft which fly near Communist territory, State Secretary Dulles disclosed today.

Dulles told a press conference the question is being studied by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He noted that the pilot of the RB-29 photographic plane shot down by Soviet fighters over Japanese waters last Sunday had authority to shoot back, but did not do so.

Dulles said this was one of those hairline decisions on which people might make different judgments afterwards. That was the case also with Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen and his decision to attend a Soviet party in Moscow Sunday night following the plane incident, Dulles said.

Dulles said Bohlen had to make a quick judgment without knowledge of many significant things, including the fact that the Soviet government felt it necessary to justify the shooting down on the plane.

Russia countered America's protest with a declaration of absolute innocence. But U. S. officials indicated the Kremlin has not heard the last of the matter.

HAMILTON (CP)—Steel workers at the S. F. Bowser Company limited today cut their work week so that fellow workers with little seniority won't be laid off in time of unemployment. About 200 members of Local 2911, United Steel Workers (CIO-CCL) voted to shorten their work week to 30 from 40 hours.

Predicts Canada Will Pass U.S. In Uranium Race

VANCOUVER (CP)—Franc Joubin, one of Canada's foremost uranium experts, said Monday Canada soon will replace the United States as the second largest uranium producing country in the Western world.

He told 500 delegates attending opening-day sessions of the annual western meeting, Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, that the new Algoma field in southern Ontario is fast becoming the West's most important uranium field. Mr. Joubin is managing-director of Technical Mine Consultants Limited of Toronto, which manages 25 mining companies in Canada, including 15 uranium holdings.

"Canada will soon pass the United States and then rank only behind Africa," said Mr. Joubin.

"The Algoma development has been storing up 1,000,000 tons of uranium ore a month for the last 18 months. There isn't another known field in the world with so much reserve."

The duke, who came here today on a routine visit, took legal advice almost as soon as he arrived. Then a statement was issued on his behalf by Sir George Allen, his solicitor in 1936 when he was King Edward VIII.

A TRUE SPORTSMAN

The sudden passing of Bill Green, one of this city's outstanding hockey players three decades ago, came as a shock to many, both in the realm of sport and the many other circles in which he moved.

Bill was the exemplification of sportsmanship in his heyday of hockey, a trait he carried the rest of his days. He was a natural player, one who gave his all for the team in the heat of competition. He was a great competitor, one who was as graceful in defeat as he was valiant in victory.

He epitomized these traits in his everyday life. A fiery will-to-win athlete, Bill was the opposite when off the icelanes. He was a quiet modest man, with a kindly smile for everyone. He had a warm, friendly disposition, that earned for him the many friends who today mourn his passing.

Bill never forgot his hockey friendships. He originated the Oldtimers' Hockey Association here and it was through his efforts that memories of many oldtimers have been perpetuated. Sportdom and the city to which he gave so much, join in final tribute to one both can ill afford to lose.

HELLO!

The rural telephone system has become a social phenomenon. Along its slender wires isolated customers have been woven into the fabric of their communities. It is the local gossip column, a general fire alarm, a link to the grocer, butcher, doctor, lawyer, veterinarian, and the girl on the next concession.

The jack-of-all trades nature of the rural telephone line, however, can be a hindrance as well as a help. Near Sault Ste. Marie an infant died while a mother, frantic with grief, tried for 20 minutes to break in on the line to summon aid. The baby died before she could call a doctor.

In this instance, the all-purpose character of the rural telephone, line for which it has become justly famous proved to be its greatest disadvantage.

Another disadvantage of the rural telephone line is in its use in the collection of news. Trying to reach a particular person on the rural line is a real problem as the line is usually in use and there is considerable delay before it is free. Once contacted the person is equally hard to hear as neighbors start "listening in." Every time another receiver goes up the person's voice gets fainter.

A routine call usually is punctuated by two or three polite admonitions to the other party to raise their voices a little because it is hard to hear them.

An immediate surge in power results as all "listeners in" raise their voices, mistakenly being what it is, and the rural telephone line the institution it is, the power starts sinking quickly in about 30 seconds.

Such a process, possible to talk to someone in code if the code is pre-arranged. This discourages some listeners. But news inquiries usually go to someone who is not briefed and attempts at discretion (a rival paper's correspondent is bound to be on the same line listening) go for naught as the happy contact starts reciting names, dates and places.

The rural telephone system has its virtues but privacy is not one of them, for good or ill.

PLEASANT DUTY

All in the line of duty, five Winnipeg men are hunting food fit for a king.

They left Wednesday for the delta marshes of southern Lake Manitoba, to shoot ducks which will be served at a banquet for Queen Mother Elizabeth in Ottawa on November 16.

It was suggested in supreme quarters, the Queen Mother becomes Canada's next Governor-General, we are considering applying for a government job hunting in the Quinte marshes.

And no objection to overtime!

POLISHING ONE'S LANGUAGE

From Hartford, Connecticut, comes word that a scrubwoman, discharged for swearing, received unemployment compensation because it was decided that it would be unfair to require her to clean up her language as well as the building in which she worked.

First time we realized scrubbing floors was more arduous than scrubbing up one's language.

OLD DIME NOVEL

In our dime novel's thrilling tales
Which oldtime writers used to pen,
The villains all would up in jails.
The heroes were courageous men.

Our parents—maybe as they should—
Burned every paper-covered yarn,
And so to read them when we could
We used to hide them in the barn.

My parents, I remember, thought
Them dreadful tales for boys to read;
They always what was best they sought,
And I suppose they always will.

They told how youngsters poor succeed.
"They're harmful to the youthful mind."
My mother said, "They don't inspire."
So every one she chanced to find
Went promptly to the kitchen fire.

The old dime novel now appears
In every monthly magazine,
It's been on radio for years
And on the television screen.
The pretty girl the hero weds;
The villain lands in prison still.
The parents sit and shake their heads
And I suppose they always will.

Keep Santa In December

(Hamilton Spectator)

We can recall being taken when very young to see the annual Santa Claus parade in a Canadian city. Winter had begun and snow was on the ground. If memory serves, the date was the first Saturday of December. That left roughly three weeks for the little gentleman to see the children and to work his charm on the buying public.

Things have changed since that day, however, and there is set with a deep-rooted objection to one aspect of the Christmas season, and we rejoice to see that we are joined by an august British group, the National Chamber of Trade, which deplores with us the tendency to introduce Santa Claus too early.

It is now a far cry to that snowy day when we first glimpsed St. Nick and if the current trend continues we may expect to see, at some future date, the little gentleman arriving some time between corn picking and grass cutting, escorted by a bevy of Bikini-clad beauties.

Sometimes at the back of our mind and just a day or so before Christmas, a nasty little thought has us on a beastly pick and we tired of Santa Claus attempts to break surface. That is dangerous thinking and any influence causing it is dangerous also. Let's put Santa Claus back in December where he belongs and remove the threat to his prestige.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

JUST FOR THE PRIVILEGE

Each one of us should realize that we cannot wholly live unto ourselves. We would grow very selfish and out of tune with those about us. We must have others to think about and help, according to our means, if those means ever so small.

It is a privilege that each one of us has to do some small thing—and so plan it out that it may occur each day. And this for some one else whom we may love or admire who could very well use a boost in spirit—as each one of us could.

It's the good and kindly things we do, for which we are never paid in anything material, that count up heavily for happiness. We ought to cherish the idea that the privilege to distribute cheer and good will is ours all the time and so we ought to exercise it.

We can even be bold planning out ways and means to bring a little more hope into the world—and see that it gets to the right spots. There are more people waiting for it than any of us realize. We are only an inhabitant, as individuals. We are only loaned a small section of this earth. It doesn't belong to us. It's the property of all.

We need most to demonstrate God's worth to ourselves. Then it is that we naturally spread out and become influential, forgetting our own petty values, for in so doing we give that we become conscious of our individual power—the power that is deep within us.

We hunger for sympathy, understanding, and appreciation. So do thousands of others, many who are almost under our very wings! Unload your own hunger and the hunger of those about you is appeased. That's the way it works. Just to live is a privilege, but to be happy we must exercise our many privileges, especially the one to give hope and courage to others.

Journey to West Coast

By G. A. MORTON

(Managing Editor)

Our visit of a little over four days to San Francisco was drawing to close and we prepared to depart. There were many other attractions in this fine city we would liked to have seen and several old districts invisited leisurely explored well. We did manage to spend an hour in Chinatown, but should have had half a day there. The stores stock merchandise quite foreign to what most of us are accustomed except certain standard items found everywhere. Butcher stores carried cooked meats including sides of roast pork, cuts of beef smoked with a coating of glaze and roast chickens and ducks. Curiously the latter two were often placed in the windows where they were suspended from hooks driven into the heads. For some reason the heads were left on cooked poultry.

Another store featured dried sharks' fins, and these things were also on other items we could not identify. A clerk was serving a customer with something which looked like old dried out cucumbers, all shriveled and gray stuck. On questioning the clerk said, "No, those are not cucumbers, they're dried sea urchins, and are used for making soup." Besides fish, these things there was a bewildering selection of teas, mostly from Hong Kong and Salt-Lake-Chinatown. Many thousands of the above can be purchased in Toronto, but for some reason or other we left the city and visited the Toronto equivalent of Chinatown.

MANY OTHER ATTRACTIONS

Besides San Francisco, we would liked to have seen Oakland for it has many tourist attractions, to have taken more tours in the area, including one to northern California. This is truly a land of plenty and one which is growing by leaps and bounds. It offers wonderful scenery, mountains, valleys, streams and a wealth of man-made recreational facilities. In addition to any other State of the Union can match California for what it has to offer.

Leaving Oakland by Southern Pacific at 8 p.m., night blotted the scenery until early the next morning when the train passed through Colton and Lake Desert. The desert is fifty-five miles long. Oh, yes, there was an exception. We awakened as the train passed slowly through Reno at one a.m. Reno's main street faces the railway and never have we seen a gayer, brighter main drag. Glaring advertising (gambling), restaurants, theatres, cocktail lounges and whatnot in a manner that turned night into day. It was a remarkable sight.

Great Salt Lake is crossed by a causeway at its south end and a trestle in the middle of twelve miles. As mentioned in a previous article the Great Salt Lake Pronomonory Point which juts down from Great Salt Lake in that it was here that the last spike was driven to complete the first transcontinental railway across North America in 1869. Because of the lake's salt content, no outlet the water has become laden with salt of about one pound to the gallon. The level of the lake is getting less as can be seen by the white salt on the mountains on the shore line. The deepest part of the lake is thirty feet.

MAY COMPLETE CAUSEWAY

The railroad is contemplating completing the causeway to take the trestle which is a hazzle which has to be replaced fairly frequently by fill. This will add a mere eight feet on the log piles. The cost is estimated to be approximately $2,000,000. This is according to information was kindly provided by Herman Hall, C.P.R. man in San Francisco, general freight traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Company. Incidentally, Hall was in the lounge car next to us and, between bites, we had a fine conversation, through some comment on the countryside.

Hall said the railroad is completing freight rates, which before the war, were complicated factors, make it a task we would compare with figuring out Einstein Theory of Relativity. Like the CPR, the SP was given seven million acres of land grants at the time of construction and in exchange agreed to carry government traffic at one half the number of years and later at reduced rates. Privately owned still has a large percentage of the land in its possession and now is seeking to develop it. Much as much as the Province of Alberta has. Hall said that the company great potential wealth if oil was discovered in quantity, for instance.

The Southern Pacific and its subsidiaries operates 14,000 to 15,270 miles of railroad in twelve states and the company with the Union Pacific and the Chicago and North Western may be said they operate in the same relationship as the CNR and CPR pool arrangements on certain sections in Canada.

One interesting fine diner belonged to the Union Pacific and it was on this diner we received the finest meal experienced on the trip. The crew under the direction of Simmard G. B. Hall of San Jose, California, was about the happiest working group we have met on any train. We had the pleasure to talk to the chef and waiters and we found him so pleased with his job he placed it his table for all of our meals. He was pleased beyond words and to show appreciation he ordered to our orders with more than the usual amount of care and that is really saying something for most all diners are good on the railroads.

CENTRAL PLAINS

The journey across the central plains is rather monotonous, singularly uninteresting . . . mostly grazing land covered with buffalo grass and tan-tan looking grass. Sometimes there are low hills or small mesas mountains in the far distance. Very few houses and there was not one field of millet land seen during the one day of travel.

Although a great deal of the plains is cattle country there were few animals to be seen. Mr. Klein said the reason for this is fertile valleys where forage was plentiful than the dried out uplands. Night travel probably hid grain country to the east of the plains until land began during about elevation, Mr. Klein also pointed out that Colorado reached its highest elevation of 8,013 feet at Sherman not far from Denver.

By the way it takes about forty-one hours to travel from Chicago to Chicago. We timed the speed on several occasions when the train was moving fast and it was averaging ninety miles per hour yet there was no lurching or unnerving even on curves. It was a good demonstration of trail travelling at its best.

During the afternoon the train passed through a couple heavy rainstorms which left a sparkling and dry creek beds flowing deep with muddy water. Same thing was repeated during the night.

Thus it was that we arrived in Chicago on time, establishing a set new records of over seven hundred miles in one day and day, too, during which we decided to go sightseeing and ran into a heavy rainstorm during which turned day into night.

However, it cleared up as it began in sunshine and a warm day. The weather was perfect for the days except the one at Chicago and even in Vancouver where there has been the worst season in years for rain there was the one week of summer weather. We were successful in taking quite a number of motion pictures so we fear our friends are in for a bad time for awhile anyway. The films serve to bring to life some of the things memorania which are all too rare in life.

We think there is no better way to travel to the West Coast than by train. It is comfortable safe and for Canadians there are no comparable in mountain scenery when seen from the coach of a train. Indeed, it must be a treat for clouds and mist would hide all the peaks and slopes. One of the nice things about train travel is the appetizing meals which are perfectly cooked and served. And lastly it is nice to be able to forget worry about travel and timetables.

In conclusion we would like to say that we enjoyed our trip on our Journey to West Coast has been a very pleasant task. Our object was to give people who are shut-in through infirmity or old age to travel some reminiscences of a trip we enjoyed so much. If we have helped you make the trip for one reason or another have enjoyed reading of our experiences then we will have been doubly rewarded.

The End.

Good Show Considering

(Brantford Expositor)

A man who escaped from a mental hospital in Illinois had a nice a merry chase through half a dozen towns before they caught up with him. At La Salle, his pursuers paid to see a bit sweat, and he struck a hydrant, a street sign, a power pole and a building, in approximately that order, before they succeeded in what had never driven a car before. On the whole, considering his condition, we'd say this was a pretty creditable performance. We could name some supposedly "experienced" drivers who have done much worse.

Personal Health Talks

PRIMER ON HARDENING OF ARTERIES

Just had an examination of my arteries by an expert, name of Brady. I was going through the mill and not noticed more than an ordinary number of worries about hardening of the arteries (arteriosclerosis). Dwelling on such a subject is depressing. I decided I ought to have my head examined— many readers have told me so, but I kept putting it off, just as you put off having a proper medical examination until your trouble becomes so far advanced that . . .

Dr. Brady

The examination of my head took ten or fifteen seconds. It was made by the w.k. conductor of temple and scrutinized the area over the course of the temporal artery, a branch of the external carotid which supplies the scalp. Negative. On the right side, however, while there was no visible pulsation, palpation revealed the presence of the artery, all right; confirmed by counting the pulse, 60, not alarmingly slow, in view of the fact that there's no bowling today.

Just in case any poor soul reading this drives here harbors a morbid notion that he has hardening of the arteries, let me say: Don't make a federal case of it. We're all in the same boat—all of us, at any rate, who have passed our peak.

Arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) is not a disease or an ailment. It is a natural, inevitable manifestation of physical degeneration — the decline, the involution, well, let's face it, the slow death that awaits all of us who are not cut prematurely by execution, accident, murder, or disease.

Arteriosclerosis is like rheumatism—acid rheumatism is not to be confused with infectious rheumatism, or injury of a joint (arthritis), as I make tolerably clear, I hope, in the pamphlet, Calcium and Rheumatism. That is to say, the beginning of the disability is so sneaky that you scarcely realize that you, of all people, have it until you've had it a year or so.

So far, in compliance with the Good If You Can But Do No Harm," I have not alluded to blood pressure, because this is still a health column. Even to little Lesson No. 2, the booklets CVD, which deal with causes and prevention of heart and artery trouble, you will find a scant paragraph or two advising you not to meddle with high pressure but to leave it to the judgment of your physician. In all my experience I have found nothing better for "treat" high blood pressure as though it were a malady or disease.

Packing the Days

(Guelph Mercury)

Days are like suitcases. By careful arrangement, some people can pack much more into them than others.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

There is a home bakery on one of the shopping streets my family frequents where you can buy bread that is a positive joy to consume. In the damp pallid snowwhite fungus that passes for bread so widely in this land, the bakery's freshly loaf that is glutinous and chewy and stretchy in the mouth, every bite of which reminds you of wheat rather than improvements on wheat, whatever they may be. They have cottage loaves that are reputed to have been baked in a brick oven: they certainly have a crusty, old-fashioned flavor. I am not frequently to pick up an armful of assorted loaves there, and often I drop in without being sent. The clerks are three middle-aged girls who are the glummest, most taciturn trio you ever saw behind a counter. Even on the few occasions on which I enter the store when it isn't crowded, they stand apart from one another, staring out the window and busying with their own thoughts. They do not try to sell you. Indeed, they appear not to care less whether you buy their wares or not. If you ask them about the different loaves or buns or rolls, they appear to be unaware of the character of the things. They don't seem to infer.

The clerks and school club meeting recently, I met the young man who had inherited the bakery from his father, and I discreetly enquired, in a nice roundabout way, if he ever recommended. Our bread sells out each day without any selling, so to speak. Now, in a welfare world, one of the big problems are people who unfortunate lack the basic business manners necessary to getting along with others. They are honest, competent workers, if I discreetly enquired unequipped to hold jobs that require the easy charm of salesmanship. Well, I'm looking after three of them."

No wonder his bread is good.

MARCHING ORDERS

One of the most impressive statements on spiritual matters made by Jesus Christ was the last one at MacArthur who declared that no one could come unto the world and the Bible which sets forth the gospel constitute marching orders for the members of the Lord's army.

A military man like General MacArthur sees very clearly this important aspect of Christian faith. As a Christian soldier, he makes it a point daily to read the marching orders and ponder the directives found in the Word of God. He clearly sees what even some theologians of note do not see, namely that the basic problem of religion is authority. And the General recognizes and accepts the authority of the Word of God.

Authority. Just before his ascension He declared that all power in heaven and earth had been given unto him. He represents the Divine Will and Purpose in the world and the Bible which sets forth the gospel constitute marching orders for the members of the Lord's army.

Cannot Remember Giving Statement To The Police

MONTREAL (CP) — A murder charge against meek little Lucien Rivard, accused of one of the most gruesome killings in Montreal police annals, is expected to go to the jury today.

Barring surprise witnesses, only the crown and defence summations to the jury remain to be heard to complete the trial of the four-foot, 11-inch machinist and handyman. Monday he took the stand in his own defence and said he could not remember an alleged confession to police that he had slain six-year-old Raymond Tredeau.

"I didn't do it . . . I don't know . . . I can't remember," the 45-year-old man replied to questions from his lawyer.

Young Tredeau's dismembered body was found in a Montreal lane last July. Parts of it had been stuffed in a cardboard box and in a garbage bag near the apartment. The remainder of the body was found in a suitcase in a room last occupied by Picard on Laguchetiere St.

"Do you remember ever meeting that child?" asked Picard's lawyer, Paul Abbott.

"I didn't meet that child," Picard replied. "I came home and saw a child in my room. He was dead and in pieces. I left for a tavern. I thought of phoning police but I was afraid. I don't recall ever seeing that child before or cutting him up."

Last week, at his preliminary hearing, Picard told Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure: "I'm guilty of murder and I want to be hanged now."

A statement presented by Quebec police quoted Picard as saying he choked the boy when he started to scream.

CAMPBELLFORD

Blitz Canvass For Relief Fund Is Approved

CAMPBELLFORD. — At the regular monthly meeting of the town council, a resolution was passed asking citizens to co-operate with the Legion and Service Clubs in their effort to raise money in a blitz canvass of the town in aid of the "Hurricane Hazel" victims.

Mayor Locke presided at the meeting, of which all members were present. The Fire, Water and Light Committee was given power to act regarding sending Chief Donald to the training course for Fire Chiefs in Toronto in November 17-18.

Mr. Jack Cowell addressed council regarding the continual blocking of his driveway and the police committee was instructed to have the police prosecute offenders who parked in front of driveways or hydrants.

The chairman of the Road and Bridge committee brought up several matters. With regard to the cutting of trees that had been made dangerous as a result of the hurricane on property, the committee was instructed to act. With regard to a complaint of trees from Naseby street, the committee was instructed to have it "topped" leading it reaching approximately 40 feet.

Councillor Nicholls gave a statement of the community arena board, and drew attention to the matter of not following the fire truck, parking too near a fire hydrant, thereby impeding the work of the firemen. This was referred to the police committee.

A long discussion followed concerning certain indigent patients in the hospital and council expressed general dissatisfaction with the entire set-up concerning such accounts, submitted by hospitals for care of persons, who in many cases are not considered by council as indigents.

Council agreed to trade the 12-foot right-of-way reserved as an entrance to the Arena at the rear with Mrs. C. A. O'Connor for about 32 feet at the rear of the lot purchased by her on the corner of Market Street and Moses Avenue N., thus giving the corporation 32 feet behind the arena over the width of the two bordering lots.

Mayor Locke reported that the P.U.C. is willing to pay half the cost of lighting the cenotaph, the agreement having been with the process of the years, rendered capable.

The paraheet was passed and council adjourned. It was announced that a special meeting will be called about the middle of November.

Lawyer Refused Permission To See His Clients

TORONTO (CP)—A police sergeant said Monday that on instructions from an assistant crown attorney he refused a lawyer permission to see his clients until police investigation was complete.

"Do you mean to tell me that it is possible for two men to be locked up in Toronto and held incommunicado until police complete whatever investigation they think should be made?" asked Mr. Justice W. D. Roach of the Ontario Supreme Court.

"Yes, sir," answered Sgt. John Agnew.

Sgt. Agnew testified at an inquiry into charges of police brutality brought by Robert Wright, 21, and Michael Griffin, 22. The two were arrested after a University of Toronto constable, John Cowie, died of a heart attack in Varsity Stadium after a Big Four football game Oct. 23.

Earlier Fred J. Malone assistant crown attorney, denied he had told Sgt. Agnew not to permit anyone to see Wright and Griffin. He said the sergeant, who called him for advice, must have received a wrong impression.

Admit Statements By Accused Men In Murder Trial

SIMCOE (CP)—The crown today is expected to complete its case against two men on trial for the axe-murder last winter of Bruce Beatty, 68-year-old service station operator.

The defence has yet to present its case for Jerry Simmons, 47, of Syracuse, N.Y., and Joe Gien Lotharp, 23, of Detroit. They were charged after Beatty was fatally beaten at nearby Rentoe Feb. 2. Beatty's wife was also attacked. She died May 21.

Monday Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow admitted as evidence 19 statements made to police by the two United States' residents after their arrest Feb. 5. A Supreme Court jury had been excluded from the trial since Friday while counsel argued admissibility of the statements.

FIGHT OVER CHEQUE

Simmons said in a statement he went to Beatty's filling station with a toy revolver the night of Feb. 2 to take back a cheque he had given Beatty, since the cheque was one which might get himself into a lot of trouble. The statement continued:

"He wouldn't give it to me. He got wise to the toy gun, let me out the back of the neck and went to the corner for the axe. I hit him with a handle and pushed her (Mrs. Beatty) over against the table. I had no intention of hurting anyone."

Lotharp said in another statement that he accompanied Simmons the night of the holdup:

"Jerry told me he knew where we could pick up some money. I had a cap pistol when he went in. He told me to put a blanket over their heads. After he had found the money, he told me to go back to the car.

"I heard fighting and he came out and said he had knocked them out. I didn't hurt anyone and when I went out they were not hurt."

OVERHEARD REMARK

Constable Donald Pursley of the Norfolk detachment of the Ontario provincial police testified he overheard Simmons tell Henry Little of Detroit, Lotharp's uncle who was visiting he accused in their cells: "I told him he shouldn't have done that."

Constable Pursley said Lotharp told Little later that "I don't know anything about the killing. I was there for the holdup."

The two men face a second indictment in the death of Beatty's wife and an additional charge of robbery with violence.

Canadians Will Pay Tribute On Thursday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians will pause Thursday in Remembrance Day tribute to the men who fought and died in two world wars and in the Korean conflict.

Communities across the land have planned traditional observances at war memorials, a Canadian Press survey today shows. Veterans' and service men's parades, religious services and wreath ceremonies at cenotaphs will be general. The customary service is planned for the national war memorial in Ottawa.

As in former years, the bugling of the "Last Post" will signal the start of two minutes' silence for the fallen at 11 a.m. local time, recalling the hour of the armistice in the First World War.

Queen Mother's Washington Visit Being Wound Up

By LOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth, anticipating her visit to Canada which starts Friday evening, tonight winds up her visit to the United States capital as guest at a private dinner at the Canadian embassy.

Ambassador A. D. P. Heeney will be host at the small embassy affair following a late afternoon reception when Washington society gets its last chance to greet the Queen Mother at the British embassy.

Monday night the British embassy was the setting for a brilliant state dinner attended by President and Mrs. Eisenhower and leading American figures in the capital. Vice-president Richard Nixon was there, along with State Secretary Dulles, Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, and William R. Knowland of California, Republican Senate leader.

The dinner topped off a busy day-in which the Queen Mother toured Annapolis, nearby Maryland capital rich in the history of revolutionary days.

FLY UNION JACK

The wheel came to the full circle when residents of one of the original 13 capitals which broke away from the crown saw the Union Jack flying above the United States naval academy as the Queen Mother's visit and the strains of "God Save the Queen" along with the well known Navy marching song "Anchors Aweigh."

Russia Declares American Plane Fired First Shot

By WARREN ROGERS Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has countered an American protest over the latest cold war aerial incident with a declaration of absolute innocence, but U.S. officials indicate the Soviets have not heard the last of the matter.

For the eighth time since the cold war began, the United States Monday demanded an apology and reparations from Russia for violence done American aircraft by Soviet planes.

Moscow countered with a claim that its planes were in the right. But the original U.S. protest promised that the Kremlin would hear more from Washington after investigation established all the facts "regarding human life and material losses."

The latest incident occurred Sunday over Japan's northern Hokkaido Island. Two members of a U.S. Air Force photo-reconnaissance plane parachuted to safety. The 11th got snagged in his parachute and drowned.

UNUSUAL PATTERN

The U.S. government sent a stiff protest to Moscow, saying it expects the Kremlin "to make all such moral and material reparations as lies within its power."

The immediate Russian response followed the usual pattern: the Reds said the U.S. plane violated Russian territory and fired first, and that Soviet MiGs were forced to retaliate.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, sought two months ago to focus world opinion on what he called a common danger to all countries "if these attacks by Soviet aircraft are to be allowed to go unchallenged."

Must Reduce Financial Burden On Municipalities

TORONTO (CP)—Wilfrid Gregory, president of the Ontario Liberal Association, said Monday night a re-allocation of functions must be made between provincial and municipal governments so the financial load on municipalities can be reduced.

In a speech in the provincial affairs series of free-time political broadcasts over the provincial network of the CBC, Mr. Gregory said the province should accept full responsibility for welfare services and most of education's costs.

His remarks were contained in a text of the speech released to the press in advance of the broadcast.

Mr. Gregory, an alderman in Stratford for 12 years, said financial assistance from province to municipality has increased during the last 10 years but provincial revenues have tripled in the same period. He described the present system of grants-in-aid as not adequate.

Union Will Pay For Insurance During Strike

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Insurance protection for striking Ford of Canada Windsor workers will be purchased by the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), union spokesmen said Monday.

The workers now receive life, medical and hospital insurance as part of fringe benefits paid for by the company under its contract with the union. However, this insurance protection will be dropped by the company at the end of this month, as the contract provides.

George Burt, Canadian director of the UAW, said the union has made arrangements to pay the cost of insuring the workers for the duration of the strike.

RAISES DOG-SIZED HORSES

For 50 years, Lady Hope of Bodiam, England, has been raising horses. Not ordinary racehorses, or even farm beasts, but tiny animals that stand only 28 to 32 inches tall. For every colt foal she has raised hundreds of the little horses, not for profit but for fun. The 28-inch high ponies shown here, she expects, will appear huge alongside a four-months-old foal she is now rearing and thinks will grow no higher than 34 inches—smaller than a good-sized dog. Metropolitan All Aglitter At Opening

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera opened Monday night with a medley of old favorites on stage and the glittering, furred, jewelled, white-tied audience seems to wait all year for just this occasion.

The presentation of excerpts from four different operas was only one of the innovations as the met opened its 70th season.

For example, there was the gentlemen in full Scottish costume, kilts and all; a lady in a mask with feathers dropping from her coiffure, and a turbaned and bearded man who certainly looked like the Indian prince he claimed to be.

Another opening night innovation was a TV closed circuit carrying the season's premiere to more than 30 theatres across the country.

Among the stars on stage were Leonard Warren in "Pagliacci" Victoria de Los Angeles and Richard Tucker in "La Boheme;" Roberta Peters and her ex-husband, Robert Merrill, in "Barber of Seville," and Zinka Milanov, Blanche Thebom and Warren in "Aida."

Actress to Wed

OJAI, Calif. (AP)—Actress Jane Powell and Patrick W. Nersey, Beverly Hills, realty automobile executive, were married Monday by Rev. W. W. Gearhart in the Ojai Co-operative Methodist church.

Miss Powell, 25, obtained a final divorce decree last Aug. 20 from Geary Steffen, insurance executive.

JOLTED—BUT LIVES

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Thomson, 25, Monday touched a wire carrying 27,000 volts and lived. "I don't remember a thing about it," said Thomson after it was revived and taken to hospital to be treated for burns about the hands and feet.

Overhaul of Navy Anti-Submarine Operations On

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A $250,000,000 overhaul of navy and RCAF anti-submarine operations likely will get into full swing in February, defence officials said Monday.

The first of four new types of planes on order for the two services is scheduled to go into service early next year. All four types are designed to strengthen the RCAF's coastal command and the navy's air arm. By 1957, conversion to the new aircraft is expected to be completed.

The first newcomer will be the American - manufactured Neptune medium bomber, which will join the RCAF's Maritime reconnaissance squadrons at Comox, B.C., and Greenwood, N.S. It will supplement the Second World War Lancaster.

The rocket-carrying Neptune has a range of 4,700 miles and will be fitted with new secret anti-submarine detection devices with which the Lancaster cannot be equipped.

Officials said construction of the new Bristol Britannia bomber at Canadair Ltd., Montreal, "is proceeding according to schedule." The plane is expected to be in operation with the RCAF in 1957.

TO SUCCEED LANCASTER

The British-designed Britannia is intended as a successor to the Lancaster, for long-range protection of shipping and as a sub-hunter.

The navy's air arm will be completely converted, probably by June, 1958.

Operationally, the navy now flies two types of planes, the Sea Fury fighter and the anti-submarine Avenger.

The new planes will both be American-designed: The Banshee all-weather-jet fighter and the Grumman S2F anti - submarine plane.

"Park is such a nice sounding name," he said.

2,500 Persons Are Deported In Five Years

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fewer than 2,500 persons have been deported from Canada in the last five years, Immigration Minister Pickersgill said Monday night.

In the same period, he added, nearly 750,000 immigrants entered Canada and between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 non-immigrants, including tourists, were examined at the ports of entry each year.

"Assuming that most of the undesirable persons are discovered and dealt with, this record does suggest that the selection of immigrants has been reasonably effective at least in protecting the country from undesirable immigrants."

Mr. Pickersgill was addressing the Winnipeg Junior Chamber of Commerce. A text of his speech was issued in advance to the press.

He was at Winnipeg earlier this year that a sub-committee of the Canadian Bar Association criticized the immigration department for what it called shocking procedural practices in its overseas administration.

The sub-committee's major complaint was that persons who claim they are Canadian citizens have been refused entry while Canadian immigration officers overseas refuse them permission to return to Canada. The immigration department has the final say.

TRUCK DEMOLISHED

NAPANEE (CP) — A truck loaded with dry beans and driven, police said, by Arthur Hearns of Blenheim was destroyed in a level-crossing accident just west of here Monday. The driver was taken to Kingston general hospital with undetermined injuries.

QUEBEC (CP)—Judge Gerald Maurice Lanthier, 22, of Ottawa, was sentenced Monday by a court martial to 21 days in jail for his part in the furniture moving fraud at Quebec Valcartier. Lanthier was accused of making false statements and of having assisted Lance-Corporal J. C. B. Desjardins to collect payment from the government for moving nonexistent furniture.

Weddings

CARTNELL—KOURI

MARMORA—A pretty double ring wedding ceremony was solemnized at St. Andrew's United Church on Saturday, November 6, at 7 p.m., when the Rev. K. J. Crawford, B.A., B.D., united in marriage Marion Josephine Kouri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kouri, of Marmora, to Walter Wayne Cartnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Cartnell, of Toronto. Orange, N.J. Baskets of white and yellow 'mums were used in an effective setting for the service at the church.

The organist was Mrs. H. C. Barlow, of Deloro. Miss Barbara Mellekjohn of Marmora, was soloist, singing "I Love Thee" and "Through The Years."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in nylon net appliqued with lace roses, tucked bodice over slipper satin with Chantilly lace jacket, having long graceful sleeve and mandarin collar. Her headdress was a coronet of rhinestones and seed pearls with a beautiful silk illusion veil embroidered with rhinestones. She carried a white Bible crested with white orchid and streamers of white baby 'mums.

Miss Marina Kouri, of Toronto, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss A. Edmonds, Peterborough, and Miss Isabelle Cartnell, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids, with Miss Mary Louise McLean, of Newmarket, niece of the bride, and Miss Joanne Nichol of Marmora, being junior bridesmaids.

The gowns of these five attendants were of the same material and style, differing only in colors, of blue, mauve and yellow. They were of net over taffeta, graceful skirts were designed in tiers of net; bodices and sleeves were of lace and net with matching headdresses. They carried old-fashioned nosegays.

The duties of the groomsman were discharged by Mr. Robert R. Cartnell, of Maplewood, New Jersey, and the ushers were Messrs. Donald Davies, Maplewood, N.J.; Derwent Cartinell, South Orange, N.J.; Richard Kouri, Toronto, and Ray Lingard, Port Hope.

At the reception in St. Andrew's Hall, the bride's mother received in a gown of rose hellotrope nylon taffeta with pink accessories, and corsage of mauve orchids. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, attired in Alice blue nylon lace, white accessories and corsage of mauve orchids.

For the wedding trip to Washington, D.C., the bride travelled in a suite of acetate nylon with navy trim, accessories and corsage of white orchids.

They will take up residence at South Orange, New Jersey.

Out-of-town guests were present from Maplewood, N.J.; South Orange, N.J.; Newark, N.J.; Toronto; Alliston; Scarboro; Newmarket; Port Hope, Trenton and Peterborough.

BUCHANAN—BRIENS

Stately white chrysanthemums, interspersed with ferns, adorned the chancel rail and white chrysanthemums the altar in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, on Saturday, November 6, at 4.00 p.m., for a lovely candlelight wedding ceremony when Ann Alice Docter Briens, of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Alex. J. Briens and the late Mr. Briens became the bride of John Harold Buchanan, of Picton, Ontario, son of Mrs. Arvella Buchanan and the late Mr. Buchanan. The Rev. Prebend W. J. Robinson, rector of the church, assisted by Archdeacon J. B. Creegan, rector of Christ Church, Belleville officiated.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Joseph Docter, of New York City the bride was radiant in her floor-length bridal gown of candle-white satinique, fashioned with fitted bodice having a square, illusion neckline accented with heavy lace and flecked with diamente. The long, sheathlike satinique sleeves ended in fly-points over the wrists. A full skirt of tulle was offset with the satinique pom edged with matching lace and jewel trim. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held by a queen Anne headdress, and she carried a white prayer book crested by Butterfly roses backed by white lace, adiantum fern, with knotted streamers of white ribbon.

Miss Eva Nickle, as bridesmaid, was attired in romance blue taffeta, in floor-length, featuring a molded, strapless bodice enhanced with wide, folded tucks, accented by a brief jacket offset with matching covered buttons to the shawl collar and bracelet-length sleeves. She wore matching headdress and carried a nosegay of Butterfly roses, interminigled with blue carnationed and blue chrysanthemum petals.

Little Miss Judy MacDougall, eight-year-old niece of the bridegroom; and little Miss Judy Nickle, seven-year-old niece of the bridesmaid, as flower girls, were demure and sweet in their romance blue taffeta Dutch frocks made on lines similar to that of the bridesmaid. They wore matching taffeta headdresses and mittens, and carried tiny nosegays of Butterfly roses, carnations and blue 'mum petals.

Mr. William MacDougall of Carrying Place, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, while Mr. Lavergne Minaker and Mr. Charles Reid, both of Prince Edward County, acted as ushers.

The reception was held at Hotel Quinte, Belleville, where the bride's mother, attired in navy blue silk with silver grey accessories, and lapel corsage of carnations, received the guests, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing midnight blue crepe and lace with grey accessories and corsage of shaded rose carnations and blue iris.

The bride's table was appropriately appointed with white damask, centred by a four-tier wedding cake topped by Butterfly roses and flanked by silver candles and vases of pink daisies and pink wheat. The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. W. J. Robinson and Archdeacon J. B. Creegan to which the bridegroom responded.

For travelling the bride chose a grey wool suit with shrimp-colored satin hat, grey muskrat shortie coat, black accessories and corsage of Johanna Hill roses. Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan will reside in Belleville.

Guests were present from Picton, Carrying Place, North Bay, Woodstock, Foxboro, Madoc, Kingston, Ottawa, New York City and Westneath.

Prior to her marriage the bride was honored by a presentation given by the Sunday school teachers and Guild of St. George's Church, Station Street, when she was the recipient of a lovely lace tablecloth, and other articles; also at a miscellaneous shower given by Mr. and Mrs. Govie, Bertram Blvd., Belleville.

Starts Life As Working Girl on Paper

LONDON (CP)—Alix Robertson, 23-year-old daughter of Canadian high commissioner Norman Robertson, started life as a working girl Monday—on Fleet street.

She reported for work at the Daily Express but disclaimed editorial ambitions, saying her job "just happened." Her first duty was checking letters to the editor.

Miss Robertson, a graduate of Queens' University at Kingston, Ont., was christened Flora Johanna but later picked her own name, Alix.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harold Rumney are shown signing the register following their marriage in Marsh Hill United Church. The bride is the former Miss Lois Marie Mitts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berson G. Mitts, of Halloway, and the bridegroom the son of Mrs. J. H. Rumney of Coboconk, Ontario, and the late Mr. Rumney. (Photo by Roy Peacock, Belleville).

RUMNEY—MITTS

Chrysanthemums, roses and ferns formed a floral background in Marsh Hill United Church October 30, when Lois Marie Mitts, daughter of Halloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berson G. Mitts, became the bride of Raymond Harold Rumney, of Frankford, son of Mrs. J. H. Rumney of Coboconk, Ont., and the late Mr. Rumney.

The Rev. R. F. Dey performed the double ring wedding ceremony.

Ceremonial music was provided by Mrs. Basil Kuglin and Miss Gena Vanderwater, Toronto, who sang the "Wedding Prayer", before the ceremony, and "Perfect Love" during the register signing.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautifully gowned in floor-length Chantilly lace and net over satin. Her lace jacket was fashioned with long-fitted sleeves and beaded Peter Pan collar. Lace lovers' knots, outlined with opal sequins, marked the scalloped peplum over the net skirt. Her fingertip illusion veil was caught to a net headdress trimmed with seed pearls. She carried pink and white carnations.

Miss Shirley Rennie, Marmora, attended the bride as maid of honor, dressed in mauve lace and net over a satin gown. Miss Glenna Rumney and Miss Evelyn Olmstead, bridesmaids, were gowned in yellow lace and net gowns with yellow headdresses. They carried nosegays of yellow roses and mauve chrysanthemums.

Little Miss Nancy Kathryn Coulter, of Tweed, was junior bridesmaid and was attired in chartreuse nylon organdy with matching headdress. She carried yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Bert Rumney, Coboconk, brother of the groom, attended as groomsman. The ushers were Mr. Bob Wickett, Agincourt and Mr. Earl Detlor, Sidney.

Following the ceremony the reception was held in Foxboro United Church hall, catered to by the Marsh Hill Harmony Club. Where the bride's mother, dressed in braid-trimmed Alice blue gown with navy accessories, and corsage of red roses and white 'mums, received the guests, assisted by the groom's mother, wearing a wine crepe and lace gown and hat, black accessories and corsage of white 'mums and roses.

For the wedding trip to the United States, via Niagara Falls, the bride chose a dress of currant blue crystaline silk and a frosted rose coat, frosty white hat and gloves.

The couple will reside at Frankford.

Previous to her marriage the bride was the honored guest at several showers and presentations. A miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Bert Finkle at her home in Halloway; Miss Joan Walker, MacDonald Avenue, Belleville, entertained at her home the girls from office staff and Lois was given a pantry shelf shower.

On October 30, about 30 girls from the Hyrow staff had a dinner party at Maple Haven and presented Lois with a rose woollen blanket.

On Wednesday night, Mr. P. T. Sebert on behalf of the Hydro Social Club presented Lois with an electric tea kettle.

On Wednesday night also the boys of Frankford Social Club held a stag party and presented Ray with an electric grill.

Women's Institute

FOXBORO W.I.

The Foxboro Women's Institute branch held its November meeting in the school auditorium, on Tuesday evening.

The meeting, in charge of the president, opened in the usual manner, after which Mrs. Shorey welcomed the visitors from Plainfield.

Under convenership of the Institute, quilts a lot of clothing had been collected for the Toronto victims of "Hazel". This had been left at the school and the difficulty was to get it to Belleville. Mrs. Morgan came to the rescue by suggesting Mr. Morgan would take it in. Some money had also been collected and it was decided that Mrs. Shorey look after the money.

It was also moved by Mrs. Sheppard and seconded by Mrs. Brough that $25 be given to the Community Chest.

In a short report of the Area convention Mrs. Simmons, as one of the Foxboro delegates had Mrs. Walker read the slate of officers for the area for the coming year.

Mrs. F. Prindle gave a discussion on the motto, "The less one has to do the less time one has to do it in."

Eighteen members and seven visitors answered the roll call, "Mention your hobby", and each gave an interesting flight in connection with their hobby. Later some of the hobbies on display were demonstrated.

A reading by Mrs. Shorey and the skit which was put on, by the Plainfield and Foxboro branches at the area convention, made up the program and proved most amusing.

Refreshments were served by the committee.

Lace Is Now Front-Ranking Fashion for All

By MURIEL HARBAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Lace, a sign of rank and civic status when the century began, now is a front-ranking fashion for women and a novelty for men.

The Queen wears lace for state functions, the Queen Mother for garden parties and balls. Princess Margaret does it for an Edinburgh festival theatre show and the Duchess of Kent follows suit in Canada.

It's not only the quality of My Lady's gown that counts. It's the intricate jewelled embroidery that picks out the lace's own pattern—and adds to the cost.

BIG BOOST

Each time royalty chooses lace, the boost is felt in the lace-producing firms of Britain and—London's "big 12" designers add their laces gowns to the season's collections. All lace-making equipment in Britain now is working full time with orders well into 1955.

Men are getting in on the lace-wearing revival. The hosiery firm of Thos. Wing, Ltd., that introduced the fancy socks worn here by 1945 claims lace is on the way back to male sartorial elegance. The firm has been exporting to North America since 1932 small quantities of lace socks, with rows of lace edging in place of the usual ribbing.

"Sales are in 10-dozen orders rather than 100s," said a representative. "But men generally would never return to the fancy waistcoat."

LACE CUMMERBUNDS

Now the firm has added two further lace lines. A cummerbund of guipure lace now is on sale to replace satin sashes. It won't move or wrinkle, a sash habit even have long deplored. The newest fashion has still to be shown. It's an all-white lace waistcoat for tails.

Thus someday soon it may be possible for escorts to wear lace waistcoats matching the gowns of their ladies.

In the recent London fall fashion collections, most designers showed lace gowns. One beautiful haute couture lace gown, Digby Morton displayed a ballet-length gown in black Nottingham lace, called black lace.

Morton is just one designer who emphasizing lace patterns by beading. In a formal gown of cafe au lait chantilly, he picks out the lace design in bronze beading and pearls, from wide V neckline to low on the hips. A plain lace skirt drifts to ground level with fullness at back.

ST. JOHN'S Y.P.U. . .

CAMPBELLFORD— The regular meeting of St. John's Y.P.U. was held on Monday evening with the worship service in charge of Citizenship convenors, Chuck Davidson and Dave Thompson, with 43 present.

The meeting opened with the call to worship, followed by a Scripture reading by Joy Ireland. A story entitled "Christian Citizenship," was read by Sandra McDonald. Dr. Smith then led in a prayer and the worship service closed. The business meeting was turned over to the vice-president, Lois Fetherick.

The Y.P.U. took over the Sunday evening service. Earl Taft gave an account of the fall rally held at Coldsprings in October.

The meetings was then turned over to the president, Earl Taft, who conducted some games, after which refreshments were served.

New Influence Creeps Into Bathing Suits

TORONTO (CP) — The Spanish influence has crept into bathing suits.

At a special press showing of beach wear Monday, Miss Pat Clarke in fiesta exhibited bathing costumes inspired by the Spanish matador's coat. It was skin-tight and zipped in at the waist like a Victorian corset.

The Spanish group was a brilliant tangering playsuit, tailored with flamenco detail, a skin-tight, tapered trousers and short bolero completed by Latin braiding and rickrack.

Bathing suits in general were strapless and were shown in more than 120 fabrics.

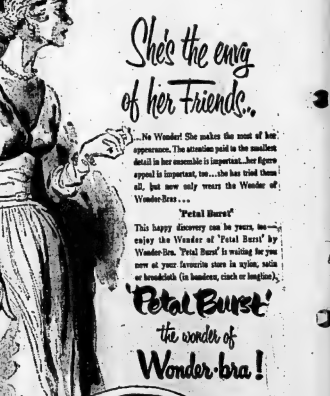
Congregation Honors Golden Anniversary

Prior to their recent golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Denyes, Trent Road, were honored by the congregation of Wesley United Church, Bayside—which they have attended since their marriage—with the presentation of a leather-bound Bible and hymnary having their names inscribed in gold on the covers.

Mrs. R. W. T. Middleton, wife of the minister, presided as chairman, and the choir rendered Mrs. Denyes' favorite hymn in anthem form, "Take Time to be Holy".



An address, signed by the official board of the church, the W.A. and members of the congregation, was read by Mrs. E. Windover, president of the W.A., to Mr. and Mrs. Denyes, who had been given seats of honor at the front of the church, and the presentation was made by Messrs. Frank F. Reid and Harry Sulter, who have served through the years with Mr. Denyes on the church board.

All the members of Mr. and Mrs. Denyes' family were in attendance at both the church service and the presentation.

CARRIED TO SAFETY

GREENBANK (CP) — Mrs. George Payne, a 78-year-old bedridden patient suffering a broken hip, was carried to safety Monday when fire broke out in a house. Three other adults, one of them an 88-year-old woman, made their way from the building. The fire is believed to have originated in the attic of the house in this village 20 miles northwest of Oshawa.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE'S REACHED THE POINT OF NO RETURN IN HER MARRIAGE

While it is certainly true that a mother should do everything possible to hold her marriage together for the sake of her children, there is definitely a point beyond which it is not only foolish, but actually hazardous, to go.

One woman who tells me that her children are her sole reason for remaining with her husband has, I think, reached that point of no return in her marriage and doesn't realize it. For certainly to be taken away from a father who abuses his children physically, and who makes a mockery of home and family life, is a far less damaging experience than to grow up with him. Moreover, the woman herself is in danger of being seriously harmed by her husband's violence, in addition to putting up with a life which has nothing in it but incredible hardship.

"I am only 26 years old, but I have been married for 10 years and have had nine children, one just born. During this last pregnancy, I worked seven months out of the nine to provide for my children and myself while my husband, who is 45 years old, lay on the couch and drank all day. By the time I came home, he was drunk, and the next one, I have also been told that he has been having an affair with a 40-year-old woman.

"We have only a broken-down three-room cottage for all of us to live in, and my husband refuses to work long enough to pay the rent even on this. None of us have any suitable clothes to go to church in. The children have got so that they hate their father, because he beats them when I am not home.

"I feel I cannot put up with this misery any longer, and I want to leave but, since my father also drank, and my mother separated from him, I hesitate to break up my marriage because of the children.

"I would be eternally grateful if you would give me your advice on this."

As I have already intimated, the only advice that either I or, I should think, anybody else, could possibly give this woman is to leave this worthless brute as fast as possible. As I see it, to stay a minute longer than necessary a man like this is about as sensible as it would be to lock yourself up in a cage with a lion who might spring at you at any moment.

Of course it is not exactly a simple matter to move nine children, one of them a new baby. But some arrangement can certainly be made possible if she gets the right people to help her. For instance, to live in a broken-down three-room cottage is a criminal health hazard in itself. When you add to this, the fact that the unwholesome family atmosphere is a threat to the mental health of the entire family, it would certainly be to the interest of the community to remedy the situation.

If there is a family welfare agency in the town where this woman lives, she should go there at once and tell them of the conditions under which she and her children are forced to exist. If her town is so small that the nearest such organization is too far away for her to reach, then she should go to her pastor, or priest, and ask him to help her out of her dreadful plight.

In her letter, she asked me not to reveal her name—which of course I would not do anyway—because, she said, if her husband were to see her name in the paper

A SMALL crawler, cheerfully gets into everything, thereby creating real trouble if he shares a room with Big Sister. You can arrange toy shelves or other low furniture in town a position, giving Sister a "home" of her own where her treasures can be kept neat and safe.

Stirling

STIRLING.— Mrs. Bruce Bell entertained Mrs. M. Sullivan, of Woodstock, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Tummon attended the funeral of their uncle, William Moffatt, at Peterborough on Friday.

Mrs. Clive While has arrived home via S.S. "Scythia" from a delightful holiday with relatives in England.

Mr. David Duffin was chosen president and Mr. R. A. Patterson secretary-treasurer of the Trent Valley District Scout Association. The annual meeting was held in Campbellford with a good representation from that town, also Stirling, Norwood and Havelock.

Dr. Winnifred Bryce, missionary to India, was guest speaker at the Teachers' conference held at Lindsay. The Stirling public school teachers were in attendance and heard a great deal of useful information on educational research.

Mrs. Ed. Kent, Stirling, R.R. 4, was hostess to St. John's Church of England W.A., with Mrs. Joe Whitehead in charge. Mrs. Percy Cooke gave a special report of the recent deanery meeting held in Madoc. The program was given by Mrs. Kenneth Morrow, Mrs. Ernest Carr, Mrs. Cecil Mourney and Mrs. Kenneth Mumby.

Mr. Bruce Bell gave a vivid description of his recent trip to Moose Factory at the recent meeting of St. John's Men's Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kent Stirling R.R. 4, entertained a number of guests at a christening dinner for their granddaughter, Billie Mae Jensen, following a special christening service at the St. John's Church of England in Stirling. Four generations were in attendance, which included the great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Kent and her grandmother, Mrs. V. Nyberg, who is leaving soon to live in Norway. A special word of welcome to the baby's great grandfather wishing Billie Mae a full life in the church.

In connection with her story, he would beat her. She may also be afraid that if she were to consult anyone about her problem, he might find out that she had done so and take revenge on her. Her situation, however, is far too serious for her to let this fear keep her from seeking help, and if she will explain things fully to whoever she consults, I am quite sure she will be protected.

This problem calls desperately for immediate action. I hope this woman will write it, and then let me know if she has found it.

Beauty

TALL GIRLS SHOULD WATCH THEIR POSTURE

Despite the fact that this year's fashions were just made for her, one still hears the tall girl lamenting her height. One cannot help wondering why, since most of today's teen-agers are not fatty tatter than their mothers were at that age, but slender, too. They started out as "vitamin babies," had their orange juice, and look at them now! Strong, alert, s'arting to go!

It won't do to develop a complex about those extra inches. Desiring to look shorter, some girls fall into the habit of stooping, a practice than can ruin a pretty figure, causing the chest to flatten and the fine lines of the back to become distorted. The tall girl should always walk regally. For, with perfect posture and a stately pose of the head, she will gain distinction of appearance.

There are rules of dress for all types of figures, but the suit is especially becoming to the tall girl since the jacket gives a cross line that makes for good proportions. Blouses should be soft and full. The tailored neck line, or the square cut, so popular this season, is preferred to the V.

The length of the skirt is important. The tall girl with "leg" a long line which is raised somewhat is better than one that almost trails on the floor.

The new, wide, flat hats that are being displayed in Paris and in our own country too, are more suitable for the tall girl than the tabloid hat which is the style which have also been evolved this season.

The tall girl should have fullness at the sides, extend well below the nape line. The short cut, curly and severe, is likely to make her head look too small for her body.

THE NAVY MAN TO MARRY A WAVE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son, a navy man, is to be married to a wave at her home here in Virginia. Her folks live in California, we live in the East, and the reason they decided to be married away from home is to save the parents the traveling-expenses. I have several questions about which I would deeply appreciate your help.

1. Our son has asked me to send him a list of the names and addresses of our close friends to whom we would like to have the bride's mother send announcements of the marriage. Is this necessary?

2. We have never met the girl's parents.

Should I, the groom's mother, start the "get-acquainted proceedings," or is it up to the bride's mother to do this? And what would be the best means of bringing about this getting-acquainted?

3. Would it be necessary for me to invite the close friends of the couple to a party, or would a visit by the couple be sufficient?

M.C.B.

1. Yes, this is the customary procedure, for the bride's mother to ask for a list of the names and addresses of the groom's relatives and friends, so that announcements of the marriage may be sent to them. And under the circumstances of this marriage, so far away from the families, it is particularly important that announcements be sent.

2. You, the groom's mother, are the one who should made the first move in the "get-acquainted proceedings." This is extremely important! After you have written to your son's fiancee that cordial letter to welcome her into your family, and to tell her how happy you and your family are about the engagement and the plans for the wedding, then you should at once write to the girl's mother, the delightful "mother-to-mother" letter that is so blessedly welcomed by the girl's mother and the rest of the family. Additionally, remember to thank her for sending the announcements to your relatives and friends on your list.) Chat with her about the wedding plans, the future plans of the couple.

3. I'm not sure what you mean by this question. If you mean giving the couple a party when they are able to come to visit you, this is of course a most delightful way to have the relatives and friends meet the bride and groom, the bridegroom. Or, if there is time, the bride and groom may go to call on the groom's relatives and friends.

HOW TO . . . HOW NOT TO. . . . DECLINE OFFER OF CIGARETTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When, in the past, a man or a woman has offered me a cigaret I have just said, "No, thank you." Do you think this is enough of a reply, or should I say, "No thank you, I don't smoke"? Which is correct? — Constant Reader

What you have been saying. . . . "No, thank you," is just the right reply to this kind offer. Said, of course, with graciousness. No reason to add "I don't smoke," which is apt to sound stuffy, self-righteous, as if to say, "What a good girl am I!" Since all this time you apparently haven't found it necessary to add, "I don't smoke" to your "No, thank you," I'm sure you won't find it necessary now.

If at First You Don't Succeed Try Lemon Pie Again

By Mary Moore

All of my cooking life I have been trying to make the perfect Lemon Meringue Pie. Way back in 1941 I thought I had it—but when I make that 1941 recipe up now the filling tastes foo sweet to me.

This perfect lemon pie must not have as much cornstarch that the filling is stiff or tastes of a trace of cornstarch. It must not have so much sugar that the lemon flavor is obscured. It must have enough butter and egg yolks that the effect is custardy. The crust must be thinnish—yet flaky. The meringue must be high.

I suppose when I did't will still be trying to improve on this perennial favorite, but on Sunday last I made two pretty good Lemon Meringue Pies for Doris' birthday dinner, instead of a birthday cake which she does not fancy. I thought you might like to try this latest recipe on your crowd. Of course my gang is so prejudiced because they love me that they insist that it was the "best yet." Love may be blind but in our family it is always hungry too.

EMEN'S LEMON MERINGUE PIE

Mix in the top of the double boiler 1 cup (1-3 of a cup is 6 tablespoons) sugar and 5 1-2 tablespoons cornstarch and 1-8 teaspoon salt, and when well mixed stir in 1 1-2 cups boiling water. Now stir over direct heat until thick and let it boil 1 minute while you stir constantly. Place over boiling water, cover and cook 20 minutes, stirring twice. Meanwhile grate the rind from 2 lemons and add—about 1 tablespoon finely grated rind, and squeeze the juice from them until you have 1-4 cup (or if you like it real lemon-y add 5 tablespoons). Separate the yolks from the whites of 3 eggs, beat the yolks and when the cooked filling has cooked its 20 minutes stir a little of it into the beaten yolks, then turn this back into the filling in the double boiler and cook 2 minutes stirring. Remove from heat, add lemon juice and 3 tablespoons butter, stir well, and pour into deep 9-inch baked pie shell (see amount's for pastry below). Cover with meringue made by beating 3 egg whites with 1 teaspoon cream of tartar until foamy, then beating in gradually 6 tablespoons sugar (sweetened to taste). Pile meringue on hot filling, being sure to seal meringue to edge of crust which prevents shrinking and weeping. Exposure of filling allows pie to "weep". Swirl meringue into attractive points. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 10 or 12 minutes until pale gold.

NOTE: This pie should not be cut until it is thoroughly cold—and preferably even hours old.

PASTRY FOR TWO PIE SHELLS OR ONE TWO-CRUST PIE

Two cups unsifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup good quality shortening (plus 1 tablespoon if you want it extra tender), 5 level tablespoons ice cold water. Cut shortening into flour and salt with pastry blender until mixture look like coarse oatmeal. Add water 1 tablespoon at a time, stirring it in with knife, but always adding the water to a dry spot. Roll out to 1-8 inch thickness in rounds to fit pie plates. Prick pastry when pie plate is lined. Bake at 475 deg. Fahr. 8 minutes.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

A GRAND GUY!

Many tributes to the late Bill Green, one of this city's hockey greats, have poured in to the department since Bill's sudden passing on Sunday night. Men well past the half century mark, who lived and played in those roaring days of the twenties, paid simple, yet impressive, tribute in a friend and teammate. These men, most of whom helped Bill carry the hockey banner of Belleville, mourned not only a fellow athlete but one who carried the spirit of sportsmanship into his every-day life as well as on the fiery ice-lanes of hockey.

BILL GREEN

Bill was a personal friend. He was often a guest in the press boxes at the Exhibition Park or Memorial Arena. He often spoke at the radio "Hockey Talk-Shop" and his opinions were forceful and sensible. Bill never forgot the days he played hockey for the men he played with. Only last week he was making arrangements for memorial wreaths for those of his club who made the supreme sacrifice in World War II. Fellow players who have since passed on. Now Bill stands in the misty shadows of a sports Valhalla with such illustrious players as Pat Boland, Daw Whalen and others of Eddie Thomas' grand hockey company. Rest easy, Bill.

No finer tribute could be paid to Bill than that of his former manager, Ed Thomas. Ed, who was "Mr. Hockey" for Belleville for many years, and piloted junior and intermediate teams to championships and near-titles, recalled the days of "his boys."

"Bill Green," Ed told us, "had the first requisite of a hockey player—Guts. Without that, in our day at least, they may as well fold and go home. But Bill! Ah, there was a player. He was a stick-handler, a skater. He knew what he did when it was needed. He feared none, as big as they were. Bill Green played hockey when he was on the ice. He played to win. He gave everything he had to that end. What more could a manager ask?

"I never knew a finer man to represent hockey and sportsmanship than Bill Green." Mr. Thomas said.

The following are the tributes paid to Bill by these grand guys who were Belleville colors with him in those colorful days.

"GUNNER" ARNOTT — "A great player and competitor. We always felt safe up front when we knew Bill was back there behind the blueline. A man's man and a great hockey player."

"BUNNY" FRECHETTE—"One of the nicest fellows I ever met in my life. He was a grand player and played to win all the time. A clean sportsman, Bill was the kind of a guy you liked to have on your side."

BILL FINKLE—"A fine sportsman and as aggressive player. Bill was always on the job when you needed him. He was a gentleman both off and on the ice. There will never be another Bill Green."

SAMMY SYMONS — "No matter how tough the going was, whether we were winning or losing, Bill Green was always the same. He was a fine type of sportsman and a guy a fellow loved to call a friend."

"BOUNCER" HOLWAY — "Bill was a grand chap to play with—or against—on or off the ice."

CLAUDE D. TICE—former sports editor of the Ontario Intelligencer said: "I have lost a good friend. As sports editor when the intermediate team was in its heyday in the early twenties I had the pleasure of travelling hundreds of miles with the boys. Bill had a grand competitive spirit. He gave no quarter and he asked none but when the game was over he was the same kindly fellow that everyone had known all their lives. He was a great incentive to the younger players coming up and he was never happier than when doing a favor for someone else. He will be missed in this city."

"JOSH" CANNING, "TOOTS" HOLWAY and other fellow players could not be reached for comment before press time.

THIS COULD BE IT!

This should be the night of the Big Battle!

This should be the night when former clashes between these teams should resemble pink teas in comparison. This should be the night when a pair of octopi should officiate with two pairs of eyes in each tentacle and a firecracker cluster of whistles in their maws.

For this is the night those arch-feudists of the Icelanes, the Kingston Goodyears and the Belleville Memos clash for the first time in the 1954-55 season.

The drums have been thumping down Rodgerville way anent the puck-chasing practitudes of the Goodyears. They have rat-tat-tatted the fact the Goodies were the 1952-53 champions. They have staccato'ed the info that this is the strongest team to represent the Limestone City since way back. Tonight will tell the tale.

Never was there a time when either Belleville or Kingston squad could be accused of pauly-waiting when in athletic battle. They say on one occasion a couple of checker experts representing the various cities wound up in fisticuffs.

Rivalry in baseball and hockey has always been keen between the two cities. On not a few occasions the boys resorted to the mitts, with no serious damages being done, but always there has been a fierce desire on the part of both teams to send the opposition home with tails a-drag. And tonight will be no different.

One-Man Show Rocketed Habs Into League's Top Position; Toronto Leafs Start Momentum

MONTREAL (CP)— Bull-shouldered Boom Boom Geoffrion barged unceremoniously into the National Hockey League picture with his red-hot scoring splurge for Montreal Canadiens that the ups and downs of several other clubs were almost overlooked.

For instance, Toronto Maple Leafs gathered momentum with a have 13 points and Jean Beliveau during the week's run and took over third place from the suddenly slipping New York Rangers.

Also, Chicago Black Hawks emerged surprisingly from the cellar, largely because Boston Bruins were in even worse distress.

The way things stand now, today's meeting of the NHL club owners in New York may find them discussing the plight of the Bruins as well as the misfortunes of the Hawks, a piece of business that was supposed to rate No. 1 on the agenda.

The Bruins haven't won a game since Oct. 14. They have that single victory and three ties to show for their season's work so far. The Hawks salvaged a game in a three last week, their second win of the season plus two ties.

CANADIENS DOMINATE

Boom Boom's one-man show of four goals and one assist in two games had immediate salutary effects, in a Montreal sense. It helped Canadiens to retain at the top of the standing, ahead of the pursuing Detroit Red Wings, and the widened Geoffrion's margin in pacing all NHL scorers.

Next in order with three more Montrealers. If you toss in goalie Jacques Plante's lowest goals-against average, you lack only one man of a full hockey team heading the league's list of official statistics.

Geoffrion's total now is 13—a dizzy goal-a-game pace—and he has five assists for a point total of 18. Teammates Ken Mosdell and Maurice (Rocket) Richard each near-perfect two wins and a tie and Detroit's Alex Delvecchio have 12 apiece.

With 11 points are Ted Lindsay of Detroit, who bagged two goals in the Red Wings' four games, and Don Raleigh of New York, with one assist in two games.

It's a tight battle among the goalies. Plante's goals-against average of 1.77 is lowest, compared with 2.00 for Harry Lumley of the Leafs and Terry Sawchuk of Detroit. Lumley won the official top because the Leafs have been scored on 27 times compared with 23 against Montreal, but the Montrealers have played two more games than the Torontonians. Sawchuk, beaten 27 times in 13 games, has posted three shutouts.

Aces' Powell Heads Scorers

MONTREAL (CP)—Ray Powell of Quebec Aces continues to set the pace among point-scorers in the Quebec Hockey League, official statistics showed today.

Powell picked up two assists during the week to move into a two-point lead over Jean-Louis Tessier of Montreal Royals. Powell failed to get a goal but has a total now of 25 points. Tessier scored once but went without any assists and has 23 points.

Kelly Burnett of Montreal and Mike Labadie of Quebec are tied for third place with 22 points each. Burnett collected a goal and an assist during the week and Labadie scored a single goal. Labadie is still the league's high man on assists, with 18, and Tessier tops the goal scorers with 13.

Ciesla Leads Junior 'A' Scoring Race

TORONTO (CP)—Hank Ciesla, captain of St. Catharines TeePees, continues to lead the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league in scoring with 17 points.

OHA figures show Ciesla has scored seven goals and assisted in 10 others in his first eight games of the 1954-5 season. Hec Lalande of Galt Black Hawks is in second place with 14 points, four goals and 10 assists.

Ciesla's seven goals are the junior league's record. But Bill Sweeney of Guelph Biltmores has the most assists, 11.

In the OHA Senior A league Bill McCord of Owen Sound Mercurys and Mickey Roth of Stratford Indians are tied for the lead in individual scoring, each with 14 points.

McComb has scored eight goals and has six assists while Roth has scored six and assisted on eight.

May Transfer Ottawa Franchise To Miami

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa sports promoter T. P. (Tommy) Gorman said Monday that Ottawa's International Baseball League franchise may be transferred to Miami, Fla.

Gorman, who holds the option on the franchise dropped last week by Philadelphia Athletics, said he is negotiating with E. J. Ryan, who represents a group of Miami citizens.

"I've been in touch with Frank Shaughnessy (International League president) since August and would like very much to get a franchise in Miami," Ryan said.

TOUGH GAME

CHICAGO (AP) — Twenty-two Chicago Bear players were treated Monday for an assortment of injuries as an aftermath of Sunday's 26-23 National Football League victory over Green Bay Packers.

"It's the most players reporting for treatment of injuries on a Monday that I can recall," said owner-coach George Halas. "The training room looked like a hospital."

Alex Webster Has Scoring Title in Bag

TORONTO (CP)—Alex Webster of Montreal Alouettes has the Big Four scoring title just about wrapped up.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show the former North Carolina State back with a record-equalling 16 touchdowns for 80 points. His closest rival for the title is team-mate Ray Poole, kicking specialist, from the New York Giants, with 56 points.

Webster has a good chance of breaking the touchdown mark for one Big Four season set by Toronto's Ulysses Curtis two years ago. The Als close out the schedule at Ottawa next Saturday and at the rate Webster is going he is good for at least one major.

Tip Logan of Hamilton Tiger-Cats is in third place with 35 points, and Lou Kusserow is fourth with 30.

In the Intercollegiate scoring race Varsity's Steve Oneschuk leads with 20 points, three up on Gino Fracas of Western Mustangs. Queen's Ron Stewart is third with 25-points and Gary Schreider, also of Queen's, is fourth with 29.

Stuke Retained As Lions' Coach

VANCOUVER (CP)—Annis Stukus will be retained as head coach of British Columbia Lions for 1955, officials of the Western Interprovincial Football Union club announced Monday night.

The announcement followed a meeting of the club's board of directors at which Stukus was given a unanimous vote of confidence.

The earlier unconfirmed rumors that Stukus would be released because of the dismal showing of Lions in the Big Four and in the WIFU but though his $12,000-a-year contract still has a year to run.

Bombers Have Backs to Wall But Won't Concede a Thing

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers have their backs to the wall, but they're not conceding a thing.

"We should have been one up. Now we've got to take two straight," said coach Al Ackerman, whose Bombers dropped a 9-3 decision to Edmonton Eskimos in the first game of the best-of-three Western Interprovincial Football Union final at Edmonton Saturday night.

Second game is at Winnipeg Stadium Thursday and it's a must for the Bombers. A loss means they can hang up their cleats for the season and Eskimos will go into the Grey Cup sudden-death semi-final against the Ontario Rugby Football Union champions at the home of the western winner Nov. 20.

If Bombers win Thursday, third and deciding game will be played at Edmonton Saturday night.

The big blue and gold machine held a two-hour workout Monday night behind locked gates at Osborne Stadium, former home of the Bombers. Best news from the camp was that fullback Tom Casey, injured Saturday, was back running in his old form. Casey suffered a mild concussion in the first half of the opening game and saw no action in the second half.

Sherman said he felt the loss of Casey had a direct bearing on the final result.

"We missed Tom both on offence and defence."

Sherman who only last week signed a new two-year contract with the club, again criticized the fans and writers who "harp" on statistics as a big factor.

"It doesn't matter that we 'outstatisticked' them. It's who does the scoring that counts."

In Saturday night's game at Edmonton, the ball was played almost exclusively up front with line work so fierce and bruising that the backs had little opportunity for eye-catching footwork.

Said Eskimo tackle Jim Weatherall:

"Every time I collided with (Winnipeg tackle) Doll Huffman the impact shook the chin strap on my helmet like the strings on a harp."

Weatherall pinched a shoulder muscle, but it's not expected to keep him out of the second game.

LABUA UPSET

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (AP)—Undefeated Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, made a successful eastern and television debut Monday night by outclassing favored Jackie LaBua of New York in a lively 10-round fight at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Sedgman Blames Kramer For Tennis Decline

MELBOURNE (AP) — Frank Sedgman, who almost single handedly brought tennis back to life in Australia, today blamed Jack Kramer for what has turned to a decline in the world amateur tennis standards.

Writing in the Melbourne Sun, Sedgman, the 1952 Wimbledon champion who now is a touring professional, described Kramer as a "certain wily American gent," who "made amateur tennit is rather because he was able to buy up the best amateurs."

"After each contract has been signed, there always has been a string of the amateurs until none else hits the front," said Sedgman, who currently is playing with Kramer's troupe.

"We are in one of those halfway moments and it is taking quite a while for the amateurs to come out of it," he added. "Amateur tennis at the present time looks like a no-world beto who spurs on all other players to knock off his crown."

Sedgman obviously was thinking of the past season when no one player stood out. The major championships of the world were divided among several players with Vic Seixas winning the United States title—the last big one.

Both Australian Davis Cup captain Harry Hopman and his American counterpart, Billy Talbert, obviously that there was no player who could be counted on to win a match before he stepped on the court.

Sedgman continued that to be beyond amateur tennis had not improved "one iota" since he and his countryman, Ken McGregor, turned professional in 1953.

"On the contrary," he observed, "play definitely has declined."

Shouting and Thunder Is All Over Athletics Switch to Kansas City

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Philadelphia Athletics were transferred to Kansas City Monday in the third major league shift in 10 months when the American League approved sale of the club to Arnold Johnson and three other Chicago industrialists for about $3,500,000.

Clark Griffith, who owns Washington Senators, and Hank Greenberg, Cleveland general manager, were reported to have voted against the move to Kansas City but the league approved it 8 to 2 for the required three-fourths vote.

The league gave Johnson a unanimous 8-0 vote as the new owner who came up with the cash to buy the debt-ridden Athletics, headed by Connie Mack and his family since the league was organized in 1900.

Johnson helped swing the deal with a fine presentation of his own case during the afternoon session. He converted Walter (Spike) Briggs, the Detroit owner who had announced he was against Kansas City but finally made the motion for the transfer.

MUST SELL STADIUM

Johnson, as head of the Arnold Johnson Corp., bought Yankee Stadium from Del Webb and Dan Topping for $2,800,000 Dec. 17, 1953 and then sold the land underneath the park to the Knights of Columbus for $2,300,000. He leased the stadium itself to the Yankees.

He said he "anticipated no trouble" in disposing of his shares in the Arnold Johnson Corp. in compliance with league requirements.

Griffith, soon to be 85, opposed the transfer because it meant that Baltimore would be converted from a "western" team to an "eastern" team and thus offer competition to his baseball club at the gate and for television money.

Greenberg would not say how he had voted but another league executive said Cleveland had opposed the transfer.

Johnson said both Roy Mack and his brother Earle had three-year contracts with his new organization, to be known as Kansas City Athletics.

Paul Meger Out for Month

MONTREAL (CP)—Left-winger Paul Meger of the National Hockey League's Montreal Canadiens is under observation in hospital here for a probable skull fracture believed suffered Sunday night in a game at Boston.

Hospital officials said that, although the 25-year-old forward likely will be able to leave hospital within a few days, he probably won't be able to play competitive hockey for at least a month.

Arena Manager Changes Spot

Estimated cost of the North Bay sports centre is $635,000. Construction has not yet started. A vote is to be taken in North Bay Dec. 13 to decide whether to appropriate the sum of $235,000 to meet the contract price.

The Canadian Press said in a dispatch Tuesday that the North Bay centre now is under construction and that it is to cost $750,000.

Indians Buy Harry Psutka

STRATFORD (CP) — Defenceman Harry Psutka, a regular with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen the last three seasons, has been purchased by Stratford Indians in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A player deal announced Monday.

The announcement, made by Indians' manager Dutch Meier, did not disclose the cash involved.

The Indians have also obtained rightwinger Doug Verity from the Kitchener club. No money was involved in this case. Verity had been with Kitchener-Waterloo when the team was organized in 1948, except for two seasons in England.

FIRST FOR QUEEN

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth achieved a pet ambition Monday—she topped a list of British winning racehorse owners for the 1954 flat race season. Yesterday's record haul has turned the trick in a full season before.

The Queen's stable of 24 horses won $114,000. Next was American owner Robert Sterling Clark, whose British stables raked in $109,000.

The Queen's biggest 1954 winner was Never Say Die, which won both the Epsom Derby and the Doncaster St. Leger.

The Queen's father, the late George VI, topped the prize list in 1951 when the total value of the wartime years don't go into the official record book.

Phillies Farm Director Resigns

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Reardon, 40, resigned Monday as farm director for Philadelphia Phillies of the National League but said he plans to remain in baseball.

Reardon offered no reason for his resignation and general manager Roy Hamey said only: "We don't know what he has in mind. His resignation speaks for itself."

Reardon came to the Phillies in December, 1943.

Athletics Move Means Change For Minor Club

NEW YORK (AP)—Transfer of Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City will mean the reduction of at least one minor league club and the possible reduction in size of class C Western Association.

Under baseball rules the Kansas City Blues of the American Association, owned by New York Yankees, will have first call on any other minor league city.

Although owners Dan Topping and Del Webb of the Yankees have made no announcements regarding their Kansas City club, Denver is reported to be first in line. Denver is a member of the class A Western League.

COLONEL IS REST

PETERSBORO(AP) (CP)—E. D. Bonnyman, president of the All-Canadian Fox Hunters Association, won the all-Canadian title with his dog Colonel at the eighth annual field trial at nearby Keene. Judy Sands, owned by A. Frank Cook of Monroe, and Agnes McDairmid of Stratford was chosen best Canadian-bred foxhound. The trials were held Saturday.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Jimmy Peters of England didn't win the marathon race at the British Empire Games. But by sheer, unbelievable courage, he won something more durable. He set a standard, a new red badge of courage, that will live throughout the years as the name of whatever else forgotten.

Who remembers the name of the winner of the 1908 Olympic marathon at London? Very few, we think. But everybody remembers the immortal story of Dorando, the little Italian pastry chef who, tired and spent, started around the track in the wrong direction in the final lap of the marathon, staggered at every step and was kept from falling only by the attendant officials. Dorando was disqualified, and Johnny Hayes of the United States declared the winner.

The Dorando story pales beside that of Jim Peters. Bill Schroeder of that great American sports institution, Helms Hall, termed it "the greatest show of courage I have seen in any sport." "I'm thanks Ferguslan will recognize Peters for giving him an award for the greatest display of courage in track and field history," he said.

Peters came into view on the ramp leading into the Vancouver Stadium, staggering like a drunken man. He weaved from one side of the 30-foot-wide downhill approach ramp to the other. As he reached the level track he fell flat on his face. He got up and then fell on his back, hitting his head on the ground.

This man, who obviously had suffered a sunstroke and could not see, crawled along on hands and knees. Then by grim will only to fell again. Nine times he fell to the track. Finally he managed to get to his feet and kept the pace set during the regular finish of races like the mile and 146-yard dash. Apparently he thought he had passed the finish line.

Finally he got up again and was facing the wrong way. Instinct turned him around but he staggered again and the team manager ran out and caught him in his arms.

This was not the shortest of the finish and Peters was disqualified. J. McGee of Scotland, who hadn't yet entered the stadium, was eventually declared the winner. But the heroism of Jimmy Peters will live in memory as long as sport endures.

Science and Medicine Divided On Great Cigaret Controversy

Editor's note: Few research problems of modern times have captured the public's fancy more than the current search for an answer to this question: Is cigaret smoking a substantial hazard to health? The interest is justified, for the stakes are high. Here is a brief summary of what is involved, the first of four articles.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press
Science Reporter

It has millions puzzled or confused, and many frightened, are cigarets really dangerous? Should YOU stop smoking?

It finds science and medicine divided. Some authorities frankly call cigarets a major factor in causing human cancer, especially lung cancer, and say they are bad for your heart. But others, equally prominent, say the case against cigrets is by no means proved.

BENEFICIAL RESEARCH

It finds many hundreds of thousands of dollars being poured into research to find the answer, or answers. That fact could produce great boons for all of us, for the research will dig deep into some biological mysteries. What is learned could turn up vital links about the cause, control or treatment of cancer, heart disease or possibly other health matters, quite aside from its effect in the cigaret controversy.

The controversy finds unknown thousands of men and women giving up cigarets, or trying to, or thinking they should.

The answer or answers in the controversy are vitally important.

Human health is one stake—are cigarets healthful, or neutral, or—there in between? Human enjoyment is another—most smokers enjoy their smoking.

The tobacco industry—the big companies and manufacturers and processors, middlemen, ... retailers, vending machine operators—depending on ... lives its livelihood to tobacco. Governments derive much revenue from tobacco taxes.

SCIENTIFIC DILEMMA

Science and medicine have a stake. Should a reputable scientist disclose his findings which lead him to suspect hazards in smoking, or anything else? Or should he wait until he has more evidence? If he is proven wrong after his early announcement, will people accuse him of scare-mongering, or lose faith in scientific research? Should he be proven right after deciding not to warn the public would people accuse him of having shirked his responsibility?

The cigaret controversy, like most big public issues, has come into spring forth overnight.

Some 15 years ago, Dr. Alton Ochsner, New Orleans surgeon, was reporting observations which led him to believe that cigaret smoking was a cause of lung cancer. In 1939, an Argentine physician, Dr. A. H. Roffo of Buenos Aires, reported that tars obtained from tobacco often could produce cancer in the skin of rabbits.

These and other reports were mentioned in the news through the years.

Perhaps many missed the stories. Perhaps it takes time and repetition—in the absence of stark drama—to get rapt attention. Or perhaps many people wanted stronger evidence.

TOBACCO OFTEN ACCUSED

No doubt some dismissed the reports as another instance of crying "wolf" at cigarets. For tobacco often was accused of various ills in the past—of leading to poverty, of breeding maladies in newborns, of making men sterile, poisoning the unborn babies of smoking mothers, contributing to tuberculosis.

Smoking has been banned at some times in a few countries. In Denmark smokers and snuffers were once publicly whipped. In Turkey, King Amurath once decreed beheading for anyone who smoked.

Not until about two years ago did the long-smouldering controversy over cigarets burst into flame. Evidence was being collected and tried to build up into the public consciousness.

Evidence was being discovered and re-discovered to blame cigarets for lung

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for Wed. November 10, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You may have to face slightly difficult conditions — especially in home and personal matters. Don't trust your own judgment entirely; investigate thoroughly. Avoid useless involvement.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Slow up somewhat in order to check how you are doing. Be thorough and patient but don't worry about things that may never happen.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Appreciate the good in others, and the many little things they do well — but which you may overlook when inclined to criticize. Temperament, attitude important.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Note Gemini today. Same advice holds for you, with this added: where you have done your best, await results patiently. Laugh with loved ones.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Some people have holidays when others don't; some work hard when others "take it easy." Let us not judge hastily or by one set of standards. We all have altering circumstances.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Do the things you think are right but also consider the opinions of those who may have good ideas. Remember all is not built in a day. And often the hardest won is the choicest.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Anonymous? Perhaps. But you can look beyond these to bigger things; looking ahead and keeping busy makes for progressive, constructive activity. Guard against intrigues, betrayal, peace.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Don't be too serious in attitude and do the "little things" promptly. Be sure to have sufficient sleep and rest.

November 24 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — If you would be successful in anything, attend to plans, preliminaries and health needs first. With prayer, the right attitude and consistency you will go far.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — It is easier to get after the tasks that need doing than to put them off and be crowded for time later. Today's big temptation is delay. Be practical.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — The quantity of endeavors is not nearly as important as their quality. How are you handling your tasks? Don't worry; take things in stride.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Do what you say you will, and do not promise more than can be done well. Attempting too much is unwise. You understand others pretty well, so why be sensitive to fancied slights?

YOU BORN TODAY are a combination of practicality, artistic ability, imagination, artistry and down-to-earth thinking. You have many qualities for success, yet are inclined to "put off" at times, often delay getting started at things that could bring that success. When it comes to assisting others in emergencies, that is different; you act quickly, efficiently. Guard health; avoid strain, anxieties. LIBERALS LOSE

Eight of the 21 candidates lost their $200 deposits for not polling half of the winner's vote. Four Labor - Progressive (Communist) candidates met that fate, together with two CCF candidates in St. Lawrence-St. George and York West, the Progressive Conservative candidate in Oshawa and one independent.

LEADERS COMMENT

Prime Minister St. Laurent, commenting on the results, termed the four Liberal wins "highly satisfactory" and said the York West result was "hardly surprising." Opposition Leader Drew said the voting "shows a strong trend against the government."

In Stormont, a record 22,637 voters gave Mr. Lavigne the narrowest edge in the riding ever established in 1925, Mr. Lavigne, a grocery merchant, polled 11,497 to 11,140 for Mr. Dick, labor relations manager of the Cornwall paper mill. Mr. Chevrier, now president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, had received two majorities ever since winning the riding from a Conservative in 1935.

The major issues were unemployment and declining farm prices. Building and construction raised the question of United States construction of the major seaway works in the St. Lawrence international section on the riding's doorstep.

The vote was nine per cent higher than last year's record turnout.

Mr. Bryce, who lost Selkirk to the Liberal candidate last year by only 196 votes, had a substantial lead when vote counting ended Monday night. With 96 of 98 polls counted, the Scottish-born CCFer had 7,805 votes to 6,787 for Liberal John Shaniel, 46-year-old lumber merchant, and 2,305 for David Welch, Progressive Conservative, 46-year-old general merchant. At that point the total vote was less than one-half the last year's 14,373 votes cast.

In York West winner had a plurality o 3,063 votes over his CCF opponent, Liberal Robert Campbell, 46-year-old advertising executive. Last year Mr. Adamson got a 1,966-vote edge in the seat he had held since 1940.

Mr. Hamilton, lawyer and army veteran, polled 12,788 votes: Mr. Campbell, 9,725; Bruce Evans, CCF, 2,760; social salesman, 4,681; and Leslie Morris, Labor-Progressive, 232.

MARLER IN

Transport Minister Marler, 53-year-old former Quebec Liberal leader appointed to the cabinet July 1, held St. Antoine-Westmount in a heavy vote by a wider margin —4,908—than the 4,578 plurality given last year to Finance Minister Abbott, who had held the seat since 1940. Mr. Abbott resigned to become a senate supreme court justice.

Mr. Marler polled 14,069 votes. Eric Kierans, Montreal economic executive, a 33-year-old insurance salesman, got 9,161; Mrs. Louise Harvey, Labor-Progressive, 254; and Joseph Loder, Independent, 1,144. The vote was about one per cent higher than last year's poll.

Voters in St. Lawrence - St. George chose Claude Richardson, a native of Sydney, N.S., a lawyer and tax expert, by a four-way fight. His plurality of 1,061 in a belowaverage turnout compares with the lead of 4,447 by Liberal Leon Dion. Defeated Minister Claxton, member since 9 who retired to become an insurance executive.

The vote: Mr. Richardson, 8,560; David de Pencier, Progressive Conservative, a 40-year-old business man, 4,486; Albert Hall, CCF, a 30-year-old union organizer, 412; and Frank Brenton, Labor-Progressive, a 38-year-old office manager, 215.

Mr. Carrick, Liberal winner in Toronto Trinity, was Canadian amateur golf champion in 1931 at the age of 18 and was an Olympic light-heavyweight boxer in 1928. With six polls still to be counted, his lead of 1,267 in a short-term contest was below the 2,037 plurality last year for Lionel Conacher, Liberal member and the famous athlete. The Canadian sports who died last May in a Commons softball game. The voter turnout was also lighter.

With 145 of 151 polls counted, Mr. Carrick had 5,415 votes as against 4,148 for Willson Woodside, Progressive Conservative, the 36-year-old associate editor of Saturday Night. CCF candidate Herman Wanless, 30-year-old public English teacher, had 3,355 and William Rhaklan, Labor-Progressive, 916.

LABOR CALLS

Such a social security measure, it said, would help maintain purchasing power and add stability to the national economy.

"For old age security, the congress urged that universal pensions be made payable at 65 for men and 60 for women—the age for both sexes now is 70—and that monthly payments be increased to $75 from $40 from the federal treasury.

Dealing with housing, the TLC said down payments and high interest rates are the main housing out of the reach of lower-income families.

It asked federal encouragement for low-rental and low-cost homes, for low-income groups to obtain new housing without down payment, Mortgage interest rates should be lowered. The government should encourage slum clearance.

In a series of proposals aimed at a tax structure more suited to today's economy, the TLC suggested:

1. Removal of the special excise tax of 10 per cent, especially on automobiles.

2. Increases in the personal income tax exemptions to $2,000 from $2,000 for married persons and to $1,500 from $1,000 for single persons.

3. Full exemption from taxable income of amounts spent on training those of medicines and drugs.

4. Tax deductions for medical costs.

1. A royal commission to investigate all aspects of Canadian deep water harbors.

2. A selective immigration program to bring in workers to meet the admission only of those "for whom there is a clear and certain need."

3. Legislation to make it mandatory for the board of the labor membership dues for unions when the latter are certified by the recognized bargaining agency.

4. Extension of the federal labor code to cover all federal government employees.

5. Enactment of a Canadian bill of rights, including equal citizenship and voting rights for North American Indians.

6. Reduction of the voting age to 18 from 21 years.

DISEASE HITS BIRCH

Dr. Rene Pomerleau (inset) director of a forest pathology laboratory operated at Laval University by the federal government, said a disease called dieback has already ruined 175,000 square miles of birch stands in the Maritimes, Quebec and the State of Maine. He said the disease, caused by eastern Canada's recent warming up, still is spreading. Since 1875, 20-year temperature averages for July and August show that summers in eastern Canada are warmer by three degrees.

Federation Wants Revamping Of Present System

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Teachers' Federation has suggested Monday the department of education completely revamp the present system of granting elementary school teaching certificates.

Said federation president George L. Roberts of Oshawa, "the term 'first class' applied to teaching certificates now is meaningless because basic requirements for obtaining it change so often."

They asked for types A and B certificates. Each would call for a year's training at teachers' college plus grade XIII standing for type B, and a university degree for type A.

They also specified that a certificate issued to qualifications lower than type B be strictly provisional.

Main beef of the federation is with low certificates issued to meet an acute teacher shortage after the war.

Now students with grade XII standing in high school can get first class certificates after completing either two years teachers' college or taking summer school courses, a year at teachers' college plus two years of university extension work.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In case hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And

STIRLING

Canadian Legion Admits Three Comrades, Plans Remembrance Day

STIRLING — Three more comrades, Dr. A. Packman and Messrs Jack Haggerty and Earl Johnson, were initiated into the Stirling Branch of the Canadian Legion at the regular November meeting.

There was a large attendance of members to view this solemn service when the men took the obligations of the British Empire Service League, also a renewal of allegiance to the Queen and fidelity to Canada and the British Empire.

The presiding officers were C.D.E. G. B. Faulkner, assisted by C.D.E.s George Heesman, Fred Hoadley and Ray Tanner, with C.D.E. H. Jones as sergeant-at-arms. The three new members were warmly welcomed.

The membership chairman urged the group to sell the Legion to the many veterans in his district who have not as yet linked up with the organization. To date there is already a 50 per cent increase in Stirling branch and the objective is 100 per cent as there is much needs to do.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Final arrangements were made for observing Remembrance Day on Thursday, November 11th, at the cenotaph.

The government of Canada has set aside this date as a national remembrance Day to commemorate the end of all conflicts in which Canada has taken up arms in defence of honor and freedom. All district veterans are asked to attend this special service thus upholding the legion dedication to the memory of Canada's fallen and honoring this sacred day.

ANNUAL DINNER

The branch will hold its annual dinner that evening, November 11th, and C.D.E. Ray Tanner, has all the information and tickets.

In the full financial statement presented at the October meeting, the treasurer reported a favorable balance in all departments.

Padre C.D.E. Rev. A. Packman, gave a brief address and stressed the need for constant service on behalf of the veterans, who are disabled, sick or in need. These men not only need material help, they also need the heartwarming handclasp and a bit of encouragement from their comrades. Take time to bring cheer to these folks and never let them become "the forgotten men".

Marmora branch sent an invitation to Stirling to join with them in their church parade at St. Paul's Anglican Church.

SKATING ARENA

The Stirling skating arena will be operated by the Legion for another season. The group appointed C.D.E. Ray Tanner to attend the next organization meeting of the Trent Valley and the minor hockey teams, and report his findings to the executive council. The group thoroughly discussed the idea and they plan to sponsor one of these hockey clubs. The rink committee will inspect the arena at an early date and report what will be needed to put everything in shape for the season.

POPPY COMMITTEE

The Poppy Committee has its plans for the local tag day well arranged and has asked the district schools for co-operation. Several wreaths and sprays have been purchased by the merchants and are on display now.

On Thursday morning the Girl Guides, Brownies and Band will form at the community hall with Boy Scouts and Cubs and Legionaires joining them and at 10.20 they will parade to the cenotaph.

It is expected about 30 wreaths will be laid and C.D.E. R. D. Patterson is in charge of this phase of the Remembrance Day service.

Following the service in Stirling, a number of Legion members, Rawdon Council and Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., pastor of Rawdon United Circuit, will proceed to Memorial Hall at Harold where a brief service will be held and wreaths laid at the cenotaph in memory of those who gave their all for liberty.

Two Brockville Men Questioned About Slaying

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Two Brockville, Ont., men were questioned by police Monday night as witnesses in the fatal stabbing of Frederick A. Diehl and authorities said the testimony of the Canadians "was the most important evidence in the case so far."

The Brockville men returned to this city voluntarily after police reported they might "hold the key to justice" in the investigation of the death of the 40-year-old steam contractor.

They were identified by police as William Dargavel, 23, and Robert Levis, 21.

Assistant district attorney John Little Jr., said the testimony of the two men "sheds a considerably different light" on the case in which Diehl's wife, Josephine, 36, and Augustine Serapiglia, a 41-year-old bartender, have been charged with second degree murder.

Diehl was found fatally wounded behind the wheel of the auto in which he had pursued his wife and Serapiglia early Sunday morning.

HEARD CARS CRASH

He said Dargavel and Levis were weekend guests at a Rochester home and were parked in front of the house around the corner from the dead end street in which Diehl crashed his car into another driven by Serapiglia.

Little quoted them as saying that they saw two autos speed past them and a few minutes later heard a crash around the corner.

The witnesses said they drove to the scene of what they thought was an auto accident. They said they got out of their auto, looked into Diehl's car and drove away when bystanders assured them police and an ambulance had been called.

Seven or Eight Candidates Will Be in Field

REGINA (CP)—A fight for the party leadership among Saskatchewan Liberals, eager for power after 10 years out of office, will bring five and possibly seven or eight candidates before a convention Nov. 25-26 in Saskatoon.

Among the candidates is 38-year-old Wilfrid Gardiner, son of Hon. James G. Gardiner, federal agriculture minister who resigned as Saskatchewan premier in 1935 to join the Ottawa cabinet.

There were reports Monday that the agriculture minister himself may decide to run for the leadership, returning to the province in which he started his 40-year political career.

A Liberal official said a delegation from the Regina Liberal Association approached the elder Gardiner recently and asked him to return as leader. The 76-year-old minister made no comment on his plans.

The battle to succeed Walter Tucker, now Liberal MP for Rosetown, who resigned last year, has brought to the surface an undercurrent of revolt in party ranks.

The revolt flared openly during the weekend when Wilfrid Simmie, 45-year-old president of the Saskatoon Liberal Association, accused the agriculture minister of "unwarranted interference" in the leadership contest.

Mr. Simmie, one of five candidates for the leadership, charged Mr. Gardiner with exerting influence to get him to withdraw from the race. A. H. (Hammy) McDonald, 35-year-old Liberal whip in the legislature, also said he had been asked to withdraw but declined to say who had approached him.

In Ottawa Mr. Gardiner said he has neither asked nor suggested to any candidate he withdraw.

Mr. Simmie said Saskatchewan liberalism is being threatened by a "political machine" which seeks to suppress the interests of the majority.

Political observers have known for years that two factions in the party have been warring since the CCF swept the Liberals out of office 10 years ago.

A Liberal spokesman said Monday that the dispute now has clearly boiled down to one between younger Liberals who want provincial autonomy in party matters and the followers of the old-line Liberal party.

In addition to Mr. Simmie, Mr.

Marital Life Of Sheppards Told in Court

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK

CLEVELAND (AP)—The prosecution summoned an attractive neighbor today to describe the marital life of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard and events that immediately preceded his wife's slaying.

Mrs. Nancy Ahern follows her husband, Donald, to the stand at Dr. Sheppard's first degree murder trial.

But there may be important differences in their testimony.

Ahern, who runs a transportation service and odor removing firm, painted a rather cozy picture Monday of 30-year-old Dr. Sheppard and his wife, Marilyn, 31.

Sheppard is accused of beating his wife to death last July 4 in the bedroom of their white frame home on Lake Erie.

SEEMED AFFECTIONATE

Ahern said he and his wife visited the couple on the night preceding the slaying.

Sheppard sat on the floor at the feet of his wife while watching chair, Ahern testified.

And Pat Reese, the witness testified, he and his wife shared the same room with the Sheppards while on a weekend trip to a Ligonier, Pa., ski lodge.

"Well, I don't recall anything unusual," said Ahern. "They seemed to get along pretty well."

"He was a good decent fellow, wasn't he?" Corrigan asked.

Ahern agreed.

This was somewhat different from the home life indicated by Mrs. Ahern's testimony at the coroner's inquest late last July.

Dr. Sheppard told her around last April or May about a conversation she had with Dr. Randall J. Chapman, a Los Angeles osteopath and family friend, during a visit to the west coast in March.

As Mrs. Sheppard explained it, Dr. Sheppard had told Dr. Chapman he had considered divorcing his wife, but he finally had decided "Marilyn was right for him" and he would try to make a go of the marriage.

Mrs. Sheppard also had said her husband had been interested in a "young lady" on the west coast, but she thought it was all over.

Although Mrs. Ahern said Mrs. Sheppard did not mention the name of the "young lady" on the west coast, 34-year-old Susan Hayes has already told police she and Sheppard were intimate during Sheppard's California visit early this year.

Miss Hayes, star witness for the state, will testify later.

Transport Bd. Head Predicts Rationing of City Streets

By FORBES RHODE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP)—Rationing of city streets so that they could handle the deluge of traffic which threatens to overcome them was envisaged today by Mr. Justice John D. Kearney, chief commissioner of the board of transport commissioners.

As another solution, he said in an address to the Canadian Good Roads Association railway commuter services might be expanded through co-operation of provincial and metropolitan authorities and the railways.

Justice Kearney's remarks were contained in an address prepared for delivery.

"I venture to predict that in the not-too-distant future some of our cities will be obliged to ration their streets and fix priorities for vehicular traffic, particularly at rush hours, which will have the effect of more use being made of city streets at off hours," he said.

"Furthermore, I believe the public in its own interest will come to accept such a situation as a matter of course."

As for commuter services, it seemed to him that the cheapest and most practical way of dealing with the flood of traffic in and out of large cities "at rush hours" was for all interested parties to do all they reasonably could to make it attractive for the suburbanite to leave his car at home.

"Such co-operative commuter supporters, however, to be realistic, must recognize that, if public utility services are required to make good railway passenger and commuter deficits. Under-financed transportation rivalry, however, be believed any further increase in passenger rate increase would simply aggravate the situation by driving freight traffic to other modes of transportation.

Justice Kearney outlined the transport board's report on level crossings, tabled in Parliament but not yet dealt with by the federal government.

Recommendations for changes in legislation covering the railway grade crossing fund involve:

Increasing Parliament's annual grant from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000; increasing the percentage of cost of single projects that can be contributed to by the fund from 40 per cent to 80 per cent; raising the limit on grants to single projects from $150,000 to $300,000; and changing class of projects which can become eligible for grants.

He suggested improvement of standard signs at grade crossings. He presents plan consisting of cross arms mounted on a white post, marked everything from discused sidings to heavily-travelled main lines.

The board was studying possible sign variations, calculated to instill a more lively sense of danger.

Dealing with traffic congestion, he said Canada's motor-vehicle registrations in the eight years 1945-53 had increased 128 per cent, compared with 67 per cent in the United States.

If only 10 per cent of the cars registered in the Toronto area were driven daily into the downtown district, he said, the area of space would be required to the extent of 30 per cent or the cost thereof of many buildings.

W. Arch Bryce, director of the department of police and public safety division, entered a grim warning into the picture of expressways. He stated:

"If present trends continue, soon the world will take to the air. The luxury of driving in our beautiful safe vehicles on safe-designed, safe-built roads. The cost in blood and dollars will be too high."

GENERAL STORE, RESIDENCE AT MELROSE BURN

Blame Busy Party Line, Water Shortage for Loss

Loss estimated at approximately $15,000 resulted Tuesday afternoon when a party line telephone conversation and shortage of water were contributing factors in the destruction by fire of a general store landmark at Melrose, 12 miles east of Belleville and 8 nearby two-family dwelling.

Burned in the blaze was the Kenneth Bradshaw general store, being a landmark in Tyendinaga township, and the Bradshaw residence, one half of which was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Goodfellow. The Bradshaws have two daughters Donna 13, and Nancy 10.

The store owner was in Belleville when the fire broke out shortly after one o'clock. His wife was not at home and their two daughters were in school.

STARTED IN BACK

The blaze started in the back of the store where a small wood burning heater was used for heat. Brooks Allen, a customer in the store was first to see the blaze. He opened a door leading to the back of the store and was met with a wall of flame and smoke.

He tried to call the Belleville fire department but a party line conversation was in progress and he could not break through. He had to drive nearly a mile down the road to reach another phone, when the information was relayed through before he could reach Belleville to give the alarm.

The alarm was being operated for the day by Mrs. T. Cumbley, the regular operator when the store one day a week, while the owner is in Belleville.

FARMERS RUSH TO AWTER

The blaze raced through the old steel sheeted building in a matter of minutes and the fire in the residence above the store was levelled and the Bradshaw residence across an alley was aflame.

Farmers drew water in trucks but the fire had eaten its way into partitions and the house was completely gutted by fire. Only a fireplace chimney remains standing.

Furniture in the downstairs part of the house was carried to safety by friends who were from the second-storey rooms. Furniture was later stored in a nearby garage of Wood.

A stiff northwest wind blew from 30 yards from the burned fire to the shingles on the Dawson residence. The blaze burned for more than the second pumper proved to be too late.

The Bradshaw store was a fine type of country home and had hardwood floors throughout. Some of the furniture, freshly painted only last summer.

East And West Ought To Live In Friendly Way

—Churchill

Says Peace Through Strength Will Settle Many Problems

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, resplendent in the robes of a Knight of the Garter, said Tuesday night that East and West "ought to live in a friendly and peaceful way with each other."

Speaking before a glittering audience at the lord mayor's banquet in the rebuilt Guildhall, Churchill hailed the day when the Western powers, on a basis of united strength, would be able to negotiate an understanding with the Communists.

To a nationally television and radio audience, the prime minister said:

"We might even find ourselves in a few years moving about in broad, smooth causeway, of peace and plenty, instead of roaming and peering around the rim of hell."

Introduced by the new lord mayor of London, Sylvanus Reed, and, as the "greatest personality in the world," the prime minister said:

"For myself, I am an optimist—it does not seem to be much use being anything else—and I cannot believe that the human race will not find its way through the problems that confront it, although they are separated, at the present time, by a tremendous gulf from any they have known before.

DREAMS COME TRUE

"If the human race wishes to have a prolonged and indefinite period of material prosperity, they have only got to behave in a peaceful and helpful way towards one another and all will be well for them all they wish—and more than they can dream.

"I, of course, don't wish to be burdensome and think it fun to bite one another, there is no doubt that every day they can kill each other in a quicker and more wholesale manner than ever before.

"The choice is theirs, mine."

As for the East and West, Churchill said it would "not be to anyone's disadvantage if they tried" to live together.

But with the world divided as it is at present, "freedom of our vast international association can only be formed upon strength and strength can only be maintained by unity."

He mentioned several recent settlements as good omens for the future. And them were the London and Paris accords for the freedom and rearming of West Germany, the end of the British-Iranian oil dispute, the Italian-Yugoslav settlement on Trieste and the British-Egyptian agreement on the Canal zone.

"From these solemn and important agreements we may rightly draw," he said, "the hope that peace through strength which will allow time to play its healing part and bring about an altogether easier relationship all over the world.

"We must also make sure that a most complete understanding prevails between the leaders of our Commonwealth, whose unity and majesty alone make us mighty and are kept alive by intimate and timely consultation. I feel sure that my colleagues will welcome the plan we have made for the Commonwealth and Empire conference."

STAMP OUT CRUELTY

Divers Recover Elephant Tusks Lost 73 Years

DARTMOUTH, England (AP) — Officials of a British salvage firm announced Tuesday that divers have brought up a fortune in elephant tusks from a ship which sank in the English channel 73 years ago.

The value of the tusks found so far was estimated at £50,000.

They came from the hulk of the 1,530-ton vessel Benin which sank off nearby Start point after a collision with another ship Dec. 3, 1881.

Constable Denies Kicking Man Arrested at Game

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto policeman said Tuesday he was not brutal when dealing with Robert Wright, 21, and Michael Griffin, 21, after they were arrested Oct. 23.

Constable William Chambers said he landed with Wright in a police station when it appeared Wright was going to hit him with a chair.

Const. Chambers told Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, a one-man commission investigating alleged police brutality, that he couldn't understand evidence given by Wright and Griffin that a police officer capable of kicking and beating him.

"If I had kicked a man with my shoes, he would have showed a lot more damage than we have heard about here," said Const. Chambers.

Wright and Griffin were charged with creating a disturbance and obstructing police following a football game at Varsity Stadium. During the melee James Cowie, 49, died of a heart attack. The charges have not yet been heard.

Field Marshal Montgomery Arrives for Canadian Visit

OTTAWA (CP) — As chipper as the nippy weather accompanying him, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery arrived here today for a 5-day Canadian visit.

Wearing a greatcoat against the below-freezing temperature, he stepped off a Montreal plane to be greeted by Air Marshal Nye, British high commissioner, Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the general staff.

Lord Montgomery, deputy commander of North Atlantic alliance forces in Europe, told reporters Nato has made "very good progress" in the last Jewish Nye, British high commissioner.

He said NATO commanders have been studying latently changes in the strategy and tactics of warfare brought about by the development of nuclear weapons.

AVOIDS ANSWER

Montgomery slid around a direct question about how he will like to have Germans under his command in NATO.

He said that with Germany included in the Western group of nations, "a decision to common defence and" can looking forward to it."

He added that the Germans are "behaving very correctly."

Later today, Montgomery will attend a government luncheon given by Defence Minister Claxton and confer with the chiefs of staff, Prime Minister St. Laurent and Mr. Claxton and have tea with Governor-General Vincent Massey.

Thursday, the one-time commander of the Desert Rats will attend the Remembrance Day parade at the National War Memorial, lunch with Gen Simonds and have tea with another old friend, Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, wartime commander of the 1st Canadian Army in Northwest Europe.

Friday, he will leave for Hamilton and that evening open the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

When he was in Ottawa last time he entertained the American city by asking:

"Where's Buffalo?"

Will Not Request Resignation Of Highways Minister

OSHAWA (CP) The Oshawa and District Labor Council said Tuesday it has decided against asking for the resignation of Highways Minister Doucett of Ontario because public apathy in the roads scandals made it useless to do so.

"We are tackling something in which no one apparently is interested," secretary-treasurer Michael Fenwick said. "We have petitioned the contractors to take more than they should."

The reference is to the recent investigation into irregularities in the Fort William district.

WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) Synopsis: A break in the weather which has developed west of Lake Superior and will reach itself felt in the lower lakes area tonight and Thursday. In northern Ontario this current will be interrupted Thursday by a fresh outbreak of Arctic air which is spreading across northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan. A few snowflurries may be looked for in northern Ontario Thursday.

Quite Proper To Call Attlee 'Uncle Clem'

LONDON (AP) — It's quite proper and official now to call him Uncle Clement Attlee, leader of Her Majesty's loyal Opposition.

"Uncle" is a Burmese distinction, conferred on Mr. Attlee by the British-Asian Socialist Conference. The word is Burmese is "pinzy."

Attlee was addressed as "uncle" at a meeting Tuesday night by Maung Maung Ji, Burmese embassy official, and the fellowship thought the title fit so well that it was conferred upon him by unanimous vote.

"But please," said Maung Maung Ji, "it's not from the Burmese government. It's an informal expression of great respect."

Attlee's titles and distinctions would fill a page. He likes being among other things, a "freeman and liverman of the worshipful company of tinsmiths" and "elder brother of Trinity House."

Expressway Will Be Built North Of CNE Grounds

TORONTO (CP)—Construction of Canada's first cross-city expressway at an estimated cost of $60,000,000 was approved unanimously by metropolitan council Tuesday night.

The Lakeshore expressway will be north of the Canadian National Exhibition grounds in west-end Toronto and not on the harbor side of the grounds as earlier recommended.

Work on three sections of the expressway is expected to start about April 15 but some details say it probably will be completed before 1960. Plans for the highway took 18 months to complete and construction plans now are being prepared.

The 7½-mile route will pass through the city joining the Queen Elizabeth Way on the western outskirts and the 3 Highway to Kingston on the east.

For Mendes-France Milk May Be Fine But French Seamen Insist on Wine

NEW YORK (AP)—As far as 800 French seamen are concerned, Premier Mendes-Pfrance's campaign to get Frenchmen to drink more milk and less wine is okay—for the premier.

"But!!" say they. If he likes milk so well, let him drink it all himself.

Seamen interviewed at random today upon arrival of the French liner Ile de France agreed that milk probably has its good points. They don't intend to drink any, even to help out Mendes-France's anti-alcohol campaign as part of an effort to speed up industrial production.

He asserted milk he personally hasn't tasted milk in 30 years.

Another crew member, who declined to identify himself, put it this way:

Dealing with traffic congestion, he said Canada's motor-vehicle registrations in the eight years 1945-53 had increased 128 per cent, compared with 67 per cent in the United States.

If only 10 per cent of the cars registered in the Toronto area were driven daily into the downtown district, he said, the area of space would be required to the extent of 30 per cent or the cost thereof of many buildings.

W. Arch Bryce, director of the department of police and public safety division, entered a grim warning into the picture of expressways. He stated:

"If present trends continue, soon the world will take to the air. The luxury of driving in our beautiful safe vehicles on safe-designed, safe-built roads. The cost in blood and dollars will be too high."

Fatemi Executed By Firing Squad For Part in Plot

Trial, Held in Secret, Lasted Twelve Days

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Former foreign minister Hossein Fatemi, firebrand of Mohammed Mossadegh's government, died before an army firing squad at dawn today for his part in the 1953 plot to unseat the shah.

Fatemi was convicted and sentenced by a military court a month ago. He appealed the verdict, but Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi confirmed the death sentence last Saturday.

The execution was carried out in front of Ghasr barracks. It came as a surprise, since army sources said last weekend it would be delayed indefinitely because Fatemi was seriously ill.

Fatemi's former chief, ex-premier Mossadegh, was convicted last December of trying to overthrow the monarch and is serving three years solitary confinement.

Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, the present premier, overthrew Mossadegh on Aug. 19, 1953, after the shah had fled the country, in a bloodless coup he himself escaped, into hiding. The government statement today said Fatemi and his executed had been "hidden by Communist outlaws."

STARVED IN ARREST

He was captured last March 13. Stabbed by a bystander as he was arrested, he was reported near death in a military hospital for several weeks.

The pixilated Fatemi was one of the most vehement spokesmen of the Mossadegh government in its fight with Britain over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian oil company. In the final days of the Mossadegh regime he bitterly denounced the shah in public speeches, calling the ruler a "robber" and his wife a "brothel."

Describing the execution, Tehran's military governor, Gen. Teimur Bakhtiar, said Fatemi, blindfolded and bound to a stake, said "May God protect you!" just before four volleys from the fourman firing squad crumpled him.

Catholic Labor Group Asks 'Dynamic' Public Works Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor today urged the federal government to undertake a "dynamic" public works program to alleviate unemployment.

In a brief prepared for submission to the federal cabinet, the 100,000-member labor body said unemployment in the winter months becomes a serious problem and is the main cause for uneasiness among workers.

The brief said present unemployment is not "exclusively seasonal or frictional but presents the characteristics of cyclic unemployment . . . there is not only an increase in the number of unemployed but also an accumulation."

The labor congress said the government was planning to redraft the Unemployment Insurance Act to provide benefits which will be increased to re-establish the relation existing in 1941 between wages and allowances; application of the act be broadened to include all workers; present waiting period be reduced and restrictions concerning married women and casual workers and those receiving benefits be increased in view of lengthier periods of unemployment.

Turning to immigration, the brief said the government's plan to admit 160,000 immigrants a year for Canada did not seem to be justified. It was considered that the proportion of dependents is almost 40 per cent.

Today was marked by the use of a few hundred thousand workers completely idle and partially unemployed in Canada it is hard to conceive there is room in this country for a few hundred more workers. . . .

"There would not be so many objections on our part even for a larger immigration if national economic policy would first allow Canadian citizens to earn a decent living."

Ford and Workers Give Two Million To Detroit Fund

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. and its employees gave a record $1,914,000 to Detroit's United Foundation Tuesday.

The gift was the largest ever made by the annual drive by a corporation and its workers. The bulk of the money was given by members of the CIO United Auto Workers union and salaried employees of Ford plants in the Detroit area. The corporation gave $478,000 and the Ford Foundation contributed $250,000.

Ford Workers At Etobicoke May Join Strike

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—About 200 workers at a Ford of Canada parts depot plant in Etobicoke, a Toronto suburb, will vote soon to decide whether they will join 6,500 other Ford workers now on strike.

United Automobile Workers Union (CIO-CCL) officials said the Etobicoke workers may meet Thursday to consider a conciliation report which was recommended against a wage increase.

Officials said a strike vote may be taken at the same time if the board report is rejected.

There was no change in deadlocked strikes at Ford plants here and in Oakville.

Early Collapse Of Aussie Strike Is Predicted

CANBERRA, Australia (Reuters)—Government leaders were predicting an early collapse of Australia's crippling dock strike even as they rushed toward parliament, legislation to end the controversial dock labor bill which provoked the walkout.

Despite lively opposition from Labor party members, the government was expected to get it through House of Representatives tonight.

The bill now goes to the Senate and Labor Minister Harold Holt has said he expects it to be approved there by Thursday night.

The bill transfers the right to recruit dock labor from the waterfront unions to the shipowners. The nation's 26,000 stevedores responded to the announcement of the legislation by walking off their jobs in all ports on the first day of a campaign Minister Robert G. Menzies said Tuesday the bill was designed to end the "conspiracy" which he charged the unions would be against the law.

Trade union officials have implied the strike to longshoremen's unions by ordering all other waterfront workers to stay on their jobs and instructing that perishable cargo only be handled. Labor leaders are reported trying to work out a formula which will end the stoppage next week.

Soap Wrappers' Jig New Disease, But Speeds Work and Some Enjoy It

LONDON (Reuters)—The girl at the factory bench began to sway, her feet and hands moved rhythmically, fierce fetish shook her body uncontrollably.

The jig is not considered dangerous by medical science, now busily studying its causes and effects. In fact, some of its victims like it: They say it's as good as jitterbugging.

It comes into the same class as housemaid's knee, tennis elbow and writer's cramp. The main difference between this new disease and these complaints is that the soap wrappers enjoy it.

The jig first attacked 15 girls in a soap factory. They found that once their muscles picked up the rhythm of their job — wrapping bars of soap at the rate of three per minute—they began moving faster and faster and couldn't stop until they got away from the wrapping table.

Scientists now are attempting to determine why some girls pick up the jig and others do not.

Is Afraid Taxes May Curtail Mining Expansion

VANCOUVER (CP)—Development of Canada's mining and mineral industry could be curtailed by excessive taxation, C. C. Huston, president of the Canadian Institute of Mining, said Tuesday.

"If there be a limit to the development of this country then the restraining hand of the tax assessor will impose it," Mr. Huston told some 300 delegates attending the institute's western meeting here.

School for Deaf Superintendent Addresses Club

The Ontario School for the Deaf at Belleville, as the largest of its kind in Canada today, is playing a major part in helping the deaf integrate themselves into society.

Just one-quarter of all the deaf school children in Canada are gathered together at the school where they are taught to overcome their handicap and make themselves useful in industry and all branches of commercial endeavor, said the general fellows.

Yesterday the organization of the school was explained to the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club, by the school's superintendent, Joseph C. Demers.

Basically, hearing is a sense which gives a person in touch with his environment, Mr. Demers told the club.

A deaf child has to attempt to train his vision to take the place of his hearing.

KNOW NO WORDS

For the most part, the children who come to the OSD are so profoundly deaf they are unable to hear a spoken word and enter the school without any knowledge of words.

Compared with this, the normal child, entering school has a knowledge of about 2,000 words. From then on, he adds to that for years his vocabulary is doubled.

The primary objective of the OSD then is to give the deaf students words.

"We try to learn words deliberately one by one," Mr. Demers said. "They do not learn words incidentally. The incidentulary has to be built up step by step."

They are taught lip-reading, a manual alphabet and "conventional, stylized gestures" conveying certain ideas of expression.

LIP-READING DIFFICULT

Teaching lip-reading is especially difficult because some English language words are indistinguishable when formed on the lips, Mr. Demers said.

To aid the pupils the teachers make use of a system of "context clues" he said.

As well as watching the teacher form the words they feel the muscle movements caused by the sound the varieties the same thing themselves.

Also confusing is the fact that in the English language "there are so many different meanings for so many different words."

"Our approach in the classroom has not been to attempt to teach manual communication," Mr. Demers said.

"Manual communication is ruled out because the school system allows for devoting language among its pupils and, secondly, manual communication distracts a student's gaze from the teacher if one of his classmates wishes to convey a message to him.

However, in their social activities the hard-of-hearing completely free to communicate in any way they wish.

The children are encouraged to use every speech-reading method they know.

STAY UNTIL LATE TEENS

Pupils usually remain at the school until they are about 18 or 19 years old, although they can stay longer if they wish. Since the kind of instruction requires that the classes be small, the system allows for 10 to 12 pupils per teacher.

Vocational training in printing, linotype operating, woodwork, agriculture and mechanics is provided the male pupils while training for the girls ranges from business courses to domestic science.

In the classes, as an aid to speech, group amplifiers are provided. Although individual hearing aids are available the school believes they profit a pupil little. At present only 45 pupils are wearing the aids.

NOT GREAT HANDICAP

With the training received at the OSD and aided by the National Society of the Deaf, they find their way into many branches of business.

All of them "... go out and contribute to society as good citizens," Mr. Demers said.

Drilling Operations Will Be Continued For 3 Months on Iron Ore Discovery

Officials of Stratmat Ltd., Montreal, said today that two deposits of magnetite (magnetic iron) in the Mills-Pershing area around Marmora are estimated to contain about 20,000,000 tons of ore. The ore contains about 30 per cent iron.

Drilling operations now under way will be continued for another two or three months when it will be known whether or not sufficient ore is present to justify production.

Stratmat Ltd., a development company, is the wholly-owned subsidiary of Strategic Materials Corporation, the firm name of John C. Udd Interests, Montreal.

The W. S. Moore Co., of Duluth, Minn. acquired the original option on the Allen's Mills property about six miles southwest of Marmora some four years ago, a mill.

Will Allen owner of the property, retained royalty rights of 10 cents per ton of subsequent production.

The W. S. Moore Co., options, with good standing were reoptioned to Stratmat Ltd. about a year and one-half ago and a drilling crew is currently proving the size of the ore body at Allen's Mills.

The drilling property near Havelock, about 10 miles west of Marmora along Highway No. 7, was originally optioned by W. S. Moore Co., and re-optioned to Stratmat Ltd. Neither property alone is believed large enough to justify production.

However, Stratmat Ltd., is investigating both properties. Total ore reserves of both properties might justify erection of

Mother Tosses Burning Coat Out of House

Presence of mind on the part of Mrs. William Closson, 3rd concession, Thurlow township, who tossed a burning station wagon coat outdoors after leading her three small children to safety, was credited with preventing a second rural fire Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Closson had hung her husband's station wagon coat over a chair in the kitchen when she suddenly noticed the coat ablaze. She led her three children to safety, tossed the burning coat, and then as a precautionary measure called to a neighbor who phoned the fire department. The plucky young mother then re-entered the house and stamped out the burning remnants of the coat.

Mrs. Closson said the fire apparently had been caused by a box of matches in the station wagon coat.

Say Former Policeman Kidnapped His Son, 10

MALONE, N.Y. (AP) — State police Tuesday night disclosed that a warrant has been issued for a former Malone policeman charging him with kidnapping his 10-year-old son.

Patrolman Edmund Vibert is charged with inducing the boy, Tommy, to leave a movie theatre here last Saturday, troopers said.

Police Justice John Roemberwell, who confirmed that he had signed the warrant Monday, said it was based on a complaint filed Sunday by the boy's mother, Mrs. Thelma Vibert of Plattsburgh.

Police said Mrs. Neil Eggleston, sister of Mrs. Vibert, told them Vibert and his wife have been legally separated since December, 1953, and that custody of the boy had been awarded Mrs. Vibert.

'Put Good Staff In Warehouse', Have Good School

TORONTO (CP)—School trustee Percy Might, for 34 years a public school principal, objected Tuesday night when management committee of board of education recommended erection of a 22 - room school to replace the old section Palmerston avenue public school, built in 1888.

"Put up a good staff in a warehouse and you would still have a good school," he said.

Estimated cost of the new structure would be $686,000, including equipment, 22 classrooms, offices for a principal, medical personnel and a staff room.

Colder Weather Cuts Milk Output

Snow which fell in central and north Hastings during the middle of last week has drastically cut milk production, it is reported by the weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Farmers whose cows were still on grass when the snow fell report that milk was cut almost in half.

The snow disappeared in a day or so but colder weather forced stabling of cattle at nights.

The farm report indicates that many Hastings county cattlemen are overstocked and disposal of some animals will be necessary before complete stabling is possible.

In Northumberland it is reported that weather conditions have been difficult for completing the harvest of late potatoes, roots and other late crops.

In Prince Edward the harvesting of all crops is about completed but rain last week delayed fall plowing.

Veterans' Gratuity Applications Must Be in by Dec. 31

Canadian war veterans without overseas service who still have not received their war service gratuities will have to have applications in for their gratuities by December 31st, according to Everett Liddle, veterans' officer for the district Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Mr. Liddle stated that the 1954 date applies to veterans with Canadian service only as veterans with overseas service who have not received their gratuity payments have 5 years from Jan. 1st, 1945, or date of discharge, whichever is the latter. Application forms are available at the office of the veterans' officer.

The time limit for use of re-establishment credits to Canadian veterans has been extended another five years but veterans will have 15 years from January 1st, 1945, or from the date of discharge, whichever is the latter.

Harold Myers Appointed Pres. Sales, Ad Club

The board of directors of the Sales and Advertising Club accepted, with regret, the resignation of club president, Ed Littlejohn, at a special meeting Tuesday night.

Promotion to the sales division of the Bakelite Co. of Canada Ltd., in Montreal prompted Mr. Littlejohn's resignation. He will assume his new duties next Monday.

Harold Myers, club vice-president, succeeded to the presidency. Director Frank Murray moved up to the vice-presidency and Irvin Shulman, Trenton, was appointed to the board of directors to fill Mr. Murray's vacancy.

The new executive will continue in office until the annual elections next spring.

Four Buffalo Escape from Pen

The cops got word at 9:30 p.m. that the animals escaped by snapping their wire fence. Searchers ran along the twisting trails. The police gave up after an hour.

Some inquisitive searchers kept on. Four hours later they spotted the buffalo. A park ranger is herding them back into the pen.

There was nothing unusual, the keeper said. The buffalo often break out. They go for a pond near the pen.

League Final May Be Played In Kingston

KINGSTON (CP)—Queen's University athletic board of control decided in a special meeting Tuesday night, if Queen's Golden Gaels defeat University of Toronto Blues Saturday in Toronto, the Senior Intercollegiate eastern football final will be played in Kingston Nov. 20.

The Gaels lead the league by two points. Varsity and Western Mustangs are tied for second place and the winless McGill Redmen are last.

A spokesman for the board said a win in Toronto Saturday for the Gaels would mean a playoff between Western and Queen's, provided Western wins against McGill the same day.

The meeting decided, if Queen's should win the championship the team will fly to Vancouver to play University of British Columbia in a Canadian Intercollegiate final.

If Varsity defeats Queen's Saturday and Western wins against McGill, the result will be a first place tie among the teams. If this is the case, Queen's will await a ruling from the Intercollegiate Athletic Union, the spokesman said.

London's Docks At Peace at Last

LONDON (Reuters) — London's docks were at peace today for the first time in six weeks after three successive strikes.

All available labor was employed and the backlog of shipping was expected to result in an overtime boom.

The question of overtime — whether it should be compulsory or voluntary—was one of the main issues of a longsnormen's strike, which tied up the port.

Remembrance Day . . .

THIRTY-SIX YEARS ago tomorrow the "Cease Fire" command ended World War I. And on that day we honored those who died to give us peace. Added to that honor roll are those who gave their lives in the second great world conflict. It is not enough this Armistice Day to honor the brave dead of two wars by bowing our heads in prayer.

TODAY THROUGHOUT our world angry voices are thundering without reason and threats, like lightning, break and crash over the people's heads . . . clouds scud along the horizon, sometimes building up to frightening thunderheads . . . Yet, the eternal stars are there — stars of Hope, of Faith, and of Love, now dimmed or hidden by the clouds—now breaking through with a clarity and brilliance and strength that will not be denied.

MAY THESE stars be seen and followed by the wise men of all nations, and may they light the path to peace, with goodwill in the hearts of all men—a warm welcome for their neighbor—and a deep desire for friendship between nations — and a determination to achieve lasting peace.

May This Be The Prayer Today of The People

REMEMBRANCE DAY

There is some fear that November 11, the Armistice Day that marked the end of fighting in World War I, now called Remembrance Day, is fast becoming a forgotten day.

True enough, an older generation, November 11 is still a vivid memory. Men who fought in World War I are not likely to forget easily that day on which the guns which had roared for four years became suddenly and solemnly silent. To a world which so long and so intimately had lived with conflict, peace seemed so impossible as to be almost unreal. But this was the termination of a war fought in the principle of man's right to be free. The world had been, to quote a great American president, made safe for democracy. And if in retrospect it be true that the world is never a safe place for democracy unless we keep on fighting, at the time it seemed a good and right thing to believe that the First World War had achieved a noble purpose. Men had died but freedom had lived—or so we thought.

The number of the men who died from 1914 to 1918 have become thinned. The men who attend Remembrance Day services with their younger comrades of World War II, are fewer, grey, more stooped as they recall with fullness the causes which they honor and the glories which the remembered dead and the remembering living shared as heroes. The hates and bitterness of war have faded and of that first Armistice Day little is left but a memory.

But as long as that memory remains, Remembrance Day or Armistice Day never loses its significance. It is precisely and solely for that memory that we set aside this day.

As Lincoln said, "It is for us, the living rather to be dedicated to the unfinished work which they who fought had so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that we here highly resolve that those dead shall not have died in vain."

There will be other wars and wars of a more destructive scope. There will be other armistices and other dead to mourn and remember. The forces opposed to human freedom never disarm and mankind must reconcile itself to the fact that before liberty can be enjoyed it must be defended. Men like the Kaisers, the Hitlers and the Stalins come from time to time to threaten the right of man as an individual. So men who value freedom are able to preserve it only when they are willing to fight for it. And in the fighting many of them will die so that those who go on living shall continue to live as free men.

Remembrance Day will forever serve Canadians as a reminder that on November 11, 1918, another phase in the fight for man's freedom ended. The rights of humanity were once more vindicated but there was no guarantee that there would be no further assault on these rights. A battle was over but the war would go on.

They who died did not die in vain. If we who live do not live in vain.

UNDERPLAYING THEIR HAND

The Fort MacLeod Gazette decries the type of advertising currently being used to recruit personnel for Canada's armed forces. The Gazette calls recruiting advertising "namby-pamby stuff."

The Gazette is quite right.

The army, with some candor, attempts to attract young men into khaki with the invigorating slogan, "Learn a Trade." Such trades include motor mechanics, communications . . telegraph, radio . . electricity, electronics and so forth.

Naval recruiting methods have been in keeping with the "silent service" tradition in that little or nothing is seen or heard of naval recruiting units or projects.

"There's a future in aviation . . . make aviation your future . . by joining the RCAF today," is a typical intellectual appeal to young men "17 years but not yet 25, single, with junior matriculation or better."

All this is well enough as far as it goes. Nothing is being misrepresented and "trades" and "careers" are certainly desirable for those without them. But it all seems like the wrong approach.

We humbly suggest that a change in approach to recruiting might be more productive.

For instance, before World War II the United States Navy advertised, "Join the Navy and See the World." What a delightful prospect! Even when cynical song writers threw cold water on this slogan with, "And what did I see? .I saw the sea," the idea still held a certain excitement.

Perhaps young Canadians might start trooping into recruiting offices if the army were to advertise, "See Europe, all expenses paid. Buy the new Rhine, the black Forest, Paris on leave. Visit the exotic Orient as a member of a Canadian brigade."

The navy might well ponder the value of a recruiting campaign that advertises lously: "Mid-winter Mediterranean cruises in Canada's finest ships. Week-ends in Monte Carlo, the Riviera, Istanbul, Cairo. Summer in the Caribbean or Pacific. Join the Navy, sail, relax and swim off the beautiful islands of Bali and Pago-Pago. Spend your leaves under tropic skies, ashore in Hawaii."

The Air Force, of course, is masking real excitement behind the rather drab promise of "careers." How much better a career would sound to a 17-year-old if it was spiced with such items as "Dinner in Ottawa; breakfast in Paris; supper in Cairo—all in a jet pilot."

Trades and careers are perfectly wonderful in themselves, but how much more attractive they could be to young, single men, if accompanied by a promise of excitement.

Sunday at Gabarus

(Sydney Post-Record)

The Sabbath day is observed in the old-fashioned way at Gabarus, but even a bottle of pop was to be had for the youngster of the trio who visited us on Sunday, a moist day of low clouds and mists wreathing the higher hills. But Gabarus makes up for sadness in the warm hearts of a friendly people.

Scarcely had the visitors from Sydney reached the sea-wall built to ward off the sea and which is then a tall, lean and weather-battered relation of Gabarus came to greet them. His were the eyes, keen in observation, of one who follows the sea, and the voice was his lobster traps neatly stacked near his two shingled fish houses beside the cove.

Answering questions, he pointed toward headlands dimly seen in the thick atmosphere where the lowering clouds, and to ocks in his distant view, where the green sea broke in white fury.

Yes, that was Gabarus Point, or Cape Gabarus as they call it now on the map. And beyond the point, out of sight, there were treacherous shoals on which more than one ship met doom. He told stories of the ships driven in there during World War I.

And over yonder, to the other side of the broad expanse of Gabarus Bay, was Kennington Cove where the Fisheries Museum was long ago, when New England was British, landed to begin the overland march for the attack of Louisbourg. Those rocks, dark and with a look of menace in the distance, Kennington Rocks.

When the wind is from the east or southeast the surf is heavy upon the shores of Gabarus during a storm, but Cape Gabarus serves as a breakwater when the wind is from the north or west. The new sea-wall replaces an old one, the remains of which can be seen. The evidence of the might of the sea is noted by even the casual visitor, and people who have lived there long have witnessed many alterations in the shore.

The wall was built to halt the devouring march of the Atlantic. It has proved unstable enough to hold that line, but the waves already have brought a section of the beach which is distinctly of large pebbles, to the top level of the wall. Such flotsam is recognition of the island status long ago.

That green knoll at the farther end of the sea-wall, guarding the entrance to the cove is Rose Island, but an island no more, and so one lives today, not even the oldest inhabitant, who can recall when it was not linked by the strand to the shore. But it is still Rose Island in recognition of the island status long ago.

Women with children came along the sea-wall. A daughter and grandchildren of the spokesman for Gabarus were in their number. Little boys and girls romped in their eyes. On the sea-wall was a little pile of rocks of different colors for making soldiers' forts for the pounding of the sea.

One of the youngsters picked up two of the rocks and threw them from the wall. "I'm playing tricks", he explained to the visitor from Sydney.

"But you helped me to gather those rocks", said the grandfather in mild tones of reproof. The rocks were for anchors for the boats, he explained, but not for the visitors from Sydney.

Gabarus always has always remembered its town relationship, and the visitors found it so at Louisbourg, with instruction from the Gabarus spokesman for the cradle of the sea, and now little road that traverses the shore of the bay.

Through the south gate Breton's south shore road beside the sea, so far from being a highway, but so fraught with enchantment, is likely to spur further comment in these columns.

Crusoe's Isle Washing Away

(National Geographic Society Bulletin)

The island stamped in fiction by a famous footprint—that of Robinson Crusoe's Friday—is slowly washing into the Pacific Ocean.

Strangely, the sand-grit dot of land that achieved literary distinction because a solitary inhabitant finally found a human companion now is threatened by overpopulation—of crabs and lizards.

The animals are cropping off the wild vegetation of Mas a Tierra, largest of Juan Fernandez group 400 miles off the Chilean coast. And scientists, concerned for the island's many exotic ferns, cabbage trees and other plants, fear for their breeds. The resulting erosion is eating away the earth.

It was on this three-mile Mas a Tierra that Alexander Selkirk, a Scottish sailor, was stranded 4½ from September, 1704, to February, 1709. Although Daniel Defoe picked an island in the West Indies as the locale for his famous novel, "Robinson Crusoe," he wrote in the National Geographical periodical that it is a "fact that the story of living museum crowded with rare specimens. So many rare plants have been together on Mas a Tierra that one must touch almost every one to be sure one is not dreaming."

The goats date back to the 18th century. Juan Fernandez, an Andalusian ship's pilot, discovered the islands in 1563 and gave them his name. Shortly afterwards, buccaneers used the island as a base. Out, they brought a few goats for milk and meat, these multiplied, and when in 1877 the British Government landed dogs on the island to kill off the goats, they multiplied.

Goats played a leading role in both the real Selkirk's and the fictional Crusoe's fight for survival. They yielded meat and skins for clothing. Defoe's island was pets of several animals. Selkirk slit the ears of a hundred and penned them for his fellow fishermen and farmers, many of them descendant of the ships' passengers see Selkirk's cave "home" and his footprint on Mas-a-fuer (Mas Tomaya (the Anvil), where, a bronze tablet commemorates Selkirk's 4½ year story. Engineers Copy Dreams

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WEATHERED

The best lumber is that which has been weathered and seasoned. The builder to work with this kind. It's at its best then. Many a man is referred to as "weather beaten," meaning that he has faced the storms of life, its setbacks and disappointments, yet without giving in to them.

The old sailors of the sea, lie-detecting the fisher folk, show in their faces what the weather contributed, for there will see the silent story of their lives, listed with tales of long-standing weathered. I have known many of these rugged individuals of the sea, and with great admiration. They reflect the rocky shore to which they return, and which they have long since built their modest homes.

A friend of mine was telling me recently, about his home which was more than a hundred and fifty years old. He showed me the well which the builder had brought the water up, and all was enclosed off the kitchen. Then' he showed me the broad boards of the flooring and other things about his home that had lasted so long and so securely. It had well weathered the years, and my friend took great pride in his ownership.

We live in very restless age. People are gadget crazy. No sooner do they buy a thing, like an automobile, than they want to trade it in for some small addition added to the latest model. They don't want that car to get too well weathered! Our easy chairs are not bothered with such things. We look into their lines, prepared in a few months to be thrown out, but admire their weathered looks.

I write upon a desk that had long been weathered before it came to me, and a bookcase that has stood for years. It will hardly show a trace of its age, it was so weathered when it was first built by someone who put himself into it. How important it is to take time to mature!

Milk Too Rich, Sale Banned

(The Financial Post, Toronto)

Another British Columbia dairyman is in trouble with his cows' milk. It's too rich. It's too old and much exaggerated complaint about watery milk. Just the opposite this time.

The milk from this man's herd, 1,000 artificials maintain, is too rich. It tests above the 3.5 per cent. standard set for Vancouver, and it is up to 4.5 per cent. Dealing with sub-standard milk, they say, or it can't be offered to the public.

Things have come a pretty ridiculous pass when a producer is barred from selling a product of quality product. The root of nonsense is permitted soon we may expect to see farmers hauled in for trying to sell fancy apples, or chickens or eggs or even potatoes in No. 1 Northern wheat. This crazy ruling by the Board that has left more authority than it should have, cuts at the very root of progress.

Hen Copies Womenfolk

(Wall Street Journal)

A lady in England reports that her white Wyandotte hen first became speckled and then turned black. Now she is trying to turn white again. But now it is changing color again.

This puzzles the hen's owner. She appealed to the national agricultural research council. Scientists said they would look into it.

It is our confident expectation that the agricultural advisory service won't be able to do anything about the matter. They know that a hen with two white parents is supposed to be white. A fowl with one white feather and one colored feather is not the sort they breed. Hens are Educational Methods at O.S.D. Told Queen Victoria H.S. Assoc.

Mrs. N. O'Neil welcomed those present after which Mrs. W. Hazlitt, publications convener, outlined a list of books available to the parents.

Mr. K. Fairman introduced Mr. A. Gordon, a professional instructor and supervising teacher who instructs in speech, rhythm and auditory training and Mr. J. G. Demers, superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf. Mr. Demers, despite his varied training as a teacher of education, spent one year in England and six months in the United States to take special studies to prepare himself for the tremendous job which he is doing.

TEACHING WORDS

Mr. Demers's enthusiasm for his work was so obviously shown as he spoke of the children in his care. He pointed out in his address that initially these children cannot hear in order to imitate words. Consequently at the age of five years they come to school without words. The average hearing child of five years has a vocabulary of 2,000 words which he can use with great facility and with a common knowledge of the grammatical construction of these words. At the age of seven years the same child has a vocabulary of 4,000 words. This alone points out the great difficulties facing teachers educating the five year old non-hearing child. The teacher has to give these children words and then build them up for use by weaving them into language. This language is used to give these children an education.

The children are taught to understand words they see rather than hear, i.e. lip-reading. The identical appearance of words such as pat, bat and mat signifies the terrific task this involves. To help the student identify these words of similar appearance a clue is given as to context or meaning to help support what he sees. Another important step forward is the learning of speech which is taught to them. This builds up language. Through the medium of lip-reading, speech, reading and writing these children are taught to communicate with each other and with hearing individuals.

WELL TRAINED GRADUATES

At the end of their school years at the Ontario School for the Deaf, these children leave with an education equivalent to two years beyond Grade VIII and are trained to enter the business world as self-sufficient persons. Most of the girls follow the career of typists and business machine operators but are well trained also in home economics, sewing, etc. The boys follow vocations such as machine shop work, print shop work including Linotype, tailor trades, woodworking trades, etc.

The children all receive religious instruction in both the Protestant and Catholic faiths which is taught by their regular teachers.

SPORTS PROGRAM

The children at the Ontario School for the Deaf enjoy a varied sports program and learn how to "Play the Game" as all children do but in their case particularly they have to learn through concentration and application how to "Play the Game" of life which is made so much more difficult for them through the complete lack of hearing. This game is played for the prize of communing with their fellow men, of being able to communicate their minds' thoughts and hearts' desires to others, of becoming contributing citizens of Society. This prize is hard earned and well deserved by these children. All need to be worthy of such communion with them.

Mr. A. Gordon along with a class of 12 students assembled on the platform to demonstrate and (to those completely unfamiliar with this work) deeply moving demonstration of what is accomplished by these children. Mr. Gordon pointed out there are 17 different vowel sounds and many more different consonant sounds. The five kinds, including sounds, sounds with voice and whistling sounds. These children never hear their own voices and as a result their tone is most unusual and the vocal range goes from high pitched to low pitched. The children are trained to listen as much orally as possible. This particular class has been together for a number of years as a group. With the exception of two students all of these people are considered totally deaf educationally with a 90 percent loss of hearing. Harold Bradley with a 75 percent loss of hearing demonstrated a lip-reading drill.

The children rendered "Jesus Loves Me" and "O Canada" in choral speech followed by a Rhythm Band presentation. These children follow rhythm through vibrations. The purpose of this rhythm work is to feel vibration and through this to get inflection and accent in speech work. This is something the children much enjoy doing as it contributes to their general sense of rhythmic movement, in other words dancing. It was apparent they were happy well-adjusted persons, eager to please and anxious to learn. There was not only a demonstration of how education is taught at the Ontario School for the Deaf but rather a wonderful example of the steadfastness of purpose so clearly shown by both pupils and teacher.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

After the demonstration, Mr. Demers and Mr. Gordon kindly answered questions pertaining to these children. It was pointed out that the province is well represented at the school with students from all over Ontario. They have 14 male and 14 female teachers to cater on this work. Instances of deafness are apparently higher among boys than girls, about eight percent. More than half of these children are deaf from birth and about ninety percent or more deaf from early infancy. The children are allowed to communicate manually during leisure hours, sports, etc., but this is discouraged in the classroom. Of the three hundred and seventy-nine children in the school about forty-five wear individual hearing aids.

PLACEMENT OF CHILDREN

The National Society of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing at Toronto helps to place these students in positions suitable for them. They are interviewed by a placement officer before leaving school and he makes note of pertinent facts. They are placed in positions suitable for them by this officer, in their own home town or wherever desired, if at all possible.

Mr. Demers mentioned the annual Christmas pageant to be held Friday, December 10, the annual school play to be held in April and "Open House" to be held in June.

It was a privilege to see the being done here in Belleville at the Ontario School for the Deaf and it should be a pleasure and opportunity for all the citizens of this community to visit this school to learn, know and understand the work being done there. This is something of which one can be proud.

Mr. R. Tanner, president of Home and School Central Committee, informed the gathering what this committee is and of its aims. He especially asked that a delegate from each association be present at the five meetings per year designed to help each organization get more out of Home and School meetings.

Coffee and cookies were served by the social committee, assisted by Mrs. N. Worley and mothers of grade seven.

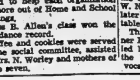
I.O.D.E. Holds Regional Dinner

On Monday evening, the St. Julien and Argyll I.O.D.E. were hosts to Stirling, Campbellford and Napanee chapters at a dinner held at the Hotel Quinte. A large picture of the Queen flanked by numerous Union Jacks, the flag of the Order, proved a perfect setting for the Imperial meeting and the many 'daughters' attending.

Mrs. E. Fairman, regent of the Argyll chapter and chairman of the evening, called upon Mrs. W. N. Ponton, to offer grace, who later introduced all the head table executive.

Through the course of the dinner Mrs. W. Burgoyne accompanied by Mrs. Barclay, delighted the ladies with two beautiful vocal selections.

Mrs. L. B. Fonger, regent of St. Julien chapter, graciously introduced the guest of honor and speaker of the evening, Mrs. E. C. Bennett, provincial educational secretary.



BURSARIES

Through the medium of bursaries and scholarships, the order has proven of invaluable help to many a deserving student.

Mrs. Bennett, in a keen and forthright manner, of flawless diction, brought home clearly to her interested audience the immeasurable worth of this educational program and how all chapters were making it possible for this great work to be carried on.

Mrs. Eva Doolittle thanked the speaker on behalf of the combined chapters.

Prior to the dinner, the Argyll chapter held a reception in their chapter rooms in honor of Mrs. Bennett and concluding the evening, Mrs. E. Rutherford, honorary regent of St. Julien chapter was hostess for coffee.

Weddings

NOBLE—WRIGHT

A wedding of local interest took place Saturday, October 30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Wright when their only daughter, Aoda Merle, was united in marriage to Allen Earle Noble, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Noble, East Lake. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alfred Poulter, of the Wellington United Church, in a lovely setting of tall standards of fern with baskets of pink and white mums accented with pink and white streamers and bells.

Traditional music was furnished by Mrs. David Jackson, grandmother of the bride, and during the signing of the register she played "O Perfect Love".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white satin with double overskirt of net with insets embroidered in tiny sequins. The bolero of Chantilly lace had lily-pointed sleeves, and a bandeau of embroidered lace and net with seed pearl trim held her fingertip veil of French illusion. She carried a nosegay of white mums and gardenias.

Mr. Alex Mann, was the best man.

At home the bride's mother received wearing rosewood crepe with inserts of silk lace, and black accessories. She wore a yellow rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose copper taffeta and lace and wore a corsage of pink roses.

The reception for 30 immediate relatives was held at Maple Inn, Bloomfield, with Miss Jean Moore and Miss Lauretta Platt, school friends of the bride serving.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride was "luggage, and to the best man a handmade wallet. The bride's gift to her bridegroom a wrist watch, to the bridesmaid a bracelet and to the pianist, a necklace, both in rhinestones and to the servers, cups and saucers.

Amid showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left on a short trip around the Lake, the bride travelling in a navy suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. On their return they will reside on the bridegroom's farm at East Lake.

Among congratulations received was a cable from Belfast, Ireland, from Mrs. Margaret Greatrix, an aunt of the bride.

Guests were from Picton and vicinity, Belleville, Brighton, and Kitchener.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was honored at a linen shower by Mrs. R. Brown, Mrs. Phyllis Fritz and Mrs. V. Vanderwater, Mrs. Jean Miller, of Picton, entertained several couples at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Burley, when a handsome gift was presented, and at West Lake a miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Gerow. Mrs. Foster Jackson and Mrs. Herb Roleton were sponsors for this event.

'Beautify Canada' Topic of Address At Avondale H-S

The November meeting of the Avondale Home and School Association was held in the school, Tuesday evening, with a good number of members in attendance. President, Mrs. Ralph Knowlton, presided.

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Gorrill's room.

A talented student of Avondale School, Sharon McDonald, who has won many awards in public speaking contests, gave a delightful description of "A Beautiful Ballet Concert."

Mr. and Mrs. A. Clare were in charge of the evening's program for the month.

Mr. Banting, a graduate of the Ontario Agriculture College, and his friend, Mr. Kilpatrick, were introduced.

A film entitled "Beautify Canada by Landscaping Your Home" was shown by Mr. Banting. The film in itself was beautiful. It showed roses of every variety and color, lilies and many other flowers and shrubs. There were also trees and shrubs of every description, and demonstration of the proper manner of planting flowers, shrubs and trees, as well as stressing the importance of choosing the right tree or shrub to be used in the right place by careful planning and study.

Mr. Banting pointing out that landscaping not only beautifies the home surroundings, but it increases the value of the property.

After the meeting was brought to a close, refreshments were served by the Mothers of Grade 7 pupils.

Women's Activities

MELROSE W.M.S.

MELROSE — Mrs. Sherry Demille was hostess to the members of the Melrose Woman's Missionary Society for the November meeting with an attendance of 14 ladies and three children.

Mrs. George Moore conducted the meeting and Mrs. Demille presided at the piano for the singing of the hymns. Psalm 67 was read in unison, followed by a special prayer created by the Fellowship in India, and read by Mrs. Russell MacFarlane.

Mrs. Charles Bates read the Scripture lessons. Miss B. MacFarlane led in prayer for the people of India.

Mrs. MacFarlane, secretary of Christian Citizenship, gave a reading on "Temperance." Mrs. Jer Wilcox says that liquor is the source of the sins and the downfall of many women."

Business period was conducted.

The thank offering was $23. Mrs. Kenneth Bonisteel, leader of the Mission Band, asked for some suggestions about the work. It was decided to leave it to the leader and the mothers to set the time and place of meeting.

The slate of officers was brought in by Miss Beatrice MacFarlane of the nominating committee, and Mrs. Roy Badgley conducted the election of same. Final plans were made for the pie social to be held November 19.

Mrs. Embury, group leader, took charge of the following program: Mrs. Fred Jeffrey told about the second general assembly of the World Council of Churches which met in Evanston, Ill., last August. Delegates and visitors joined in solemn prayers of gratitude for their "together-ness" and of hope in the future. ONLY HOPE—GOD

The assembly message declared that "only through faith in God can man be delivered from fears and dangers of the age. Christ is all sufficient. . . . "We do not know what is coming to us but we do know who is coming. It is He who meets us every day and who will meet us at the end of the journey—Jesus Christ, our Lord. Therefore we say to you rejoice in hope."

Mrs. Embury followed with a reading on the same subject. She spoke on "Our Unity." "The cross on which Christians base this hope should not separate them from others, but should enable them to stretch out their hand to other creeds in feeling of universal brotherhood, which we hope some day to see reflected in the world of nations, truly united."

Mrs. Demille read a poem, "Sowing Seeds of Kindness" and Mrs. Russell MacFarlane gave a reading on "World Literacy," which told about the great work the missionaries are doing. Mrs. C. Osborn gave a reading on "The Origin of the British Foreign

School for Delinquent Girls Makes Headlines in Vancouver

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A school in the east end for delinquent girls between the ages of eight and 18 has hit the headlines as a breeding place for vice and crime.

It is the girls' industrial school, 40-year-old institution for those considered too young for Kingston penitentiary and other prisons. Editorials and letters to the editor began appearing in Vancouver newspapers following the release of a government report on the school.

The report by a committee of four men and a woman to Eric Martin, provincial health minister, told of teen-aged girls confined in concrete, dungeon-like cells, sleeping on mattresses and blankets tossed on damp floors of the subbasement.

URGE NEW BUILDING

No change in personnel was suggested but the report urged strongly that a more modern building be constructed. It noted there is no chance for segregation and that prisoners are lumped together "from the wayward girl to the prostitute, drug addict, alcoholic or mentally ill."

There are no toilet facilities in the dormitories and the girls must call until someone hears them so that they may be taken to the bathroom.

The committee first visited the school Dec. 24, 1953, shortly after a fire and riot.

Jean Church, Vancouver Province columnist who once did a series of articles on the women's prison at Kingston, described the industrial school detention cells in a series of stories after visiting the premises.

WORSE THAN KINGSTON

"In the girls' industrial school, there are half a dozen 'holes.' They are much worse than the Kingston cells, being not only barren concrete rooms furnished with only a thin mattress and blankets, but dirty, disgusting and open, through their grilled, glassless windows, to the frosty night."

Miss Howarth said the cheerless rooms in the place are on a first-trap top floor "where new, sick or homosexual girls are isolated. . . ."

WRITERS' PROTEST

Letters to the editor followed:

One, from Oyama, B.C., said: "The one thing which finally broke some of our brave soldier prisoners was just this very punishment."

The provincial government, while silent on plans for the school, took a definite course of action on the boys' industrial school in Coquitlam, B.C.

The committee's report, which also covered the boys' school, resulted in transfer to jobs outside the institution for several top officials.

At that time, Health Minister Martin said that a new girls' correctional school "will depend on the government's finding the money for it."

He said, however, that the Brannan Lake school for boys, under construction near Nanaimo, Vancouver island, was expected to be ready by the end of the year.

Christ Church-Guild Enjoys Travelogue

On Tuesday, Nov. 9, Archdeacon J. B. Creeggan opened the Christ Church Guild meeting.

There were quite a few ladies in attendance and a few new members who were introduced by the president, Mrs. Cleo Colling, who cordially welcomed all.

Mrs. F. Lester read the devotional which was taken from the book "The Message" and written by Mary G. Peters.

Creeggan told of the recital which is to be given in the church by the choir of St. George's Cathedral of Kingston, under the direction of Mr. G. Mayhew, a former choirmaster of Christ Church, Belleville. This Kingston choir comprised of boys and men, was fortunate in being chosen to sing in Westminster Abbey, London, in August. He also told of the capabilities of the choirmaster of Christ Church, Mr. J. Withers in repairing and adjusting the church organ and spoke of the choir boys' fund which pays for the majority of their expenses.

This special recital will be held in Christ Church tonight.

The treasurer, Mrs. A. Jordan, gave a good report on the financial situation.

Mrs. H. S. Button, secretary, gave her report and it was decided to pay all outstanding bills.

The Guild was favored with a duet by Mrs. A. Jordan and Mrs. Button. Mrs. J. Withers favored with a travelogue on her home town in England, North Walsham, telling of the schools and churches, which was most interesting, also of the English customs and sayings, which are so different from the Canadian. With all the modern conveniences, she said Canadians were most lucky.

Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. E. Follwell, and Mrs. G. Watkin reported on the Cent-a-Meal and a nice sum was collected.

The meeting was closed by the president.

Mrs. Kempston and Mrs. C. Ling served a delicious cup of tea.

Bible Society."

Mrs. Morgan closed the meeting.

A social hour was spent when the hostess served refreshments.

During the business session of the meeting past president Mary Hallam performed a pleasant duty when she presented attendance awards in some of the members. Each girl was congratulated for her fine record, and received a gold percentage tab.

Those receiving 100 percent plus: Nell Farrar; those receiving 300 per cent pins: Edna Brent, Phyllis Fraser, Margaret Bakey, Eva Ketcheson, Bonnie Boynton; those receiving 200 percent plus: Ruth Follwell, Helen Garbett, Helen Lennox, Jean Smith; those receiving 400 percent plus: Peg Mulvihill, Betty Sullivan; those receiving 500 percent plus: Mary Lang, Alice Farrar, Mary Hallam, Agnes Walker, Maude Rolins, Helen Wilbur.

The members who received the 500 percent plus have had complete perfect attendance since the club was formed.

Peg Mulvihill, chairman of ways and means, announced that Kinettes will hold a "Hobo Tea" during the month of November, and each Kinette will be asked to earn one dollar in talent money during the month.

After the business meeting was completed members enjoyed an hour's sociability with some games being played.

STYLE-SETTERS AT STYLE SHOW

Attending a fashion show in London, Princess Margaret became the centre of style-conscious eyes herself as she appeared in this jaunty hat and modelled this fur stole.

Queen Elizabeth's embroidered collar also caused comment in fashion circles. The embroidery was repeated on the pockets of the coat. (Central Press Canadian Photos.)

Let Your Complexion Reflect Good Health

THERE'S COSMETIC CAMOUFLAGE in a new stick designed to cover up under-eye lines and shadows as well as facial blemishes.

By HELEN FOLLETT

How does your skin behave?

Some skins are temperamental, so or some women fancy. They should realize that the complexion can reflect the conditions of their health.

Every woman should have some outdoor exercise, now and then, to tone and enliven the whole physical system.

Every woman knows that she looks fresher and prettier after a restful night's sleep.

If you would keep your complexion pretty, don't fail to use warm water and soap at bedtime. A clean skin does not easily develop blackheads and other blemishes. In the morning, if skin is inclined to be oily, use soap again. Rinse, dry and apply an astringent. Witch hazel will serve.

Dry skin, of course, calls for frequent applications of cream, patted in lightly with the finger tips. It should be allowed to remain on overnight.

A foundation cosmetic used during the day will improve the appearance of your complexion and make powder stay smooth. To conceal under-eye shadows or blemishes, try using one of those new touch-up sticks.

If there are signs of wrinkles, creams are especially important, sometimes they will be an insurance against deeper furrows. Dry skin is susceptible to facial wrinkles, and needs care.

ABOUT NATURAL OILS

Theoretically, the sebaceous glands secrete enough natural lubrication to keep the cutaneous surface smooth and enriched by its own cosmetic oil, but the glands can weaken because of sluggish circulation or a diet that does not include enough fat.

Besides that brisk friction with creams at least once daily, it is wise to apply a tonic constantly now and then to correct the malnutrition of the glands. Ice rubs will contribute to a more normal condition.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS HAVE ENTERED THIS DISCUSSION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please help us to settle a very heated discussion we are having? The discussion started between my girl friend and me, but now several of our friends and several of our neighbors have "entered." I say that every gesture of sympathy, even a sympathy card, should be acknowledged, even though with only a few words of thanks. But my girl friend insists that this is not necessary. She maintains that only funeral flowers, letters of sympathy, and Mass cards should be thanked for. She claims that a family in sorrow cannot be thinking of such minor things as sympathy cards. Also she adds that whenever she has sent a sympathy card, she was never been thanked for it. — A.

Your point of view is the right one, the kind one, the considerate one. Even a sympathy card should be thanked for. Just a note of one sentence is enough to show real appreciation of a kind thought. Apparently your girl-friend's friends think the way she does. . .and that's too bad, for it's a richly human experience to express one's sympathy and it's a richly human experience to be thanked for any thoughtfulness, either of word or deed.

TO ASK PERMISSION TO EXCHANGE WEDDING PRESENT?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter was given a lamp for a wedding present. It is a beautiful lamp, but, alas, it is in the Colonial style, and the decor of her home is very modern. Now her problem is this: Would it be permissible for her to ask the relative who gave it to her where it was purchased and for the permission to change it for one more in keeping with her home? — M.

This asking a relative for permission to exchange a wedding present might be permissible, . . .if the relative is an exceptionally understanding person, and if your daughter and this relative have always been on a very friendly relationship. If all the circumstances aren't just right for this apt-to-be-dangerous request, I suggest your daughter try an indirect approach; perhaps subtly finding out the purchase-source through a member of the relative's family or through a trusted mutual friend. With sure knowledge as to where it was purchased, it is easier and safer to ask permission to change it. But if there is even a slight possibility of hurting the relative by the request, better for your daughter to keep the lamp and use it as a positive "accent" in her modern decor.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING. . .AND SO ARE QUESTIONS ABOUT CHRISTMAS CARDS!

The first Christmas-card question of this year arrived in my mail-bag this morning. And the question is the most important question concerning the ordering of the imprinted Christmas cards. Here it is:

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am about to order Christmas cards for my husband and me. This year we've decided to have our names imprinted on our cards. I don't know what form of name to order. Should it be Mr. and Mrs. John Smith or John and Mary Smith? — Wife

If you are to order your names imprinted under the printed message on the cards. . .and this is the customary place. . .you should order your informal names. Why? Because your names after the message are a signature to the message. . .and your informal name is your signature.

Your informal names are Mary and John Smith. So order Mary and John Smith, imprinted below the message on the cards. Remember: when the names are imprinted on cards, the wife's name comes first.

Note: You and your husband want your Christmas cards to be informal. . .don't you? You want them to be personal, friendly greetings from-friend-to-friend. . .don't you? If you want them to have this informal personality, then of course your names on them must be your informal names. That makes sense to me. . .doesn't it?

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MARRIED LESS THAN A YEAR, HE WANTS A DIVORCE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

In less than one year, I have had the experience of being first happily married, and then brokenhearted.

I am 20, and my husband is 22 and, after only 10 months of marriage, he tells me he has fallen deeply in love with another girl and wants a divorce so he can marry her. I have tried to make myself believe that since this is the case, I would be far better off to give him the divorce, but I am afraid I love him too much to be able to do it.

What do you think would be best for me to do? — In-Law.

Dear L.W.:

It is very tragic indeed for a wife—especially such a young one—to make the discovery that she is married to a philanderer, for I am very much afraid that is exactly what your husband is.

I doubt very much that he is "deeply in love" with his present girl friend, and I doubt very much if he was deeply in love with you, either, since he married you. That sounds to me like one of those weak characters who shallow-mindedly are swayed by one girl after another and never long held by any one.

Even though you may feel that you love him too much to be able to let him go, I think you would be wiser to tell him that if he wants a divorce, you won't stop him. If you leave him free to make the choice himself, he is much more likely eventually to decide to stay with you, than he would be if he felt you were trying to hang on to him. Being the type he is, he is certainly going to be more pleased to stay with you and your only chance is to assure him that you are willing to have it the way he wants it.

Personally, I believe you are right when you say you would be better off without him.

SHE GUESSED RIGHT THE FIRST TIME

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For nearly two years I've been going with a boy who is very much in love with me and I with him. I know he would make a very good husband, because he is really wonderful, and for awhile I thought I was in love with him, too. Lately, though, I am not so sure.

The reason is that I find myself visiting I could sometimes go out with other boys, and I keep wondering if this means that I am not really in love and not ready for marriage.

Do you think I should make myself forget all about any other boys and resume my wedding plans, or break up with my boy friend and be free again? He is 21, and I am 20, and while we have been planning on marriage, we have not yet become actually engaged. — Ruth M.

Dear Ruth:

I think you have put your finger on the right answer to your problem already, Ruth is, the fact that you wish you could go out with other boys makes it obvious that the one with whom you have been going does not hold all your interest.

What you ought to do is to talk this matter over with your boy friend very honestly. Tell him you find that you are not quite sure of your feelings, and that while you would like to keep on seeing him, you think it would be wise for you both to feel free for awhile longer, before entering into any definite engagement. If he is as much in love with you as you think, he certainly will want to stick around and see you as often as possible, even though you don't give him all your dates. Of course he will probably feel badly to think that you may not be as devoted to him as he is to you, but if he really does want to marry you, and is a young man of character, he will certainly want to give you every chance to know your own mind.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER Wanna Stuffa Duck?

By Mary Moore

My friend Barb is becoming a little more of a barbarian now every her flocks of poultry. When I say some such shocking thing as "When will those Muscovy ducks be ready for the hatchet?" she does not flinch. She just answers in a matter-of-fact way "This week-end. How many do you want?"

I wanted two and when they arrived I frone one. The other I roasted yesterday when Fred was home. I made a new kind of stuffing for it and we all liked it so well I thought you might like to make a sample batch of it up in a roast duck or chicken, to see if it would suit you for your Christmas turkey—when the amount is doubled or tripled.

The following amount is small but it was just right for a 5 1-4 lb. Muscovy duck. The duck gravy which we spooned over the stuffing added the perfect accompaniment.

STUFFING FOR DUCK

(Or other poultry)

One and one-half cups cooked and cooled fluffy long-grain rice, 4 slices stale whole wheat bread cut into 1-4-inch cubes. The cubes are very small. Crusts are left on bread. One-quarter of a medium onion sliced and chopped finely, 1-2 to 3-4 cup finely chopped celery stalks and celery leaves, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon each monosodium glutamate (MSG), and crumbled sage, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons milk.

Combine the rice, bread cubes, the onion and celery in the butter until transparent and wilted but not one bit brown. Add them to the rice, cubed bread and seasonings and stuff loosely the duck (or other fowl). (After skewering the duck and tying his legs and wings snugly to the body, I roasted it uncovered, unbasted for 3 2-4 hours at 300 deg. Fahr.

For today's little offerings, I know I will receive letters saying "I love your column. And why but sometimes the things you give us are too extravagant for my slim budget." When I read such a letter I ruefully wonder what kind of a budget you think I operate on. Right now I want you all to know that there are treats for the Moore household. Like as not we'll be on beans for the rest of the week.

After that little spate of alibiing I'll give you the recipe for Cheese Cake that is not as extravagant as those that call for 8 8-oz. packages of cream cheese. This is a dessert which I could settle for from now on—

GENUINE CHEESE CAKE

Use a pan with detachable bottom like an angel food tin for this. Butter it. Prepare one sifted cookie or zwieback or graham-cracker crumbs and sprinkle sides of pan with 1-2 cup of them. To the remaining 1 1-2 cups add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1-3 cup melted butter and work with hand until mixed and press in thick layer on bottom of pan.

Beat 2 1-4 lbs. cottage cheese at low speed for 5 minutes, then add 1-2 cup egg yolks, 1-4 cup cream mixed with 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon lemon rind finely grated and beat until perfectly smooth. Now add 1 cup sugar gradually until very smooth. Beat 7-8 cup egg whites until fairly stiff then begin adding 1-2 cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Add all at once to cheese mixture and fold in with wooden spoon until just blended. Pour into crumb-lined pan and bake at 300 deg. Fahr for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Turn off oven heat, open door 1 inches and allow to remain in oven for 15 minutes longer with the door open. Chill cheese cake thoroughly—it is best not to cut it for at least 8 hours. Top may be sprinkled with additional crumbs if desired. This is a honey.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

TREATMENT FOR THE DOUBLE CHIN

No woman who has arrived at the age when she refuses to reveal her birthdays, and who is inclined to weigh a bit more than normal, should have confidence in her chin. Almost overnight there can appear that little pouch beneath it—a sign that its twin is on the way. Also, at this point, the chin may become flabby.

A double chin can be molded into a single one with proper treatment. Clever facial operators do it all the time. But the wise woman will use preventative measures and see that her chin remains firm of flesh, pleasing of contour, as nature intended it to be.

The heavyweight is especially susceptible to this beauty problem. Fat cells don't seem to care where they appear nor the under portion of the chin seems to be a desirable lodging place. The woman who makes it a practice to keep her head lowered is likely to be a victim, too, since, when the muscles along the jaw line and the fibers of the throat have no work to do they become weakened, lose resiliency, and adipose tissue is formed.

If that spare chin has already put in an appearance, make it a practice to give it a few minutes of massage during the nightly face creaming. Pick up the flesh between thumb and first finger, roll firmly.

To avoid flabbiness, there should be an ice friction while the cream remains on. Once or twice during the day, use cold water freely. An ice cube under eyes, held in place by a chin strap, and worn at night, will also help.

A few minutes given to the care of the neck is a good beauty investment. Rub up and down with cream-laden fingers. Clasp the hands at the nape line, turn the head from side to side with a strong muscle pull.

DIOR'S H-LINE

First Samples Of New H-Line Sold in London

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — The first samples of Christian Dior's new H-line are selling in British stores for less than £14. They are youthful, wearable and apparently are Sales winners.

These down-to-earth copies of Paris' most controversial fall line—originals of which cost £200 to £250—seem to indicate that the H-line isn't as hard on natural curves as first thought.

Women with measurements that fall below Hollywood standards can wear it and make the most of those extra inches. Less than £14 will purchase a smart rough tweed two-piece dress with easy waist, natural hipline and unaccentuated bust.

NEED NEW BRA

Despite initial reports to the contrary, the bust is still there, with even more of an uplift. Corset manufacturers say that a new bra is required—one even higher than yesterday's voluptuous curve.

"Women are tired of wearing tight corsets," Dior said in launching his H-look. Store sales folk say the new easy lines are going to prove him right and that the long, straight look at working-girl level is femininity with the emphasis on uninhibited lines.

In both Paris and London, there are many stylish outfits that sneak up gradually on the long, unbroken H-line. Women with classic tastes in fashion-shades have plenty to choose from.

The recent London collections style setters for many manufactured outfits, skilfully combine fitted and unfitted waist lines in such outfits as a Scots tweed by Ronald Paterson, called Myles of Buts, It has H-line top coat and fitted suit in soft blue tweed with big collar, no revers and buttons from bust to hem of jacket. The straight, swing eighth coat with plaid lining has finger-length pockets and buttons from waist to hem. It's worn with a lilac felt pop hat that hides the face in profile.

OTHER STYLES

Many weed coats have big collars in beaver and persian lamb, marten, mink and fox. And there's much fur and fur fabric lining. "Shock tactics" is the name given by Charles Creed to a brown tweed coat with wide panels of opossum stretching across the entire front and widening from neck to hem.

Big cape collars stand around the ears, often held in place with a long scarf tie. Comfortable travel coats have narrow tie belts that merely emphasize unfitted lines.

There are styles in the London salons identical with many shown at the same time in Paris—and there are the purely British.

RACING DRIVER

Blonde Kaija Kalevala, a former professional driver on the racing circuit in her native Finland, now delivers a Vancouver delivery truck. Kaija has been driving for 17 years, starting when she was 13. Her lone accident happened in 1933 on a Vancouver speedway when a mechanical defect caused the car to skid and overturn. (CP Photo.)

Blonde Kaija Kalevala of Finland Can Drive Any Type of Vehicle

By AL MARKLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Blonde Kaija Kalevala can drive any type of motor vehicle.

She's equally at home behind the wheel of a racing car, a diesel truck or a purring family car. Proof of her driving ability is a room lined with 25 cups and awards won on the professional car racing circuit in her native Finland.

Her work here, of course, is driving. She drives a delivery truck for an automobile parts firm.

Kaija came to Vancouver from Finland in 1951, but has done little racing since.

Some of Kaija's more memorable races were during the Finland winters, when she raced on a frozen lake. She won several of these races, using ordinary automobile tires, beating some of the top men drivers in Finland.

Kaija, who admits reluctantly to being 30 years old, started driving when she was 13, but didn't enter her first race until she was 24. She owned a "family" car then, and entered a track race with several experienced drivers. She won the race, and still has the cup.

But during her many miles of driving, she has had only one accident on the track, and none on the road. No traffic tickets, either.

Her lone accident happened in 1933 when she was driving stock cars at a Vancouver speedway, and a mechanical defect caused the car to skid and overturn. She wasn't frightened. "I just reached up (the car was resting on its roof) and turned off the ignition so there would be no fire."

Kaija the other day climbed into the cab of a three-ton truck, executed some skilful manoeuvres before a panel of judges and placed 20th in a field of 75 top truck drivers in the annual B.C. Rodeo.

She has plans for the future, but they do not include marriage. "I have so many ideas I do not know what to do," she confessed. "I would like to drive big cars again, but it would have to be a big car."

Senator McCarthy Predicts He Will 'Be Censured'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) The Senate gets down to business today on the issue of rebuking Senator Joseph McCarthy with the Wisconsin Republican himself predicting "I will be censured."

Senator Arthur Watkins (Rep., Utah) was ready to lead off debate with a speech urging his colleagues to support the recommendation by his special six-man committee that McCarthy be censured for his attitude toward a Senate elections sub-committee and his treatment of Brig.-Gen. Ralph Zwicker.

McCarthy also described himself, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery today but released late Tuesday, as "the symbol of resistance to subversion" and declared that "the nation's fate is in some respects tied" to his own.

RIDICULES CHARGES

As for the censure charges contained in a revised resolution offered by the Watkins committee, McCarthy said they are "even more ridiculous" than the committee's critical report on its investigation of his activities.

"It is even less in line with the facts than the report was," he told reporters in advance of the Senate's session.

While his friends still were seeking a compromise that might avoid a later showdown vote, McCarthy said he thinks the censure resolution will be approved.

Any good verdict, he said, will "mean that the Communist party has achieved a major victory."

The original censure resolution offered by Senator Ralph Flanders (Rep., Vt.) asked condemnation of McCarthy on grounds that his conduct was "unbecoming . . . contrary to senatorial tradition and tends to bring the Senate into disrepute."

APPROVE SUBSTITUTION

The Watkins substitute proposal, approved unanimously by his committee, said McCarthy "failed to co-operate with the sub-committee on privileges and elections" which investigated his finances in 1952 and "instead, repeatedly abused the sub-committee and its members who were trying to carry out assigned duties, thereby obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate. . . ."

The resolution said that in conducting a hearing of his investigations sub-committee last Feb. 16 McCarthy "intemperately abused and released executive hearings in which he denounced" Zwicker, former commanding officer at Camp Kilmer, N.J.

The Wisconsin senator said in his prepared speech he knew it was "an unpalatable proposition to label the Watkins committee as an unwitting tool of the Communists, but he went on:

"In the . . . debate I shall demonstrate that the Watkins committee has done the work of the Communist party, that it not only co-operated in the achievement of Communist goals, but that in writing its report it imitated Communist methods—that it distorted, misrepresented and omitted in its rationalization for advising the Senate to accede to the clamor for my scalp."

He said another group that will claim a victory in a censure vote are anti - anti - Communists—persons who profess opposition to communism but who spend much of their time attempting to discredit those who hurt the Communists."

This group, he said, "dominates the nation's literature. It has enlisted the majority of the press. It manages the Luce empire which long ago abandoned any pretext of objective reporting in its news sheets." This last was a reference to publisher Henry Luce of Time and Life. A spokesman for Time said there would be no comment.

DISCUSS RELOCATION

MORRISBURG (CP) — Ontario hydro experts will meet with this town council's planning consultant Friday to discuss plans for relocation of the section to be flooded by the St. Lawrence seaway power project. Morrisburg, 30 miles southwest of Cornwall, will be the largest community affected by the project.

Worth waiting for is this newest entry by Ford of Canada into the high-styled car field. It is the Fairlane Crown Victoria with a tiara-like chrome strip arched over the top of the car. It offers a choice of two powerful Y-block, overhead valve V-8 engines with 162 and 182 horsepower. Dual exhausts are standard on this new model. The Crown Victoria has a wrap-around windshield and is under five feet in height. It is also available with a transparent roof over the driver's compartment.

MARMORA

St. Andrew's United Holds Anniversary

MARMORA — Attended by good congregations, bright services marked the anniversary of St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora on Sunday.

The special preacher in the morning was the Rev. K. J. Kerry, of Plainfield, who taking the text: "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow Me", spoke on "The Four Steps in the Christian Life." Mrs. R. C. Shatford, guest soloist, sang "Abide With Me", and the choir rendered the anthem "Consider the Lilies of the Field."

Rev. A. Packman was the preacher. He gave his hearers three ideas of a Saint: "He is a temple of the Holy Spirit; He is God's workmanship and he is a valiant of the faith."

Menzies Warns Dock Workers Against 'Mutiny'

CANBERRA (Reuter) — Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies Tuesday warned striking dock workers fighting a proposed government labor law that "no mutiny against the law will be tolerated."

More than 36,000 dockmen stopped work last week to protest against plans to give shippers, instead of the union, the right to hire dock labor. The strike was backed today by the Australian Council of Trade Unions.

Rejecting the ACTU's demand for the government to scrap its plan, Labor Minister Harold Holt said Tuesday: "The bill will be through both houses on Thursday night."

SAYS REFORM NEEDED

And Menzies told the House of Representatives later that, if the strike continued after that, it would be a strike against the law.

The bill was introduced only after careful thought, he said. There was a glaring need for reform on the Australian waterfront.

All Australian ports are paralyzed by the strike, now in its second week.

Menzies has already denounced the union, the Waterside Workers' Federation, as "Communist - led" and the strike as a "challenge to Parliament."

MAY USE TROOPS

Herbert Evatt, Labor opposition leader who Monday night persuaded strikers to abandon a protest march on Parliament planned for Tuesday, said main fault lay with the shipping companies, "particularly the overseas shipping combine."

Menzies told Parliament that Evatt's statements committed him to incitement to defy the law. Cabinet sources told reporters the government has prepared a plan to use troops on the waterfront, but declines to make it public.

NEW COMMAND

Lt.-Col. W. E. Garber, 41, of Bridgewater, N.S., has been named to command the 1st Battalion, Canadian Guards. He succeeds Lt.-Col. K. L. Campbell, 44, of Petawawa, Ont. (CP from National Defence).

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop and ma were suppose to go and play bridge at Mr. and Mrs. Howe's house, and ma came in the living room with her hat on, saying to pop, William Potts, are you still sitting here in your slippers?

Actions speek louder than words, my dear, pop said.

Meening he was, and ma said, Now hear me, Willia, I mean without exception, you are the laziest, most procrastinating man that ever lived.

That's a gross exaggeration, pop said. Big Van Whalen was much lazier and about a hundred years more procrastinating, he said, and ma said, That's what you say. I bleeve it would take an earthquake to move you, she said.

Wrong again, my dear, a comparatively small fire in the house would set me into instant action, pop said. I refuse to be disterbed by your unwarranted supersions on my carracter. This ought to be a good lesson to Benny, he said, and ma said, How why Benny, for land sakes?

Because he's always getting into unnecesserry trubble when his playmates call him undeserved names, pop said. If he dont stop continuing to sit here calm and unperterbed under similar circumstances, he will realize that sticks and stones may break his bones, but names are harmless as long as he remains fillosophical and clever in his own conscience, he said. Oh, I take it all back with a breaking heart. You are the sole of promptess and shabbety ideal in every other conceevable way, she said.

That's more like it, pop said. I can always stand a plain statement of the facts, he said.

And he quick got reddy and they went.

The Hon. J. E. Cooke Chapter of the local I.O.D.E. offered to purchase a film strip projector for public school use and this offer was accepted by the board.

Principal K. Gillies said it was hoped to organize a Parent-Teacher Association and he asked permission to use the school auditorium one night each month, which was granted.

There are 212 students enrolled for this term.

Several minor details were discussed and accounts paid.

A committee of one was appointed to look into the matter of regular health inspections.

COMMUTERS ARISE!

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese train passengers have scored revenge for downtrodden commuters everywhere. About 30 of them, delayed on a branch line of Hokkaido island, missed connection with another train and asked the station master to stop the next train. It went through express. When he refused the passengers gathered on the tracks, forced the express to halt, and climbed aboard.

ALUMINUM CABLE from Canada was used in a Peruvian high-voltage power line, installed at altitudes of from 13,000 to 15,000 feet—the world's highest. Canada supplied not only the cable but also the technical assistance required on this record job. We imagine the aluminum's light weight was particularly appreciated by the llamas or whatever other beasts of burden were used to get the cable to the top.

In the rugged mountain country of British Columbia where Alcan's own huge Kitimat development is going on, the aluminum transmission lines used represent another record: they are the largest-diameter overhead power lines in the world. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

RELIEF PROMISED
For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain

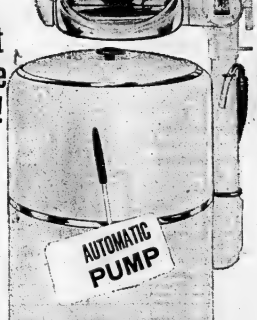
Toronto, Ont. (Special)—Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB," this new colourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates the "skin barrier"—goes to work to relieve pain deep down in muscles and joints. The bloodstream carries the soothing medication right to the seat of trouble where it actually helps drive away pain—causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a reasonable light massage.



InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money refunded in full.

P.E.I. Holds Vote On Marketing Of Potatoes

Farmers growing a minimum of one acre of potatoes are eligible for the plebiscite and women can vote if they are growing potatoes themselves, but not on their husband's acreage.

Farmers are asked to answer yes or no to questions as to whether they are in favor of retaining the Prince Edward Island potato marketing board and whether they favor the operating of a compulsory single selling agency for all potatoes grown on the Island.

Einstein Prefers Plumber's Lot To Scientist's

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Albert Einstein says that if he had to do it all over again he "would not try to become a scientist or scholar or teacher."

"I would rather choose to be a plumber or a peddler in the hope to find that modest degree of independence still available under present circumstances."

He had been asked for his comment on a recent Reporter article relating to the present situation of American scientists.

Einstein has bitterly opposed congressional inquiries into the political beliefs of scientists and educationists.

Veteran Bush Pilot Rewarded With Trophy

QUEBEC (CP)—Frank Young of Toronto, 45-year-old veteran bush pilot, Tuesday night was awarded the McKee Trophy for outstanding contribution to Canadian aviation during 1954.

Air Marshal C. R. Slemon, RCAF chief of air staff, presented the trophy to Mr. Young at the Air Industries and Transport Association annual meeting here.

Mr. Young, manager of Transair Canada Air Lines' central division, was voted the trophy for his organization of the national air show at Toronto this year.

Earlier, delegates to the convention saw a demonstration of "an electronic homing device," designed to help search pilots rescue survivors of air crashes.

The device, a small transmitter-receiver called "Sarah" (for search and rescue and homing), is capable of sending radio signals 66 miles in all directions and is easily carried as part of a pilot's personal equipment.

Venture Flops

TORONTO (CP)—The first and last president of the Moderate Drinkers' Association reported Tuesday that the venture has flopped.

Arthur F. Pickering announced organization of the M.D.A. a month ago to counteract the "temperance movement."

Included in his 14-point program for revision of provincial liquor laws was a suggestion that the regulation allowing one glass of beer at a time in beverage rooms be changed. He suggested a reasonable limitation would be two beers at a time.

Liberal Whip Calls Special Party Caucus

REGINA (CP)—A. H. (Hammy) McDonald, 35-year-old Liberal whip in the Saskatchewan legislature, Tuesday called a special party caucus to discuss latest developments in the contest to select a new provincial leader.

Mr. McDonald, only one of five candidates for the party leadership who holds a seat in the legislature, said nine of the 10 Liberal members were to attend the meeting today.

Mr. McDonald, representative for Mackenzie, is one of three candidates who say they have been asked to withdraw from the leadership race. The others are Wilfrid Simmie, president of the Saskatoon Liberal Association, and Wilfrid Gardiner, 29-year-old son of the federal agriculture minister.

Mr. McDonald and Wilfrid Gardiner have declined to say who asked them to quit. Mr. Simmie, in an angry outburst last weekend, said the agriculture minister is responsible for interference in the leadership contest. The agriculture minister denied this.

Saskatchewan Liberals' convene in Saskatoon Nov. 25-27 to choose a successor to Walter Tucker who resigned the leadership to return to federal politics.

BABY SUFFOCATES

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Juanita Louise Robertson, 3½, was found dead in a baby buggy outside her home near here Tuesday. Police said the infant apparently suffocated.

Seaway May Be Kept Open All Winter

QUEBEC (CP)—Transport Minister Marler, elected Monday to the House of Commons, said Tuesday the St. Lawrence seaway will benefit all Canada and there is no reason a port as well-equipped as Quebec should suffer.

He said some day the St. Lawrence seaway may be kept open all winter, but only if there is heavy enough traffic to make worthwhile the additional number of ice-breakers needed.

Death Occurs Three Days Before Graduation

CHATHAM, N.B. (CP) — The RCAF Tuesday night released the name of a jet fighter pilot killed earlier in the day when his plane crashed in a field about two miles from its base here on a routine training flight.

His death occurred three days before he was to graduate from the training unit.

Canada Has Given $1,100,000, Outright to European Allies

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian taxpayers have given outright $1,100,000,000 to the European Allies since April 1, 1950.

The up-to-date figure for this country's dollar aid for European defence was disclosed Tuesday by defence department officials.

Though the $1,100,000,000 is an outright gift since the beginning of the North Atlantic alliance in mutual aid program, it is an integral part of Canada's defence budget. This country gets no goods or local aid in return but it is buying protection by helping to arm its European Allies.

The total does not include the cost of maintaining in Europe the RCAF air division or the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade Group. Together they cost more than $650,000,000 a year.

Of the $1,100,000,000, more than $800,000,000 has gone for military equipment, ranging from rifle cartridges to minesweepers, some $26,000,000 for training 6,000 NATO aircrew, in Canada, and the remainder for such things as construction of airfields in Europe.

Canada has given its European Allies 74,656.81 items of military equipment since the start of mutual aid.

The figure was divulged by defence officials for the first time. Up to now, only the cost of mutual aid has been made public in government white papers.

Countries receiving dollar aid from Canada are Britain, Belgium, Denmark, France, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal and Turkey.

A breakdown of how much and what type of equipment has been shipped to each country was not revealed.

Started on Dime, Credit Unions Strong in Quebec

By BERTRAND THIBAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LEVIS, Que. (CP)—A French-Canadian economic organization that started in 1900 with a deposit of 10 cents and now has a capital stock estimated at $350,000,000 in Quebec province alone, Tuesday night celebrated the 100th anniversary of its founder's birth.

Alphonse Desjardins, one - time newspaper man and House of Commons stenographer, founded America's first Caisse Populaire (credit union) at the beginning of the 20th century. Before he died he saw it spread across Quebec and into neighboring provinces.

The unions are one of the biggest factors in Quebec's economy. They are increasing by thousands in other provinces and the United States.

Closely allied with one of Quebec's oldest and most respected institutions—the parish—the province's 1,140 credit unions are helping to eliminate working-class financial insecurity. They also help farmers get credit when lack of aid through regular channels might mean loss of their land.

Man of Humble Origin

Mr. Desjardins was born in 1854 in Levis, one of a family of 15 children. He was early and keenly interested in social problems and his daily "Union Canadienne," published for the benefit of the French-Canadian workers, urged French-Canadians to have faith in themselves. They also help farmers get credit when lack of aid through regular channels might mean loss of their land.

Then two things — increasing average age and better diagnosis — combined to give us more and more of the increase from 3,900 reported lung cancer deaths in 1930 to about 12,000 in 1953. A few physicians and statisticians say these two factors could account for most or all of it.

SEE REAL INCREASE

But the majority by far see a real increase in lung cancer deaths. Some find the rate doubling every 10 years, and predicting 20,000 Amer. lung cancer victims annually by 1960.

If there really is an increase, what is causing it?

From their own observations some physicians blamed cigarets because most of their patients were smokers. Statistical studies of hospital patients added much weight to this view.

Cigaret sales increased sharply during the years when lung cancer was rising. This, to their view, was a pretty suspicious association.

Others, doubting, pointed to an increase at the same time in sales of nylon stockings and automobiles, for instance.

Then came more than statistical evidence against cigarets. One was the skin-painting experiments by Drs. Evarts Graham and Ernest Wynder. Concentrated tars from cigarets smoked by machines was applied to the bare skin of mice. After a year of treatment, many mice developed skin cancer—and a few developed cancer of the chemical or chemicals in the smoke.

Similar experiments had been made previously. This one caught the public eye fairly well. It was widely reported in the press, in some doctors and scientists.

Others still doubted. They said skin cancer in mice is not the same as lung cancer in humans. Scientists Have Been Debating Question of Cigaret Smoking's Effect on Health Long Time

TO VISIT CANADA

Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab will pay a state visit to Canada next month after visiting the United States. (CP Photo).

Editor's note: Is that cigaret you're smoking harming your health or is it an innocent pleasure? Scientists have been debating the question longer than you think, but many have taken opposing views. Here is a review of the evidence already in, second of four articles on the cigaret controversy.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — Cigarets seem to be on trial. You are the jury.

The charge: Cigarets are harmful, contributing to cancer and heart disease.

The defence: That isn't proven yet; others call cigarets innocent pleasure.

EXPERT TESTIMONY

The bits of evidence for your verdict are coming from scientists, physicians, statisticians. There is expert testimony from both sides.

There also are declarations from zealots on both sides, people who attack or defend smoking on emotional grounds.

The trial came to full public attention only within the last few years. Here are some of the reasons:

Statisticians found an "alarming" increase in lung cancer, particularly in men over 50. They said the increase was worrisome even after allowance is made for the fact more men are reaching the older ages at which cancer becomes common, and for the fact cancer nowadays is diagnosed more accurately than in the past.

These two things — increasing average age and better diagnosis — combined to give us more and more of the increase from 3,900 reported lung cancer deaths in 1930 to about 12,000 in 1953. A few physicians and statisticians say these two factors could account for most or all of it.

Others, doubting, pointed to an increase at the same time in sales of nylon stockings and automobiles, for instance.

Similar experiments had been made previously. This one caught the public eye fairly well. It was widely reported in the press, in some doctors and scientists.

Others still doubted. They said skin cancer in mice is not the same as lung cancer in humans. The tars concentrated from smoking machines might not be the same, anyhow, as tars collected from the human mouth at speed and heat of burning cigarets in the machines. Height of cigaret and kind of distillation products than those the human smoker is exposed to.

The doubters could point to at least one experiment in which mice were exposed to daily, measured amounts of cigaret smoke, from adolescence until they died and were compared with other "non-smoker" mice. There was just one case of lung cancer in 132 "smoked" mice.

But cigaret-accusers could point to a similar experiment in which 19 of 32 mice exposed to smoke got tumors after a year's time. None of the tumors was cancer of the type common in humans.

Some scientists asked: Was the difference due to some difference in the genetic strains of the mice used? Just what did it mean in regard to human smoking? How well can mice be compared with men?

CHEMICAL SUSPECTED

Benzpyrene, a chemical which induces cancer in mice, has been identified by two scientific teams in smoke and tars from the burning of enough cigaret paper to make 60,000 cigarets. A 1-year supply for a pack-a-day smoker.

That's not the same question, though, as to whether a human smoker might get enough of this to cause human lung cancer.

Benzpyrene also has been found in the polluted air of cities. Some researchers suspect polluted air as a cause of lung cancer. Some say the rise in lung cancer might be coming from a combination of things, including cigaret smoking and polluted air.

Some studies find lung cancer more frequent in cities than in rural areas. One explanation advanced is that city people smoke more. Another is that city air is less clean.

Some scientists question whether people who smoke may be constitutionally different from non-smokers, more tense perhaps, with a different physiology that sometimes predisposes can influence cancers.

But there's no evidence that such exists, one way or another.

SEX ANGLE WEIGHED

Sex and jobs are elements in the evidence.

Many women smoke, have smoked for years. But lung cancer in 20 or 30 years is 10 times more common among men than women. Why?

Several explanations are advanced. One: Not so many women have smoked as long as men have, and it is argued that it takes 20 to 30 years of smoking to induce lung cancer; that in the future the rate for women will begin to rise. Yet another: There is a sex difference—maybe naturally more susceptible to lung cancer than women.

As for occupation as a cause of lung cancer, it is argued that women never have the same jobs as men. But it's also argued that men, commuting from suburbs into cities by car, get more city air than city-at-home wives.

Men may be subjected to more cancer-causing chemicals or agents in their jobs than women. There is also doubt that a large number of are exposed can produce cancer in animals.

In scientific and medical circles, there have long been questionings, observations and even evidences about the role of cigarets in health. To the public, it would not be aware of all of the findings being made, some of the reports had to come with bombshell effects.

Confidence in Vancouver's Police Chief Voiced as War With Underworld Rages

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chief Constable Walter Mulligan, armed with a vote of confidence, today continued his drive to crush a wave of violent crime sweeping the city and deki with reported dissension in his own force.

Tuesday night the square-jawed, 50-year-old chief sought and obtained a vote of confidence in his handling of the force from the three-man Vancouver police commission headed by Mayor Fred Hume. He had threatened to resign if the vote was not forthcoming.

Vancouver's underworld lost no time demonstrating it would fight the crime crackdown. Only a few hours after Chief Mulligan had obtained his vote two armed thugs held up a downtown drugstore and escaped with $250.

The holdup was the latest underworld move in the crime wave, blamed by chief Mulligan on a multi-million-dollar west coast narcotics trade.

Within the last eight weeks, police have been faced with the task of trying to solve the gangland execution of ex-convict Danny Rogers on the steps of newspaper printer Robert Hopkins, shot and strangled in his home; the wounding by shotgun blast of Alfred Lord Williams (Bill the Painter) Semenko and three gangsters in a money banking days that netted bandits a total of $12,000.

Chief Mulligan, head of Vancouver's 723-man force since 1947, has insisted the confidence vote demanded by the Vancouver Province of an inquiry instead of widespread dissension and discontent within the force over the chief's premotion methods and severe discipline.

Within three hours of receiving the commissioners' resignation threat, the commission had met in extraordinary session and announced it had "complete confidence in the chief constable."

Chief Mulligan, who had coupled his resignation threat with a charge of a conspiracy within his own force to undermine both himself and the force said following the vote:

"Now we can get down to business and all apply ourselves to doing police work. We've got a job to do."

American GI Locates German Girl in Quebec

By W. B. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. PAUL L'ERMITE, Que. (CP) There'll be a happy reunion today in Ottawa when a tall, raven-haired German girl is reunited with the American GI who pulled her out of a bombed building in Darmstadt 10 years ago.

But the reunion comes after Sgt. Robert Netter from Fort Totten, N.Y., spent an anguished four days in Ottawa looking for 29-year-old Margarete Roeder who was due to arrive there today from Germany.

A mix-up in arrangements developed and Margarete ended up in a labor department hostel in this village a few miles from Montreal after arriving by ship in Quebec City.

But everything is straightened out now and there's romance in the air.

"My heart's all aflutter," Netter said when he heard Margarete had been found.

"I like him and him only," she said. Then with a slow smile she changed that to "love."

The two met in Germany in 1944 when the U.S. army sergeant pulled her, injured, from a bombed-out building.

Netter and the girl made arrangements for her to come to Canada and work for his parents.

The boat carrying Margarete to Canada arrived in Quebec Thursday night and when no one met her at the docks she came with others to the hostel here.

But her suitcase was sent ahead to Ottawa where she had paid passage and that's what started Netter worrying. He found the suitcase at the railway station and figured Margarete was wandering lost in Ottawa.

"Sgt. Netter had written me and said he would meet me in Quebec or Ottawa," Margarete said here.

"I should have tried to get in touch with him, I suppose, but I more or less left things to him."

LOST HUNTER SAFE

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Roy DeGuelle, 20, London, Ont., missing since noon Monday on a hunting trip about 2 miles north of here, walked out of the bush Tuesday apparently none the worse for his experience.

OUTMANOEUVRED!

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Two policemen who leaped out of their radio car to chase two youngsters reported tampering with a parked automobile gave up when the boys vanished in an alley. The police men returned to the radio car—to find it stolen. The car was recovered a few hours later. The officers said they believed the two suspects had darted out of the alley to drive the prowl car away.

No Below-Cost Bargain Sales To Consumers

OTTAWA (CP) — The government, through its price support program, has accumulated the biggest butter supply in history, but there will be no below-cost bargain sales to Canadian consumers, federal officials said Tuesday. the government's selling price will be the same as last year—61 cents a pound wholesale, for deliveries to Montreal and Toronto, with slight price variations because of differences in freight charges at other Canadian points. So far, no sales have been reported.

It was learned that the butter stockpile stands at about 79,000,000 pounds. The stock comprises 8,000,000 pounds carried over from last year's purchases and some 75,000,000 accumulated from the summer surplus production season.

This is some 26,000,000 pounds higher than the 53,000,000 pounds officials once considered the maximum last year. Green pastures, enriched by heavy rains, have helped the cows fill the country's milk cans to an all-time high.

Two U.S. Citizens To Be Hanged For Axe Murder

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP)—Two United States citizens were sentenced Tuesday to be hanged next Feb. 8 for the axe-slaying last winter of Bruce Beatty, 68-year-old service station operator.

Jerry Simmons, 47, of Syracuse, N.Y., and Joseph Glen Lotharp, 23, of Detroit are to die exactly one year from the day murdered Beatty in his filling station at nearby Renton the night of Feb. 7.

Although Simmons and Lotharp were tried jointly on a charge of which they were also charged with the fatal beating of Beatty's wife and faced an identical count of robbery with violence, Mrs. Beatty died in hospital at London four months later.

A Supreme Court jury found the two men guilty of murder but made a strong recommendation of mercy for Lotharp. Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow said the verdict was the only reasonable one possible and agreed with the jury's recommendation of mercy. He said he would pass on the recommendation to the proper authorities.

Mr. Justice Barlow had charged the jurors to remember that if a robbery was being committed at the time and place a murder was committed, as a weapon, that person's death was murder even though the murder may not have meant death to cause. He also said there was no basis for self-defence in Simmons' case.

ASKS MERCY

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Lotharp said: "I didn't hit either of them and I didn't kill anybody." Simmons said: "I only ask the mercy of the court."

Evidence was that Beatty was killed when Simmons and Lotharp took a radio from the service. Forgus to get back a cheque they had given him earlier. Lotharp took a radio from the station owner to their car at one point. He said he heard sounds of a struggle in the building.

On Feb. 3 Beatty died in hospital several hours later.

'She's Charming' Says McCarthy Of Queen Mother

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Two prominent foes of communism in somewhat different spheres—Senator Joseph McCarthy and the Queen Mother—combined Tuesday to featured Queen Mother Elizabeth's last night in Washington.

The Wisconsin Republican senator, although occupied with the current Senate censure hearings, found time Tuesday night to make a belated appearance in the line at the British embassy reception where the Queen Mother made an official farewell to capital society.

Some 2,500 filed past the royal visitor for more than two hours, and McCarthy appeared to be in the line at 10 Mr. Mac Majesty.

"She's charming," he told reporters.

The Mounties came later when the Queen Mother attended a private dinner at the residency of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Pearson, ambassador to the United States. Two RCMP men, resplendent in scarlet tunics, stood at the door of the residency under the Canadian red ensign as the guests arrived, and snapped to smart salutes as the Queen Mother's car drew up.

MP LEAVES MISSING

Mrs. Heeney, wife of the ambassador and the Queen Mother's hostess for the dinner, had only one regret. She had hoped for a glimpse of Mrs. Ann Fleming, whose glory to decorate the residency as reminders of the Queen's coach-and-four, with its red wheels trees of the U.S. capital, though still in Washington, was the only one resembling the national emblem.

The residency dining room was banked with flowers and held, however, had several reminders of the royal visit. Among the paintings gracing Friday evening in paintings of Canadian scenes by Canadian artists.

Today the Queen Mother journeys through the rolling Virginia countryside with a stop at the state capital, Richmond, before the weekend late-day arrival at Williamsburg, historic site of the old British colonial capital where she will remain until Friday's flight to Ottawa.

Witness Says He Saw Man With Knife in Hand

TORONTO (CP)—The trial of George Toilet, 29, charged with murder in the knife-slaying here of Iwan Spassoff, 34, Tuesday went into its second week before Judge Julius Isaac Wells and an Assize Court jury.

Toilet is also charged with attempted murder in the stabbing of his wife, Lubka, 32, during a struggle in a downtown shooty before Spassoff, a friend of his wife, was stabbed to death at a nearby building where he worked. A separate trial on the charge of attempted murder will follow.

Alex Litwin testified he saw Toilet standing with what appeared to be a knife in his hand.

He said when Toilet was asked why he did it the accused replied: "I had to kill two people."

Pollsters Satisfied They Picked Over-All Winner in Elections

By EDGAR SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—The men who try to predict the actions of the United States voter have emerged from another general election, battered in spots but at least satisfied that they picked the over-all winner.

They said the Democrats would win control of Congress and they did. Some erred on the margin of victory and many miscalled individual contests. But there was no repetition of the 1948 debacle when pollsters announced "dewey tow" Thomas E. Dewey president of the United States although the voters preferred Harry S. Truman.

The Gallup poll claimed the greatest success in predicting this year's election. Its forecast of the Democratic popular vote was 52.5 per cent of the total vote. While final figures have not yet been released, George Gallup, its director, said the poll's forecast was correct within one per cent.

The Princeton Research Institute also expressed satisfaction with its finding of a 53-per-cent Democratic vote. Kenneth Fink, its director, said that the House of Representatives elected last week consists of 53.3 per cent Democratic members and 46.7 per cent Republican.

Both the Princeton institute and the New York Daily News straw vote correctly predicted the election of Democrat Averell Harriman as governor of New York but neither anticipated the closeness of his margin over Republican Senator Irving Ives.

Harriman's 50.3-per-cent share of the ballots compared with the Princeton group's prediction of 53.3 per cent and the News' estimate of 52.6.

The Princeton poll scored a clean miss in New Jersey, predicting the election of Democrat Charles Howell to a Senate seat by a substantial margin. Republican Clifford Case won in a race that was so close it will be subject to a recount.

Flush said the institute had no alibis.

"In no previous New Jersey poll have we been so cafeful, so thorough, or so wrong," he said, terming the result "incredibly in the light of our findings."

Propose Subway Along Bloor St.

TORONTO (CP)—Discussions between the Toronto Transit Commission and municipal officials will begin soon on the proposed subway along Bloor street, Mayor Leslie Saunders said Tuesday night.

The rapid transit system would run east and west across Toronto from Kingsway south of Humberville. At sunset he lit a fire and kept it going through the night. Saturday he smiled on the old lumber mill road and walked eight miles to the camp.

World's Only Flock of Greater Snow Geese Shows No Increase

By GEORGE FRAJKOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—Something has happened to the world's only flock of greater snow geese. They used to and time in 46 years the flock has increased.

The big white birds—72,000 of them—returned this autumn as they have for centuries to the Arctic to the mud-flats below Cap Tourmente, 30 miles east of this city. Immigration route between the Arctic and the southern United States.

Wildlife officials have found that only four adults. This year the Quebec department of game and fisheries counted 144 young to every four adults. This year the Quebec department of game and fisheries counted 144 young to about one to 20.

A department official said, "Something happened at their breeding grounds in Greenland and Ellesmere Island, likely frost or snow from their eggs. Perhaps there was a shortage of food."

Twice each year the birds break their migration with a two-month stop at the cape that juts into the St. Lawrence river opposite the eastern tip of Ile d'Orleans, about 25 miles from Quebec.

They rest and feed there and on other St. Lawrence river islands before continuing their journey south.

The game department isn't worried. Fewer birds will get shot this year because it is the young that are killed most easily. The birds, only 3 years old, are not decoy.

The flock has grown steadily each year, except 1931, since the provincial and federal governments banned the hunt. In 1931 there were only 3,000 of them.

To the department it would not be aware of all of the findings being made, some of the reports had to come with bombshell effects.

Canadian Legion Officers Named, Rink Discussed

CAMPBELLFORD. —The nominations of officers to guide the affairs of Branch 103 of the Canadian Legion, took place at the regular meeting held on Monday evening.

There was a large number of nominees and the list of nominees will be posted in the hall until November 12, up to which time those nominated will withdraw or signify their intention of running for office.

It was decided to operate the outdoor skating rink for small children again this winter. This proved to be most popular last winter and was much appreciated by the young folk. The hope was expressed that a few of the comrades would assist in getting the ground ready, done before the first heavy snow.

The social banquet is planned for Wednesday, November 24, at 7.15 p.m. Great plans are being made to make this evening a big success and a good time is assured.

Tweed

TWEED—The annual Canadian Legion church parade took place on Sunday afternoon. Legionnaires assembled at the Legion Hall at 2.30 and marched to St. Andrew's Presbyterian church for service at 3 p.m. Rev. M. W. Healy, pastor, conducted the service and delivered a special message for members of the Canadian Legion.

The chicken supper sponsored by the Woman's Association of St. John's United Church, in the church hall last Tuesday evening was a great success. It was the biggest undertaking by this group of ladies in some time, which attracted over 500 patrons.

The men of the church performed the duties of waiters, dressed in cook's caps and white aprons.

Mrs. W. K. Pace, and Mrs. W. A. Donnelly, president of the W.A. received the guests at the entrance to the dining hall.

While the patrons waited in the auditorium of the church, they were entertained with several organ-piano numbers by Miss Carol Connor, and Mr. Lloyd Morden. Mr. Morden also contributed several organ selections.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Donnelly left by train last Thursday for Miami, Florida, where they will enjoy a three weeks' vacation. They expect to visit St. Petersburg and other points of interest before they return home via New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Barnett, of Montreal, were on a "honeymoon holiday" for the past two weeks. Don has been pilot of a TCA plane to England for several years, and two weeks ago accompanied by Mrs. Barnett, they crossed the Atlantic as private passengers, although the trip was more or less routine for Capt. Barnett this was his wife's initial crossing. They visited many of the interesting centres. Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Barnett, of town stayed with their grandchildren in Dereal, returning to Tweed on the week-end accompanied by their son, Don Barnett and children.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bryant of Pickering, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Donnelly. Mrs. Bryant is the former Bessie Donnelly, of Tweed.

Mrs. Ida Douglas, of Tyrone, attended the funeral of the late Mrs. A. H. Mouck, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Coulter, Toronto, were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. G. Dunning in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ketcheson, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Carl House, Madoc, and Mr. W. H. Sayers, of Campbellford, were among the many visitors who attended the recent anniversary services at St. John's United Church.

Petty officer "Bud" Gehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gehan, who is attached to HMCS "Algonquin", is now in England and Ireland for three months, where his ship is now on manoeuvres with the Royal Canadian Navy. But has been with the navy for seven years or more and he recently received a well merited promotion.

Chief of police, Don Mathison was recently appointed clerk of the 4th Division Court in Tweed. He succeeds Alfred Davis, who was acting clerk for some time.

Mr. George H. Stokes, Belleville, attended the funeral of the late Mrs. A. H. Mouck, on Saturday.

Bringing Up Baby

Mom Collected by Mrs. Dave Dunstan (Mother of 3)

With November here, and winter just around the corner, certainly a few cold-weather precautions are in order. Baby should have his daily airing (except in freezing weather) but these few suggestions should be kept in mind:

1. Check weather reports before venturing out. (And a good thermometer is a sound investment.).

2. Baby should be cozily, but comfortably dressed. (Tight bundling restricts circulation.)

3. A length of sheet plastic is a sensible extra precaution. Will shield baby if you're caught in rain or snow.

IT MAY BE YOUR LIVER
If life's not worth living
it may be your Heart
It's a fact! It takes up to two pints of bile a day to keep your digestive tract in top shape! If your liver fails to put enough bile into your food many times a day — the food is not digested as it should be — it putrefies and the gas and acidity we get out of life. Then, your food, your bile and your gas form a solid mass that clogs the system. Laxatives only make matters worse. Dr. Chase's Liver Pills stimulate the flow of liver bile. Thus they relieve constipation, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, dizziness, headaches and that "all-in" feeling. Get Dr. Chase's Liver Pills at your druggist. Fill up your liver!

*A General Motors Value
THE BEL AIR 4-DOOR SEDAN

Chevrolet and General Motors have started something—a whole new age of low-cost motoring—by taking a whole new look at the low-cost car. Here are new ideas, young ideas . . . and some of tomorrow's ideas, too! And they're all rolled up in the most glamorous package that ever wore anything like a Chevrolet price tag!

This is the car that began with a great idea—the idea that a low-priced car could be built that would have the style, the performance, the comfort and convenience features and the fine quality "feel" of high-priced cars.

Lots of car buyers have wished for such a car. Lots of automotive engineers have dreamed about it. But there were plenty of reasons why it couldn't be done. Then Chevrolet and General Motors set down and tackled the job. It took a lot of months and a lot of manpower, but they designed and built a car to fit the dream . . . a car to fulfill the great idea—the motoramic Chevrolet for 1955.

When you think about it, it makes sense that only the world's largest motor car producer could have done it. Chevrolet and General Motors have what it takes—the engineers, the stylists, the scientists, the machinery for testing and building — plus a desire to make your dreams come true.

Come in and see how the motoramic Chevrolet for '55 is far more than a new model. It's more, even, than a completely new car. It's a whole new idea about cars!

Come in and meet the motoramic Chevrolet — more than a new car — a NEW CONCEPT of LOW-COST MOTORING.

Airliner Makes Landing With Wheel Jammed

CHICAGO (AP)—An American Airlines plane, with one wheel hopelessly jammed, made a nice careful landing Tuesday on two wheels. None of the 40 passengers and three crew members was injured.

The two-engine Convair 240 had circled its destination, Chicago's Midway airport, for an hour while the crew worked to free the wheel. When it became apparent the wheel could not be freed, the pilot took the craft to suburban Glenview naval air station, some 20 miles to the north.

There, the plane rolled smoothly down the runway for 500 yards before swerving around, the right wing touching the concrete, amid a shower of sparks.

Crash equipment stood ready, nearby.

Among the passengers were Mrs. William G. Stratton, wife of the Illinois governor, and Peter J. Mack, Jr., Democratic congressman from Carlinville, Ill.

Chief Electoral Officer Will Examine Slips

OTTAWA (CP)—Nelson Castonguay, Canada's chief electoral officer, said Tuesday he will examine voters' slips reported to have been given the Montreal Herald, but added they play no large role in federal elections.

He was commenting on the Herald report that professional vote telegraphers turned over more than 250 of these slips to the newspaper. The paper said the telegraphers had planned to use them in Monday's federal by-elections in Montreal, but claimed to have refused to vote illegally when their "pay-off" was held back.

The term "telegrapher" is used in connection with elections to describe a person who votes or attempts to vote illegally in the name of another person.

LOCUSTS INFECT KIDS

AGADIR, Morocco (Reuters)—Millions of locusts which flew here from the Sahara desert in a cloud 135 miles long to ravage orange groves, have spread infection among local children. Sores broke out on the children's lips after the insects crawled over them.

Red Persecution Halves Number Of R. C. Priests

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Communist persecution has halved the number of Roman Catholic priests in Iron Curtain countries—from 40,000 to 20,000—in the last eight years, a leading Catholic expert on East Europe says.

Msgr. Alfred Kindermann, director of the Albertus Magnus seminary at Koenigstein, near Frankfurt, says if the Communist persecution continues at the present pace, the Roman Catholic clergy inside the Soviet bloc will be exterminated within 10 to 20 years.

The seminary is West Europe's biggest religious college for refugee priests from Red-ruled countries. Kindermann formerly headed the German priests' seminary at Prague University. He was imprisoned and expelled in 1945. Returning to Czechoslovakia in 1946, he was rearrested but escaped shortly before he was to be sent to Siberia.

Interviewed by top U. S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes, Kindermann said the aim of the Communist policy toward the church is complete separation of the clergy from its flock. He said priests are executed, imprisoned, expelled or subjected to other punishments and seminaries and convents have been closed or placed under communist control.

No Catholic-trained priests have been ordained in the Soviet satellites in the last six years, he added. Almost 3,500 East European priests have escaped to the West since the end of the Second World War, the monsignor said.

Rescue Climber

ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—Rescuers Tuesday succeeded in lowering an injured mountain climber 200 feet down an ice-coated cliff near the summit of 6,000-foot Mount Arrowsmith in central Vancouver Island.

Charles Faulkner, 22, of Victoria had lain in agony since Sunday when he broke his leg in a fall.

Mendes-France Wins Vote Of Confidence

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Mendes-France won a vote of confidence Tuesday from the National Assembly, opening the way to what may be a long, hard battle over the budget for 1955.

The vote was 320 to 307, the smallest he has received, but it was another victory for Mendes-France before he leaves on a trip to Canada and the United States for talks with government leaders.

The budget amounts to the franc equivalent of about $9,500,000,000. This is $1,250,000,000 less than the estimate for the current year, but many of the deputies want more spending—not less.

They particularly want more spent on wage increases and pensions in the communications ministry, the subject of Tuesday's vote.

Bogus Stock Operations Are Causing Concern

MONTREAL (CP)—The chairman of the Montreal stock exchange said Tuesday night bogus stock operations are being conducted in Montreal and the city's two stock exchanges are "gravely concerned."

Brig. James R. Welr termed "substantially correct" remarks made Monday in New York by Keith Funston of the New York stock exchange that "fast buck salesmen of phony securities" here are mulcting U.S. investors in a gigantic "operation sucker."

"We of the Montreal stock exchange are aware of the bogus stock operations being conducted, and we have felt it necessary to issue repeated warnings to the public to be on their guard against unethical salesmen."

Text of Brig. Welr's televised speech was released to the press in advance of delivery.

Bull Decided He Liked It In China Shop

Officials weren't worried about the $15,000 stock of china but had $10,000 insurance on the bull.

"Suppose he tripped," said one.

The bull, belonging to E. P. Taylor, was brought to the downtown shop by officials of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair to publicize the fair starting Nov. 12.

The 1,834-pound animal was led through the shop by 12S-pound Jim Hartley. His father handles the bull. There was no trouble until time came to leave, when the bull decided it liked it there. Officials got behind and pushed it back to the truck.

Reserve Decision

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A court of inquiry Tuesday reserved decision in a hearing of 10 charges of inefficiency against Doug McGuire, suspended London township police chief. No date was set for the decision.

The charges were heard in a day-long session by the township council sitting as a public tribunal.

McGuire was suspended two weeks after council began a closed investigation Oct. 4 into charges of alleged misconduct in the police force. Constables Alfred Gillan and F. G. Fulton resigned during the investigation.

May Keep Men In Wrong Jobs

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Personnel Association was told Tuesday night employment practices of many firms can hold workers in occupations in which they are completely unsuited emotionally.

Dr. Bruce Quarrington, chief psychologist at the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, spoke to the men and women who hire and fire for many of Toronto's major firms.

"Perhaps we put too much emphasis on existing skills and past experience, and too little emphasis on dreams and aspirations," said Dr. Quarrington.

He said a varied background has a productive value to business and a person with a varied background has a better chance of adapting to change within a company.

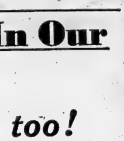
Would Train Trustees

HAMILTON (CP)—An "orientation course" for newly-elected school trustees will be proposed at tonight's meeting of the board of education, last regularly-scheduled gathering before the civic elections.

The orientation course, something novel in Canada, would have each department head explain in a series of lectures exactly what he has to do, and to whom he is responsible.

Six Are Killed As Cars Collide

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Six persons were killed instantly and four others seriously injured shortly after midnight today in the shattering, head-on crash of two automobiles on a fog-shrouded highway south of here.



Only one of the dead had been identified three hours after the colliding. That was Samuel Daniel Peralez Jr., 22. He and an unidentified Latin-American were in a southbound car.

The only logical winter tire design!

1. To climb a hill, skiers use what is called "the herringbone". See how this skier angles his skis, leaving a track that looks much like a fish's skeleton. He gets slip-free traction because he cuts the sharp edges of his skis into the snow. With no trouble at all, a skier can climb a steep hill with this method. And, when you think of it, "the herringbone" is just plain common sense—the only logical way for a skier to climb a hill.

Why take chances with regular tires—or why bother with the nuisance and noise of chains or heavy lugged snow tires? See your Goodyear Dealer about Suburbanites. Have him install a pair of these amazing winter tires for more slip-free grip than any other winter tire on the market!

2. Here's the only logical winter tire tread in the world. It works in the same way as skis in "the herringbone". See how the 4 rows of sharp-edged cleats in this tread are angled to cut into snow. That gives you sure grip on any road. There are 464 of these cleats with a total of more than 1800 sharp edges that grab, take hold, boost you along over any winter road—loose snow, packed snow, even ice. What's more, you'll find Suburbanites give you sure traction in the slush and mud of winter thaws and spring break-ups.

And the cleats are flexible so the tread cleans itself as it rolls—it's always ready to bite and grab again. Last but not least—this tread kills "snow tire hum" because the many varied-sized cleats break up the noise. You get a smooth, quiet ride even on bare pavement.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

CLOSE ONE

It was one of those old-fashioned Kingston-Belleville ice battles with the exception there was no garnishing of gore. The teams hit 'em hard, heavy and fairly often but there were no rush calls for an ambulance. In fact those fight-at-a-second-squads established some sort of a league record in the third heat when with both travelling in high gear, nary a stoner visited the boxes/pen. That not only is "swanky" for the league but a record par excellence for Belleville and Kingston teams.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle all the way after the boys got over the feeling-out spasms in the first heat. Both defences stood out, not forgetting Messrs. Parisi and Johnson, the respective keepers of the gates, while the shock troops up front killed many a goalward foray with fierce backchecking.

It was anybody's battle with both teams missing chances around the fireman's goalmouth. Red Duran, Peter Jones and the Duncans missed golden chances to score but Ole Man Puck was not having nay, thank you. The "Webber's" lone goal came from a Memmo power play when Erwin Duncan tobled the rubber to the wailing "Neb" who promptly blasted it home for the count.

Kingston's imports add a lot of power to the club. All are big, husky types who know a lot of the answers and how to toss their bodies around. Irvine and Pawchul looked exceptionally good. The former is an ex-professional, having played with the Leafs at one time while Pawchul is a product of those tough Montreal leagues.

Johnny Muckler, the Memmo' new defenceman, just arrived from the Chatham Maroons, should fit nicely into the defence picture. Johnny is a big, rugged boy, who seemed at home among his new surroundings. He played a steady, heady game and stopped Kingston attackery solidly at times. Bob Wilson came up with another good effort on the rearguard with Jake Wade and Hub Macey kicking in with their steady performances.

The game was another indication of the fairly well distributed player strength of the league, and last night's performance was ample evidence that both Belleville and Kingston will be forced to be reckoned with when the playoffs roll around. As was said before it was anybody's battle and with a little more finish or luck around the opposing goalmouth the result might have been different. However the Goodyears earned their victory, especially in the dying minutes when Coach Boucher threw everything he had at the Goodies in a desperate attempt to snatch victory or a tie out of the battle. It was easily one of the best tilts seen here this season.

The crowd of over 1,000 paid silent tribute to the memory of the late Nat Green prior to the face-off. It stood for a minute in silence to honor one of this city's great sportsmen and hockey players.

FIFTY-FIFTY

Cornwall Indians shared top rung with the Belleville Memos this morning after defeating Brockville Magedemas 5-1 in a Senior "B" group game in Brockville last night. With either the Cornwall club eight points by victors of their wins over Whitby and Brockville since the last standing was published. Kingston can move into the charmed circle at the top of the heap tonight if they come up with a win over Brockville in Kingston. In the other scheduled game the Feics visit Whitby.

The 1951-53 Memorial Cup champion Guelph Biltmores rate as one of the most productive N.H.L. farm clubs of all time. They are Harry Howell, Lou Fontinato, Andy Bathgate, Aldo Guidolin, Dean Prentice and Ron Murphy.

RETURNS THE BREAD AND BUTTER

In a recent National League game involving the New York Rangers, Doug Davies, N.H.L. linesman, called an offside against the Rangers that particularly angered Frankie Paise, their trainer. When Davies skated past the Rangers' bench, Paice hollered: "Davies, you're taking the bread and butter out of my kids' mouths."

Paice was enjoying a post-game smack in a restaurant when who should come into the place but Davies. After he was seated and had given his order to the waitress, Davies picked up a piece of bread and a pretty, stiffled over to Paice's table, laid the bread and butter down and said: "Put this back into your kids' mouths."

THIS OLD ARENA

(With apologies to "This Old House")

This ole arena's gettin' creaky,
This ole arena's gettin' old,
This ole arena lets in wintry winds
That leaves ole fandom cold.
This ole arena's done got pestin
Stickin' right in front of seats,
There six fans got calloused pesties
Sittin' on fierce wooden seats.

CHORUS—

This ole arena's bin a real 'un,
This ole arena's done its chore,
But that was many years ago
And this is '54.
This ole arena needs some fixin'—
Move them peels—put heat in, too.
If new arena ain't a-coming'
Make this ole arena new.

Hawks Get Prystai, Masnick, Leafs' Boivin Goes to Boston; Klukay Returns to Toronto

By Jack Hext
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—In a move to rectify what President Clarence Campbell calls the "unenlightened self-interest" that has made perennial losers of certain clubs, National Hockey League owners Tuesday approved three player trades designed to bolster weaker clubs.

One deal sends centre Metro Prystai, 26-year-old Yorkton, Sask., native who once scored 51 points in an NHL season, from Detroit Red Wings to Chicago Black Hawks, with whom he played before being traded to Detroit four years ago.

The Black Hawks, who finished in the cellar last season and now are in fifth place, also acquired centre Paul Masnick from Montreal Canadiens for a player to be named later.

The other trade sends defenceman Leo Boivin from Toronto Maple Leafs to the Bruins, who return Bruins for veteran Joe Klukay, who was with the Leafs for six seasons before being sent to Boston in 1952.

DAVIS TO WINGS

In return for Prystai, the Stanley Cup champion Red Wings will get forward Lorne Davis, 23-year-old native of Regina, who was traded to Chicago earlier this year by the Canadiens.

Campbell said in an interview after the meeting that he was pleased with the willingness of club owners to "try to do something to maintain the balance of the league."

"There has been a little too much of that unenlightened self-interest out of the running too long," he added.

Campbell said he hopes that the trades, coupled with rules making it impossible for NHL owners or players outside the NHL, will help bring the league back into balance.

All player deals involved in Tuesday deals are to report to their new clubs by Saturday.

In returning to Chicago Prystai will rejoin the club he was with when he had his best NHL year, 29 goals and 22 assists in 1949-50. After that season he was involved in one of the NHL's biggest player trades, under which he and three others went to Detroit in return for Harry Lumley, Jack Stewart, Al Dewsbury, Pete Babando and Don Morrison.

There were no games in the NHL Tuesday night. The league returns to action tonight with Toronto playing at New York and Chicago at Boston.

BLASTS HOCKEY

Rev. Athol Murray, famous founder of Notre Dame College at Wilcox, Sask., said "hockey is in a bad way and today crops hangs over the very name of hockey." Father Murray, an executive of the Saskatchewan Amateur Hockey Association, urged a return to the days of the great town teams when money was "the least of considerations." — (CP Photo).

Riders' Brass Not Decided On Next Year

OTTAWA (CP)—The approaching end of a disastrous football season for Ottawa Rough Riders has engendered a series of reports about "sweeping changes" next year.

To all speculation the executive of the Big Four club from president Dave Gill down says: "Nothing has been decided."

That was the stock answer Tuesday to all questions about the possibility of a new coach, new players and new managerial organization.

The 15-man executive, which operates the club on a non-profit basis, will meet next week to decide whether to retain coach Clem Crowe for a fifth season and to plan a rebuilding program.

No one would refer directly to Crowe whose team has won only one game in 13 this year.

Crowe said in an interview that he has not been approached by the executive about next season.

He added: "Sure, I would want to come back."

Crowe indicated he is not satisfied with his Canadian players.

"It wasn't all the fault of the Americans if we lost."

A rebuilding program would involve new imports and more Canadians to go along with some of the youngsters who broke in this year, he added.

Galt Hawks Nip St. Mike's In Overtime

By The Canadian Press

Galt Black Hawks nipped Toronto St. Michael's Majors 5-4 in the first overtime game of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A season Tuesday night.

Floyd Smith fired the winning goal, his second of the night, at 5:11 of the extra period in the close-fought game at Galt. The victory put the Black Hawks in a four-way tie for first place. It was St. Mike's first loss to date.

The collegians led 4-2 going into the final period. Then the Hawks came to life.

Smith's first goal came 22 seconds after the period opened. John Sleaver tied it with less than three minutes to go, taking a rebound off the boards of Partridge's drive. Goalie Gerry McNamara had no chance to stop it.

St. Michael's drew 11 of the 19 penalties, including a misconduct to Noel Price.

Eskys Confident Before Game With Bombers

EDMONTON (CP) — Coach Al Sherman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers said his boys would take the Western Interprovincial Football Union final in two straight. That was before the Bombers lost their first game of the best-of-three series to Edmonton Eskimos.

The two straight victories now stands as the only hope Winnipeg has of staying in the Grey Cup hunt.

If the Esks win in Winnipeg Remembrance Day they'll return here for a nine-day rest before going against the ORFU winner in the Grey Cup sudden-death semi-final at Clarke Stadium Nov. 20.

But coach Frank (Pop) Ivy isn't counting on a loss.

"Just three more games this season is all we want," he said, meaning Thursday's contest, the cup semi-final and the cup final in Toronto.

Doubtful starters for Edmonton are tackle Roger Nelson and defensive half Oscar Kruger. Nelson is limping on a bad ankle. Kruger, racked up by a driving tackle Saturday when Edmonton won 9-3, has an injured leg.

Sherman said his team is in good physical shape and added that the only doubtful starter import fullback Floyd Huggins, who missed the first game due to a neck injury.

Paul Meger Resting Easy

MONTREAL (CP)—Paul Meger, forward with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, was operated on Monday night for a fracture of the right temporal bone and was reported today resting comfortably.

There was no indication yet how long Meger will be out of the game but unofficial speculation placed his absence at possibly six weeks.

Meger was injured in a game Sunday night in Boston when he fell into the path of Leo Labine, Boston Bruin forward.

By The Canadian Press

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, strong contenders for the Allan Cup last season, moved out in front of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league Tuesday night with an 8-5 victory over Niagara Falls Cataracts.

It was Cataracts' seventh straight loss. They remain in last place, five points behind Chatham Maroons.

In another game Windsor Bulldogs defeated Chatham 6-0 before 2,300 hometown fans. The victory broke a four-game deadlock between Bulldogs and Maroons.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior B southern group, Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds whipped Sudbury Wolves 10-3 to stay on top with 18 points. North Bay Trappers defeated Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians 6-3 in overtime at home.

Dutchmen took a 4-2 first-period lead and were never behind.

FATTEN AVERAGES

Jim Logan and Gerry Theberge scored two goals each for Kitchener, George Scholes, Ken Laufman, Buddy Horne and Jack McKenzie added singles. Ed Pista and Danny Nixon scored two each for Cataracts while Bob Unger added the fifth.

It was Windsor's third victory of the season and the first shutout for goalie Bill Harrington, a standout in Bulldogs' shots. Goalies Haldy and Bill Lee each scored two goals, Reg Abbott and Walter Pawlyszyn scored one each.

Greyhounds ran up their biggest goal total of the season in their victory over Wolves. Marcel Clements scored three for Greybounds and Mike Ratchford two. The others were split among Lyle Wiseman, Joe Bumbacco, Ron Lay, Jim McBurney and Ronnie Hurst. Arnie Stern got Sudbury's lone goal and Hub Beaudry scored for Sudbury.

Kingston Goodyears Get Nod Over Memos In Thrilling Senior B Battle

Desperate Third-Period Surge Fails to Overcome 2-1 Lead; Day Scores in Sinless Third

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Clinging tenaciously to a one-goal lead the Kingston Goodyears staved off a desperate Belleville last-minute drive to match a 2-1 victory in a Senior "B" thriller here last night.

The Goodyears, by virtue of the victory, climbed into a second place tie with Cornwall and Clinton with six points, two behind the league-leading Belleville Memos. It was the Memos' second defeat on home ice.

George MacGregor dipsy-doodled the puck around Parisi after fourteen minutes of play in the first period for the only score of the best. Gabby White gave the Goodyears a 2-0 lead after five minutes in the third period and Day cut the margin for the Memos with five minutes to go. The second period was scoreless.

The game was a fierce-checking affair with both teams playing the puck-carrier like the first man especially in the third period when some sort of a group record was set with no penalties being issued by referees Jim Cromish and Leo Herring of Peterborough. The first two periods were more rugged affairs with the teams splitting ten sentences. Goodyears playing coach, Lou Douglas, drew a minor and misconduct in the first period for "delaying the game".

It was one of the better games seen here this season with Johnny Parisi and Johnny Day the respective goalies, turning in fine performances. Parisi was forced to be back-checked hard and in the second and third periods as the Memos puck-licing broke out as both teams blasted the puck rink-length in search of a goal.

The Memos staged an all-out desperation drive in the final minutes of play. They swarmed around Johnson and his defence, and with the exception of Goalie Boucher took Parisi out of the nets.

The Goodyears clustered their defence and successfully held off the Memos drive. They nearly scored another goal when Nicholson swept down when about to shoot at the empty net. Another shot with seconds to go skimmed past the Belleville goal post.

HARD-CHECKING GAME

Over 1,000 fans thrilled to a fast hard-checking battle after the teams played a cautious first period. Bob Wilson, Memos defence-man, who played a standout game drew the first penalty blood in a period that saw Johnson stop five shots and Parisi four. Douglas drew his minor and misconduct but the Memos failed to capitalize on the extra manpower.

Play was mainly in centre ice until the fourteen minute mark when Johnson's rubber, formerly of the Chatham Maroons, who was playing his first game in a Memos uniform drew one of the few real variety of penalties. The Goodyears surged to the attack and Nicholson fed George MacGregor a neat pass and the fleet forward raced in on Parisi deked him and pushed the puck into the net for the first goal.

Goodfellow drew a slashing penalty at 17:07 and 29 seconds later Bathist joined him. MacDonald then got the gate a minute later and the Memos with three men successfully held off the Goodyears' drive for goals.

The second period was lightning fast as both teams speeded their attacks. Goodfellow and Day drew and Johnson kicked out close-in pucks. DeGray went off midway through the period and Pawchuck's drive missed from three feet out. Johnson just managed to get a skate on Ed Duncan's drive and a second or so later the Duncan twins missed an open net. Play surged up and down the ice with both defences turning in rugged efforts.

Stewart went off for interference after 16 minutes and Peter Jones missed a glaring net. The Goodyears came back strongly and threw all their power at the Memos defence in a late-period drive.

TURN ON POWER

Both teams turned on the power and speed in a rip-roaring sixteen third period. Muckler's blazing wrist-shot just slipped off Johnson's glove and Douglas' blast caromed off a corner of a Parisi pad. Play surged back and forth and "Red" Doran with an open net in front hit the post. Irvine repeated the manoeuvres at the other end.

Gabby White scored Kingston's second goal on a Goodyear's power attack. He picked up the puck in a mix-up scramble, circled the net and pushed it in a corner. Pawchuk and Bellringer drew assists on the play.

Both goals had narrow escapes as the first lead was maintained. Erwin Duncan raced into a corner and slipped a puck out to waiting "Nobber" Day whose low bard shot beat Johnson for the Memos only goal. With minutes to go the Memos exerted heavy pressure but time ran out as Parisi left the nets.

Jockey Ruled Off Tracks For Life

TORONTO (CP)—Ray Powers, 26-year-old Hamilton jockey, was ruled off Ontario tracks for life by the Ontario racing commission Tuesday for offering bribes in an effort to "fix" horse races.

Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, commission chairman, also announced the indefinite suspension of George Archibald St. John "for his part in the conclusion put to him by the commission."

Powers was not fined or punished. He was summoned with several other riders to testify before a commission hearing which decided to investigate a reported attempt to fix a race at Toronto's Dufferin Park. He did not appear.

Commission investigators were sent to the trailer home and one of them told the commission he found the cabin trailer locked and unheated.

The race discussed was last Saturday's third at Dufferin Park. The odds-on choice, Alaflame, won. Alaflame's rider, Hank Williams, reported that day he had been asked to pull up the horse but turned down an offer of a bribe.

Jockeys who testified at Tuesday's closed hearing were Williams, Dick Bulmon, Ken Clemes, Hiromas Uyeyama, Clayton Brown, and Don Richards.

Magistrate Bigelow announced that the investigation was to be resumed today.

Will Seek Fan Assistance

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener Panthers of the Intercounty Baseball League will seek financial assistance of local baseball fans later this week in a "save the ball club" campaign.

Owner-manager Don Gallinger Tuesday said he must decide by Dec. 15 whether the Panthers will be entered in the league next season.

The club was reported to have lost $10,000 on last season's operations. "We have put a great deal of effort into the club and would like to hold on to it if possible," said Gallinger.

Penticton V's Will Fly To Germany

TORONTO (CP)—Penticton Vs, last season's Allan Cup champions, will represent Canada in the world hockey championships in Europe next February, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced Tuesday.

It was estimated it will cost about $25,000 to fly the British Columbia team to the championships in West Germany.

"In Penticton Vs, Canada will be represented by her top team," A. A. Hewitt, registrar-treasurer of the CAHA, said in announcing the selection. "If there are any weaknesses about they will be corrected before the team leaves for Europe."

Toronto Lyndhurst, Canada's representatives last year, were defeated by Moscow Dynamos.

Wirkowski Out For Ticat Game

TORONTO (CP) — Quarterback Nobby Wirkowski will miss Toronto Argonauts' windup game against the Tiger-Cats in Hamilton in the Big Four Football Union Saturday, it was announced Tuesday night.

Dr. Larry Eckert, Argonaut club physician, said Wirkowski's arm is sensitive to light because of a poke in the eye he received in last Saturday's game here against Ottawa Roughriders. Nobby, who played the last three quarters with only the sight of one eye, irritated the injured eye when he picked up some lime from the yardage markers.

The quarterback duties will be handled by Dick Shatto and Gerry Doucette.

BUY FACER

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — In the second day of trading at the annual standard bred sale Thursday 196 horses were sold for a total of more than $325,000. Topping the session was Cimarron's Forbes, a three-year-old Forbes Chief pacer, which went for $17,000 to Fred Daputo and George Arthur of London, Ont.

Marmora Trims Madoc 23-0

MARMORA — Delayed for the past week because of bad weather the rugby game between Madoc High School and Marmora High School was played on Monday afternoon at Deloro with Marmora trouncing the visitors, 23-0.

The winners jumped into the lead in the early minutes of the first quarter when Doug Lynch booted a single and later on Harry Brooks took advantage of a Madoc fumble to go over for a major, Lynch netting the extra point for a 7-0 score at quarter time.

Jim Brooks carried for a touchdown with Lynch again adding the extra point in the second quarter while W. Sleenbergh and Harry Brooks also notched majors before the game ended. Both convert attempts failed on the latter pair.

The group playoffs will now get under way with Marmora and Stirling meeting in a home-and-home, points-for-count series, the first game at Deloro this afternoon.

Royals Take Over Quebec Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Royals vaulted over Shawinigan Falls into first place in the Quebec Hockey League Tuesday night by beating the Cataracts 5-4 Tuesday night.

The other Tuesday game saw Ottawa Senators trip the last-place Valleyfield Braves 2-1 to move into a tie with fourth-place Chicoutimi.

The Montreal-Shawinigan Falls game was rough and hard-fought. Lulu Denis scored a pair of goals to pave the winners' way. Wray of Shawinigan and Montreal's Rollie Rousseau started a brawl in the second period and both received misconduct penalties. A free-for-all threatened when Rousseau and Wray tried to fight again in the penalty box. Both were banished from the rink.

A breakaway goal by Al Kuntz with less than four minutes to play gave the Senators their win over Valleyfield. An unusual twist came when referee Bill Roberts was beaned by a black object thrown by a spectator. He was carried from the ice but recovered sufficiently to return and delegate his authority to a linesman.

Eleven penalties were called against both clubs, including three misconduct penalties, a free-for-

Frontenacs Lead Quebec Juniors In All Depts.

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Frontenacs lead the Quebec Junior Hockey League in nearly every way, QJHL official statistics showed today.

The Frontenacs, first in league standings, have the top scorers, best goalie, and are tied with Montreal Canadiens for the most penalties.

Frontenacs won eight games, lost two and tied one to lead the second-place Canadiens by one point. Trois - Rivieres Flambeaux are seven points off the pace and Jonquiere Marquis, with only one win and a tie in 13 starts, are at the bottom.

Quebec's Richard (Butch) Bouchard scored 19 goals and earned 11 assists for 31 points. Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard of Montreal has the most goals—13—and seven assists to trail Bouchard by two points. Bill O'Dea of Quebec is third with 18, one, two, and three points ahead of his teammates Jean Rousseau, Walt Bradley and Guy Rousseau respectively.

Frontenacs and Canadiens have each amassed a total of 201 minutes in penalties, including nine majors and four misconducts.

Quakers End Losing Streak

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatoon Quakers ended a seven-game losing streak by defeating Calgary Stampeders 3-1 in a Western Hockey League game Tuesday night.

Edmonton Flyers edged Vancouver Canucks 8-5 in the night's other game. Rudy Horvath and Bud Poile fired two goals apiece for the Flyers. Dueck and Ulmaas added singles. The Vancouver goals were divided among Ron Adam, Dean, Sweaney, Wylie and Pogue.

New Blood Needed In Intercounty

GALT (CP)—Deadline for entry into the Intercounty Senior Baseball League for next season was set for Dec. 15 at a meeting of club operators Monday night.

Representatives from Brantford, Kitchener, London, St. Thomas and Woodstock-Guelph voted. The Galt club was not permitted to vote because it owed the league $17.50 from its 1954 season.

It was suggested Hamilton, Oshawa, Windsor and Toronto be invited to join the league, but no action was taken.

Another Dec. 15 deadline was reached after league commissioner John Gillies of Windsor appealed for an early date for declaration of entries. Gillies said there was no time to lose if the league was to operate next season.

The meeting also discussed the possibility of taking in teams from Detroit and Buffalo.

"The league is badly in need of new blood," said Kitchener's Don Gallinger.

Theatre Diary for November

By Robert Tanner

After the excitement of October, with two first rate plays brought right to our doorstep, the month of November may well seem dull and commonplace in comparison. The Canadian Harvest presentation of Shaw's "Saint Joan" made a profound impression on all who saw it, as a superb example of pure acting, unaided and unhindered by the usual trappings of costume and scenery.

The Theatre Guild's production of "The Enchanted" although more conventional as regards staging, was also quite a departure, since it was the first fantasy that this group had attempted. To judge from the audience reaction after the show, a program note indicating what the very French author of this delightful play was trying to convey would have helped considerably, but apart from this, Mr. Robert Christie's direction and the acting of Guild members together provided a most enjoyable evening.

Two other plays which may well need explanatory notes to ensure full understanding on the part of the audience are scheduled for production in Toronto this month. The first of these is "The Confidential Clerk" by T. S. Eliot, which caused considerable controversy at its first production at the Edinburgh Festival, as well as later both in London and New York.

This play is being presented by the Crest Theatre, beginning on November 16th and following the current run of "Charley's Aunt" which stars that versatile actor, Eric House. "The Confidential Clerk" has a strong cast, including Donald Davis, Frances Hyland and Douglas Rain. The Crest Theatre has brought out from England the well-known director Basil Coleman to handle three of the productions this season: Mr. Coleman comes to Canada after a period of close association with the composer Benjamin Britten, five of whose operas he has directed.

The other controversial play is Christopher Fry's "The Dark is Light Enough," starring Katherine Cornell, which comes to the Royal Alexandra Theatre on November 22nd. Like all of Fry's plays, this is certain to arouse a very great deal of interest and discussion. The present attraction at the Royal Alex. is a variety show featuring Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey and another (unfortunately) the previously announced presentation of "Getting Gertie's Garter", On November 8th, Paul Douglas is coming to Toronto in the Calne Mutiny Court Martial" in which he will be assisted by Steve Brody and Wendell Corey, while on November 15th, the evergreen "Oklahoma!" returns for yet another visit.

Thus it would seem that during November, the theatre goer must be prepared to travel at least as far as Toronto; if he is, then there are several shows well worth the effort.

Only One Regular Student Now Attending MGM School

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The MGM schoolhouse, which once rang with the shrieks of students Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Lana Turner, Elizabeth Taylor and Margaret O'Brien, now registers but one regular student—a sad-eyed little 15-year-old named Sandra Descher.

Sandra appears to be the only child under contract to the studios today, and how she broke into the movies will amaze you.

I learned the story from the girl and her alert mother, Mrs. Audrey Descher, who related:

"Ever since Sandy was very young, people have been telling me how witty and bright she is. They said she should be in the movies.

"Well, I didn't think much about it until a year or two ago. On an impulse, I called Warner Brothers and asked for the casting department. . . I told the woman that I had a child who was very bright and people said she should be in movies . . .

"If she had brushed me off, I never would have tried again. But she said, 'Can you be here in half an hour?'

"They were looking for a girl for 'Miracle of Our Lady of Fatima,' but Sandy was obviously too young. When director Michael Curtiz told her so, she started crying. Then he told her that not only she wouldn't be too young, and she smiled again.

He didn't see her and figured if she could turn it on and off like that, she could be in the business. He landed her a role in Walt Disney's Cinderella show, and she has been working ever since."

Since the Disney debut, Sandy has worked in 11 movies and most of the top TV film shows. After her role in "The Bad and the Beautiful," MGM offered a contract.

She signed with MGM and went into the important role as daughter of Elizabeth Taylor and Van Johnson in the Last Time I Saw Paris." Then she played the understudy to love goddess Lana Turner in the Biblical epic, "The Prodigal."

A fourth grader and bright student, Sandy said she doesn't feel lonely in the big MGM school. She goes home to Burbank each afternoon to play with the kids in her neighborhood.

Two Members Of Globe Trotters Land in Jail

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Two members of the Harlem Globe Trotters travelling basketball troupe were lodged in Lincoln county jail Tuesday night after they were charged with possession of a smuggled gun.

The men, James Garner and Matthew (Pat) Kennedy, were to appear in court in St. Catharines today.

Garner, 24-year-old trumpolinist who does a half-time act at Trotter games, was arrested Monday night at Niagara Falls, Kennedy, a leading U.S. basketball referee for the last 32 years, was arrested Tuesday.

Police said Garner imported a 25-calibre automatic pistol into Canada after customs officials had forbidden him to do so.

They said Garner declared the pistol to customs men at nearby Queenston. Garner said he had a Kansas permit for the gun and that it enabled him to carry it anywhere in the U.S. However, customs officials told him he couldn't carry it into Canada.

Garner and his wife were stopped near St. Catharines and provincial police said they found an ammunition clip in Garner's car.

Kennedy was charged after he came to Niagara Falls from Toronto Tuesday.

Glen Perkins, a Globe Trotter official, said Garner told police he handed a package containing the gun to Kennedy at the border.

"They carry the gun for protection," he said.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A mountain goat is the bridge player who jumps all over the place without distinguishing reasons. He should consider that each kind of jump promises a special type of holding.

Any one-jump response is a signal that the bidding must keep going to at least a game. This is its basic meaning even if some prominent masters make several exceptions to it.

This leaves a double-jump response to be used as a different kind of signal. The basic purpose of it is to show unusual length of some kind in a hand that is not strong in big cards.

Generally speaking, this principle applies to a double-jump assist as it does to a double-jump takeout in a different suit. Take first the views on a double-jump assist.

Culbertson says a raise of partner's suit from one to four is a promise of five or more trumps, in a hand that has a singleton or void and not more than 1½ honor tricks.

Goren rules are virtually the same, adding that it should not have more than nine points. Each admits its possibility of defeat is offset by the advantage of a chance to shut out opponents.

Although expressed in other terms, the rules coincide with the other two. Each of also subscribes to the idea that such a bid should be avoided if a true takeout to a new suit can be made.

South opens with a spade when you have this north hand:

♦9 4
♣Q 9 6 3

Culbertson would say your immediate response is a (double-jump) triple raise to four spades. So would Goren. So would I. In my future series you will hear the reasons and proofs.

My way of expressing it will not impress those who love tricks or point count. It will be in plain, ordinary, homely talk about tricks and high cards. It makes more sense.

Queen Mary Crew Abandons Threat To Go On Strike

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) The crew of the Queen Mary today abandoned their threat to "sign over" assignment of a new master to command the 81,000-ton liner when it brings Queen Mother Elizabeth home from New York.

They told reporters that, having registered their protest, they would carry the matter no further.

The giant liner will leave Southampton for New York Thursday with Commodore Ivan Thompson, senior commanding officer of the Cunard fleet, on the bridge. Thompson is replacing the Queen Mary's regular master, Captain Donald Sorrell, for this round trip.

The Queen Mother will leave New York Nov. 18.

When the shift became known about 1,000 of the Queen Mary's 1,260 crew members signed a petition saying the change of command constituted a snub to their regular captain.

Cunard officials denied this, explaining it was customary for a line's senior officer to command a vessel having a member of the Royal Family aboard.

Sorrell appealed to the crew Tuesday to drop the protest.

British Labor Defers Decision On Paris Pacts

LONDON (Reuter)—The Labor party today deferred a decision on the line it will take in a House of Commons debate next week on the new Paris treaties for German sovereignty and rearmament.

The meeting agreed to continue today's discussion at a further session Thursday.

Party leader Clement Attlee opened the private meeting with an appeal to the party to give unqualified endorsement to the Brussels nine-power agreement which commits Britain to keeping four divisions and a tactical air force on the continent until 1998.

Calls Charges Too Childish To Deserve Answer

OTTAWA (CP)—Norman Campbell, president of the parliamentary press gallery, said today that on sober second thought Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes will be sorry for charging CBC rewards are available to Ottawa political reporters.

An Victoria Tuesday night, Gen. Pearkes, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Esquimalt-Saanich, said reporters are regarded as cads by their colleagues and by ministers after they give a version different from the official government side to a story.

Mr. Campbell said that is "too childish to deserve an answer."

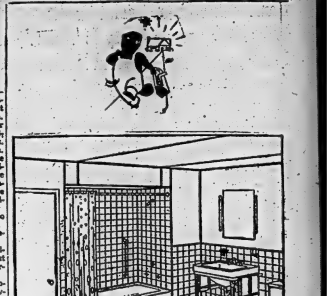
Text of Mr. Campbell's statement:

"It is an old habit of some politicians to blame everybody but themselves for their party's fortunes.

"But that hardly excuses General Pearkes, who is a more favorable political climate might by now be enjoying the rich reward of a cabinet post, from repeating gossip picked up from some unnamed diplomat probably at a cocktail party.

"As for the statement that if a reporter gives a different version to a story than a government handout, ministers and his fellow reporters treat him 'like a bit of a cad,' that is too childish to deserve an answer.

"I am sure that on reflection in more sober mood though General Pearkes will be sorry for what he has said. He has more of the rich rewards than any gallery member. A poet once said something to this effect:



'Search thine own heart; what painest thee in others in thyself may be.'" reservations. They said these should take the form of a "reasoned amendment," when the government next week asks the House of Commons to approve the Paris treaties.

The left-wingers urged that the Bevanite should stipulate, among other points, that four-power talks on all-German unity should be held before the treaties come into effect.

Bank of Montreal Wins High Award For Advertising

MONTREAL — Rated top financial advertiser on the North American continent, the Bank of Montreal has been awarded the "Socrates" High Award of the Year" for its advertising during the past twelve months. The award has come to Canada only once before, in 1946, and it was the Bank of Montreal also which gained the distinction on that occasion.

Announcement of the award is made by Vincent Edwards and Company, publishers of "Bank Ad-Views," a monthly publication which evaluates the advertising of banks and trust companies throughout the United States and Canada.

"Bank Ad-views" bases its awards on a continuing study of thousands of bank advertisements in daily newspapers all over the continent, scoring messages on three counts: ideas which sell bank services; layout and illustrative techniques; and general effect on the bank's relations with the public.

Pointing out that "each of these ads has been subjected to a thorough review and unbiased analysis," the publication says: "During the entire year, the promotions used by the Bank of Montreal have been of such consistently high quality that they have earned the greatest total of award points."

In paying tribute to the B. of M., "Bank Ad-views" comments: "In its ads, the Bank of Montreal has recognized the needs of its potential customers: farmers, businessmen, industrial groups and the general public are all reached with promotions of specific interest and value to them. In addition, the bank has cultivated good will through institutional messages of importance to the community and enterprise.

"Original, timely and effective ideas were used consistently; visualization through photos and artwork was outstanding and skillfully presented, copy told the message or did the service-selling job forcefully and convincingly. Each ad was distinctively that of the Bank of Montreal, and in keeping with the high standards of the bank."

Social Credit Party Is 'Misfit' Liberal Declares

EDMONTON (CP) — The president of the National Liberal Federation said Tuesday night that Albertans must be "liberated" from the Social Credit party.

Duncan K. MacTavish of Ottawa told the Alberta Liberal Association blemial convention that social credit theories "have long since been discounted and discredited."

The remarks were contained in Mr. MacTavish's prepared speech released to the press before delivery.

Mr. MacTavish said the Social Credit party is a misfit in Canadian politics and Alberta Liberals have an "urgent mission" to spread the gospel of liberalism which he described as the "greatest political philosophy in history."

Alberta's Social Credit government first was elected in 1935 and has been re-elected in the 1940, 1944, 1948 and 1952 provincial general elections. The party now holds 51 of the 61 seats in the provincial legislature.

BLASTS POLICIES

Mines Minister Prudham said earlier in the day that false theories, "the whipping up of prejudices and appeals to sectionalism, are part of the political stock-in-trade of Social Credit leadership."

The social creditors, he said, can only put their monetary theories into practice by "resorting to dictatorship—let there be no mistake about that."

Mr. Prudham made his remarks in a speech prepared for the convention.

Mr. Prudham said there is no real discussion in our party in Alberta." He referred without elaboration to "rumors and speculation" about the provincial leadership.

He had "no serious differences" with J. Harper Prowse, provincial party leader. The federal minister is member of the Edmonton Commons for Edmonton West.

Later the 300 delegates passed unanimously resolutions expressing confidence in Mr. Prudham and in Mr. Prowse.

Note of Mystery Injected Into Sheppard Trial

By RALEIGH H. ALLERBROOK

CLEVELAND (AP)—The mayor of suburban Bay Village goes back on the stand today to finish his story about a psychiatrist who offered his services in the Sheppard murder case.

The trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 31-year-old osteopath, adjourned on a note of mystery during testimony Tuesday by Mayor J. Spencer Houk.

Late in the day, Mayor Houk began to tell of Dr. Sheppard and his brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, coming to his city hall offices and relating that a psychiatrist had volunteered his services in the case.

Then defence counsel William J. Corrigan suddenly hurried over to confer with Judge Edward Blythin. Assistant county prosecutor John J. Mahon, directing the state's case, followed him.

A few moments later, Judge Blythin adjourned the session.

Dr. Sheppard is accused of killing his wife, Marilyn, 31, in the bedroom of their Bay Village home last July 4. He insists that a bushy-haired intruder committed the crime.

MAYOR AT SCENE

Mayor Houk, who together with his wife were the first persons summoned to Dr. Sheppard's home after the murder, appeared gaunt and almost haggard as he testified.

He went over, step by step, the early morning call from Dr. Sheppard and the hurried drive to the Sheppard home.

He said Dr. Richard Sheppard bent over his brother and said: "Did you have anything to do with it?"

The defendant replied "Hell, no," Houk said.

Houk, who described himself as a close friend of Dr. Sheppard, said the osteopath told him of hearing his wife screaming, running upstairs, being "clobbered" and then coming to on the beach outside their home.

Canadians Pause In Remembrance Of 100,000 Dead

Armistice Day Observed In Many Countries

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The quick remembered the dead today at the National War Memorial.

Thousands in a sunlit Confederation Square bowed their heads in hushed and sorrowful tribute to Canada's 100,000 war dead.

Even the cries of children in a nearby park died away. A cough sounded like a thunderclap.

As the gun sounded again to mark the end of the two - minute silence, birds fluttered from the tall buildings circling the square.

The eight - minute ceremony started with the playing of "O Canada" by the massed bands. After the silence, the "Last Post," sounded by Legion buglers, echoed and died away. The RCAF band played the hymn "Abide With Me."

Carrying a black wreath with red poppies and maple leaves, Governor-General Vincent Massey walked slowly forward to the base of the granite column and bronze figures of struggling warriors.

The sentries at each corner of the monument came to attention, reversed arms and the band played "O God Our Help in 'Ages Past" as he placed the wreath. He then remained for a moment with bowed head.

FOR ALL MOTHERS

Mrs. R. J. Heeney of Ottawa, who lost two air force sons during the Second World War, placed the second wreath beside that of the governor-general.

It was also black. Across it on a purple ribbon were inscribed the words: "The Motherhood of Canada."

Looking straight ahead with arms stiff, she returned to her place beside Mr. Massey.

Prime Minister St.-Laurent, obviously moved, placed the third wreath. He stood for several moments with bowed head.

Behind the governor - general, Mrs. Heeney, Mr. St. Laurent and Dean Anderson stood Veterans Minister Gardiner, Defence Minister Campney and Lionel Massey, secretary to the governor-general.

Behind them in the third rank were Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein, Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, wartime commander of the First Canadian Army in Northwest Europe, Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the defence research board. In the fourth rank were the chiefs of staff and behind them senior members of the Commons.

BAND RANKED HIGH

There was a roll of drums, the bugles sounded "Reveille," the band played "The Queen" and the 35th anniversary silent 1919 was finished.

But at the dignitaries, bands, servicemen circling the monument and diplomatic corps in top hats moved away for the march-past in front of the Parliament buildings, scores of persons of lesser station went forward to place their wreaths.

Soon the base of the memorial was banked high.

Armistice Day, marking the end of the First World War, was observed today in many countries.

The memory of the dead in both the 1914-18 conflict and the Second World War was honored.

In Canada's capital, Remembrance Day ceremonies at the cenotaph were attended by one of the Commonwealth's outstanding military leaders, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

In the United Kingdom, services in honor of the dead of the two wars were held last Sunday.

The United States observed Veterans Day, a designation used this year for the first time. There were parades and massed swearings-in of newly-naturalized citizens.

Canadian troops stationed in Germany observed the traditional two minutes of silence.

France marked the anniversary with military parades and wreath-laying ceremonies. In Paris, President René Coty laid the foundation stone of a monument to the French armies of the First World War.

Police Chiefs Have Right To Wear Insignia

LINDSAY (CP) — Police chief John Hunter was stumped when a city alderman questioned the right to wear the crown and two pips of an army colonel on his uniform. But the Ontario Provincial Police Association cleared the matter up Wednesday by announcing it was all right.

Chief Hunter said the association took the step to establish a standard for the province's police chiefs whether if clashed with army rank or not.

Deputy chiefs wear a crown and one pip, the army lieutenant-colonel's insignia, and chief-inspectors have crowns and a badge of a major, the association said.

Police inspectors are identified by three pips, the same as a captain in the army.

Find No Driver As Car Plunges Over Embankment

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A late-model car that plunged 30 feet over the embankment at a bridge over CNR tracks here early today crupied when police arrived.

Police, ambulance and coroner checked city hospitals but could find no trace of the driver.

The car crashed through a board fence, rolled down a hill and overturned right side after plowing into the ditch just a few feet from the railway track. The car had been reported stolen here.

The headlights were knocked out in the crash and the dashboard lights were blazing when police arrived.

Atomic Gold-Maker Awaits Sentence After Bilking Gullible Manitobans

WINNIPEG (CP)—An old carnival worker who had an atomic twist in the ancient fraud of gold mixing is awaiting sentence today on 15 charges of false pretences involving $11,900, and court officials say that gullible Manitobans were bilked of $31,000 by the trick and other "inventions."

Charges covering the remaining amount could not be obtained.

Fred Lapsley, 61, who once ran a gaming house on a Saskatchewan reserve, and actor had been sentenced for fraud in Vancouver under the name of Fredrick Sanderson, pleaded guilty to the charges in provincial police court Wednesday. He was remanded one week.

Crown prosecutor D. M. Peden told Hossat attracted investors by the Fortune promise workshop by newspaper advertisements. There he took elaborate precautions to impress upon visitors that he was using radioactive materials in making gold. He wore rubber gloves, goggles and sometimes worked behind a lead shield.

The basic principle of the conjuring trick was that the victim contained some gold before the mysterious process.

RCMP said they seized 20 machines including one which was supposed to turn base metals into gold, moving two jars of "radioactive powder." The powder said that actually the machine's electric motor had hidden wires to the basement where a man was said that actually operated a relay to turn on the lights. There was nothing in the other jar.

Mr. Peden read statements in court from some of the victims telling how they paid large sums for "formulae" and "radioactive" powders.

At first they got back small payments from the gold machine's "output," later, they said, only receipts for their share.

When they got suspicious police were called.

MONTY SAYS WEST MUST FACE WAR POSSIBILITY

Viscount Pays Tribute To Many Fallen Men

OTTAWA (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery stood in tribute today to some of his fallen men who have after he warned that the West must face the possibility of a new war.

He was to watch the solemn ceremony before the National War Memorial in honor of Canada's 100,000 war dead.

Wednesday, he said the probability of a global war has passed but the possibility of war remains. The West must be alert to signs that arms quickly if attacked.

The deputy commander of Allied forces in Europe told a press conference that he believes local wars like Korea and Indochina will continue to erupt as part of the cold war—"for quite a long time."

"NO SURE DEFENCE"

He said the West needs a global early warning system and that "we have got to realize that we must make a serious study of air defence now."

"There is no sure defence today against aircraft or the rockets they may have in the future. Only by the destruction of the aircraft before they can release their bombs can we be sure of defence."

Perhaps only the gardeners will appear in those far-away cemeteries today when the last survivor of the 100,000 dead recall again at home the human price of wars that should not be seek.

At the national war memorial in the capital, Remembrance Day wreaths will be placed and the "last post" will go echoing through a hushed Confederation Square.

The "official" wreaths will number four: One will be placed by Governor-General Vincent Massey, one by Prime Minister St. Laurent, one by Very Rev. J. O. Anderson, MC, president of the Canadian Legion, and one by Lionel Feeney of Ottawa, who lost two air force sons in the Second World War.

At 11 a.m., through seven time zones, the 24-hour ceremony since 1919 will be repeated in city, town and village across Canada.

There are 80,396 Canadian war graves—44,154 as the result of the yet, started.

Remembrance Day

A silence in the crowded street,
And memory stirs in every breast.
Again is heard the phantom feet
Of those who 'neath the poppies rest;
We see them marching as of yore,
These young lads to best of drum,
But oh! the anguished hearts and sore,
For they no more will homeward come.

A nation keeps their memory green,
Through all the passing of the years,
But still the swarks of grief are seen,
And from the eyes the falling tears;
Tribute we bring the honored dead,
To those who nobly gave their part,
And sympathy to those who keep
A life-time sorrow in the heart.

Queen Mother Enjoys Visit To Old Colonial Capital

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (CP)—George Washington, 200 years ago, Wednesday night, did Queen Mother Elizabeth.

The Queen Mother is winding up her visit to the United States surrounded by 18th century Georgian Colonial splendor.

Williamsburg was also the capital of the Colonial Virginia capital of the years 1699-1780. It is also connected with Boston, New York and Philadelphia as a social, cultural and political centre.

But its star faded after the Revolutionary War when north, and it fell into obscurity as a small southern Virginia village. Until some 25 years ago, when John D. Rockefeller, Jr., undertook the task of restoring it to its pre-revolutionary state.

Today its historic buildings stand as they did 200 years back, and the Union Jack flies over the old Capitol, legislative building, and gaol.

This is the area where the Queen Mother will spend the rest of her visit to the United States before leaving by air for Britain at Ottawa Friday afternoon. Today she was scheduled to see Duke of Gloucester street, the restored area's main thoroughfare, in horse-drawn carriage. Then, finally at 11 a.m. for observance of two minutes' silence for the dead of both world wars.

Here the Queen saw sites of historic interest to Britons such a the Richmond church where Patrick Henry parked the American revolution with his "give me liberty or give me death" speech.

Williamsburg was one of George Washington's favorite prewar stopping places, and records "Among the literal thousands of places where he is well advertised as having slept is the King's Arms Tavern in Williamsburg, Va., and Williamsburg Inn, main hostelry in the centre but outside the historic ....

There are couples a second floor suite furnished in regency style and looking out on an 18th century garden in the rear court. The inn itself is a recently-built 100-room white brick building with pillared portico of traditional southern mansions.

French Prepare To Battle Decree Against Drinking

PARIS (Reuters) — Millions of Frenchmen staggered to work this morning under the influence of a new decree to stop country's national pastime—drinking.

Government officials meanwhile stested themselves for a storm of protests as the public realizes the full effect of the law limiting drunkenness announced Wednesday night by the cabinet.

The decree, threatening cafes shouted and gesticulated as they read the customary glass of rum or calvados with their first cup of coffee. For it the measure is passed by the rubber-stamping Premier Pierre Mendes-France and his colleagues go into full effect, this start-of-the-day stimulant will soon be only a fond memory.

Some of the government measures to cut down costly drunkenness can be put into effect at once by decree under emergency powers possessed by the administrators. Others will require legislation and may take longer.

Wednesday night it estimated to cost the nation about $1,500,000,000 a year, to categorize every 10 minutes accidents to lunacy brought on by cirrhosis of the liver. One quarter of the accidents in French factories are attributed to drunkenness.

Officials here acknowledged that the Frenchman would accept reluctantly on his most valued pastime—the right to drink—only after long debate. Both the vested interests and the man in the street were girding for battle today.

SENATOR SEEKING TO DELAY VOTE ON McCARTHY

Predicted Move Will Be Rejected

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Homer Capehart (Rep. Ind.) said today he will propose the Senate put off until January a vote on censuring Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.). Senator Henry Jackson (Dem. Wash.) promptly said any such move would be rejected quickly.

The Senate opened formal debate Wednesday on the recommendation of a special six-man committee that McCarthy be censured for conduct which that body acted "contemptuously" toward a Senate elections sub-committee which investigated his finances in 1951-52 and that "tended to bring disgrace" upon the Senate.

Capehart said in an interview before the detailed resumption of debate today that he believes "the great majority of senators" would agree with him a two months' delay would mean "a much more thorough and deliberate consideration of this important matter."

LACKS SUPPORT

But Jackson, who has announced he will vote against censure, appeared to lack any widespread support. Jackson, a McCarthy critic, said there was no need for even a delay move to succeed.

Democratic action as Capehart proposed would entail a new start on the censure move, since the American Bar Association and the committee report in its support will die with the present Congress.

McCarthy clashed Wednesday with Senator Arthur Watkins (Rep. Utah) and was lectured by Senator Francis Case (Rep. S. D.) for his personal views of censure. He was an alternately spirited and dull session before filibuster.

Asked how he thought he was progressing in his defence, the Wisconsin Senator replied:

"I don't know. I can tell you more about that in December."

Senator William Knowland (Rep. Calif.) said that when the Senate does vote it will be by a majority greater than the two counts lodged by the special committee, which Watkins headed.

McCarthy disclaimed any knowledge of charges that he had proposed compromises which might fend off a direct vote on censure.

Senators Dirksen (Rep. Ill.) and Styles Bridges (Rep. N.H.), however, revealed trying to draft a substitute for the committee's resolution, but they would not discuss it.

Canada's First Olympic Champion Has Retired

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's first Olympic champion, undefeated in 300 walking races, has just retired from the Ontario welfare department after 35 years service.

George H. Goulding, who will be 70 next Tuesday, dropped out of the department's ranks but will continued to walk four miles to his office every day.

He has been called the world's greatest walker.

By Light of Moon Planes Will Fly Christmas Trees from Sky

OTTAWA (CP) — Though they live far north of Canada's southernmost point, northerly citizens will have Christmas trees for the holiday season.

The trees will come from the sky when the RCAF Dec. 3 starts "Operation Santa Claus"—the annual Christmas airlift to the remote weather stations near the top of the world.

Not only will the air force parachute the trees to the stations—they but tinsel and unbreakable ornaments also will be included in the bundles packed with food and mail.

There's not much use dropping the trees if they don't have the ornaments to go with them. So one officer said. Officers at headquarters of air transport command in Lachine, Que., have already collected 940 to buy the trees and trimmings.

"Operation Santa Claus" will be carried out earlier this year than last because the moon period will miss the north of Ottawa.

U.S. Drafts New Note To Moscow On Plane Incident

Hopes Kremlin Will Avoid Any Further Repetitions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department is drafting a new note to Russia on the shooting down of a U.S. Air Force plane, hoping to find out whether the Soviets would seriously like to avoid such incidents in the future.

An unusual absence of belligerency appears to mark the attitude of both the American and Soviet governments, despite their opposing versions of last Sunday's East-West affair, which cost the life of one American flier.

The new note, it is understood, will reflect the conciliatory tone in which President Eisenhower discussed the incident at his press conference Wednesday.

In a note handed the Russian government expressed "regret" that what it calls previous "distortions" of Soviet views by U.S. military planes had led "to absolutely unjustified charges."

COMMON INTEREST

The Russian note then said it would be in the interest of both the Soviet Union and the United States "to take measures for the prevention of further violations of the Soviet state border by American aircraft." The note added that Russia expected the United States to give "appropriate instructions" to its air generals.

Diplomatic officials rejected the Russian claim that the attacks on American planes are a result from flights over Soviet territory. But they were studying with considerable interest Russia's proposal, however one-sided, that something be done about the situation.

That the Soviet government is interested in taking greater use of diplomacy in ironing out East-West troubles has been suggested formally by Premier Georgi Malenkov. He expressed this view in a half-hour talk Sunday night with the U.S. and British ambassadors, Charles Bohlen and Sir William Ivor.

Bohlen has reported to the state department on the conversation between the Soviet government and the government of the two big powers can prevent such incidents as the relatively minor problems from becoming major ones. The Soviet Union should make maximum use of diplomatic processes for this purpose.

Monty Knows Where Buffalo Is

OTTAWA (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery is going to be given a civic luncheon at Buffalo Tuesday.

Or, as he put in Wednesday to reporters: "I'm going to see the lord mayor of Buffalo and we're going to have a bit of a party."

When he was in Ottawa last year, a reporter suggested Buffalonow. He agreed to the suggestion.

Mayor Sedita advised me by telegram that Buffalo was sending me trucks and tanks when I was fighting in the desert.

No U.S. 1955 Fords Will Come Into Canada

TORONTO (CP) — Ford Motor Co. of Canada distributors here said Wednesday they have rejected, for the time being at least, any plan to import United States-made 1955 Fords for showroom displays.

However, some dealers indicated that if the month-old strikes of members of the United Automobile Workers between Windsor and Oakville Ford plants continues another month, they may reconsider this decision.

Toronto Ford dealers said importation of U.S. models for showroom display would offend the union and wasn't necessary at this time.

Photographs of 1955 models were released by the company Wednesday in both the U.S. and Canada.

Home Grown Lemon Weighs Fourteen Ounces

Mrs. Blanche Cannons of Ameliasburg, R.R. 1, has a lemon, that's really a pippin.

And if you find that hard to credit here are the lemon's vital statistics:

It weighs 14 ounces, measures five and three-quarter inches in length and 10 and three-quarter inches in circumference. Home grown, it looks good enough to eat and that's precisely what Mrs. Cannons intends doing with it. In fact that's what she's been doing with her lemons since she began cultivating the fruit four years ago.

This is the fourth lemon she has raised in that time and another one is on the way. While none of them matches up to the latest lemon for size, all of them have proved satisfactory in cooking, whether used for lemonade or pies.

"They are a little stronger than the ones you buy," Mrs. Cannons says. "But they are pretty good in cooking."

She purchased the plant in Georgetown. No special treatment is required to make the lemon plant bear fruit. She just leaves it in the window of her home and tends it just as if it were an ornamental.

War Veterans, Associations Mark Remembrance Day With Impressive Memorial Service

A bright, clear November day, opposite that of grey, sullen skies that characterized Armistice Day that memorable day of November 11, 1918, when the war bugles sounded the "Cease Fire" on World War I, greeted veterans of two wars today.

Belleville's hereford "old soldiers" marched with their respective organizations in a Remembrance Day parade to the Station Street Cenotaph, where a brief but impressive memorial service was held. Hundreds of spectators attended the service.

A number of unaffiliated veterans strode along with their comrades in the colourful tribute of old soldiers to the memory of their fallen comrades. The Cenotaph symbol of remembrance and sacrifice, by poppy, was everywhere in evidence.

COLORFUL PARADE

The parade marshal was Captain Joseph Duffy of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. The parade was formed and marshalled sounded by a trumpeter and a minute's silence observed.

Mrs. Brenda Sherrer, the parade moved from the Bridge Street armouries shortly before 10.30 a.m. Behind the color party came representatives of the Hastings and Prince Edward municipal governments. Then followed the Canadian army militia in the form of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. The Belleville Girls' Drum Corps, Belleville fire department, and Boy Scouts followed in line.

Next came in order the Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans in Canada Branch No. 97, and its Ladies' Auxiliary; 418 Wing Air Force Association; Branch 393 Canadian Legion and its Auxiliary, the Kinmen Club of Belleville, and representatives of the Salvation Army.

The parade moved from the armouries to Bridge Street, thence to Front Street, to Station Street and along it to the cenotaph. The same route was followed on return. Many veterans unable to march were taken to the cenotaph in automobiles.

The memorial service was conducted by the Rev. Eric Strain, padre of Branch 99, Canadian Legion, assisted by Captain C. Fisher of the Salvation Army, and Archdeacon the Ven. J. B. Creegan, of Christ Church.

"We do not come here to visit the dead," Mr. Strain said, "but to honor the memory of those of both wars who gave their lives so freely that we might enjoy this freedom."

WOMAN REPRESENTED CITY

Mayor John Bott represented the city and headed the parade with Captain Duffy. Mayor Bott deposited the city's wreath at the foot of the cenotaph. Bands in the parade were the pipe band of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, the band of the Salvation Army, the RCSCC band and trumpet band and the Kinmen's Boys' Band of Belleville.

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was commanded by Lieut.-Colonel Harold Hastman, with Lieut. Ross Watson leading the Sea Cadets. Lieut.-Col. R. R. Bowerman commanded the Canadian army, Lieut. R. Thornton, R.N., the Canadian Navy and Squadron Leader V. A. Rutherford the Royal Canadian Air Force. Regimental Sergeant-Major Fogg was marshal of the wreaths. President Henry Emery of the Canadian Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada, with President Mary Bellamy represented the Canadian Legion.

Mrs. Ray Caldwell, M.P., for Hastings South, laid the government of Canada wreath, with Mrs. Frank Sherrer, 54 Murray Street, a war mother, representing the Ontario government. She deposited the provincial wreath with Everett Liddle. Mrs. Frank Sherrer was the mother of Lieut. Kenneth Sherrer, Lion's squadron RCAF, killed in Nuremberg, Germany, March 31st, 1944, after bearing taken part in a successful raid over that city. He was returning to his base. He is buried at Rheinberg, Germany. He was born in Belleville and was 23 years of age at the time of his death. Mrs. Frank Sherrer represented the board of education.

The largest number of wreaths and the largest crowd in the history of the city were present at the service. Space did not permit of the laying of the many wreaths and the surplus was laid in neat rows near the cenotaph.

Following the service the parade returned to the armouries where it was dismissed.

The Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans and the Canadian Legion will hold a special Remembrance Day observances this evening with banquets at their respective clubs and special speakers in each case.

Cathedral Choir Gives Recital At Evensong

Last night, the choir of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, under the direction of George N. Mayhew, organist and choir master, gave a recital of sacred music at Christ Church.

The recital was preceded by Evensong; the anthem "My Soul There Is a Country," being reverently rendered by the choristers.

The choir part of the program, consisting of seven works, was beautifully rendered. Particularly impressive were the unaccompanied renditions for which Mr. Mayhew and his choir have long been famous.

The first piece, "Almighty and Everlasting God," by Orlando Gibbons, was very pleasing, its tonal light and shade perfectly portrayed. This was followed by Healey Willan's "How Glorious is the Kingdom," and "In the Heavenly Kingdom" with William Harris. Willan's "O Lord Our Governor" was the next offering, followed by "Choral Prelude," and organ solo by George Mayhew.

The choir, accompanied by their organist, then delighted the large congregation with "Turn Back O Man," by Holst. The work, powerful at one moment, pleading in the next, served to show the results of long training and expert tuition on the part of the choirmaster, who can feel justly proud of the wonderful tonal quality and excellent balance of his group.

The closing items were "O Trinity, Most Blessed Light" by Healey Willan, and "Coelos and Ascendit Hodie" by Charles Stanford, the former, a perfect example of flowing cadence, with the soprano beary effortless and sustained top notes a delight to the ear, the latter a more robust and compelling offering in direct contrast to its predecessor.

The whole program showed consummate skill in compilation and execution, combined with reverence befitting the occasion, and will long be remembered by the audience.

Canada Is Seen As Good Place For Emigrants

ROME (AP)—Canada has been pictured by an Italian cabinet official as an important and still growing emigration outlet for overpopulated Italy.

Francesco Maria Dominedo, undersecretary of foreign affairs, reported on emigration to Canada to Wednesday's session of the Chamber of Deputies.

He said in 1953 a total of 23,283 Italians went to make their homes in Canada. Last year in the first months of this year, a total of 13,233 emigrated.

"The proof of the goodness of that outlet," he told the chamber, "is in the numerous and insistent action requests—which represent in a certain sense a thermometer—and which vary between 1.5 and two per cent."

Canada has allowed for 3,000 Italian workers to emigrate there this year, he said. Dominedo said, 2,800 have gone.

The rest of the emigrants have been relatives of persons already settled in Canada.

British Laborites Vote Two to One For Paris Pacts

LONDON (Reuters)—The parliamentary Labor party decided today by a majority of nearly two to one to support the recent London and Paris agreements on West German sovereignty and rearmament.

The vote means the Laborites will officially support the new treaties when the government asks for their endorsement in the House of Commons debate next week. It was a triumph for party leader Clement Attlee and the "right wingers."

A considerable section of the parliamentary party led by Aneurin Bevan and his left-wingers wanted Labor to put forward a "constructive alternative" asking for four-power talks on all-German unity before the new treaties come into operation.

Druggists' Role In Animal Health Problems Related

The role of animal health products in the control of animal plant health products was the subject of an afternoon and evening meeting of the Quinte District Pharmaceutical Association at the Belleville Shrine Club, Wednesday.

Speakers, with movie, film, instrument displays and a forum of district pharmacists presented all aspects of the druggist's role in developing and maintaining sound standards of animal and plant health in his customer area.

Speakers at the meeting included R. W. Nixon, president of Nixon Laboratories; William (Clancy) Prince Corp. representative; Dr. K. A. Howard, Howard Chemical Co; A. G. Cliffe, Visbin Corporation, and Harold G. Chairman of the institutional advertising committee of the Ontario Retail Pharmacy Association. C. A. Leggett, chairman of the merchandising panel and Harry Hadden of St. Thomas.

PREVENTION POSSIBLE

Mr. Nixon in an address on "Preventive Animal Health Medication and Nutrition" discussed the statement that 80 per cent of pig and calf losses in Canada each year are caused by nutritional deficiency by deficiency conditions which can be prevented.

He pointed out that farmers, because they are "natural born skeptics," have to be shown that preventing disease costs less money, time and effort than treating disease.

"The druggist, because of his professional relationship and experience is well equipped to understand and explain the cause, treatment and prevention of deficiency conditions," said Mr. Nixon.

"The problem of getting the farmer to use preventive measures resolves itself in the main solely with the local druggist. Druggists should concentrate on such a program as a service to their farming community," said Mr. Nixon.

FILM IS SHOWN

Mr. Clancy, of Pfizer Corp., spoke on "Bovine Mastitis", A color film, supplied by Pfizer, was also shown, dealing with recognition, treatment and prevention of animal diseases.

Dr. Howard spoke on "External and Internal Parasites" making special reference to choice of drugs in a pest control program.

Following a social hour and dinner meeting, J. C. Gould addressed the meeting on the efforts of the Ontario Retail Pharmacists' Association to publicize the services of druggists to their communities.

C. A. Leggett and Harry Braiden addressed the meeting on the merchandising of veterinary products.

A technicolor sound film on "Poultry Diseases" was provided by Lederle, concluded the meeting.

The scholarship election of officers was postponed, with the unanimous consent of those present, until next year's spring meeting.

Life in Arctic Subject of Talk To Radio Club

Life as it is in the Canadian Arctic was outlined to members of the Quinte Amateur Radio Club at their regular monthly meeting held at the YMCA Wednesday evening. The speaker was William Barrie of the Northern Electric Company who has just returned from a year in Canada's northland.

Mr. Barrie gave a very interesting talk on his experiences while in the north stating that there is very healthy place to live. Radio is the only means of communication. He recalled that the Duke of Edinburgh addressed them from Yellowknife by ham radio while on his recent tour.

Arctic living conditions in relation to how the members of the armed services could live and survive were observed.

Bill Finkle, secretary at the outpost where Mr. Barrie was stationed and first aid was given by members of their own party. Fortunately the only serious trouble was frostbite.

Living for a year in the Canadian Arctic in a shack room with half a dozen men is a real experience, according to Mr. Barrie, but it was certainly nice to get home.

Justice Rejects Defence Motion

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Mr. Justice William Mitchell Wednesday rejected a defence motion to quash indictments against David Faith, Brantford truck owner, in connection with a $17,000 holdup.

Later in the day the trial was adjourned until Friday and all jurors were allowed to go to their homes.

The defence motion, offered by Joseph Cohen, did not state the specific reference whereas there are two counts in the indictment. The indictment could be changed at any time.

Two men, William Warring and Walter Bloe, several weeks ago pleaded guilty and were sentenced to four years imprisonment for the theft of $17,000.

The defence motion to quash the indictment was taken under advisement several hours by Mr. Justice Mitchell, in order to give counsel before his decision was given.

Chief Edouard Moreau of the Sherbrooke police force, a witness Wednesday, produced evidence of pencils bearing the name of Faith's firm were found on Warring and Bloe.

Popular with all races, he was quick to grasp that the post-war revolution in Asia was pro-Asian rather than anti-Western, and made it one of his tasks to remove misunderstanding about this.

Jury Gets First Look at Grisly Pictures of Victim

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Sheppard murder jury took a Veterans Day holiday today after getting its first look at grisly pictures of the victim's bloody corpse.

The black and white photographs, showing once-attractive Marilyn Sheppard lying in a circle of blood on her bed, brought no visible emotion from the jurors when they were passed around Wednesday.

Most of the jurors took a cursory look and passed the pictures on. They perhaps had become hardened by seven colored slides—shown last week—of the dead woman's head, smashed by what the state describes as 27 or more savage blows.

What they saw was a woman lying on her back in bed, with her midriff exposed. Her face and hair, colored by blood, showed up as almost black on the pictures.

ARM EXTENDED

Her head was in a huge ring of blood. One of her arms extended outward, palm up.

Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 31-year-old osteopath, is charged with first degree murder in the bludgeoning slaying. He claims a bushy haired intruder killed his wife.

Judge Edward Blythin adjourned the session until Friday morning.

Just a few moments later, however, he was back on the bench.

Defence Counsel William Corrigan, one going outside, had collared a religious picket, parading with a signboard that among other things said: "Dr. Sheppard Guilty? I know who is lying."

Corrigan told the man into court and Blythin hastily donned his robe.

"This man, I understand, has been carrying that sign in the vicinity of the court building all day long," Corrigan complained. "I saw him with it."

PRAYS FOR DOCTOR

Then Corrigan, who had matched the sign from its owner, read it to the court:

"Dr. Sheppard Guilty? I know who is lying. Read my most shocking story. Every strike our American constitution. It is greater than kidnap or arson."

Blythin questioned the frightened picket.

His name was John Borchin, he lived in Mt. Pleasant, Pa., he was a barber and he had only been in Cleveland that day. A stack of religious pamphlets stuck out of one oversized pocket.

"I pray for Dr. Sheppard," Borchin said, shaking visibly, "personally, I hope he is not guilty."

"He is obviously very upset," said the judge. "We'll just hold him for awhile."

Picton Soldier Escapes Lightly In Car Crash

Samuel D. Semple, 22, soldier from the RCSA at Picton escaped with a small scratch on the head shortly before midnight Wednesday night when his late model convertible slid off the road on a curve on No. 14 highway, struck a culvert and turned over in the ditch. He was taken to Bloomfield for medical treatment.

Semple was southbound when about a mile north of the Mountain View cheese factory his car went out of control on the slippery pavement and flipped over after striking the culvert. The car was almost completely demolished. Provincial Constable John Thompson of Picton investigated.

U.S. Pays Tribute To War Heroes On 'Veterans Day'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States pays tribute to the nation's dead veterans today as nine wars today in a day of respect newly designated as Veterans Day.

As in previous years, when Nov. 11 was named Armistice Day, the national tribute centred at the Arlington National Cemetery, just across the Potomac river from Washington, D.C.

There, Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott, the chief military representative of President Eisenhower, arranged to lay a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Veterans' organizations placed wreaths at the tombs of nameless fallen soldier of the First World War and to all American warriors.

Talbott spoke in his Arlington ceremony of the kind of weapons powerful enough to "lay waste an entire continent" and of the need for the help of God to avert war that could result in such terrible destruction.

"I believe with all my heart," Talbott said in a prepared speech, "that we can keep the peace only if we seek His help, not to destroy our enemies, but to help us summon the patience, the courage, and if need be, the sternness that will be needed to prevent a war. . . ."

The first Veterans Day was selected by the Congress last year as an appropriate occasion for the mass swearing-in of 50,000 newly naturalized U. S. citizens, most of them displaced from their European homes by Nazi or Russian armies.

Ceremonies were scheduled in cities across the United States and in Hawaii, On Guam in the Pacific, all servicemen and civilians became U. S. citizens.

Arrest Suspect Minutes After Boy Is Injured

BRADFORD (CP)—A motorist and a village constable joined forces Wednesday to apprehend a suspect minutes after a boy was knocked from his bicycle by a car.

Lee Winterkorn, 12, is in hospital with a broken leg.

Frank MacMaster, 34, of Toronto, was charged with impaired driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Seconds after the mishap, a Bradford man sped in his car after the vehicle that allegedly hit the bike. When the two cars approached a spot where constable Earl Copson was supervising road job—unaware of the accident — the motorist signalled the constable, who stepped into the path of the fleeing car.

Sheikh Wooing Egypt's Ex-Queen With Cheque Book

CAIRO (Reuters)—Armed with a cheque book, the handsome sheikh who is wooing ex-queen Narriman was today making a round of visits which he hopes will speed their marriage.

The millionaire sheikh, Ezzat Jaffar, is reported to want to "buy out" Narriman's present husband, a young doctor. He also wants to buy from the Egyptian government the entire furnishings of the bedroom which she had as queen of Egypt in former king Farouk's palace in Alexandria.

And friends say he proposes to give 21-year-old Narriman a $100,000 dowry in accordance with Islamic custom.

The goatee-bearded sheikh's main problem will be Dr. Adham el Nakib, whom Narriman married. Seven months ago after she divorced Farouk, Nakib was quoted last week as saying he would never agree to divorce.

Korea Reaffirms Refusal to Allow All-Nation Vote

SEOUL (Reuters) — South Korea today reaffirmed its refusal to permit all-Korean elections as a means of reunifying the country.

The National Assembly passed a unanimous resolution saying any attempt by the United Nations to conduct such elections would be "a violation of the sovereignty of the Republic of Korea."

The action comes as a result of widely circulating reports here that Britain and Canada are preparing a new plan to unify Korea by means of an election in North and South Korea under the joint supervision of North and South together with neutral countries.

South Korea insists that President Syngman Rhee's government is Seoul is the legal voice of Korea. All that remains to be done is for North Korea to elect and send south its 100 members, it contends.

The policy of the 16 nations which fought in Korea is that any free elections in Korea should be supervised by the United Nations. Informed circles here said U.N. headquarters say there has been no departure from this. A British official denied there is any Anglo-Canadian plan as reported in Seoul.

Nazis Did Not Lose Battle Of Britain Claim

LONDON (Reuters) — A former high German officer says the Nazis "didn't lose" the battle of Britain.

Former field marshal Albert Kesselring made the claim on a BBC television program when he was interviewed with Willi Messerschmidt, German aircraft designer.

The interview was made at a German resort recently and recorded on film for showing Wednesday night.

Asked why Germany lost the air war over Britain in 1940, Kesselring replied: "We didn't lose the battle. It was prematurely called off."

Kesselring, who had command over the German air forces that sought to bomb Britain into submission, added: "We weren't allowed to fight it out until a decisive result was achieved either by one side or the other."

He expressed agreement with the verdict of a recently published volume of RAF war history that the German air commanders were hampered by constant political changes in their orders.

"The targets and tasks given to the German Luftwaffe were changed again and again — always at a time when we were about to achieve a decisive result," he said.

Darning Needle In Heart Kills Los Angeles Man

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 35-year-old cabinet maker is dead from a darning needle in the heart. How it got there is a mystery the coroner's surgeon calls "one of the most unusual I have seen in thousands of autopsies."

Peter Pivaroff died Wednesday, several hours after X-rays showed a 2¾-inch needle had penetrated his heart between the fourth and fifth ribs.

Dr. Frederick N. Newbarr, chief autopsy surgeon for Los Angeles county, said he found another puncture "undoubtedly by the same instrument," between the seventh and eighth ribs.

Detective Fred Laughlin has ordered a microscopic examination of the needle's eye. He said he wanted to determine if the eye had been held by pliers or some other instrument used to stab the needle into Pivaroff's chest.

Laughlin said investigation has produced no evidence of "responsibility of any person" for Pivaroff's wound. He said the cabinet maker was admitted to hospital at an IWI bank attack and that because pain persisted for almost 24 hours, X-rays were taken. The needle showed up in the photos, but by then it was too late to save Pivaroff.

Queen Mother Kneels in Tribute In Colonial Church

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth knelt today in an old colonial church in silent tribute to the dead of both world wars.

During a tour of this restored historic site in an open horse-drawn coach, the Queen Mother stopped just before 11 a. m. at Bruton parish church, built in 1683 and known as a parish in Somerset, England. She and her party gathered inside as the time came for the traditional two-minute silence.

As the ancient bell in the high steeple tolled, the Queen knelt in one of the front pews. A large crowd stood in silence outside in the churchyard where lie the bodies of Northern and Confederate soldiers killed in battle near here in the campaign which led to victory.

There was no service beyond the two-minute observance but the Queen stayed on for a few minutes to see the canopied chair where sat Virginia's British governor, and the old gallery set aside for slaves.

Then she continued her sightseeing tour as crowds lined the streets in warm, sunny weather to watch as the Queen waved and smiled from a royal blue coach with coat-of-arms, drawn by four matched brown horses.

Party Executive 'Put on Spot' By Left Wingers

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Three members of the Labor party's left wing today put the party executive squarely on the spot.

They did so by publishing an article in The Tribune, a left wing weekly newspaper, reiterating their previous criticism of trade union leader Arthur Deakin.

The left political observers to wonder how far the labor executive will go in disciplining the unruly three — Jennie Lee, Michael Foot and J. P. W. Mallalieu.

Some Conservative newspapers have already said this latest rebellion on the Labor left is a calculated "Bevanite" step toward a third political party. "Bevanite" is the tag given to followers of leftist Aneurin Bevan.

SEES DANGER

"The Bevanites are quite deliberately working toward a rupture," wrote the political correspondent of the Yorkshire Post. "This dispute is in terms of immense political significance and its outcome is fraught with the utmost danger for us all."

The Post said danger would arise from the fact that Bevan would support only those who chose consciously or otherwise following the communist line, and would therefore supply leadership to the British Communist party.

Deakin had been criticized in The Tribune earlier for his attitude towards the recent strike in the London docks.

Some observers regard the whole situation as a case of the kettle calling the pot black. They note that Deakin, in the London docks dispute, precipitated The Tribune's wrath, said that the Stevedores' Union was "led by a notorious crowd of irresponsible adventurers."

Doctors in Panel Discussion Sure Cigaret Smoking One Of Causes of Lung Cancer

TORONTO (CP) — Doctors are sure cigaret smoking is a cause of lung cancer, but not the only cause, says Dr. W. G. Cosbie, medical director of the Canadian Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation.

Dr. Cosbie led a three doctor panel discussing lung cancer Wednesday before the autumn meeting of the Toronto branch of the Canadian Cancer Society. Dr. G. H. Warwick, medical director of the Canadian Cancer Society, and Dr. Norman Delarue, chairman of the surgical section of the Toronto Academy of Medicine, were the other panel members.

THEORY NOT NEW

"The theory that smoking causes lung cancer is not a new one," said Dr. Warwick. "It was first advanced by the scientist who made the first lung cancer study in 1912."

"But what we now realize," said Dr. Delarue, "is that inhalation of any noxious fumes—whether tobacco smoke, industrial smoke, or automobile exhaust—increases the chances of getting lung cancer.

"Smoking in excess is harmful —just as eating, drinking, or driving your car is dangerous in excess," said Dr. Cosbie. "But let's not over-emphasize the danger. It's dangerous, but it's not threatening to wipe out the population the way some articles have been suggesting."

"Late diagnosis, rather than smoking, takes a greater toll of lung-cancer sufferers," said Dr. Delarue.

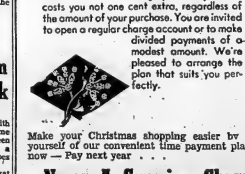
ONE IN FIVE

He estimated that of every five Canadians in a typical hospital, only one is early enough to be helped by surgery, "although such new techniques as the use of the cobalt bomb enable us to treat some of them in other ways."

Dr. Cosbie, although stressing that he was not condemning the use of tobacco, predicted that "when Asiatic pungsticks know as much as we do now about the effect of tobacco, there will be less smoking."

J. Monnet Will Resign As Head of Coal Pool

LUXEMBOURG, (AP) — Jean Monnet announced today he is resigning as president of the European coal-steel pool's high authority, a nine-member executive committee, effective next February 10.



The French diplomat, one of the chief architects of European unity, has led the six-nation organization since it set up shop here two years ago to eliminate cartels, adjust inequities and establish a free market in steel and coal for the first time in this continent. He has described the pool as "probably the greatest revolution Europe has ever known."

The members are France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

TORONTO (CP) — The level of Lake Ontario is six inches higher than at the same period last year, Toronto harbor commission officials said today.

The lake's level is the highest for this time of year since the fall of 1951, preceding the 1952 spring floods, they said. Both Lake Erie and Lake St. Clair are higher than normal.

POOR CONDUCT AND BAD TASTE

The Toronto Telegram, and certain other Ontario dailies, are trying to explain the delay of the British government in responding to the distress of victims of Hurricane Hazel, as a failure of the Canadian government to furnish the British with adequate information as to the scope of the disaster.

It is their contention that the Prime Minister, the Governor-General and Canada's ambassador to the Court of St. James failed to inform Queen Elizabeth and the British Government that the destruction of the British Houses of Parliament at the outset of the hurricane and that as a result the British people, through the government, were not able to respond promptly with expressions of sympathy and with gifts of money and goods.

Two weeks after the hurricane the British government donated 25,000 pounds to the Hurricane Relief Fund. It is obvious that once the need was established a generous response was forthcoming.

It is obvious, too, that the extent of the need was not understood by the British for more than two weeks after the event. Why this was not understood is not obvious and no amount of effort in trying to make the Canadian government, the Prime Minister and the Governor-General appear blame-worthy for the delay helps clear up the mystery.

Less than 48 hours after the hurricane hit Toronto, Pope Pius sent messages of condolence to relatives of the deceased and his sympathy to those who suffered property loss. Along with these sentiments came his cheque for $10,000. The Dutch people, through Queen Juliana, responded with sympathy, money and foodstuffs within three days of the disaster.

How did the Vatican and the Netherlands learn so quickly of the extent of the disaster? The Canadian government certainly would not relay detailed information to these sources of aid without also informing the British government. Apparently, then, reliable information was relayed to the Pope and to Queen Juliana by other than government sources.

The question now arises: Was not the same information available to British authorities? Was this information received and disregarded or was it inaccurate and not appreciated?

The facts show that the Vatican and the Netherlands responded to hurricane relief efforts within three days of the blow and that the British did not for two weeks. What, ever the answer, responsibility for the delay in the British response would seem to rest in Britain. Ultimately the response from Britain showed that the government did not fully understand the scope of the disaster immediately after its occurrence. When the misunderstanding was cleared up the British responded whole heartedly.

It is not fair, however, to synthesize responsibilities for the British government for precipitating details of disaster, and then to blame the government because the British parliament took two weeks to understand fully the enormity of what had happened. Not only is such conduct proceeding on false premises, it is in exceedingly bad taste.

FARQUHAE OLIVER IS DARING

Or perhaps Mr. Oliver will just head for the tall timbers in the northland, after his speech at Stuppard's Lake. Even the lakes in deer country might be a safer place than Yonge Street or Sparks Street or anywhere else that Liberals congregate in large numbers.

Mr. Oliver has said something which, while it needed to be said, may not make him universally popular.

Silly promises will not win the next provincial election, he declared when he addressed a meeting of the Northumberland Liberal Association.

That, in itself, was a harmless statement. But he added: "We made that mistake once before, promising all kinds of benefits and at the same time promising lower taxation. The voters will not swallow that kind of story."

This is a confession of the type which politicians generally make only after they have retired. Mr. Oliver, however, has just recently been returned to the office of Ontario leader of the Liberal party after a disastrous experiment with another chieftain.

About the only defence that Mr. Oliver can offer is that his warning against silly promises is applicable to more than one political party and that there are other parties wandering in the wilderness of opposition who might take his advice seriously to heart.

It also strikes us as the kind of statement of policy which a party in power is going to find very difficult to criticize.

And it might just turn out that Mr. Oliver is right and that the electors are in the mood to listen to a politician who talks sense and is not above admitting that his own party has made mistakes in the past.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A friend of mine in the painting and decorating trade reports that the people with whom he has most trouble are those who have taken up art.

"And you'd be surprised how many people have taken up art," he adds. "Besides the art colleges, there are courses in art at the technical schools and collegiate. Added to these are all kinds of women's organizations and some men's organizations that have programs devoted to art study, and some even have painting classes.

"All this recent growth of popular interest in ballet and the opera and other highbrow subjects has given an ever-increasing body of people an arty feeling, which I had added to our confusion. It would be all right if they did their own painting and decorating. But, no: they still call in the honest, plain painters like me to do the work. And I must say it does get a little fantastic."

"I have just come from one job where the lady wanted her living room painted, walls ceiling and trim. She had five different plans. I had to stand and listen while she fought it out with herself. She explained that what she wanted was a creative idea. No two walls were to be quite the same tone. That, naturally, was impossible. Was I to be quite so big into mushroom? Or grey shading into green, or grey into blue? If I answered her questions, she just gave me a look.

"Finally, she won, and I proceeded to lay on some large patches of various shades of blue, differing on each wall, and she got helping me blend the paints.

"What I want," says she, 'is just a little touch of periwinkle.'

"Then she started helping me with the rolling. Now, was I glad to get out of there! By the way, what the Sam Hill is a periwinkle?"

I told him I thought it was some kind of a small shellfish.

"Then she started helping me with the ladder. Now, was I glad I could I do? Telephone the lineup! Anyway, we got the job done, and I must admit it was the neatest looking living room I've ever painted. It gave me the creeps just to work in it, though knowing I would soon be out of it.

"But the job was delirious over it. It expressed exactly her creative personality. Now, was I glad to get out of there! By the way, what the Sam Hill is a periwinkle?"

I told him I thought it was some kind of a small shellfish.

Toynbee's Thanks

(New York Times)

Writers of books, and especially of books that require considerable research and consultation with authorities on the subject written about, often acknowledge the help, advice and encouragement received from others. Sometimes there is a rather brief nod, often it is a tribute gracefully paid. Occasionally one wonders, when an author says he wishes to "encourage-ment" or many contributions to this book," just what form the assistance was provided. Arnold Toynbee, an eminent specialist of history, now appears on the scene with an acknowledgement far longer than that of any author received that may set a fashion in literary circles.

Mr. Toynbee, whose concluding four volumes of his one-volume "Study of History" is published today, does not stint his praise or thoughtful "thank-you" at the end of his huge literary and learned work. Mr. Toynbee has shown excellent judgment by placing this interesting acknowledgement at the end of his study; the beginning of a book or series of books is often not the best place to start. In turn thanks, for the average reader is more eager to get to the book itself than he is to the author. Only when the book is finished is the reader may return to the preface to see who and what helped make it; if a bad book, a reading of acknowledgements will not help it much, and a good book may not care to know who tried, in vain, to help make it a good one.

But at the end of a book the reader may be more receptive to a recital of indebtedness; surely he would be were all acknowledgements as unusual as are Mr. Toynbee's. Not that all that recipients of his thanks are not entitled to read gracefully notes of gratitude—Marcus Aurelius, for example, would have liked Mr. Toynbee's thank-you list, who "taught me by example how good and how wise a writer to declare his gratitude to his pastors and masters." Among those latter Mr. in 1954 A.D.

Toynbee lists his mother "who awakened in me a lifelong interest in history by communicating to me her own interest in it at a very early stage of my life"... his large number of mothers, one hopes, will read this and succeed where he has failed in stimulating studies in the time-consuming revival of child-telling—one of the most unsung tasks of motherhood; that of communicating to children some of the beauty and meaning of the past and the great works of art. For parents are the communicators, the interpreters of what has gone before, even more—at a child's early age—than are books.

Mr. Toynbee has thanks for books, too—"institutions, landscapes, monuments, pictures, languages, each and all of which have helped to shape his thoughts and works in various ways. To be sure, even Mr. Toynbee, a thorough fellow, could not begin to put down even the names and things in his life influencing his work and he cannot, of course, be wholly conscious of them all, without writing another volume to enumerate and analyze (one volume that might be). What he will suggest to his readers is that they look to the many people and things in their own lives deserving of thanks perhaps seldom or never rendered.

Indeed, we are in this age more likely to thank ourselves for success as we achieve to our own cleverness and agility rather than to pause gratefully to the many persons and things that have helped to make us what we are. And when he does discover where thanks are owed—as mothers, gifted teachers, good friends, doctors and other "pastors and masters"—sometimes it is too late. Mr. Toynbee's acknowledgments suggest that perhaps it is never too late to express to those one's blessings flow. And who knows—maybe even Marcus Aurelius, somewhere on beyond the spheres, is grateful for having been remembered kindly

Education Comes First

(Fort Arthur News-Chronicle)

Clarence Campbell is a university graduate, a lawyer, business executive, sportsman, policeman, hockeyist who, after a successful career as a referee, was made president of the National Hockey League, foremost of all hockey organizations.

No man in Canada is better qualified to judge and say what education means in the relationship of education, sports and business in a young country.

Mr. Campbell is on record as having reminded all Canadian boys that education is far more important than hockey. Also it is better and more lasting than all the ultimate security that is the objective of almost everyone, young and old.

"Education is the most valuable thing I own," he said, "as transported without charge anywhere and it's permanent." Are Mr. Campbell's words as quaint as a dispatch from Montreal reporting him as counselling graduating school youngsters of elementary school age to provide themselves with the best possible education, because their chances of reaching the top in the N.H.L. are one in 500.

He might have added that even in the N.H.L. one doesn't stay long. A player with 10 years' experience is a rare exception. From there a few go on to be coaches or managers or general managers, but the limited time at that.

Assuming, nevertheless, that it is worth while if one can reach the N.H.L., Mr. Campbell's remarks are largely applicable to the many aspirants who, after playing school at a critical time, spend their further valuable and important years in the minor leagues, working at anything to get another job.

Mr. Campbell is merely confirming the oft-expressed opinion that the boy who sticks to school, who ignores the chance of getting a little fame and hearing the yells of the crowd one night with jeers perhaps the next night, is much better off.

One of this, of course, has reference to amateur hockey or the Bonne Terre team, it doesn't even

Now Debts Are Assets

(Arizona Progress, published by the Valley National Bank, Phoenix, Ariz.)

Money (i.e., coin or currency of the realm) is no longer needed either in business or personally. Everything else now done on credit. It is even possible to own a home, farm or ranch on the installment plan—and this is not a figure of speech. Furthermore, a definite stigma attaches to the carrying of cash. It is an indication that you are either a shady character or too poor to be in debt.

It is increasingly difficult to find a store where one can buy something—and simply pay for it. Nothing else has done more to discredit the cash. As a result, merchants are no longer selling, but rather, loaning. They have established charge accounts, revolving accounts, etc., etc.

Anything from a house to a hair-cut can now be purchased "on the cuff." You can arrange for extended payments, partial payments, periodic payments, staggered payments, token payments (and even token refunds on the latter of stop payments). They are all the rage and known as gimmicks. The latest gimmick, called an open-end mortgage, provides for borrowing additional funds, up to $100 at one end, it makes you eligible to borrow at the end of another. Obviously finances and mortgage companies do not care how long you take to repay the principal, so long as you keep paying the interest. If you are in a pinch they will lend you enough additional money to cover the interest.

This is not as silly as it sounds. Nothing could be. We have apparently broadened our horizons economically speaking. Having demonstrated that debts are not a liability but an asset, we are in process of providing that borrowing power is our income. We not only spend what we have but what we may have. Since what we have not is limitless and infinite, it is obvious that spending on credit has no limitation.

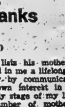
This is known as the "purchasing power theory." I am not sure that we understand it, but it is only fair to say that we do not understand nuclear fission or the fourth dimension either.

mean that a player should not share reasonably in the proceeds. To play hockey in one's own home town is quite all right. Many smart young men have left the big paying stool to good jobs and security. The thing to regret is that so many quit school too early and, running the country, get lost in the crowds.

Blackjacks His Flowers

(Montreal Gazette)

Indianapolis police recently arrested a Mr. Burnett for carrying a two-foot blackjack in his car, despite Burnett's claim that he used it only for "tamping the dirt in flowerpots." Burnett, obviously is either an ingenious man with a flair for adaptation, in which case he was entirely unchallenged; or a man with a glib tongue, for which he should be hanged.



An elephant gun is not used for shooting mice, nor a tank for pressing trousers. The use of a blackjack for tamping flowerbeds seems to fall into the same general category. Perhaps the police should inspect the Burnett flowerbeds and try to discover what—or who—lies under the dirt that Burnett tamped.

I do not know, and I have yet to find any scientific evidence to show, whether an intake of large medicinal doses or an excessive quantity of calcium, taken without vitamin D, daily over a period of weeks or months, may cause "deposits" of calcium in any part of the body. But that is a matter for the physician to decide — the physician who prescribes large doses of calcium.

Certainly no one has shown that the quantity of calcium, phosphorus, and vitamin D I recommend for daily consumption exceeds what nutrition authorities generally estimate as desirable to maintain optimal nutrition.

Massachusetts reader writes that for two years her husband has been supplementing his diet with the daily intake of calcium, phosphorus, and D, and this has given her more than anything ... but a doctor saw the calcipaps on her desk and told her never to throw them away unless he wanted to get arthritis. The doctor said that scurvy calcium is needed only by pregnant women . . .

It is true that pregnant women generally need a daily ration of calcium and vitamin D supplement their diet. During every child-bearing year, women need it just as much. Growing children too.

It is well to remember that vitamin D is an aid to, if not essential for, the normal utilization of calcium in the body.

Many readers seem to think they are following my advice if they eat calcium tablets, milk, etc., for a while.

Although many report benefits from this understandable if you know the functions of calcium in the body . . . I regret that these half-informed people learn that calcium is good medicine for it sometimes relieves complaints yet fail to learn that calcium is good food to prevent such complaints.

I do not advise people to take calcium tablets, pills, or other medicinal preparations of calcium. This is for the attending physician's judgment.

I advise that people should eat their daily ration of calcium, of course along with sufficient sunshine vitamin D to insure normal assimilation and utilization of the calcium. Ideally everyone should get his or her daily ration of calcium (which nutrition authorities estimate to be from 15 to 20 grains) from milk and other dairy products, peas, beans, greens, peanuts, and nuts; and his or her vitamin D from sunshine or skin (daylight in the shade). This presupposes that every child or adult consumes at least 1½ pints (three-glasses) of milk, or the equivalent in such products as cheese, buttermilk, skim milk or sour-clabber milk, or "fatless" milk (to you, Ninnyhammer), fancy sour milk known as Acidophilus. Bulgarian fermented skimmed milk, Yoghurt, etc).

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THAT SURE VICTORY

In a new book on spiritual recovery about to be published, Dr. Edgar Hoover, in the introduction declares that "Our record of law violation has become a national disgrace. Out of every group of 16 persons in the United States has been arrested and fingerprinted. For every dollar given to the church, crime cost us $10." Mr. Hoover has also announced that the year 1954 "may be the worst crime year in our history."

Add to Mr. Hoover's statement the fact that a major crime is committed every 14 seconds and that the present divorce rate, if it continues at its present trend, will mean that by 1960 we will have half as many divorces each year as we have marriages, and the jeopardy of our position is clearly recognized.

What are we going to do about this? Throw up our hands in despair? Or sit with folded hands and say we can do nothing but wait for the next shoulders and say, "So what"? There have been movements in the past which were beginning of time, and our forebears have wrestled with evil and got the victory. Christians we should remember that Jesus Christ won a supreme and permanent victory over evil, and to the extent that our lives mingle with His and that we share His power, we also can be victorious.

Present-day moral situations are appalling but they are not hopeless. "There is a victory that overcometh the world, even our faith."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THANK YOU, PLEASE, I'M SORRY

Many years ago, I attended the theatre, witnessing that remarkable play "Abraham Lincoln," written by John Drinkwater. It was beautifully done, but one thing remained in my memory—the "Thank You" of Lincoln that was habitual, and always uttered in the kindliest of voice.

We do not "Thank You, Please, I'm Sorry," but their significance is in how one comes out of the heart. That little word "Please" can be so uttered that it almost affects all other opposition. And all possible anger is immediately snuffed out. For you are so obviously to mean it.

How very much we miss the little courtesies when they are absent. Politeness is something that should never go out of style. The world needs it warmth and its uplift. I like the fine appreciation as exampled in so many of our athletic contests, notably our college events. I like to witness the cordial hand-shake of the two managers of a baseball club, or the captains of a football team.

"Thank You, Please, I'm Sorry," are companions, and everyone of us should carry them with us as essential equipment. Sincerely used, they bridge many a rough passage. I have seen some waiters will take up their tips—even when they are only generous—and walk away without even a phony "Thank You!" Then there are others who will give attention to the amount left for them, but who make you glad that you were serving.

The life courtesies are always appreciated. They are the daily traveling and contact with people, especially strangers. It's the way the conduct ourselves in public that gets us a return in pleasantness and courtesy. I like the way the busy restaurant largely because the people there are pleasant and courteous. The food tastes better!

St. Michael's Sodality of Our Lady Sponsors Attractive Fashion Show

Last evening at St. Michael's auditorium, Dame Fashion, under the auspices of the Sodality of Our Lady of St. Michael the Archangel parish, for her second annual showing displayed to an intensely interested assembly of her fair sex, alluring styles in luxurious furs, lovely wraps, coats, dresses ensembles and dazzling costume jewellery with their accompanying accessories.

Tall white standards of lovely chrysanthemums in shades of bronze, henna, gold and yellow adorned the stage, while glowing footlights brought out the gorgeous setting of shrimp-toned chesterfield and chairs, seven-branched candelabra, and other furnishings of a well-to-do home, backgrounded by the soft folds of champagne satin curtains.

Miss Barbara Chapelle, Sodality prefect, acted as chairman for the evening, and extended a most cordial and gracious welcome to the capacity audience; while Miss Edna Lalonde, as commentator, in a delightful manner, brought to the attention of the spectators, the various fashionable points of the many lovely items modelled.

LUXURIOUS FURS

Among the fashionable displays were luxurious coats, mostly in dark and light grey kidskin, with below the waist swing shortie coats in both black Persian lamb, and grey, with deep, wide cuffs and tripling back-and upstanding collars; three-quarter length coats in the same furs as well as muskrat, brown squirrel, lovely rippling Scotch moleskin, as well as pleated, all showing attractive linings in pleasing satin.

These were worn over attractive dresses, with accents on contrasting scarf, gloves and tiny chic hats, accented with sparkling jewellery in gold and rhinestone effect. One grey lamb coat was worn over a grey laced dress with the neck filled in with pink barber-stripe blouse, the accessories being a grey leather tied scarf and gloves. Another eye-catching ensemble was of grey kidskin coat with full back, worn over a wool jersey dress in a copen shade of blue, with pink hat and gloves.

RAINCOATS

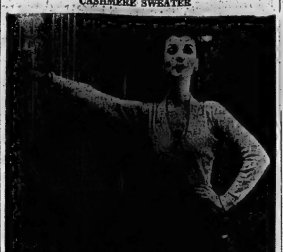
Raincoats were also modelled in a gunmetal grey accented by a brown and green umbrella and green gloves and hat; and in navy color with mustard shade hat and gloves, and in green with wide collar which could be worn as a hat. All coats were belted, but could be worn without belts.

Among the children's clothes modelled were little jumper frocks in tartan plaid, pleated skirts and tiny blouses; snowsuits warm and damp resisting; little trousers with blazer; lounging robes, and party frocks.

These were modelled by three little tots, Donna Doran, Catherine Thuesen, and Master John Doran, who stole the show with their winsome and delightful smiles.

Outstanding points of fashion were the pleated skirts in box, knife and accordion style, with the circular effect being quite evident. Taffetas in plain and in stripes, as well as short effects were good, with winter white hats, bags and gloves holding a predominant position. Plaids are also good, and show the tendency of the long torso design by Dior. Other hats were in order for pleasing contract, with metallic effect, and moulin trim, a touch of Fifth Avenue.

Hosiae coats and lounging robes in lovely materials, color, and design were also shown, as well as separate skirts and blouses in contrasting shades.



DELIGHTFUL INTERLUDE

As a delightful interlude the choir of twelve girls rendered: "Float A-Weigh" For You", and "Hi-Ho, Come to the Fair," while

When you are measuring sweetener and sugar, stick in the granulated sugar, remember that it packs down almost as much as flour. Therefore, spoon lightly into the measuring cup—in overflowing — then level off, with a straight-edged knife or spatula. Granulated sugar is added only when lumpy.

CASHMERE SWEATER

This is one of the first cashmere sweaters designed by Christian Dior, Paris fashion creator. Sweaters are fashioned from Himalayan goat wool and are primarily for dollar markets. The long-sleeved, light weight sweaters come in shades of jungle green, ruby red, Dior pink and blue, black, white and light navy. (CP Photo).

North American Women Get First Rights to Dior Sweaters

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—North American women will have almost exclusive rights to the first cashmere sweaters designed by Christian Dior of Paris.

Made in Hawick, Scotland, the luxury items fashioned from Himalayan goat wool are a pioneer effort, primarily for dollar markets. Fifty styles will be on sale in Canada and the United States at around $50 each, before they are seen by members of the Royal Family at the plushiest British fashion show in years.

This will be a charity presentation of Dior's clothes, scheduled for a November showing in famous Blenheim Palace, ancestral home of the dukes of Marlborough, forbears of Prime Minister Churchill. Tickets are five guineas each.

COLOR VARIETY

There are four Dior sweaters, in a variety of styles, none for sale on home markets.

Long-sleeved, light-weight luxury models, the sweaters come in shades like jungle green, ruby red, Dior pink and blue, black, white and light navy. Dior pink, glowing like a car's rear light, is chosen for an almost classic design with plain round neck, button front cardigan by the waist band and fake pocket flaps.

A smart number for winter suits has small sailor collar, a zip vent and tie ends in naval style. For evening wear there is a round-necked style in black, its low neck trimmed with white ribbing sporting two white bows.

The Dior sweaters were thought up by Charles D. Oliver, 36-year-old Hawick-born chairman, who made a 16,000-mile tour of Canada and the United States early this year.

Oliver's firm is one of 25 Hawick knitwear and hosiery manufacturers responsible for £10,000,000 in exports to Canada and the United States in the last five years.

Nearly 100 per cent of the cashmere products go to North America but demand remains unsatisfied.

In the 18-year period ending in 1913 three million immigrants entered Canada.

Tabernacle W.M.S. Hears Temperance Talk

The November meeting of Tabernacle W.M.S. was held in the church parlors with Mrs. May presiding, and Mrs. Robb at the piano. The roll call showed 16 members present, and one visitor.

There were reports from secretaries; 17 calls were made.

Mrs. Fishel, Stewardship secretary, read an article on "The Glory of Giving."

A nominating committee was formed, including Mrs. G. Brickman, Mrs. Hogle, and Mrs. Baird.

Mrs. Archibald is to prepare the December meeting and Mrs. Lent the January meeting.

Mrs. Farnsworth, of Bridge Street United Church, spoke to the meeting, on "Temperance in the Schools." She had on display posters drawn by students. Of 47 posters sent in 27 received prizes. One year there were 200 posters sent in. They have been shown in Sunday schools and public schools.

"Are we giving all we can to the drink question? In our homes a social glass is worse than beer parlors." She said "there was not time enough to speak about the temperance questions in schools, W.A. and W.M.S. meetings. The danger is Christian indifference makes it more difficult. Don't say what's the use? Don't say nothing can be done about it. We believe there is an awakening. The educators are starting education in the schools. Temperance must be brought back in the schools. There is now a National Temperance course. Reforms start slowly. Do what we can and pray for this."

Miss Johns took the devotional. The theme was "Discovery and Mission." Mrs. Hogle and Mrs. Baird assisted Miss Johns in presenting the third chapter of the study book on India, "The Struggle for Men's Minds." Religion plays a big part in the lives of India. The west is materialistic, the east spiritually-minded.

They told of the different religions of India —the chief is Hinduism. One cannot be converted to become a Hindu, he must be born one. It is much like Christianity. One spoke of Ghandi and how he was greatly impressed by the New Testament; and by Jesus but refused to be influenced by Him, other than a good man. Every village or town has some remembrance of Ghandi.

Communism does appeal to many Indians. It implies it can do all religion can do, and more quickly. There are 361 million people in India and a five million increase a year.

"Christianity stands above all other religions. Indians show a loyalty to their faith. Do we show the same loyalty?"

Y's Menettes Enjoy Cosmetic Display

On Tuesday evening, the Y's Menette's club was host to the members of the various ladies' service clubs of Bellerville, when they presented Miss Wallr of Elizabeth Arden.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Vera Weir, Mrs. Ed. Little-John, program chairman, welcomed the guests on behalf of the club. Mrs. Littlejohn introduced Miss Waller make-up consultant and brought to Belleville through the courtesy of Lattimer's drug store.

Miss Waller began her address by telling those present a little about Elizabeth Arden a Canadian girl, who went to New York at a time when make-up was almost unknown in Canada, and a comparatively crude product in New York. Together with a chemist, Miss Arden, produced a new line of cosmetics with an eye to a more natural look.

Through the years this line has become larger, more beneficial to the skin and adds much beauty to those who use it.

Miss Waller also explained the different items and their uses, stressed the importance of cleaning and toning and daily care of the skin, of good posture and good grooming. She pointed out that all women, whether they be housewives or business women should make time for a daily skin schedule for their daily beauty routine.

Miss Waller gave Mrs. J. M. Parrott, one of the guests a complete demonstration in the art of applying make-up beginning with the removal of old make-up, cleaning and toning the skin, to the final dash of lipstick, showing the proper method of the application of each item, step by step, to achieve a youthful natural look. Miss Waller also spoke of the more exotic deeper shades for evening wear.

Mrs. Di Diamantides thanked Miss Waller for her most interesting talk and said she knew all the present would benefit.

The lucky draw for the green cosmetic kit was won by Mrs. Robert Farquharson, Jr., of Corbyville.

A most pleasant evening closed with refreshments served by the hostesses for the evening, Mrs. Bruce, Cronk, Mr. Ron Case, and the social committee.

Queen Alexandra H & S Association Holds Meeting

The opening meeting of the season for the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held on Tuesday evening in the school auditorium. Registration of members was taken with the room mothers setting as registrars.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. D. Tooth, and the assembly stood for the reading of the Home and School Association pledge followed by the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Tooth graciously welcomed the members. The secretary, Mrs. Fisher read the minutes of the final meeting May 4, 1954, which were approved as read.

Due to the re-arranging of classrooms in the east end some of the parents who held offices last year will be attending other Home and School Associations so many executive offices were appointed to take their place. Mrs. Boyce, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Rudlow, Mrs. Tinkess and Mrs. Jones will fill the vacancies. The treasurer's report was read, Mrs. Tooth thanked the convener, Mrs. R. Devereux, and her assistant for managing the skate sale.

Mr. R. H. Tanner spoke briefly about the central committee of the Home and School of which he is president. A council is to be formed with the president and five delegates from each Home and School to attend. The first council meeting is to be held Nov. 17 at the collegiate. The following members volunteered to attend as delegates with Mrs. I. S. Tinkess, press representative; Mrs. Hobbs, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Irving.

PORTION OF REPORT GIVEN

A portion of the report of the No. 10 District Regional Conference of Home and School was read by Mrs. Tinkess. Mr. Burgoyne's class was responsible for serving tea, grade 9.

Congratulations were extended to Mr. Sing on her appointment as supervisor for Primary divisions.

The program was at this time handed over to Mr. Hackett, principal of Queen Alexandra school with the teachers of his staff; Miss Calnan, Mrs. Holmboe, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Tooth, Mrs. Mackiem, Miss Smyth, Miss Tonner, Mr. Fowler, Miss Heasman, Mr. Nickel, Mr. Bonter, Mrs. Dier, Mr. Burgoyne and the school nurse Miss Vivian. Introduced by Mr. Hackett each teacher gave a brief outline of the curriculum set forth for their individual class rooms for the year. Mrs. Tooth thanked the staff for their most interesting discussion.

Mr. L. A. Kells, superintendent of Public Schools and Mr. W. A. VanTassel, chairman of the board, who were to have addressed the meeting, kindly excused themselves because of the lengthy and program and will speak at a later date.

Refreshments were served by the class rooms of Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Holmboe.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DOES THIS YOUNG WIFE ENJOY PLAYING WITH FIRE?

A young woman who has been married for only a year is at present busily engaged in hacking her mar-riage to death with that deadliest of all weapons—baseless jealousy.

Not content to accept her husband's assurances that he is deeply in love with her, she keeps herself hard at work manufacturing evidence to prove that, instead of loving her as he says he does, he is actually pining after some girl he knew long before he married her...

She writes:

"You see, I have discovered that I wasn't the first girl in my husband's life; there were two others to whom he proposed before he and I met.

"He never told me about this until the other day, when we happened to meet one of these girls and he introduced her to me, saying jokingly: 'This is one of my old flames.'

"Another thing is that I found a scrapbook my husband kept with pictures in it of girls he used to go with. When I asked him about it, he said he didn't want to talk about it.

"Also, we saw another one of his old girls recently at a dance, and his eyes followed her wherever she went.

"I think my husband still feels love for one of these girls. What can I do to make him forget?"

Well, so far from making him forget, this young woman's whole attitude is the surest way of making him remember, and—who knows?—of making him wish, too, that he really had married one of these other girls. For there is nothing in the world on which a husband gets fed up more quickly than for a wife to keep harping on long dead romances, and hunting for trouble where none exists.

Moreover, can anyone possibly imagine any normal young man who didn't have girl friends before he met the one he finally married? I venture to say that none of the ten men propose to at least one girl, and are turned down, before they become engaged. But that doesn't mean that, after marriage, they spend their time regretting the girls they didn't marry. In fact, when they do look back on an early romance, they're much more likely to say: "Boy am I glad I didn't marry her!" That is, they do if they have the right kind of wife.

Did this young woman never behave herself in love with any boy before she met the one she married? Or is it possible that, actually, she never did have any previous romance, and so is completely unable to understand that other young people did have them?

And why should she make such an issue of her husband's look of old snapshots? Who doesn't have such a collection of pictures somewhere around that they like to look at once in a awhile because it brings up pleasant memories of past good times? I would say it was practically certain that the reason her husband said "he didn't want to talk about it," when she asked him about the scrapbook was that it seemed so idiotically childish for her to be kicking up such a row about it that he wouldn't be drawn into an argument, and possibly a quarrel.

So listen, Sister: Unless you really enjoy playing with fire—and maybe you do—I advise you to put all this nonsense right out of your head and believe your husband implicitly when he tells you he loves you. Put out of your head, too, the silly notion that because he's interested when he meets an old girl friend—as who wouldn't be?—it means that he's still in love with her. For if you don't, you're absolutely certain to get hurt, and it will be your own foolish fault.

THOSE TINY bootees are often not quite so pretty after they're washed, no matter how careful you are. Did you know there's a blocker made to preserve their original shape? It can be used later, too, when your baby grows into white shoes needing frequent cleaning.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

THE HOME MANICURE

It isn't always easy for the home-cultivated to be faithful to her beauty routine. Things happen. Helathway the gas is left unexpectedly, the dog runs away, the children start building projects that call for help. There's always something! And inevitably, it's just when she looks and feels her worst that the telephone rings and, she receives an invitation to go and have some fun! If her coiffure is not perfect, her hat will hide it. She can make herself a new complexion. But her finger nails! There's no getting around it—she must give them a hurried cleanup and apply new polish. It may seem an impossible job to give the nails a good manicure in a short time. But it can be done quickly and easily with a little practice.

First, the old polish must be removed. Then a good filing of the nails from sides to center, to form a pleasing oval. A soapy hand washing should follow; then pass a nail white pencil under the rims.

Next, apply cuticle cream. Friction it well into the nails, as well as the surrounding flesh, with an orangewood stick, lift the cuticle carefully. It is when it clings to the nail fabric that you are bothered with hangnails which can be more of a menace than you may realize since'even the smallest wound can invite infection. If you've had up my little sharp, nip them off with the curved, No. 3 needle-point scissors.

Another soapy scrubbing should follow. Every bit of the cream must be removed if the polish is to go on evenly and endure. Two applications of the polish will finish the job. Incidentally, a new preparation shade is very popular now. A look-see at all the new nail toiletries on the cosmetic counters will be well worth your while.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

THE GIRL . . . THE BOY . . . THE MESSAGE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A very attractive and popular girl has invited our son to be her escort at her school Prom. He has asked me to ask you some questions about the courtesy he is planning to send her. (This is permitted in her school, he has been told by some of his friends who are also going.)

(1) Should he send her what he thinks attractive for her, or perhaps what our florist suggests? It seems to me that this doesn't solve the question: What-Color?

(2) Do you think he should take the flowers to her, when he calls for her or send them? — His Mother.

(1) Indeed this procedure doesn't solve the color-choice . . . and today the color of the flowers in a corsage is particularly important, since the dance dresses of this season are of a wonderful rainbow of lovely colors. So your lad should thoughtfully, ask his date what color dress she is going to wear, and consult with your florist about what flowers to harmonize. And he should direct the florist not to use too much ribbon, and not any accessory except the leaves of the flowers. The flowers should be allowed to shine forth with their beauty, not overwhelmed with ribbons and 'background' greenery.

(2) Knowing the gals as I do, I would like to urge your son to have the florist deliver the corsage some time before he calls for her . . . so that she will have the opportunity to try on in various ways to see how it will "look prettiest."

CALLING THE WAITRESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When you want to call the attention of your waitress in a restaurant, should you say "Waitress" or "Miss"? — C.S.

"Waitress" is the word to use.

MOTHER SHOULD "SECOND" DAUGHTER'S INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter was graduated from a co-educational college last June, and a young man who was a very good friend of hers while they were in college wrote her that he is coming to visit his brother in the city near us and would like to see her. She wrote asking him to stay with us, over that week-end and he has accepted. I have never met this young man and it seems to me that it would be "the way of courtesy" (as you sometimes say in your column) for me to write him to second my daughter's invitation. My daughter thinks this is unnecessary. What do you think, Mrs. Beeckman? — Mother

Your feeling about this is right, you, as hostess of your home, should write to this young man, seconding your daughter's invitation, and extending your welcome to him. If he is the well-bred young man I'm sure he is, he will receive this assurance of your friendliness and hospitality. This is indeed "the way of courtesy"!

LACE IN FASHION

- Lace is returning as a front-rank fashion for women and a novelty for men, in London's fashion world. Digby Morton used Chantilly lace from Nottingham, England, in a warm shade of cafe au lait for this full length gown in his autumn collection. The design is outlined with a heavier viscose thread, re-embroidered on the close-fitting tunic bodice with bronze beads. (CP Photo).

Help Yourself to Abundant Health

By Mary Moore

"You were working on whole bread once before when we were here Mrs. Moore."

So said Pauline, one of Marianne's nurse friends, when she came to our house to enjoy the fun of answering the door to calls of "Anything for Hallowe'en!"

Spasmodically I make whole wheat bread from a revised recipe and for a few months I'm satisfied with the recipe, then I decide it is too rich or too dark with molasses or too something else and I start making changes.

The thing I liked best about yesterday's batch was its smooth well-risen texture. There were varying opinions expressed, however, by those of my friends and family who tasted it. One family who habitually eats white bread said it was too rich. One family, some of whose members are reducing, said "With flavor like that we could eat our bread without any butter." Marianne's nursing friends toasted it and ate it with peach conserves, and wished they could get toast that was hot and whole wheat bread and homemade jam at the hospital.

As for myself, through my own research and through the research of our own Department of Health and Welfare and other research groups, I have learned that the habitual use of whole wheat bread instead of any white bread can mean the difference between abundant health and indifferent health.

You can take your choice.

This is the recipe for the whole wheat bread that I made yesterday, with exact details, so that any experienced baker could follow them and turn out a professional looking and tasting loaf.

EMEM'S WHOLE WHEAT BREAD (2 average-sized loaves.)

If possible buy your whole wheat flour from the mill or better still grind it yourself on a home grinder like some readers do. Failing either of these buy whole wheat flour as fresh as possible. Before measuring stir it, then into a large mixing bowl or clean dishpan measure 9 cups of whole wheat flour and 3 cup fresh wheat germ. Soak 1 package granular yeast (being sure the expiry date is well in the future) in 1-2 cup lukewarm water with 1 tablespoon molasses, and let it stand unstirred for 10 minutes—or until it foams up—to top of measuring cup. Meanwhile to 1-2 cup homogenized milk add 1 3-4 cup boiling water, 3 tablespoons cooking oil (corn oil is what I used), 1 tablespoon salt, 1-4 or 1-3 cup light colored molasses and beat them in. When this is lukewarm add 1-2 cup skim milk powder and 1 tablespoon dry. Mix them very well—I beat mine under the electric beater at low speed for 1 minute. Now add this mixture of liquids and the yeast mixture to the flour and stir in. Here is where you need the big bowl or dish pan. This mixture is very sticky, and requires about 25 foldings and kneadings and turnings — for it pays you to get your hands in it at this stage. Scrape the adhering dough from your hands (elbows?), cover with plate and cloth and let rise at kitchen room temperature (about 74 deg.) for 1 3-4 to 2 hours or until doubled. Turn out on whole-wheat-sprinkled board and knead 25 turnings and foldings. Shape into two even loaves, place in greased loaf pans and let rise 2 hours or until doubled. Bake at 365 deg. Fahr. about 40 to 45 minutes with shelf in oven 1-3 way up from bottom. Cool loaves out of tins.

I wish you bread experts would let me know how you like this changed version. I'm working on a less-rich one that I will give you next week most likely.

Women's Institute

RYE VIEW W.I.

MOUNTAIN VIEW — The November meeting of Mountain View Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. D. Keeble with about 18 members in attendance. The meeting was opened with the president, Mrs. S. Barber, in the chair.

Business was discussed and plans were made for the community banquet, which is to be held Friday evening, November 12. The roll call was responded to by answering "One Step I Can Make Toward World Peace."

The delegates to the district convention, Mrs. C. Barber, Mrs. W. Barber, and Mrs. G. Neal all gave interesting and instructive reports on this event.

Mrs. Willet Barber gave "Current Events." Owing to the lateness of the hour Mrs. Clarence Sprague's topic was postponed until the next meeting.

Mrs. Keeble, assisted by several ladies, served refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. A. Wallbridge thanked the hostess for her hospitality.

RYLSTONE W.I.

The November meeting of the Rylstone Women's Institute was held at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Jack Watson, on Wednesday afternoon, with about 30 ladies and five children present. The president, Mrs. Wilfred Spencer, presided over the opening and the business part of the meeting.

A motion was carried, to make a donation to the Hurricane Relief Fund.

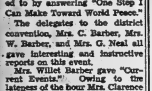
Mrs. Charles Stewart, delegate to the Women's Institute Area convention, held in Belleville, gave a good report of the first day of the convention. Mrs. Will Morton also gave a splendid report of the second day. Mrs. Morton being unable to attend this meeting her report was read by Mrs. (Ed.) Jones.

Mrs. Alfred Akins, convener of "Home Economics and Health", took charge of the balance of the program. Mrs. Fred Barnum, at this point introduced Mrs. Daniels, supervisor of the Campbellford Memorial Hospital, who gave an interesting and instructive talk on "What We Should Know About Our Hospital," stressing the fact that the hospital belonged to the community, even though people were often treated from faraway places. The W.I. organization here has had a share in building the hospital, and all are proud of it, and glad to have such a well run hospital in the community.

A reading "Home Owners" was given by Mrs. Carl Reid. Mrs. Tom Wallace, of Campbellford, a former Rylstone girl, gave a vocal solo "Now Is the Hour", accompanied by Mrs. Ellis Jones at the piano.

Mrs. Spencer then called Mrs. Ernest Irwin, the retiring member of the Federated Board, to the chair, and after a few words of appreciation for the good work done by "Lily" she was presented with two bronze wall plaques, by the 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Carl Reid. Mrs. Irwin most graciously thanked the Institute for the gift saying that she had enjoyed the years of service and appreciated the privilege of being selected to represent the Institute on the Federated Board.

Mrs. Ellis Jones conducted a musical "Weather Contest", which was won by the April-June group.



After the meeting closed refreshments were served by the hostess and the lunch committee, Mrs. Fred Barnum, Mrs. Alfred Akins, Mrs. Ernest Irwin and Mrs. Gerald Petherick. There was also an exhibit of home-made aprons and their patterns.

Program committee was Mrs. Carl Reid and Mrs. Fletcher Wildman.

The next meeting will be the Christmas meeting and will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Stewart. There will be an exchange of Christmas recipes, a gift exchange not to exceed 35 cents and donations of canned goods, jams and jellies will be brought for the Campbellford Memorial Hospital.

Mr. George Pallisey, local florist, will give a demonstration on "Floral Arrangements."

Decide to Send Delegation To CBC Chairman

OTTAWA (CP)—Several French-language groups in the Ottawa-Hull district are complaining that the CBC is not giving enough time to French programs on its television station here.

Officers of the groups met Tuesday night and decided to send a delegation to A. D. Denton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, and general manager J. Alphonse Ouimet.

The groups include officers of the St. Jean Baptiste Society and the French - Canadian Education Association of Ontario.

A survey studied at the meeting indicated that 21 per cent of television broadcast hours on station CBOT in the week Oct. 18-24 was in French. The remainder was English.

The survey was prepared by Bernard Legare, television columnist of le Droit, French-language Ottawa daily. He said that in the same week last year, 30 per cent of broadcasting hours was in French.

The CBC has said it aims at 25 per cent of broadcasting time on CBOT in the French language.

Hector Roy, president of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, said that about half the population in the area is French-speaking.

Galt Man Dies In Car Accident

HAMILTON (CP) — James D. Norton, 27, of Galt, was killed this morning when his car collided with a truck on No. 6 highway, about one mile west of Clappison's corners. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Owner and driver of the truck, Gormery Stothard, of Puslinch, said the oncoming car appeared to veer steadily across the highway before the impact.

"I think the driver may have fallen asleep," he said.

Head Suspended For One Year

NEW YORK (AP)—George F. Monaghan, state harness racing commissioner, Wednesday expelled Edward Dougherty of North Bergen, N.J., president of the Standard Bred Owners Association, from New York harness tracks for one year effective immediately.

The action was taken in connection with Dougherty's part in an 18-minute delay of the second race at Yonkers Raceway Oct. 30.

Monaghan also suspended for six months eight drivers involved in the race.

Monaghan said his inquiry showed the drivers believed they had not been getting the agreed purse money, amounting to 35 per cent of the Yonkers take and that Dougherty urged them not to come out for the second race the night of the delay.

The commissioner said the inquiry showed the track actually had paid $20,000 more in purses than required.

Three Honored By Association

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Good Roads Association Wednesday night honored three men for their contributions to good roads in Canada.

They were George S. Henry, former premier of Ontario; J. A. McNeil, former managing editor of the Montreal Gazette and former general manager of The Canadian Press; and A. C. Emmett, of Winnipeg, former managing director of the Manitoba Motor League.

Mr. Henry was Ontario minister of highways from 1923 until he became premier in 1930.

Mr. McNeil attended the first meeting of the association in 1914, and 29 of the 35 annual meetings held since then.

Mr. Emmett spent some 30 years in the good roads movement in Manitoba and has driven more than 2,000,000 miles without an accident.

Mau Mau Leader Charges Bombing Halted Surrender

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — A Mau Mau terrorist leader said today a secret peace meeting arranged last March failed because British forces bombed his men before they could surrender.

The statement came from "Field Marshal" Kaleba who took over command of the terrorist forces in Mount Kenya following the capture of "General China" last January.

An emergency court today found Kaleba guilty of illegal possession of a revolver and ammunition at the time of his capture with three companions last month. Sentence will be announced Friday.

He testified that he tried to cooperate with British authorities in arranging the unsuccessful peace talks aimed at ending the two-year warfare. He said that after the heavy bombings, it was realized "the government did not mean that we should surrender."

Of the personal income spending of Canadians direct taxes took 3 per cent in 1939, 9.4 per cent in 1953.

Mendes-France Announces New Rules for Drinkers

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Mendes-France, a milk drinker, fired off a barrage of measures Wednesday night designed to erase France's record as the hardest drinking country in the world.

The new rules—some go into effect immediately—might not impress a booze-dry prohibitionist, but they threaten to raise a storm in France.

Spirits can not be sold between 3 and 10 a.m.

Liquor taxes are raised 20 per cent.

The number of bars and home distillers will be limited.

Cafes must close at least one day a week.

Habitual drunkards face jail sentences up to three months.

Most of the new regulations require parliamentary approval. Deputies could make any one of them an excuse for voting Mendes-France and his cabinet out of office.

Assurances went out, however, to the predominantly wine - drinking population of France. Earlier in the day Agriculture Minister Roger Houdet said the government planned no curtailment in wine. He explained wine makes the French "strong and sharp." Houdet told an audience of wholesale wine merchants the government is only after drunks and bootleggers.

Catholic Farmers Ask to Be Moved To Viet Nam

HANOI (AP) — Two thousand Roman Catholic farmers of Phat Diem, in Communist-held Tonkin, have asked the North International armistice commission to transfer them to French-controlled South Viet Nam, a commission spokesman said Wednesday.

Meanwhile, a sub-committee of the armistice commission left Hanoi for the mouth of the Red river where the Vietminh have opposed the transportation of North Vietnamese to the south in the last few days.

A complaint was presented by French authorities Tuesday to the commission after Vietminh authorities said they would not let French ships enter the territorial waters of North Viet Nam to pick up the refugees.

Canada's Brigade Turns Over Sector To Korean Army

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's 25th Brigade in Korea, most of it started for home, has handed over two-thirds of its sector to troops of the Republic of Korea army.

Army headquarters said Wednesday night it is the first time in history the Canadian army has been relieved by Asiatic troops.

The switch was initiated by the 25th Brigade commander, Brig. Frederick A. Clift of Melfort, Sask. who explained the physical setup in his sector to Korean officers. The Korean units then were taken to the actual Canadian positions they are to guard.

Two thirds of Canada's 6,000-man brigade now is either on route home or preparing to leave. The 2nd battalion of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, a field ambulance unit and small administrative detachments now are the only Canadian units in the Far East still with specific tactical commitments.

The last public execution in Canada was the hanging of the murderer of D'Arcy McGee at Ottawa in 1868.

Police Subdue Rebel Convicts Without Fight

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — A 500-man task force of armed police subdued the 800 rebellious convicts of riot-torn Naha penitentiary today without a fight.

The prisoners, exhausted by their five-day spree of widow smashing and demonstrations over prison conditions, submitted meekly as the police moved in.

Only two of the convicts showed any fight. Both were wounded in the leg by riot guns. Warning volleys fired over the prisoners' heads discouraged any other attempts at resistance.

The riot began as an attempted mass breakout Sunday. Fifty-one escaped, but 34 were recaptured or gave themselves up. Twenty-seven are still at large.

Since Sunday the convicts have been on an orgy of destruction within the prison. They tore down doors, scattered blankets and clothing over the compound, looted a warehouse and complained of torture, beatings and lack of sanitation.

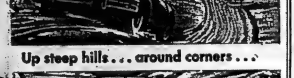
Marler Will Fly To Copenhagen Over World's Roof

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's transport minister is taking a plane flight over the roof of the world.



Hon. George Marler will fly an Arctic route Nov. 15-16 between Winnipeg and Copenhagen, getting a look at much of a run which Canadian Pacific Air Lines wants to operate.

The minister—just elected to the Commons in a Monday by-election—will travel with Scandinavian Airlines, whose inaugural flight starts at Los Angeles and touches at Winnipeg. He will be accompanied by deputy minister J. R. Baldwin.

The route of the Winnipeg-Copenhagen flight parallels to some extent a proposed line which Canadian Pacific wants to travel, and on which Mr. Marler will have a say as the minister through whom the air transport board reports to Parliament.

CPA has asked the board for a permit to fly from Vancouver to the Netherlands over the top of the globe in a great circle.

Claims Railways Should Be Free To Set Own Rates

OTTAWA (CP)—A top official of the publicly-owned CNR said Wednesday the health of Canada's railway industry can be improved only by giving the railways freedom to set competitive rates.

S. W. Fairweather, vice-president of research and development for the CNR, made the statement before the one-man royal commission conducting an inquiry into the controversial issue of agreed charges —special low contract rates given by the railways in return for a guaranteed portion of a shipper's business.

Mr. Fairweather said Canadian railways are suffering from too much regulation. Shippers should be allowed to choose the type of transportation best suited to their requirements and pocketbooks.

Mr. Fairweather said he agreed that rates should continue to be regulated in the non-competitive fields where the railways hold a transportation monopoly. It was essential that in this field rates should be sufficiently low to stimulate development and production.

NOT OWN DEFECTS

However, the railways could continue to do this economically only if they received freedom to operate in the competitive field.

The industry was not sick from its own defects or because it was not prepared to keep up with technological developments. It was sick because the present system of regulation did not enable railways to compete with other forms of transportation.

The railways' problem of obtaining sufficient revenue to meet overhead costs was becoming more and more difficult. The CNR estimated its 1954 deficit would be more than $20,000,000 and its gross revenues about $50,000,000 below the 1953 figure. The outlook also was not good for 1955.

Lowest Tender For Construction Not Accepted

TORONTO (CP)—Turn-down by Toronto's metropolitan executive of the lowest bid for construction of a suburban building was debated in metropolitan council Tuesday night. The upshot:

Metropolitan chairman F. G. Gardiner distributed to council a report giving architect Howard Chipman's reason as to why the contract for a Newmarket home for the aged should go to Hughes Construction Company at $2,111,400 rather than to Sid Sidney Park-inson (Canada) Limited at about $30,000 less.

Members studied the report during an adjournment. Mr. Gardiner asked the press not to disclose whatever contents might be revealed during the debate, and threatened to hold meetings of the council executive in camera if the report were published.

With two dissenters, council confirmed award of the contract to the Hughes company.

Steel Production Still Going Up Says Magazine

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel production continues to surge upward and the end is not in sight, Iron Age, a national metal working weekly, said Wednesday.

Steel - making operations this week are scheduled at 78 per cent of rated capacity, the highest since last December and two points higher than last week's estimate.

Iron Age reported that Detroit mills, at 100 per cent of rated capacity, has the highest district operating rate. Mills in the Buffalo, N.Y., district are at 95.5 per cent of capacity.

The auto industry, rapidly gearing up to record year-end production levels, is putting the extra zip in the market, said Iron Age.

The sheet market is tightening, it added, and the anxiety of customers is reflected in the eagerness to place first-quarter orders.

Report Shows Cigaret Smoking Sets Up Risk of Heart Disease Also Increasing Risk of Cancer

Editor's note—In the great debate over whether or not smoking is harmful, many people have overlooked an important fact: The most widely publicized study gives evidence cigaret smoking steps up the risk of heart disease as well as increasing the risk of cancer. Here is the story, the third of four articles on the cigaret controversy.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—For public impression, one of the most sensational reports of danger in cigarets came last June with announcement of findings in the American Cancer Society's big statistical study.

Oddly, many people apparently missed one of its most significant findings—its evidence that cigaret smoking steps up the risk of heart attacks. This aspect—new to most people—could have been overlooked in concern over cancer.

In main essence, this study found:

Men, aged 50 to 70, who smoke a pack of cigarets or more daily run about twice the risk of dying of heart disease and cancer as non-smokers. Smokers run more risk not only of lung cancer, but other forms of cancer. Heavy cigaret smoking might cut an average of seven years from the life-span.

BASED ON INTERVIEWS

This study, headed by Drs. E. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn, attracted attention because it was based upon interviews with some 180,000 men about their smoking habits, then checks to learn what they died of later.

Said Dr. Hammond, who switched from chain-smoking cigarets to a pipe:

The effect found on the heart is more pronounced than the effect found in lung cancer, because heart disease is so much more frequently a killer than lung cancer. By sheer numbers of humans concerned, the heart aspect is more significant.

Again, there are many medical men who do not agree with Hammond that cigarets play any great role in contributing to heart attacks.

It has long been known that smoking can make tiny blood vessels narrow down, kick up pulse rate and blood pressure. Nicotine is usually blamed for this.

TOBACCO STOCKS PLUNGED

In some diseases, particularly Buerger's disease—a plugging of blood vessels in the extremities—smoking is banned as a measure to save life or avoid amputations.

Publication of the Hammond-Horn results sent tobacco stocks tumbling. But they recovered just as they had from previous drops caused by research reports.

Actual cigaret sales month by month are hard to measure, especially for any effects from any cigaret - incriminating announcements. One index is internal revenue stamps, which show how many cigarets are moved from warehouses to the tax-paid market.

As of August, 1954, this movement was down by four per cent compared with a year ago.

LOWER CIGARET USE

Apparently the announcements of cigaret - danger studies have knocked consumption down to some degree, and have been an impetus for greater sales of filter cigarets.

They have persuaded some people to stop smoking, at least temporarily. A number have switched to cigars or pipes, since the Cancer Society study has so far at least found little risk in them.

On the other hand, a few surveys or cigar-smokers do not find pipes or cigars as free of indicated hazard as the Cancer Society study does.

A month ago, the Public Health Cancer Association, a small organization of cancer specialists in public health responsibilities, by a 13 to 2 vote adopted a resolution advising the public to stop smoking as a way to reduce lung cancer deaths, and suggesting that youths ponder whether the risks in smoking were worth the pleasure.

LACK IRON-CLAD PROOF

Earlier, the British minister of health warned about apparent [illegible] conclusion by a British committee on [illegible] and encouraging young people be warned of the risks apparently attendant on excessive smoking."

Some authorities now term cigarets "a major factor in causing" lung cancer. The New England Journal of Medicine has said editorially that the evidence amounts to "proof within the ordinary meaning of the word."

But other authorities—physicians and scientists—say a link is by no means proved.

The American Medical Association has not yet made any editorial pronouncement.

Life insurance companies have not raised their rates for smokers. As men buy new policies, they learned so far, many smokers respond with a shrug. Some don't believe the evidence. Others apparently feel that if there is a risk, well, there is a risk in crossing the street, and even crossing the street, and the risk is well worth the extra because of their enjoyment from smoking.

Others say they think they should stop smoking, and some wonder how best to do it?

HEART-BREAKING TIPS

On this score, a New York psychiatrist, Dr. Howard N. Cooper, offers some hints:

1. If you tell yourself that "tomorrow" you will stop smoking, you'll find tomorrow rarely comes.

2. If you quit until some future date, like Jan. 1, you'll probably find that the desire to smoke flares up on that very day, in spite of how well you had been doing until then.

3. If you just cut down, you'll probably think about cigarets far more, and this usually leads to smoking as much as ever.

4. If you really want to quit, quit forever and completely. Or quit completely "just for today," but do the same thing tomor-row.

SEES EMOTIONAL NEED

Smoking, he says, is a habit, not an addiction, and it involves psychologic satisfactions far more than physical satisfactions.

The greater a person's tensions in life or competition are, the less chance he has of stopping smoking, Dr. Cooper says. Judicious use of crutches can help—like pipes or chewing gum or candy or more attention to and enjoyment of meals—but there can be hazards in them, too.

If people didn't smoke, he says, "we might well have a nation of more alcoholics, more fat people who eat too much, more nail-biters, more people who simply talk too much."

Is Found Guilty Of Manslaughter In Fatal Stabbing

TORONTO (CP)—George Toleff, 28, Wednesday night was acquitted on a charge of murder but found guilty of manslaughter in the stabbing of Ivan Spassoff on last May. He will be sentenced Friday.

Toleff, a recent immigrant from Bulgaria, told the court his wife left him to go with Spassoff. He said he was given custody of their four-year-old daughter and Mrs. Toleff was allowed to see her twice a week.

Police testified Toleff met his wife on the street last May 9 and quarrelled with a home-made knife and then went to the plain where Spassoff was working. There, Spassoff was fatally stabbed.

Toleff said he had been drinking heavily the night before and did not sleep because of worries over domestic difficulties. He said he carried the knife for protection as Spassoff had threatened him with an upholstery hammer when they met on a previous occasion.

Because of "memory blackouts" he could not remember whether he wounded his wife or fatally stabbed Spassoff, said Toleff.

Mr. Justice D. C. Wells in his address to the jury asked it to consider carefully Toleff's testimony that he had consumed considerable liquor and whether that much liquor would prevent the accused from "forming intent to kill."

Crown attorney Arthur Klein said Toleff was "obviously dangerous" and defence counsel John J. Robinette described the man as "a figure of despair" who had gone "berserk."

Red Chief Wants Moderation In War on Religion

By SIDNEY WEILAND

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Mikita Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, today warned Communist party officials not to go too far in the campaign against religion.

He ordered that there must be no more "rude mistakes" or "insulting attacks" which might offend the feelings of churchgoers, and no administrative interference with church activity.

A decree of the party's central committee, signed personally for the first time by Khrushchev emphasized that anti-religious propaganda would go on.

But it said insulting acts were incompatible with the party line and against the constitution's guarantee of freedom of conscience.

Khrushchev's statement came six months after an intensification of the anti-religious campaign. Soviet newspapers have recently carried particularly bitter attacks on the churches, particularly the Orthodox and Baptist faiths.

FEAR PUBLICITY

Khrushchev said patient and organized propaganda would help believers to "free themselves from religious errors" but administrative measures and insults might lead to the creation of "new superstitions."

It is believed the party acted because of the bitterness of anti-religious propaganda might have had a contrary effect to that intended—an increase in the number of young churchgoers has been recently reported—as well as resulting in adverse publicity abroad.

But nothing in this latest development indicated any change in the Communist party's basic antipathy towards religion.

Body Found

VICTORIA HARBOUR, Ont. (CP) — The body was spotted by Charles P. Stocking was found Wednesday in Georgian bay, seven miles north of here.

The body has been missing since last fall, 13 when Mr. Stocking's launch was found drifting in the bay near the community, 18 miles northwest of Orillia. A $300 reward had been offered for recovery.

The body was spotted by John Lee of Midland, a Georgian bay fishways pilot, while flying over the bay.

Family allowance payments and the universal old age pension payments each cost about $30 million a month.

Prime Minister Indicates Tax Bill Will Not Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians Wednesday got an indication from Prime Minister St. Laurent that the tax bill won't go up in the next year.

He told the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor that the government does not consider it necessary to increase tax revenues, though he suggested there will be some shifts in the spending of various departments.

The prime minister also predicted there will be no appreciable reductions in defence expenditures, because of international security commitments. He was replying to a CCCL suggestion of a cut in some defence spending to be applied to increasing social welfare expenditures.

The confederation — representing about 100,000 workers largely centred in Quebec—was one of two general labor bodies appearing before the cabinet Wednesday in annual legislative submissions. The other was the parliamentary legislative committee of the Independent Railway Brotherhoods of about 40,000 operating rail workers.

In talks to the CCCL and the unions answering their briefs, Mr. St. Laurent said:

1. He does not think there will be any extended period of unemployment in Canada.

2. In a possible redistribution of sources of revenue among governments, the federal administration will "try to find the solutions which would best suit the joint needs of the federal, provincial and municipal governments."

3. The government does not want to take into Canada people who cannot be absorbed here—this in reply to labor suggestions for a selective immigration program.

4. The situation on defence spending creates difficulties in dealing with any additional expenditures on social security.

5. The government at the next session of Parliament—to be called shortly after the new year—will recommend changes in unemployment insurance provisions.

CAPTURES "WHALEY"

ROSCOMMON, Mich. (AP)—A small, white deer-like animal was caught near Houghton lake Wednesday. Ralph Machlan, in charge of the Houghton lake wildlife experimental station, said the "Whaley" stands about two feet high and has legs about 10 inches long. He was unable to identify it. The animal is a female with a coat resembling a deer's.

ASKED TO QUIT

A. H. (Hammy) McDonald, a candidate for leadership of the Saskatchewan Liberal party, said he had been asked to withdraw and had refused. He declined to say who approached him. Agriculture Minister Gardiner has been unduly "interfering" in the race in which his son Wilfrid figures. Mr. Gardiner has denied he asked any of the candidates to withdraw. A new leader will be chosen at the provincial convention Nov. 25-27, to replace Walter Tucker, who entered federal politics and now is in the House of Commons. (CP Photo).

Immigrant from New Zealand May Be Chosen by Liberals As Leader in Saskatchewan

By WILF CHESLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

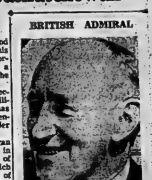
REGINA (CP)—A New Zealand immigrant who has molded his life in Canada around the misfortunes of the west is considered a likely choice as new leader of the Saskatchewan Liberal party.

L. B. Thomson, 54-year-old director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration which has headquarters here has been mentioned as a possible Liberal leader for more than two years.

Praised by all Saskatchewan political groups for his work in building up the huge network of PFRA irrigation projects which have reclaimed blowing deserts of western Canada into crop land, he has all the qualifications Saskatchewan Liberals are looking for in a new leader but one—he has no legislative experience.

That lack of experience plus the importance of his work in present negotiations for the South Saskatchewan river project, a proposed $135,000,000 power and irrigation scheme, have been suggested as reasons why he has not permitted his name to be entered on the list of leadership candidates. However, Mr. Thomson, under pressure from all sides, is reported reconsidering after an earlier refusal. He said Monday he will announce his plans some time before the leadership convention is held in Saskatoon Nov. 25-27.

FIVE IN RUNNING



Saskatchewan Liberals then will choose a leader to replace Walter Tucker who resigned last year and now is member of Parliament for Rosthern.

Five candidates are in the run and there may be three more. Besides Mr. Thomson, the list of probables includes federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner, a guiding hand in Saskatchewan politics for more than a quarter of a century.

Mr. Gardiner, twice premier of Saskatchewan, said in Ottawa Wednesday night that he does not intend to be a candidate before the leadership convention, but some delegates might nominate him.

Another probable is Harold Pope, Moose Jaw lawyer, who finished in the race despite requests that they step aside are Mr. Gardiner son, Wilfrid, a Lethbridge farmer; Wilfrid Sinnnie, former Saskatoon insurance company broker, and Hammy who is president of the Saskatoon Liberal Association, and A. H. McDonald, second World War fighter pilot who is whip for Liberal members of the legislature. Also tossed out the slate are Donald Hood,

Deer Hunter Killed

KIOSK, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police Wednesday night identified Chester Prescott, 47, of Milwaukee, Wis., as the hunter who was killed Wednesday when another hunter mistook him for a deer in heavy bush country.

Prescott's chest wall was pierced near the heart by a bullet fired by Rene Bosco, 22, of Niagara Falls, Ont., police said.

The men were staying in camps near this community 30 miles southeast of North Bay. Draper Prescott, a brother of the man who was shot, was a member of the hunting party with Chester, Bosco was in another party.

HORMEL TRIAL DATE SET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George Hormel II pleaded not guilty Wednesday to a charge of possessing marijuana. A judge scheduled his trial for Jan. 4. The meat packing heir and night club pianist was arrested last Sept. 19. Police said they found a dozen marijuana cigarets in his car. Hormel is free on bail.

CCF Leader Opposes Rebirth Of German Staff

OTTAWA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said today the CCF opposes the rebirth of a German general staff under the Paris agreements and whether his party will support the agreements depends on their final form.

After a three-month trip to Britain and Israel, Mr. Coldwell told a press conference he found a "great deal of restlessness" among United Kingdom political parties about German rearmament.

The Paris agreements, providing for the rebirth of a German army, a general rearmament and inclusion of Germany in the West European defences plan under NATO, still must be approved by parliaments concerned, including Canada.

Mr. Coldwell said the West can not forever undertake the defence of Western Germany under NATO. The Germans must be brought into the defence set-up but the conditions were important. He and his party would give the matter close study in the coming weeks before Parliament opens in January.

Slight Increase In Employment Is Reported

OTTAWA (CP) — A slight increase in industrial employment at the beginning of September was reported today by the bureau of statistics.

The report said the industrial employment index, based on 1949 equalling 100, stood at 113.7 Sept. 1, an increase of .4 per cent from a month earlier but 3.3 per cent below the level of Sept. 1, 1953.

Weekly payrolls were .1 per cent below those of Aug. 1 and 1.1 per cent below Sept. 1, 1953. Average weekly wages were $63.34, compared with $59.17 a month earlier. The bureau credited the decline to shorter working hours because of vacations and shortages of orders, and to employment of seasonal workers at below-average rates.

Northern Defence Network Tight Enough -- Slemon

QUEBEC (CP) — Air Marshal C. R. Slemon, RCAF chief of staff, says Canada's northern defence network is tight enough to spot any enemy plane attacking from the North Pole within minutes regardless of whatever camouflage it might use.

"Any plane which would try to cross the present defence lines would be located and could be shot down in a few minutes," he said in an address Tuesday night to delegates to the Air Industries and Transport Association convention which ended today.

He said the air force's big job now is improving a fool-proof network to spot planes with disguised insignia.

"They would not fool us more than a few minutes. I can say without fear that it is impossible for any enemy plane to venture for very long across our defence system."

Madoc-Elzevir Sunday School Convention Held in United Church

ELDORADO — The annual convention of the Madoc and Elzevir township Sunday School Association was held on Wednesday at Eldorado United Church with a splendid attendances at each of the three sessions.

The church, which had suffered quite extensive damage during Hurricane Hazel, had been temporarily repaired, and was given an added brightness by the beautiful flowers sent in by Dr. Grant Fraser, of Madoc.

GROW IN LOVE

The theme for the convention was "The Challenge of the Unfinished Task." This theme was carried throughout the day by the various speakers. In his opening devotional service, Rev. J. F. Lane, of Madoc, read and commented on 1st. Corinthians 13, throwing out a searching challenge to all to grow in knowledge of love with the practical application of it in every day living. Later in the day Rev. A. Smith, of Madoc, followed this same thought of love as applied to the work as Sunday school teachers.

The president, Mr. Allan Sager, welcomed new ministers to the association, Rev. P. Bennett, Rev. A. Smith, Rev. J. Glovetti and Rev. R. Johnson.

Reports were read from twelve Sunday schools.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker for the morning and evening sessions was Rev. H. Hagarsard, of Ivanhoe, United Church. Mr. Hagsaward who is a native of Holland, had spent eight years a missionary in New Guinea before he and his wife and children were taken prisoners by the Japanese and kept for more than three years in concentration camps.

His message dealt with the theme of the convention as it relates to the far places of the world where Christianity is still unknown. He described the motives for, and methods of spreading Christianity from the early beginning and stressed that the motive must still be simple and complete obedience to Christ.

In the afternoon, Rev. L. K. Daniel, of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Belleville, gave a helpful and inspiring talk on Sunday School teaching methods. He pointed out that 85 percent of church membership comes thru the Sunday school, aided by such week-day groups as CGIT and YPUP's.

The task is never finished and is always a challenge. Sunday school teachers should always feel that their primary consideration is to teach boys and girls to come to the measure of the stature of the fulness of Jesus Christ. Facts should be presented so that children may grasp them as relative to their own daily living.

Teach children to work with God because they know He loves and cares for them and needs them to help Him in caring for others.

During the evening, Miss Rogers, of Inwood Pentecostal Church, spoke briefly on "Total Abstinence" and presented a film strip on "Safety Education."

AWARDS PRESENTED

Mrs. C. Woods presented awards to eleven girls and boys who had written "Temperance" examinations, two being Dominion, four provincial, and the others local, WCTU awards. Otho Lawandmaiden Jr.

Miss Alma Moorcroft presented the banner given on a point basis to St. Peter's Presbyterian Sunday School superintendent, Mrs. Clark.

Special music throughout the day was much appreciated. Those who sang were: Rev. and Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. W. Armstrong, Misses Robinson, Mrs. A. Smith and Gael, and the Bannockburn junior choir, with a violin solo by Mr. Radzimiaski.

Following the installation of officers by Rev. Mr. Healig, the convention was closed by Rev. J. F. Lane.

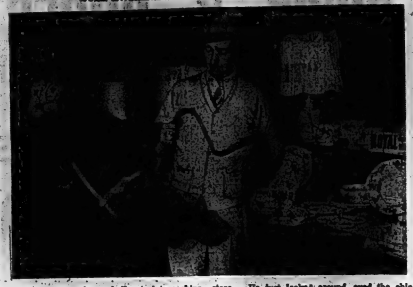
Import Controls Easing Fails To Improve Trade

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's commercial counsellor, London says Britain has removed a lot of her import controls, but this has not led to any over-all strengthening of Canada's exports to that country.

H. P. Bower, writing in the official trade department publication, Foreign Trade, estimated that Britain's imports from Canada for the first nine months of 1954 dropped to £183,180,000 from £228,-268,000 last year.

"Many of the products covered by United Kingdom trade liberalization measures have improved their position on the British market," he said, "but these gains have been more than wiped out by lower prices for many Canadian exports—particularly cereals—and by some less serious reductions in the volume and value of others."

Mr. Bower added:



"The decline in Canadian sales to the U. K. has come at a time when the U. K. rate of imports has remained constant. The U. K. has held its own as a supplier and South Africa, Kuwait, India, Ceylon, New Zealand, Russia, the Scandinavian countries and most other European countries have improved their standing.

"Imports from Western Germany, for example, at £58,000,000, were 18 per cent up over the previous year. Among the South American countries, Peru, Chile, Venezuela and Brazil also are doing better in 1954."

While Canada's sales to Britain have declined, Canadians should not despair, Mr. Bower added, suggesting that the "general position is not as discouraging as a first glance might imply."

"If the performance of cereals is overlooked, the remaining total of British imports from Canada in the first three-quarters of the current year is larger than it was a year earlier."

BULL IN CHINA SHOP AND NOTHING HAPPENS

What happens when a bull gets into a china shop? The answer, after the experiment was tried, is exactly nothing. This Aberdeen Angus bull, en route to the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair was taken into a Toronto china and glass store. He just looked around, eyed the china and the spectators with a resigned expression; then was led away, the picture of docility. After all, glassware is not exactly a bull's dish. District Hunters Are Acquitted Of Trespassing

LITTLE CURRENT (CP)—Fourteen Penetang and Midland district hunters charged with trespassing on an Indian reserve were acquitted Tuesday when magistrate W. J. Golden, of Sudbury, found they didn't know they were on a reserve.

They were apprehended by RCMP and conservation officers when they set out Sunday in their 120-foot Fairmile cruiser, to hunt in the Point Grondine reserve on Manitoulin Island.

In court they told magistrate Golden they had been hunting the area for years, and while they had seen the reserve markings on the map, they said "an old Indian" had told them it was "okay" to hunt in the area.

Charged were Albert Lesperance, 40, Eric Paune, 25, Fred Nesbrance 46, all of Perkinsfield; Bruce Stephens, 36, Raymond Belisle, 33, George Mead, 58, Albert Lepage, 37, John Beausoleil, 57; Hubert Brunelier, 45, Ovila Cascagnette, 45, Peter Lepage, 41 and Isidore Lepage, 25, all of Penetang, and Armand Robillard, 43, and Nino Gionnette, 36, of Midland.

At the time of their apprehension they had 13 deer in their possession, but these were not seized because police said there was no indication of whether they were shot on the reserve.

Conciliatory Attitude Shown By Russians

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower said today Russia seems to be showing a somewhat more conciliatory attitude in the latest plane shooting incident that has been the case in earlier similar episodes.

The president told a press conference that in the U.S. view the American photo-making plane shot down by Soviet fliers off the Japanese coast Sunday had a right to be where it was.

But these things are not always as clear-cut as they seem and this one is clouded to some extent, Eisenhower said.

Niagara Falls Paper Is Sold

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Sale of the Niagara Falls Gazette to Frank E. Gannett, a purchase long rumored in newspaper circles, was announced yesterday.

The purchase price was not disclosed. But the figure most often mentioned has been $2,500,000.

The sale of the century-old Gazette, according to today's announcement, was based on an agreement between Gannett and the late Alanson C. Deuel, president of the Niagara Falls Gazette Publishing Co., prior to the latter's death Oct. 18.

The Gazette becomes the 32rd newspaper of the Gannett group. Gannett also operates five radio stations and three television stations. The interests of the group are centred in New York state, with headquarters of the Gannett Co. Inc. in Rochester, but the properties also extend to New Jersey, Connecticut and Illinois.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was still feeling proud about walking the certsione for 43 steps without losing by ballents and after dinner I said to pop, Hay pop, I'm a champeen athaleet.

Assuming that you are the first to congradulate yourself, allow me to be the 2nd, pop said, and I said, None of the other fellows can come anywheres near me when it comes to walking the certsione like a titerope without falling off, and this afternoon I even brokte my own record twice, so that makes it impossible for anybody to catch up with me.

You have reeched a lonely eminece in the werld of sport, and I withdraw my congradulations and extend my simpathy, pop said, and I said, Well G. pop, why?

When competition is limited to yourself, the flavor of victory becomes cloying, pop said. Did you ever hear of Mount Everest? he said, and I said, Sure, it's a mountain, and now it's been climbed.

That's rite, pop said. For years and years it remained the only great peek that had never been scaled, and it got very sad and lonesome and mizzerble, away up there by itself. So when the ferst men set the ferst feet on its lofty brow, just a little while ago, Mount Everest burst into happy tears of relief that sent the snow tumbling in great avalanches with sounds of joyful thunder. And as the years go by, with nobody but yourself to approach your own record as a certsione walker, you will realize how Mount Everest felt while it remained unscaled, pop said, and I said, Well heck, maybe some other guy will get good enough after a while.

Treasure Buried in 16th Century Seen as Jap Hope for Prosperity

TOKYO (AP)—A fantastic treasure of $84,000,000,000 in gold bars, reputedly buried in a Japanese mine by a warlord who sacked Korea in the 16th century, was cited today as Japan's best hope for prosperity without United States' aid—if there is such a treasure.

The newspaper Sangyo Keizai today said documents recently discovered, certified as ancient and authentic by historians, tell of the treasure buried in a deserted silver mine near the industrial city of Osaka in central Japan.

Kanichiro Kamei, an obscure former legislator, is credited with finding the documents. They tell the final chapter in the saga of Toyotomi Hideyoshi, a powerful warlord who invaded Korea in 1592.

Hideyoshi, often called the "Napoleon of Japan," is the most famed general and conqueror in Japanese history. He overran the southern half of Korea in a few months.

But six years later the Ming dynasty marched its massive Chinese army down the Korean peninsula and Hideyoshi fled to his Osaka headquarters.

Besides the gold, he is credited with bringing back 10,000 Korean ears which were pickled and kept in a shrine for years.

Hideyoshi fell ill at Osaka and moved to safeguard the gold.

He cleared the Tada silver mine, 15 miles northwest of Osaka, of miners. He forced convicts to bury his fabulous treasure, then had the convicts executed.

"Japan would be on her feet without American aid" if the golden treasure is recovered, Sangyo Keizai said. Eighty per cent would flow into the national treasury.

Poses as Officer Takes Money From Nurses

TORONTO (CP)—John Copses, 26, reported safe Oct. 18 after being listed as missing in the Toronto area in floods that followed Hurricane Hazel Oct. 15-16, has been arrested in Hamilton on a fraud charge in connection with a complaint by a Toronto nurse who says Copses wooed her and borrowed money from her while posing as Flight-Lieut. Douglas of the United States army Flying Tigers."

The pretty, 23-year-old nurse at Toronto's Western Hospital told police Copses got in touch with her by telephone, telegram and letter under the name of Douglas. She said she lent him $45 but later thought something was wrong and called police.

Detectives said other complaints are being investigated.

Police said they had been looking for Copses for some time when they saw his picture in a Toronto newspaper as a reported flood victim. His mother, reporting him safe Oct. 18, told police she saw him in a bus terminal.

WOORD MANY

They said that, using three different names, he wooed several girls in the Toronto area and married one in June, 1953, under the name of John Foster. The girl he had said they lived together three months.

She is trying to get a divorce, she added.

She said they met through mutual friends and he never saw her husband in uniform.

Neither did the pretty nurse who laid the complaint.

The nurse told police Copses told her he was flying jet planes.

She said that when he took her out he asked her for loans because he had run out of money.

PENTAGON WIRE

Police allege Copses spent some of the money he reported to have borrowed from nurses on entertaining them.

Detectives said they have six telegrams sent to the nurse whose complaint led to Copses' arrest. They said the wires were sent from various parts of the United States — one came from the Pentagon building in Washington—and carried an air force identification number.

Witness Says She Saw Accused Throw Man's Hat

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Mary Ann Sheridan, a spectator at a Toronto-Montreal Big Four Football game Oct. 23, Wednesday told a special hearing on alleged police brutality she saw Robert Wright, 21, grab constable James Cowie's hat and toss it into the crowd.

The constable fended off a heart attack while trying to quiet a melee which developed after Toronto won the game in a close finish. Mrs. Sheridan said she was less than two feet away when Wright grabbed the hat.

She described Wright as "the man in the grey suit" and as a "drunk" being led away by constable Cowie. The "vicious" crowd incited the man and he became violent, she said.

Mr. Justice W. D. Roach of the Ontario Supreme Court is conducting investigation into charges by Wright, 21, and Michael Griffin, 22, that they were victims of brutality in the police station and were not allowed to see their lawyer while police finished investigating.

The men were charged with obstructing police. The charges are pending completion of the hearing.

NO WARNING

Acting detective Jack Nicolucci told the inquiry he attempted to get stories from the two men in police custody without giving them the usual warning that they did not have to say anything.

He said he had not intended to write down or to use whatever they told him.

"If I had started in to caution them at that time they might have thought they were putting their foot in it and not say anything," he said.

Dr. Ward Smith said if a person consumed 13½ ounces of whiskey under such conditions, his judgment, reasoning and self-control would be affected, if he were not completely drunk. Wright said he drank that amount during the game.

Constable William Chambers, accused of beating Wright up, denied this and said if he had kicked Wright, there would have been more marks on him.

Peron Declares Three Bishops Fight His Regime

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Juan D. Peron accused three Argentine Roman Catholic bishops Wednesday night of waging a campaign against his regime. Saying he did not blame the church, the president said the three bishops were "enemies of the government."

In a speech also accusing two Italian priests of working against the state and the "Catholic Action" movement of trying to undermine his Peronista movement, Peron said his government will take measures against priests and all organizations which indulge in "illicit activities."

The president identified the three Argentine clergymen as bishops Nicolas Fasolino of Santa Fe, Jeronimo Lafitte of Cordoba and Froilan Herreira Reinafe of Lanalao.

He said the Argentine foreign ministry will bring the matter of the two before the papal nuncio, the Vatican's envoy here.

"We will clean the church of men who have revolted against their authorities," Peron said. He added, there was no problem of state against church, but merely a political situation.

He charged the opposition, "still dreaming of revolution as in the previous 10 years," were trying to stir up certain groups of the Argentine population against the Peron regime.

The president's speech capped a 15-day campaign by the powerful General Labor Confederation's newspaper La Prensa, which accused the clergy of interfering in the labor movement.

New Salary Schedule Offered Teachers

TORONTO (CP)—The board of education of suburban Etobicoke township Wednesday put before elementary and secondary school teachers a new salary schedule offering $200 more minimum and $600 more maximum than Toronto's scale, considered one of the best in the province.

The new wage rates offered were not announced. Minimum scale in board of education schools in Toronto is $2,200, maximum is $4,200.

Etobicoke board officials said the schedule is aimed at raising professional standards and assuring teachers.

Basically, the schedule is different from others now in effect in that it provides larger starting and maximum salaries for beginners who enter the profession with complete training than for those who complete training after they begin to teach.

TEACHING STATUS

Secondly, it bases principals' salaries primarily on their status as teachers, adding an additional amount for the responsibility of office.

Also, under the new scheme, extra pay is given those who take grade 13 subjects to obtain their teaching certificates. Those who obtain their certificates under the department of education emergency courses do not receive as great a rate of pay although both have the same class certificate.

Larger salaries are given for honor university degrees than for general degrees.

PLAN REZONING

TORONTO (CP) — Rezoning of Woodbine Race Track, now slated for commercial use, for residential and park purposes, was proposed Wednesday by Controller Lipsett. Mr. Lipsett said the Ontario Jockey Club will be vacating the property soon and it is important to move now to obtain the property for housing and parkland.

Says Government Owes Apology To Duke of Windsor

LONDON (Reuters) — The British government should apologize to the Duke of Windsor for its official publication of German wartime documents linking the duke with German diplomatic officials, says a Conservative member of Parliament.

It was disclosed today that H. B. Kerby intends to ask Foreign Secretary Eden Monday in the House of Commons "what apology he has made to the duke." The former sovereign's replied immediately to publication of the documents by issuing a statement Tuesday saying their allegations were "completely without foundation."

The documents, published by the government Monday, contained two letters written in the early months of the Second World War by Count Julius Von Zech-Burkersrode, German minister to The Netherlands, to a German foreign ministry official.

In one the count said he believed he could "establish certain lines leading to the Duke of Windsor." He then serving as a liaison officer between the British and French armies. In the second he wrote of references alleged to have been made by the duke to an Allied war council discussion of these diplomats.

The government now faces Commons criticism on the incident from both parties. Labor member Will Lawther has already indicated he will query Prime Minister Churchill Tuesday on why the duke was not given prior notification of the intention to publish the documents.

LIVES ON TOP OF AN IRON DEPOSIT

Possibility that iron deposits on his farm near Marmora, Ont., may be mined by a Mogiceal firm holds the hope of $500,000 for Will Allan and his wife. The iron deposit, believed to be about 5,000,000 tons, was discovered years ago. If it is mined, Allan will receive 10 cents a ton royalty. He sold mineral rights to another lot for $14,000. RAWDON

Mount Pleasant United Church Celebrates 83rd Anniversary

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

RAWDON — The new pastor of Rawdon United Church circuit, the Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., officiated at the two services of Mount Pleasant United Church on Sunday on the occasion of the 83rd anniversary of its erection.

The weather was ideal and approximately 250 people gathered for the morning service with a few less in the evening. The worshippers were in attendance from Markham, Hastings, Campbellford, Trenton, Stockdale, Oshawa, Burnbrae, Hoard's, Springbrook, Salem, Halloway, Ivanhoe, Fuller, Bethel-Zion, Carmel, Sidling St. Andrew's, St. John's and St. Paul; Bethel, Wellman's West Huntingdon and other points.

A large number of folk were former members of the congregation and Mr. Will Fox, Sidling, attended Mount Pleasant 62 years ago and was pleased to attend the 83rd anniversary.

FLORAL DECORATIONS

The edifice was nicely decorated with variegated chrysanthemums and golden marigolds.

The morning service opened with S. B. Gould's "Marching Hymn" and the central theme was "The Church's One Foundation is Jesus Christ Her Lord."

The choir of 16 voices rendered "Morning Hymn of Praise," with Miss Betty McConnell as pianist for the services. Mrs. Marguerite McMullen sang "Bless This House."

Mr. Fletcher welcomed the large number of visitors and chose as his morning theme, "I was glad when they said unto me 'Let us go into the House of the Lord'." The speaker paid tribute to those who attend church regularly and in so doing feed their souls spiritually and asked the question: "How far is it to your church?" He then gave a graphic illustration which was true to present-day living, and continuing his message, he said: "The church is your spiritual home and is a place to worship in fellowship with others, and radiant Christians enjoy meeting on the Sabbath Day in the church of their choice."

Mr. Fletcher gave three reasons for non-attendance. One individual has said it is beyond endurance to attend church if it is too hot, if it is raining, or if there is anything else to do.

The pastor wondered how many just attended special church services like Christmas, Easter, anniversary and how many planned to be in their pew Sunday after Sunday.

ATTENDANCE REVIVAL NEEDED

In closing he made a plea for a revival in church attendance throughout the district.

The offering was gathered by Messrs. Mac Sharp, Bert Sharp, Harry McAdam and Raymond McConnell.

The service closed with John Newton's hymn, "Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken."

EVENING SERVICE

The church was filled to capacity and overflowed to several chairs for the evening service which opened with Charles Wesley's "Hymn of Praise."

Mr. Fletcher based his message on the theme "Behold I stand at the door and knock!" In his message, he pointed out that in some cases the door of the heart is not opened because people did not hear; others do not understand, while others deliberately turn a deaf ear and decide to live their lives as they choose without God. The speaker pictured the infinite patience, longing and love of Jesus, who still keeps knocking and hopes to reach those who are outside the fold.

He graphically pictured the need of Christ in the homes, schools and in the nation. We must always remember that Christ never forces His way in; the door must be opened from within and there are still many people who have kept the door locked.

The speaker closed with an impressive, true story based on the hymn "Behold a Stranger at the door!"

The full choir rendered an anthem "His Eye is on the Sparrow" with Mrs. W. G. Fletcher taking the solo part.

Hastings' male quartet, Messrs. Humphrey, Burnham, Scriver and Cwight with Mrs. Baker as accompanist, rendered two selections "Sabbath Eve" and "Near to the Heart of God."

The service closed with the congregational hymn of W. W. How, "O Jesus Thou Art Standing, Outside the Fast Closed Door, in lowly patience waiting, to pass the threshold o'er."

The objective of $300 was almost reached and the Mount Pleasant congregation have completed another milestone in its history.

At the close of the service Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McConnell and Betty entertained the members of the choir and the guests from Hastings for a social half hour and refreshments with about 25 in attendance.

Mrs. Murney Fleming at Oshawa. Mrs. Lizzie Thomson returned home with them, after spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Fleming.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heath, Donnie and Carol; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reid and Geordie; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mumby, Tommie and his baby brother, and Mrs. Stella Gibson, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fitchett, Rose, in Campbellford, Saturday night.

Mrs. Harry Mumby was hostess to about 12 neighbor ladies at a brush party, at her home on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Harry McAdam of Mount Pleasant was the demonstrator.

Plan Showdown With 800 Sullen Okinawa Convicts

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Okinawa police last night brought up tear gas and riot guns in preparation for a showdown with 800 sullen prisoners who have kept Naha penitentiary in turmoil since rioting broke out Sunday.

A United States' military government official said the showdown might come Thursday.

Twenty-seven of the 81 prisoners who escaped Sunday are still at large.

The prison compound has been under control of the inmates for three days.

Wednesday mutineers gorged themselves on the prison's food supplies, and killed four of the 12 pigs kept in the prison yard. Frequent speeches and jibers could be heard as they roamed the compound in sullen revolt.

Police stood guard in drenching rain all around the prison's 15-foot-high brick walls.

Extra police squads were called in, weapons distributed and floodlights rigged. Prison officials hudded in last-minute strategy meetings.

Lack of Dollars Only Item To Hinder Trade

LONDON (CP)—Viscount Swinton said Wednesday night there is no limit to the trade Canada and Britain can do together as natural complementary markets.

The secretary of state for Commonwealth relations, recently returned from a 9½-week Canadian tour, said this in an address prepared for delivery at a dinner given by the Canada Club.

Only one thing, the lack of dollars, could halt or hinder Anglo-Canadian trade and that could be cured increasingly by mutual trade.

Lord Swinton said that in spite of an adverse British trade balance, which ran to some £140,000,000 last year, Britain had progressively liberalized her trade with Canada.

"Last year we took nearly twice as much Canadian wheat as we did before the war. . . We have freed from all restrictions a number of other products like soft wood, lead and nickel. We are greatly increasing our import of newsprint and of other things."

Moulton College Will Be Sold To Hotel Chain

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Leslie Saunders said Wednesday a large United States hotel chain has bought the property of Moulton College on uptown Bloor street and plans a large hotel on the site of the former girls' school.

He said he understands the purchaser is the Sheraton chain.

The price is reported more than $500,000 with a one-year option.

McMaster University president G. F. Gilmour said the reason for closing the school was lack of money to run it. Improve it or change it into a day school. Moulton had been operated as a department of the university since 1888.

A MAN AND HIS MEMORIES

A news dispatch the other day said that Connie Mack, Philadelphia's grand old man of baseball was "shed with his memories—and $662,000."

That big wad of money can take care of itself. Let's see what Mr. McGillicuddy's memories can do about it.

They will take him back over a long, long trail of colorful living, for he will be 92 in December. He will recall his boyhood in East Brookfield, Mass., a village of 300 souls where he first saw the light of day. On that date in 1862, Cannie's father was away fighting with the 51st Massachusetts Infantry in Lincoln's Army. Later there were seven children in the family supported by ten dollars a week earned by the breadwinner.

Connie's first job was that of a leather cutter in a shoe factory. He was 16. He left home at 21 after promising his mother he would never take a drink, smoke or use profanity—a promise he has kept to this day. He had become quite a baseball player, a catcher, and in 1884 he got his first job with the Meriden club, at $90 a month. In 1886 he was sold with others to the Washington Senators, then a National League club. Connie will recall that in those days hotels refused to take in ball players.

He will remember the time when first bases were not bags, but wooden posts four feet high. He will recall the first catcher's mask used in 1876 and the first glove made in 1869 by a saddle-maker. Before 1886 when a ball was foot the umpire called a recess of five minutes. Everybody looked for his watch and if it was not found, a new one was tossed into the game.

On down that long memory trail Connie will wander, recalling his first franchise, the Philadelphia club in 1900. He will remember the "discoveries", he made, Nap Lajoie, Eddie Plank, Rube Waddell, Jack Coombs and others. There will flash across his mind that $300,000 deal that brought him Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw, Mickey Cochrane, Max Bishop and Joe Boley, the famous infield trio ("Home-run") Baker sent Connie Jimmie Foxx as a gift.

American League pennants waving in the breeze will cross Connie's mental stroll. He will see those years of 1929-30-31 when the "A's" brought home the bacon. His Athletics of 1932 were the highest priced team in baseball history, not excepting the fabulous Yankees.

When Connie wanted players he did not spare the purse strings. He paid $100,000 for Grove. Ruth was sold to the Yankees for $100,000, so Mack raised the ante on his star lefty. He paid Baltimore $80,000 for Earnshaw and $65,000 for Foley. He had to buy an interest in the Portland club for $125,000 and $50,000 cash to Mickey Cochrane before he got his services.

He will remember the crash when he was forced to unload his players. Tom Yawkey and Boston paid him $400,000 within three years for seven Athletic stars, to let Mack pay off his obligations to a bank.

His biggest thrill came in the 1929 world series, Mack's club was loaded with pitchers: Grove, Earnshaw, Walberg, et al. Mack did not know what to do. Then his eyes fell on Howard Ehmke, a grand old-timer. But this was different. He told Ehmke he would have to let him go. Ehmke pleaded. He said he wanted to be on a pennant winner and to work in a world series. History knows the rest. Mack pulled one of the greatest surprises in history and started Ehmke in the opening game. The veteran astounded the baseball world with a 3-1 victory over the Cubs and struck out 13.

His next great thrill came in the same series when the Athletics trailed the Cubs 8-0 in the seventh. The "A's" scored a phenomenal ten runs to win the game 10-9.

So on down that colorful trail Connie's memories will take him. He will relive joy and bitter disappointment; smallish grandeur. He mingled with the great in all walks of life. His life is an inspiration to every young man. He never lost faith and he never lost courage. And the memories dear to his great heart are the pennants won by his Philadelphia Athletics, won under his masterful leadership have won nine American League flags and five world series.

How the latest move of fate that separated this fine old gentleman from the American League and his beloved Athletics will affect him, is a matter for conjecture. As the news dispatch said, "he was abed with his memories."

Six teams are clustered tighter than concord grapes in this Senior "B" hockey set-up. Last night the upsurging Kingston Goodyears swept into a first place tie with Belleville and Cornwall following their 7-4 defeat of the Brockville Magedomas, Whitby pulled up into a second place tie with Clinton and Brockville after they handed the Peterborough Petes a 5-3 setback.

What should be one of the better battles of the season takes place here Friday when the Stormes clash with the strong Cornwall Indians in their first get-together of the season. At the same time Kingston can maintain their tie on top with a win over the Petes in Peterborough.

Ten-Foot Blast by Rudy Migay Gives Toronto The Victory; Boston Edges Chihawks 4-3

By The Canadian Press

It's the same old story at the bottom of the National Hockey League ladder today: Chicago is again low man looking up.

Boston Bruins dumped the Black Hawks back into the basement Wednesday night, moving up to fifth place with a 4-3 victory over the Chicagoans before a Boston crowd of 6,310.

At the same time, Toronto Maple Leafs invaded the Rangers' sanctuary at Madison Square Garden and came away with a 2-1 triumph that ended New York's home victory string at four games. The Ranger loss, first in five games at home this season, dropped New York three points behind the third-place Leafs.

Centre Fleming Mackell spelled basement pair Chicago with a 10-foot shot in the third period that broke a 3-3 count at Boston. The winning goal, Mackell's first of the game, came after he intercepted a Johnny McCormack passout in the Chicago end and went in alone on goalie Al Rollins.

Had 3-0 Lead

Doug Mohns, Mackell and Ed Sandford got Boston off to a 3-0 start in the first period but Pete Conacher, Jim Morrison in the first and another in the second, and Jerry Toppazzini evened it. Mackell's goal in the third period made the difference.

A 10-footer by Rudy Migay in the final period at New York gave Leafs their narrow margin over the once-beaten Rangers.

The goal was Migay's fourth of the season and it came at 6:41 of the third period on a pass from Gordie Hannigan. It was almost identical to Migay's winning goal scored at 2:28 of the same period by rookie Lorne Ferguson.

Andy Bathgate passed from behind the goal to Popeln, who slapped the puck past goalie Harry Lumley while crossing the goal mouth.

George Armstrong opened the scoring at 19:22 of the second period with a 35-foot shot.

Maple Leafs can move within a point of the second-place Red Wings when they move to Detroit tonight while the Rangers will try to regain fifth place by defeating the front-running Canadiens at Montreal.

Racing Body Hands Down Third Suspension

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario racing commission Wednesday handed down its third suspension in two days as it continued its inquiry into reports gamblers tried to fix the third race at Dufferin Park last Saturday.

The latest suspension went to jockey Ken Clemes, pending a hearing Friday. However, Clemes was permitted to ride Wednesday and he won the second race at Dufferin on Getlace.

Ray Powers, a jockey from Hamilton, was given a lifetime suspension Tuesday on grounds of offering bribes' in connection with races and groom Archie St. John received an indefinite suspension for refusing to answer commission questions.

Several jockeys testified at the stand hearing Wednesday. At the close of the 2½-hour session chairman E. Taylor Soper announced the suspension but declined to answer reporters' questions.

"I'm not going on with this investigation," he said. "Answers to some of these questions would tend to make our job more difficult."

Asked about the amount of the bribe offered jockeys, Soper said Hank Williams to pull up the favorite Alsiffarm in the third at Dufferin Saturday, Mr. Bigelow jokingly replied:

"The usual. Three skins ($300)."

Grid Gossip

The Belleville Quinte COSSA Rugby teams broke even in their play-off games during the week. Albert College carried the ball rolling by taking Port Hope H.S. into camp at the Albert Field by a score of 28 to 6. Hamilton got two for Albert with Gitelman, Conn and Mulvihill contributing one each. Rupert got the Converts.

Quinte S.S. in their first year of competition brought the first Junior "B" title to the district when they downed Bowman-ville H.S. in Bowmanville by a score of 23 to 0. Jack Sisson's boys were altogether too strong for the homesters, and Walmsley at quarterback for the winners was the outstanding player on the field.

Belleville CIVS Juniors entertaining Oshawa Central C.I., on the Albert field lost a heartbreaker in the last four minutes. The locals leading at the time 17 to 8 fell victims to a team that caught fire. Two touchdowns in four minutes relegated Fred Bradley's boys to the showers for the season. Oshawa Central now meet either Burlington H.S. or Allison H.S. for the COSSA title.

Peterborough CIVS took BCI Senior's in Peterborough by the tune of 33 to 3. BCI were riddled with injuries before game-time. Jan Geneja BCI backfielder was the outstanding player on the field.

Next Saturday on the Albert field, the College boys go against Notre Dame of Welland in the COSSA final, and will be trying to take their second title in three years. Game time 2.15 p.m. Dave Scott and Bob Lemon, two of Albert's regular backfield who have been out of action for the last two games should be back in action. Notre Dame has the reputation of turning out strong teams.

Chicago White Sox Manager Predicts Major Ball on Coast in Three Years

CHICAGO (AP)—The start of a race by the National and American baseball clubs to establish clubs on the west coast is approaching and general manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox predicts the move will come within three years.

Lane, chairman of the major leagues realignment committee, foresees San Francisco and Los Angeles as getting major league baseball as part of a 16-club league set-up.

"It may come within three years," he said. "The time is rapidly approaching when one league or the other must move into the fertile area on the Pacific coast." He said whichever league gets there first will be "top dog."

Bill Veeck, former club owner who has been commissioned by P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, to investigate the possibility of establishing big league baseball on the coast, feels the National League should assert itself.

Veeck, who has an option to purchase Wrigley's Los Angeles ball park, conferred Wednesday in Brooklyn with Walter O'Malley, Dodger president. They both agreed that the National circuit "had better get busy or lose the initiative to the American League."

They met briefly and spoke of the westward trend in general terms. A Dodger spokesman said "they did not speak about moving any certain club to California."

"San Francisco already has approved a five million dollar bond issue to build a stadium," Lane said. "The Los Angeles park district has earmarked 10 million dollars for the same purpose."

Lane envisions the major league player limit being cut from 25 to 21 which would make 64 players available for use in organizing big league clubs on the coast.

"It would mean relaxing the present rules which govern the recall of optioned players," Lane said, "and also the rule requiring an injured player to remain on the disabled list for a minimum of 30 days. But all these things could be arranged without too much trouble."

Since 1944 the average of annual wages paid in Canadian manufacturing has increased by 100 per cent.

"WHERE PARKING IS NO PROBLEM"

Wellington Honors Local Champions, Trophies, Crests Presented at Banquet

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

They handed the Wellington baseball Midget "C" team a championship trophy in the lakeside village last night, and they should have been two.

These beardless baseball buckaroos won the Ontario Baseball Association Midget title for the first time in the history of Prince Edward and Hastings Counties. Last night they won the gobbler-gobbling title of the village as well, as OBA brass and municipal officials looked on. At that the brass proved no shrinking violets when it came to the "knife-and-fork" league.

What those youngsters did to that turkey and "all the trimmin's" shouldn't happen to a duck-billed platypus. After it was all over they staggered to the head table drooling giblets, gravy and cranberry sauce where they received handsome championship crests and a great big silver trophy emblematic of their provincial supremacy in midget baseball ranks.

It was a good party. Messrs. Johnny Mowat and Sunny Ogilvy; they of the diamond pair of Jacks, were as proud as pouter pigeons "of the boys", while some seventy-five satisfied burghers and guests beamed their approvals.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion under the supervision of president Alets Ogilvy, overloaded the tables with succulent turkey and all that goes with it and did a right noble job in catering to the wants of the gathering.

HONORED OTHER CHAMPS

The village honored other champions, too. The baseball boys of the community were not forgotten and Johnny Bigger and his wave-busting pals came in for their share of the community accolades.

Reeve Jimmy Clemison crowned the affair and came out with flying colors. After all the village government kicked in with one hundred bucks for the party which was greatly appreciated and Jim tossed in the good wishes and congratulations of his governing board of strategy for good measure.

"We are justifiably proud of these boys, both the baseball team and the speedboat racers. They have done a fine job for this village and all of us appreciate it," said the smiling reeve.

A fellow named Carver, who formerly got his mail in the village, spoke for several minutes on sportsmanship and odd tales of sport. He interspersed his address with occasional hints of a turkey drumstick he had secreted in his pocket and cheerfully brought the ball when he sat down. The cheers were not any evidence of appreciation, rather for the fact that he was finished speaking.

Thomas Bowtow, Ontario Baseball Association secretary, of St. Catharines, and Mr. Earl Nicholson, Ontario Baseball Association Minor chairman, were special guests. Mr. Bowtow formally presented the handsome championship trophy to team captain Jack Purtelle, while Mr. Nicholson presented individual crests to the players.

Congratulatory addresses were given by Messrs. Mowat and Ogilvy, who were presented with gifts from the baseball club and special gifts from the village hockey association. Bill Yandi also spoke, as did sportsmen Jack Carson, manager of the Belleville Batas Baseball Club, champions with Oakville in Senior "A" baseball this year.

A sleight-of-hand expert entertained the players and their guests and he came up with a delightful exhibition. His disappearing acts almost equalled the rapidity with which the turkey faded down young and old throats.

It was one of the better sports banquets of the year and Messrs. Mowat and Ogilvy, their committee and the ladies of the Canadian Legion Auxiliary are to be highly commended on the success of the affair.

Varsity Gets Bye On College Football

TORONTO (CP)—The University of Toronto senior intercollegiate football team will get a bye into a final-round playoff if the regular schedule ends in a three-way tie.

The executive committee of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union met Wednesday and matched coins to decide who got the free pass.

The game between Queen's University and University of Western Ontario would be played at Varsity Stadium Nov. 20, said Warren Stevens, University of Toronto athletic director.

The team winning the semi-final will then play off against Varsity on its home field. This would put the game in Kingston or London Nov. 27, the day of the Grey Cup.

Mr. Stevens said the executive committee did not attempt to make a rule for application in future years but merely settled this year's difficulty.

"The possibility of a three-way tie occurring again is pretty slim," he said.

TIED FOR SECOND

Queen's is leading the league by two points. Varsity and Western are tied for second. For a three-way tie to occur, Varsity would have to defeat Queen's this Saturday and Western would have to beat the winless Redmen from McGill.

Present at the meeting were representatives from Western, Queen's and Varsity.

Western are heavy favorites to win against the weak McGill squad. If Queen's beat Varsity and Western beats McGill, the final playoff between Western and Queen's will be in Kingston, the Queen's athletic board of control decided Tuesday night.

In case Queen's should become champions, the board decided the team will fly to Vancouver for an all - Canada intercollegiate final against University of British Columbia.

John Metras, Western athletic director, said at the meeting he could take his team west to play UBC Nov. 27. "I don't think we could go after that," he said. This could only happen if Western won both Saturday's playoff against Queen's in Kingston Nov. 20.

France Wins Allied Trophy

LONDON (CP)—France won the four-sport Britannia Shield competition for Allied air force personnel Wednesday with 73½ points. The Netherlands was second with 71 points and the RAF third with 69. Belgium finished fourth with 29 points.

Earlier Wednesday, Canada was fifth in a rifle shoot. Canadian boxers had already been eliminated. RCAF men from European stations placed seventh in swimming and fencing.

In final boxing competitions Wednesday night Britain placed first and France second.

Servicemen from Canada, Britain, the United States, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Norway competed in the tournament, which lasted three days.

The Duke of Edinburgh presented the shield to the French team after completion of the boxing finals. Proceeds from the annual competition will go to RAF charity.

Yanks Will Challenge Russ

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Dick Shearman, manager of the U. S. speed skating team, said Wednesday the United States would challenge Russia at the 1955 world championships in Moscow "if we can get the support of our countrymen."

Shearman said it would take $3,000 to send a team for the championships next Feb. 19-20.

Fight 'Game' Is Business Says Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States government told the Supreme Court Wednesday boxing promoters have become so big business that television shows that the fight game should be officially declared to be a business within the meaning of U.S. anti-trust laws.

This line of argument was taken by Philip Elman, special assistant to the attorney general, in asking the high tribunal to order a lower court to bring to trial the government's civil suit that claims boxing violates the country's laws against monopolies.

Elman said the court's previous decisions exempting baseball from the anti-trust laws should not be applied to boxing.

Whitney North Seymour, New York attorney representing the International Boxing Club, challenged this statement directly. He said baseball and boxing are "precisely analogous."

And, Seymour said, the court must use its baseball decisions as a precedent for throwing out the government's claim and declaring boxing to be outside the scope of the anti-trust laws.

A decision is not likely to be forthcoming for several months.

Lumber Kings Win Over Soo

PEMBROKE (CP) — Pembroke Lumber Kings, scoring three fast goals in the first period Wednesday night, defeated Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians 5-2 in a Northern Ontario Hockey Association tilt.

The Kings led 3-1 at the end of the first and stayed through a scoreless second period. In the third, Pembroke outscored the Indians 2-0.

Bruce Giesebrecht led the Pembroke snipers with a pair while singles went to Bernie Grebinsky, Jack Douglas and Jim Maxwell. Sault goals were scored by Bill McCracken and Eddie Joss.

Edmonton Eskimos, on the accurate forward-passing of Claude Arnold, beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers 32-13 in the third and deciding game of the Western rugby final two years ago today. In the Grey Cup final, however, Toronto Argonauts set up an effective pass defence to defeat Edmonton 21-11 in the first Canadian rugby championship game seen on television.

US Football Scoring Race

NEW YORK (AP)—New Mexico's A. L. Terpening, a non-conformist in a season that has been marked by poor punting, leads United States collegians with the highest average hung up this late in the football schedule since the all-time high was set four years ago.

Terpening has averaged 45.3 yards on 30 punts, according to NCAA service bureau statistics released today. Colorado's Zack Jordan was the last punter to average that well at this stage of the season and he was on the way to his 48.3-yard record back in 1950.

The majors colleges' over-all average for the season is an abnormally low 34.9 yards.

All of the individual leaders, however, have respectable marks. Ted Rohde, Kansas, is the runner-up with 43.7, followed by three players above the 43-yard mark—Tennessee's Bob Brengle, Colorado's Carroll Hardy and Penn's Walt Hynoski.

Arizona's Art Luppino, the scoring leader, was injured early last week against Texas Tech and failed to increase his 123-point total. With 12 touchdowns and 15 conversions he's 56 points ahead of the field, with three games left.

California's Jim Hanifan and Stanford's John Stewart—neck and neck in pass receiving—trailed away from the rest of the list last week-end. Hanifan, serving as a target for pitchin' Paul Larson, the No. 1 passer, leads with 36 receptions. Stewart has 31.

Other department leaders are: Luppino, with 661 yards on kickoff returns; Iowa's Earl Smith, with 254 yards on punt returns; Miami's (Fla.), Whitey Rouviere, with six interceptions; Boston U's John Brodice, with five TD pass receptions, and Colorado A and M's Harry Glick. Close Race In American Hockey League

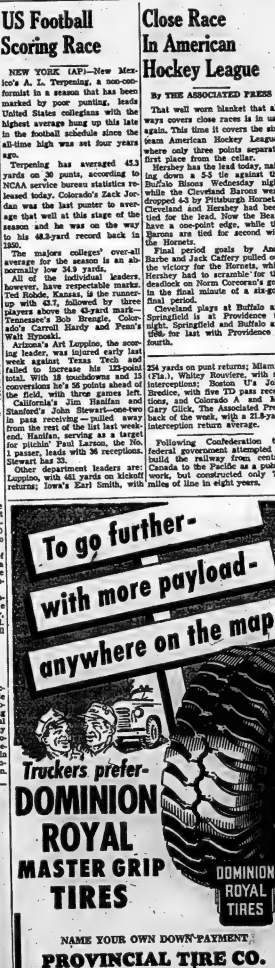
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS



That well worn blanket that always covers close races is in use again. This time it covers the six-team American Hockey League, where only three points separate first place from the cellar.

Hershey has the lead today, nailing down a 5-5 tie against the Buffalo Bisons Wednesday night while the Cleveland Barons were dropped 4-3 by Pittsburgh Hornets. Cleveland and Hershey had been tied for the lead. Now the Bears have a one-point edge, while the Barons are tied for second with the Hornets.

Final period goals by Andy Barbe and Jack Caffery pulled out the victory for the Hornets, while Hershey had to scramble for the deadlock on Norm Corcoran's goal in the final minute of a six-goal final period.

Cleveland plays at Buffalo and Springfield is at Providence tonight. Springfield and Buffalo are tied for last with Providence in fourth.

Winnipeg Curious About Kansas Ball Franchise

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Herald Tribune Wednesday quoted a New York Yankee official as saying there has been a "serious" inquiry from Winnipeg about the Kansas City franchise in the American Association. Kansas City this week was given a berth in the American League.

The Herald Tribune said that wherever the association franchise is moved, the Yankees will continue to operate it as part of their baseball farm system.

The story quotes the Yankee official as saying the Winnipeg inquiry is one of "three or four" that have been received. "We'll have the thing worked out before we go to the winter meetings," he said.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION

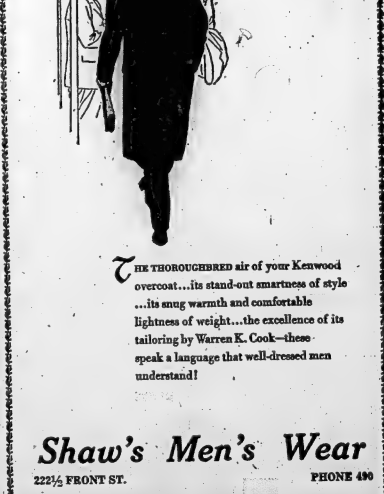
Will Clothe American Athletes

NEW YORK (AP)—A load was lifted from the lean finances of the U.S. Olympic committee Wednesday with the announcement that the men's and women's apparel and textile industries will clothe this country's contingent in the Pan-American Games next March free of charge.

H. Jamison Swarts, chairman of the Olympic supplies and equipment committee, said the outfitting of the men and women athletes for the Mexico City competition is a model of further operation planned for the 1956 Olympiad at Melbourne, Australia.

The 250 men who will represent the United States next spring will receive about $150 worth of apparel each. A similar dollar value will be given each of the 100 women athletes in parade and utility uniforms. It's the first time in Olympic history an Olympic committee has avoided the expense of outfitting the team.

Even with the cost of apparel taken care of, the Olympic committee estimates it will cost about $450 to transport, house and feed each of the team members at the Pan-American Games.



May Allow Foreign Horses In Queen's Plate

TORONTO (CP)—The 97th running of the Queen's Plate in 1955 may be opened to international competition, the Ontario Jockey Club announced today.

Royal assent is needed to remove the clause which until now has restricted ownership of starts in the plate to bona fide British subjects living in Canada. The announcement said application had been made for approval by the Queen.

An increase in the 1955 plate purse to $25,000 added, makes the race the richest in Canada with a gross value of about $35,600.

CHATHAM (CP) — Morley McKay, Dresden restaurateur, Wednesday was served with a summons to face a racial discrimination charge in court here Nov. 17.

McKay was summoned for a plea on a charge of denying service to Bromley Armstrong, Toronto Negro, "because of his color" in the cafe.

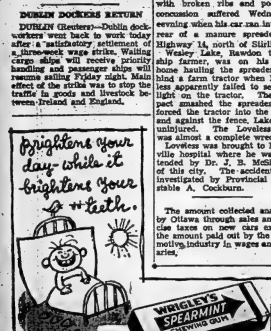
Labor Minister Daley of Ontario ordered the charge laid after Armstrong signed a formal complaint that he was refused service in McKay's restaurant Oct. 29.

SPY PROBE ADJOURNED

SYDNEY (Reuters)—Australia's spy probe commission has been forced to postpone further investigations because its key witness, Vladimir Petrov, former Soviet security chief in Australia, is still too ill enough to give evidence after an attack of pneumonia. Petrov, only recently out of hospital, has been told by his doctors that he cannot appear again for a month.

DUBLIN DOCKERS RETURN

DUBLIN (Reuters)—Dublin dockworkers went back to work today after a "satisfactory" settlement of a three-week wage strike. Waiting cargo ships will receive priority handling and passenger ships will resume sailing Friday night. Main effect of the strike was to stop the ferries to Holyhead and Liverpool between Ireland and England.



Marmora

Ross Loveless, 52, of Marmora, is in Belleville General Hospital with broken ribs and possible concussion suffered Wednesday evening when his car ran into the rear of a manure spreader on Highway 14, north of Stirling.

Wesley Lake, Rawdon township farmer, was on his way home hauling the spreader behind a farm tractor when Loveless apparently failed to see the light on the tractor. The impact smashed the spreader and forced the tractor into the ditch and against the fence. Lake was uninjured. The Loveless auto was almost a complete wreck.

Loveless was brought to Belleville hospital where he was attended by Dr. J. B. McSherry, of this city. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable A. Cockburn.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Arguments are a dime a dozen among bridge players. No subject in the game is free from disagreements. But only for one reason. The most prominent teachers will not meet minds on basic and details.

In most cases, however, they will be unanimous on the purpose of a double-jump responding bid. The double-jump response is a limit bid. This is conceded by all, except perhaps as to details.

Culbertson: In answer to an opening of one in a suit, a jump immediately to three no-trump shows a hand like this: After opening one no-trump bid, 3½ to four honor tricks, 4-3-3-3 distribution.

Goren rules say: An immediate jump to three no-trump is limited to hands with 16 to 18 points and 4-3-3-3 distribution; a hand that could have started with an opening bid of one no-trump.

My rules are: An immediate jump to three no-trump promises five high cards in a balanced hand. Thus, all three of us agree without exception; only expressing it in different trick-taking terms.

What my future series will explain is why such a double-jump to game in no-trump promises what it does. Also why such a response tells the opener when to pass or when to attempt a slam.

There are times when a responder will make a double-jump to game in no-trump with other values. As when he has a long and solid minor suit. He will then produce game with a favorable lead.

However, this is not standard equipment. It comes under the head of maneuvers or tactics; of which no good player ever frees himself. The reliability of this will also be explained.

South opens with a diamond when you have this north hand:

♠ A Q 6
♥ A Q 7
♦ Q 8 4
♣ K 9 2

All standard rules will tell you to respond at once with three no-trump. It is to show exactly such a precise type of hand. But if you like something else you might still have something.

Gable Thinks It's a Good Idea To Stay Single a While Longer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is Clark Gable going to get married again?

"Nope," he replied. "I think it will be a good idea for me to stay single a while. I got out of one marriage not long ago, you know. And say—I understand she's getting married again."

He referred to his fourth wife, Lady Sylvia Ashley, who has been reported on the verge of her fifth marriage. He flashed his famous grin, revealing that such an action would let him off the alimony hook. The 1952 divorce gave her 10 per cent of his earnings for one year, seven per cent for the next four.

I mentioned that the gossip columns seem intent on marrying him off. He laughed. "Whenever things get dull, they try to pair me up again. It keeps them busy for a spell. Who's the girl now?"

RARE INTERVIEW

I told him she was Kay Spreckels, with whom he has been seen lately. Does he intend to marry her?

"I have no plans. Gosh, I've known Kay 15 years; she's an old friend. She dates other people and so do I."

Gable sat in his dressing room at 20th Century - Fox studios and talked with unusual frankness. In fact, it was unusual for him to talk to a reporter at all.

He was getting ready to leave today for Hong Kong, where he will film his first free-lance picture in 23 years, "Soldier of Fortune." Still the king at 53, he looked great. He still has his muscular build. His face is as handsome as ever, his mustache and hair becoming a distinguished gray.

LIKES FREE-LANCING

How does he feel about being away from MGM after more than two decades?

"Great," he said. "It was a struggle, but I got one good picture before I got out of there—'Mogambo.' I only with I could have had a share of it. An executive over there told me it was headed for an 11-million - dollar world gross!

"Sure, they wanted me to stay. They even offered me a cut of the profits on my pictures. But by that time it was so fed up that it didn't interest me."

PROMOTER DIES

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Boxing promoter and referee Billy Haack died Wednesday night. He was 76.

Appeal Made For Some Form Of Federal Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian farmers face a big reduction in farm income this year and an appeal for some form of federal aid may be raised at the "farmers' parliament" scheduled to convene here Dec. 6.

For three days federal and provincial agriculture ministers, their deputies and leaders of Canadian farm organizations will debate the fortunes of Canada's rural folk at the annual federal-provincial agricultural conference.

Those close to the farm organizations said Wednesday that the question of farm income and its impact on farm purchasing power likely will be a major issue.

With prairie producers harvesting their worst wheat crop in 11 years and with rain and frost hitting other parts of Canada, indications are that net farm income will drop by some $400,000,000 this year to a seven-year low of about $1,200,000,000.

This would be the third consecutive annual decline from the peak of $2,150,000,000 in 1951. Farm officials concede that many of the large western grain producers likely have accumulated savings against the possibility of a bad year. But they are less certain of the fortunes of the marginal producer and the young new farmer entering the field and hit by a crop failure.

Thus some western farmers already have been pressing the government for loans or feeds to carry them through until they produce another crop. Prairie farm assistance, granted to farmers experiencing crop failures, may run to about $25,000,000 this year, compared with $1,600,000 in 1953.

But farmer representatives say that at the most each farmer may get no more than about $500, far short of requirements. Demand that the federal government grant some form of special aid this year likely will come from farm groups at the annual conference.

Khrushchev Seen as Power Behind Throne

BY DON DALLAS

LONDON (Reuters) A quiet, heavy-set Ukrainian, Nikita S. Khrushchev, is revealed openly today as a power behind the throne of Premier Georgi Malenkov's regime in Soviet Russia.

He signed a decree issued by the party's central committee and splashed across the columns of Pravda, warning party officials to avoid offending the feelings of citizens through their campaign against religion.

The signature showed more clearly than any other recent indication the growing power and influence of the first secretary of the party.

Previously only Stalin had issued his personal signature over a party decree. And in the latter years of his regime Stalin seldom did so, reserving the decree for matters of supreme importance.

CONTRADICTS POLICY

The personal signature of Khrushchev today appears to run contrary to the declared policy of the new cabinet regime—"collective leadership." Under this, theoretically, no one leader should gain precedence over another.

The decree itself is of considerable importance.

It shows the Kremlin has decided not to risk a head-on clash with the churches of Russia which—judging from many recent publications in the Soviet press—have been increasingly active in religious events, including many young people.

From reading between the lines of the reason for anti-religious propaganda published in the Soviet press, it is now clear that even over Moscow radio during the last several months, it does appear that the Kremlin has not been seriously worried by reports of increased interest in religion by many parts of the country.

The Soviet press has suggested that too much interest in religion adversely affects production schedules, because there is widespread absenteeism at the time of church festivals.

BUILDING REPUTATION

The new directive on the anti-religious campaign is obviously designed to check any tendency perhaps to allay fears on the part of the religious believers of widespread purges.

It is also designed in part no doubt for farm consumption.

Khrushchev, in signing the decree, may be aiming to give himself a reputation as a "moderate."

Considered Suez Agreement 'Act of Treason'

CAIRO (Reuters) — Mahmoud Abdul Latif, 32-year-old Cairo tinsmith, said today he tried to assassinate Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser because he considered the Anglo-Egyptian Suez agreement "an act of treason."

He had since realized this was not so, and he was sorry he fired his pistol at the military tribunal hearing a charge of attempted assassination against him.

Latif, who pleaded guilty Tuesday, was arrested after eight shots were fired at Nasser at a meeting in Alexandria Oct. 26 called to celebrate the agreement for the British evacuation of the Suez canal zone. All missed.

Late tinsmith, a member of the politico-religious Moslem Brotherhood, is accused of making the murder attempt as part of a conspiracy by the outlawed organization "to seize power by force."

Latif said he was given the pistol from which the shots were fired by Hinawi Dweir, a Cairo lawyer who is also on trial.

Dweir said the brotherhood, which he described as "pyramidal" with Hassan Hodeiby, the supreme guide, on top, planned to overthrow the present regime and seize power by force.

He said his immediate chief, Ibrahim el Tayeb, had told him chaos would follow for a time but that the brotherhood would then take over with Mohammed Naguib to address the nation over Cairo radio and urge everyone to keep calm.

King Farouk, Gamal Salem, vice-premier and president of the court, then asked the witness: "Did you not question this?"

The witness replied: "I did not because I remembered one day I was at the supreme guide's house when the telephone rang and a voice saying 'I am President Naguib' came through. I reckoned the brotherhood leadership had some relationship with President Naguib."

Santa Must Hurry to See Francine For She Will Be Angel by Christmas

MONTREAL (CP) — Francine Baillargeon is anxious to see Santa Claus, but unless "Here Noel" makes an early visit she will not.

Five-year-old Francine will be dead by Christmas.

Once a striking little girl with dark, glowing eyes and sort brown hair, Francine now lies for 20 hours a day away from death, say officials at Children's Memorial Hospital here.

A virulent bone cancer has all but sapped the life from her. Tumors have swelled out all over her tiny body and her eyes are so swollen that the lids will not close when she sleeps.

She has already lost one leg to the disease.

"If she were to see Santa and have a party—or any small party —she would be happy," her mother said. "And that's what I would like her to be now."

Last spring Francine fell down stairs and the next day a small bump appeared on the back of her ankle.

When the bump didn't go away, she was taken to hospital for X-rays.

"Within a couple of hours they told me they would have to keep her in hospital," the child's mother said. "They operated on her leg the next morning and found that cancer had eaten away almost all the muscle down to the toe."

The child's leg was amputated above the knee. After about 30 x-ray treatments was allowed to return to her home.

Two months ago"she received a bump on the head at a children's party. Within a few days there were bumps on her other leg and from then on tumors began to appear all over her body.

When Francine was admitted to hospital Mrs. Baillargeon took the bed next to hers and has kept a constant vigil since.

One of Francine's visitors, Mrs. Baillargeon said, was a Roman Catholic priest who said the girl she might die and "be a beautiful angel."

"The next day she told me that when she became an angel, it wasn't to call her during the day. She said angels work hard all day long in heaven."

Downward Trend in Canada's Trade Has Been Reversed

Report 1953 Decline Halted And Some Recovery Made

OTTAWA (CP) — The sharp 1953 decline in Canada's foreign trade has been halted and some recovery has been made, the bureau of statistics reported today.

In a review of foreign trade, the bureau reported that available statistics indicate Canada probably ranked fourth in total value of trade behind the United States, the United Kingdom and Germany for many in the first half of this year. Canada ranked fourth in 1953.

The bureau said that statistics for the half year "indicate that the sharp decline in Canadian trade which occurred in the latter months of 1953 was arrested during the first half of 1954 and that some measure of recovery occurred in the period."

The six - month trading position compared favorably with earlier years. Exports totalled $1,872,000,-000 and were surpassed only by those in the first half of 1952 and 1953. Imports for the half year reached $2,030,000,000, also less than those of any first half-year except 1953.

Both exports and imports were smaller in volume than in the first half of 1953, but the reduction was the biggest decline.

The bureau said the greater part of the decline in export volume resulted from the lower level of world trade as grain after the 1953 harvest. Consuming countries required only small quantities to tide over until good harvests and competition was more severe.

Smaller imports of textiles and textile fibres accounted for a larger part of the decline in total imports. Other sizeable reductions occurred in imports of farm tractors and other farm machinery, automobiles, primary iron and steel and refrigerators.

The bureau said that in 1953 Canada ranked first among world countries in import value per capita and in total trade per capita for the first time in the country's history. And she was second only to New Zealand in exports per capita.

Indian Use Rifle Bow and Arrow For White Man

STRINGTOWN, Okla. (AP)—Turner Bear, fullblood Cree Indian, bagged a 10-point, 124-pound buck deer near here Thursday.

Asked whether he used a bow and arrow, as many hunters are doing, or a rifle, he replied:

EFFORT MADE TO COMPROMISE BITTER FIGHT

Substituted Resolution Of Censure Drafted

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep. Ill.) said today a substitute for a resolution to censure Senator Joseph McCarthy has been "shaped" in an effort to compromise the bitter fight over the Wisconsin Republican's conduct.

Dirksen declined to disclose the nature of the proposed substitute, nor would he say whether he had discussed it with McCarthy.

There have been reports that McCarthy's friends were working on a resolution which would censure him in mild criticism with some words of praise, would prove acceptable to a majority of senators.

It would be offered in place of the resolution of censure unanimously recommended by a special Senate committee earlier this fall.

That committee, accused by McCarthy of acting like the "unwilling handmaiden" of the Communist party, said he had shown contempt for a Senate elections subcommittee and for elections of Senators in 1951-52 and had abused its members.

McCarthy has predicted he will be censured.

Dirksen in telling reporters a substitute resolution had been drafted, indicated he would not support it. He is a member of the special committee have finished their statements about the censure case.

COOL ON APOLOGY

McCarthy indicated today he would not adopt a suggestion by Senator Francis Case (Rep. S.D.) that he apologize for what he had said about the elections subcommittee.

Case told reporters that if McCarthy "can make a statement" on the Senate floor what he had said about the elections sub-committee and its members he felt the angry wrangle over the proposed censure might be settled.

But McCarthy indicated he was in no mood to retract his scathing claims of the committee. He has accused it of being dishonest and of staging a "whitewash" of his inquiry.

Many of those listening in the Senate Thursday were members of pro-McCarthy cavalcades who journeyed to the capital from Wisconsin. Some of them were cities to urge their senators to vote against censure.

More than 3,500 of them gathered in the Capitol Auditorium Thursday night and heard Senator Herman Welker (Dem. Idaho) the principal speaker, commend McCarthy as "one of the greatest living foes of communism" and said Mrs. McCarthy had "brought the country to its senses" and "rewarded" with the censure move.

Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver Not Vital to Defence of Canada

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Brigadier today criticized defence thinking R. L. Purves, D.S.O., C.D., acting general officer commanding, central command, Oct. 29 to Nov. 1, declared essential to the life of Canada in the event of war. He said the three centres are not among them."

Brig. Purves was addressing an informal meeting of the Canadian Legion here.

TORONTO (CP)—Roy-Belya, Toronto board of control member, which says Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver are not considered "vital points" for defence in the event of an enemy attack.

Thursday night Controller Purves, Brig. R. L. Purves, acting general officer commanding, central command, said that although 50 per cent of Canada's population lives within 150 miles of the border, a vital points committee in Ottawa has decided in the event of war these three centres are not among them.

He said the vital points have been designated to be defended against possible air attack or invasion. He did not name them.

He said if that is thinking of the military experts, how could we, a city council, get excited about the necessity for spending money for civil defence.

Congress Urges Broad Federal Program for Creating Work

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor today urged the federal government to launch a broad program for creating work.

Predicting this winter's unemployment will go soaring to the post war high of last season, the 400,000-member CCL asked the government to undertake both domestic and external measures to make jobs.

In its annual legislative submission to the cabinet, the congress also called for a wide-ranging series of legislative measures on social security and other subjects.

Dealing with jobs, the congress said "there is no getting away from the fact that unemployment this winter . . . will be far higher than last winter."

It noted that the postwar peak figure of unemployment — last month 370,000 persons looking for work and a government estimate of 318,000 actually with jobs. On the basis of fall figures compared to those of last fall, there could rise to 857,000 and 632,000.

(Prime Minister St. Laurent Thursday told the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, making its yearly presentation to the cabinet, that the government does not think unemployment this winter will be as severe as the 1953-54 period.)

Anti - unemployment measures proposed by the CCL included:

1. Increased unemployment insurance benefits and other improvements in the unemployment insurance.

2. Establishment of a public assistance plan for jobless workers not covered by unemployment insurance.

3. Increased old age security benefits and family allowances.

4. Higher personal income tax exemptions, a capital gains tax and reduced rates in the 5-per-cent sales tax with a view to abolishing it as soon as possible.

5. A public investment program by all levels of government—to provide work on housing, roads, schools, hospitals and, resources conservation.

6. Other efforts to promote exports, including lowering barriers against international trade.

7. A planned immigration policy based on Canada's ability to absorb newcomers in an expanding economy without lowering the standard of living.

8. Substantially increasing Canada's contribution to funds for development activities that eventually would purchase more Canadian products as a result.

9. Special measures to help depressed industries and depressed areas.

The CCL noted that this program —worked out at its annual conference in Toronto in September— would involve federal deficits.

"Before a deficit can be said," "than the human deficit of idle workers."

Dealing with unemployment insurance, the CCL asked that changes include a minimum benefit-drawing period of 20 weeks—a proposal understood to be under cabinet consideration already.

There should be a national fuel policy, with specific attention to development of the coal industry, unemployment in the coal industry, described as a "sick" one. Of the 19,000 miners of coal reported yearly from the United States to Canada since World War II, only 1,000 were replaced by western Canada coal.

Other CCL recommendations included:

1. Canadian labor and materials should be used to the largest extent on the St. Lawrence seaway.

2. Canada should have a national bill of rights.

3. Family allowances should be increased in some cases to offset the cost of living.

4. The federal voting age should be lowered to 18 from 21.

5. The Senate should be abolished.

FOUR DEAD IN MURDER-SUICIDE SHOOTING AFFRAY

Religious and Marital Difficulties Cause

MUNDARE, Alta. (CP)—Police have described the fatal Remembrance Day shooting of four persons as murder-suicide resulting from a family quarrel over "religious and marital difficulties." One person was wounded.

RCMP said Nick Lysakowsky, a 43-year-old coal miner-farmer, shot himself to death after returning from an early-morning car trip during which he murdered his parents-in-law and his teen-aged stepdaughter. His estranged wife was wounded.

Dead are Mr. and Mrs. John Babby, both in their 70s, and 16-year-old Susan Sadowski, a high school student.

Mary Sadowski, 43, is in "fairly good" condition in Edmonton hospital, 50 miles west of here. The woman separated from Lysakowsky in August after two months of marriage and reverted to the name of her husband of a previous marriage.

LEFT SUICIDE NOTE

Police said Lysakowsky left a suicide note in which he did the shooting and blaming religious and marital difficulties.

Dr. L. M. Edmunds, coroner at nearby Wainwright, said no inquest will be held.

Neighbors in this quiet Ukrainian settlement said Lysakowsky, who was 43, had told them he would kill Mary Sadowski if she did not return to live with him.

The death pattern was given by neighbors as follows: Lysakowsky interrupted Mary Sadowski while she was on her way to work in a nearby convent. He shot her three times and drove to the Babby home, where his wife lived, and shot Mr. and Mrs. Babby and Susan.

Lysakowsky, whose first wife died about a year ago, returned home, telephoned the local police detachment and told them he had killed his life with the same revolver after ordering his 16-year-old son from the house.

Best Christmas Present in World—His Family—Awaits Aging Veteran

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Mike Katsenevas doesn't say much when asked what he's going to get for Christmas.

"... Only in America could such a thing happen like this . . ."

For Mike is going to get the best Christmas present in the world—his family. His fellow workers at the Clearfield naval supply depot are taking up a work day collection to get seven members of Mike's family to America from Greece.

Senator Arthur V. Watkins (Rep. Utah) has promised to get Mike's family out of the Iron Curtain country.

Mike, 60, has been back and forth between America and Crete several times. Now he works as a janitor at the supply depot. Mike was saving his pay to bring the rest of his family to America.

Last week a spontaneous campaign started among Mike's 2,100 co-workers to help him do it. In less than a week $2,100 of the needed $3,000 was collected.

Mike was born at Kampus on the island of Crete and first came to America 35 years ago. He enlisted in the army in the First World War and with his mustering out pay he started a small restaurant in Salt Lake City.

In 1920 he returned to Crete to see his dying mother. He married, and returned to his home in Utah. His wife died in childbirth, and Mike, grief stricken, went back to Crete. He farmed the small family olive grove, remarried, and started raising a family.

Then he came again. The Germans invaded Greece. Mike fought with the resistance and in prison. When he was released his family was near starvation. Two children were born here, his olive grove despoiled.

When Congress passed a law allowing all former American soldiers stranded in Europe free transportation back to the United States, Mike got together enough money to bring two sons and a daughter with him. His wife and the others had to stay behind.

Expect Vishinsky Will Pledge Soviet Aid In Atoms Plan

Steps Into Spotlight at UN To Reply to Proposal by U.S.

By WILLIAM HARCOURT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Andrei Vishinsky steps into the United Nations spotlight when he replies to Western requests for Russian co-operation in international development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

The agile-minded Russian, who has made much of the "peaceful coexistence" plea, would risk a propaganda backfire if flatly rejecting the atomic-pool proposal, presented as a plan of peace of historic importance.

For this among other reasons, some delegates expect Russia will agree to co-operate—probably on certain conditions—in the setting up of an international atomic energy agency.

The recent change in the Soviet attitude, particularly as demonstrated by Premier Malenkov's agreement with the West to continue to seek solution of the disarmament problem, made many delegates publicly express the hope this co-operation will extend to atomics.

The United States, the initiator of the plan, as well as Britain and France among its main supporters, have emphasized that Russian rejection will feel delay establishment of the agency to develop and share internationally the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

At the same time, the West has the check that Russia has U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, who outlined the proposals a week ago, forced Russia to join the present negotiating countries and to support the "launching" resolution submitted by these negotiating powers.

Canada, one of the powers and acting as their spokesman, earlier this week asked Russia to become a member of an advisory committee to arrange the international exchange of atomic scientists proposed by the resolution.

Russia is expected to accept this invitation.

Woman Is Angry Because Police Saved Her Life

MONTREAL (CP)—A 45-year-old woman, found unconscious beside the gas stove in her sister West yesterday, is angry "because we didn't let her die," police reported Thursday night.

Provincial police quoted Mrs. Sanscartier as saying she asked her sister to cut her throat and then took some poison.

C. of C. to Take No Further Action On Question

The Chamber of Commerce directors, at their regular bimonthly meeting adopted a resolution which was taken by the Chamber on council-manager form of municipal government.

The Chamber had approved in principle of this type of government and it resolved that a committee be appointed which would act, at its recent general meeting. The resolution said that the committee had been promptly appointed and had obtained facts on council-manager form of municipal government, and that the committee had been approached by a citizens' committee who wished to discuss the issue publicly.

This action prompted the Chamber of Commerce to resolve that the appointed committee of the Chamber publish for public guidance, the information it had gathered in its researches and that any group or citizens' committee seeking it would be provided with the information either pro or con which the Chamber had upon the subject.

The Chamber of Commerce directors believe that having brought this important topic of municipal government before the public and having focussed the attention of the public upon it, they had exhausted all steps which fall within the scope of its duties to the members of the Chamber and the citizens of Belleville and that the Chamber would participate no further in any activity upon the issue.

The resolution went on to say that members or directors would be free to take any activity and position as private citizens which they may wish and it was hoped that they would interest themselves in this public question as citizens of this community.

Canadian Legion Members Hear Outline of Militia Set-Up At Remembrance Day Banquet

A capacity attendance of close to 100 members and guests filled the hall for the banquet as the 35th anniversary of the great Remembrance drew to an end.

During the evening the veterans heard Lt.-Col. R. Widdifield, AA and QMG, of Military Group Headquarters for this area, stress as a "paramount task" the support of Legion members in convincing young Canadians of their obligations towards service in either the regular or militia armed forces.

LIGHTS WERE DIMMED

Following the banquet the lights were dimmed and the entire gathering stood in dignified silence in tribute to the dead of two wars. A cross girdled with poppies stood out in illuminated relief at the back of the hall while the strains of the Last Post floated through the solemn gathering, followed by "O Valiant Hearts," was rendered softly.

After reveille signalled the end of the period of tribute the company settled down to hear the guest speaker, Lt.-Col. Widdifield, introduced by Angus Duffy.

Lt.-Col. Widdifield's text dealt with the new role of the militia to serve forces regrouped into militia last summer.

FORCES MILITIA GROWTH

The speaker traced the growth of the militia up to the present day organization of the militia which caused the recent reformation of all reserve units.

After the war ended in 1945 work was started to reorganize the reserve forces. This work was based on the formation of six divisions and six independent brigades, and the complete reorganization was announced this year, replacing the brigade with tern with that is called the Militia Group.

The new set-up provides the group headquarters with responsibility for every branch of service within its own particular area. Under the brigade patterns the 5th Brigade in this area consisted of only three infantry battalions, other branches of the reserve force being brigaded separately in relation to their own particular service. Now the area command is responsible for training and administering of all infantry gunners, RCASC, RCEME, Ordnance units and others.

"In this way it will be possible for the staff to acquaint themselves with the problems of all these arms, before, instead of after the outbreak of hostilities, as was the case last time," Lt.-Col. Widdifield said.

One of the most contentious questions" arising out of the new organization and one "that caused quite probably as much worry", was the fact that some units were disbanded or amalgamated with others," the speaker said.

ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY

"However, this took place right across the country," he said, "and was absolutely necessary in order to produce a clean-cut organization."

"Following the amalgamation in this area the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment now carries an effective strength of 500 and is one of the largest units in Canada," he said.

However the new CO, Lt.-Col. E. Fairman has a tremendous task ahead of him in training a regiment of this size and also in organizing and increasing its strength, the speaker added.

He felt the Belleville Branch of the Legion should do all it could to support Lt.-Col. Fairman and his staff.

"You men have all shown once, and on many cases, twice, your loyalty to Canada. You are still showing it by belonging to the Legion, and you can also show it in a very tangible form by endeavoring to convince the youth of our country that service in the armed forces, whether regular or militia is a duty and an honor. That I think, is the paramount task for every member of the Canadian Legion," he concluded.

The speech was thanked by Chris Legget.

In a brief speech to the gathering Angus Duffy said the Canadian Legion is "within itself a symbol to look up to. We are loy our freedom only because of men like you."

George Gourlay thanked the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion for the banquet which was provided for the banquet, while Mrs. W. Bean, president, thanked all on behalf of the ladies.

Appreciation of the members for the organization of the event was expressed by Les Digby to Ernie Gray and Art Cavers.

Following the banquet members were entertained with an exhibition of judo by a team from 6RD, Trenton Air Station.

Two Suffer Severe Cuts In Car Accident

An Ottawa man and Belleville girl suffered severe lacerations Thursday night when the car in which they were riding plunged into the rear of a highway transport at Marysville, 16 miles east of the city.

Taken to Belleville hospital with severe lacerations to the head and face were Thomas Kelleher, 29, of Ottawa, and Miss Colleen LaRue, 21, Bridge street, Belleville, who suffered a badly cut hand and a bruised knee.

Kelleher was admitted to hospital but Miss LaRue was allowed to go home after receiving medical attention.

The accident occurred shortly before 7 p.m. on Highway 2 at the intersection of No. 2 highway and the Shelter Valley Road. Leopold Deschamp, Montreal, was driving east with his wife, Dorothy, and decided to have a cup of coffee at a roadside stand. He pulled up waiting for westbound traffic to pass before making the left hand turn and the following car driven by Kelleher plowed into the rear of the trailer. The accident was investigated by provincial constables Earl Graves and Larry Calnan.

Intervention In Rail Strike Is Criticized

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's intervention in last summer's rail strike threat was described, by the Canadian Congress of Labor today as a dangerous interference with freedom of workers.

In its yearly brief to the cabinet, the congress said the government prevented the rail workers from exercising their right to go on strike.

The CCL added:

"This is dangerous interference with the traditional freedom of industrial workers his grave implications and potentialities, not only for railway employees, but for all other Canadian workers. . . .

"Legislation—or threats of legislation—which takes away from workers the traditional and inherent right to strike and imposes compulsory arbitration belongs only on the statute books of totalitarian regimes," the congress said.

IN MEMORIAM

ARMSTRONG — In loving memory of a beloved wife, Lena Armstrong, who passed away November 12th, 1943.

She has taken the long journey
In God's beautiful city called "Rest."
Away from trouble and sorrow
We a home of eternal peace.
Sweetheart, wife, we loved her
Too much to count them a loss.
God alone knows how much I miss her
As I wander along life's way.
But a voice seems gently calling,
Dear one, be patient with me
At the end of life's journey
I'll say sweet hello to you.
—Sadly missed and lonely, husband and family. N13

KOLOVOS. — In loving memory of my dear husband, Peter Kolovos, who passed away November 12th, 1953.

Sadly he died
Sadly he's missed
By his bride.

But memory turns back every leaf,
And keeps sacred those we love
Inscribed by wife Yvonna and daughter Betty. N13

Puppetry Course Given For K. G. School

A most delightful evening was spent in King George School when Mrs. Percy Morten and her daughter Marionettes and Puppets, by which she captivated everyone. The tap-dancing sailor, lean and very supple; the Swash-buckling "Pirate" Frenchie with his concertina; Clown on the flying-trapeze "Harry Lauder" complete with kilt and sporan; all performed with recorded music adding to the performance portrayed. Pierino, Mr. Morten's own interpretation of a Spanish dancer danced to Debussy's "Clair de Lune".

In the short years since Mr. Morten came to Canada, there are some 149 communities in Ontario alone in which he has been working with Puppets and Marionettes, entertaining both young and old people. The Festival held in Toronto last April attracted an audience of over 1,000 people.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN

KINCARDINE (CP) — A gas lantern exploded Thursday night and destroyed a barn and silo and a barn on the farm of Alex Brown near the Lake Huron community. Brown lost some poultry and the reason's grain crop.

No estimate of damage was available.

Quinte Tomato Growers' Position Improved Through Short Supply

Tomato growers in the Bay of Quinte district will be in a much better bargaining position this season than last year's reduced acreage and the current short supply of canned tomatoes, Thurlow Weed Dwight D. Reynolds, Picton, chairman of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association told members of the Hastings County Growers' Association at Tuesday night meeting at Carrollton town hall on Thursday evening. About 40 county vegetable growers attended the meeting.

Mr. Reynolds recalled production problems of last year which had seen the tomato crop sharply reduced because of reduced acreage and also poor weather.

BETTER RELATIONS

He said that a definite date for completion of price negotiations should be fixed so as to give time before the planting season for arbitration if this were necessary. He believed that better relations now existed between the growers and the canners despite the lengthy price negotiations of last season.

Mr. Reynolds said there was a move on the part of growers to have canners accept all of the grower's crop. There will be efforts to bring about canner acceptance of the quality. The 24 hours notice in writing must be given farmers before cutting of delivery to the factory and then only after 90 per cent of the crop has been delivered.

Mr. Reynolds noted that the urban consumers were generally unaware of the small percentage of the consumer dollar which went back to the vegetable growers. He felt that some kind of a program should be started to acquaint city housewives of this fact.

Don Swain, secretary treasurer of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association, stated that higher canners' prices for canned goods were creating a buyer resistance on the part of housewives. American canned goods were being shipped into Canada at Canadian prices and this helped to hold prices down. Ontario growers were faced with the problem of trying to undersell the American product and at the same time maintain present prices.

ACT OUTDATED

Mr. Swain outlined the Farm Products Marketing Act which was broken into branches looking after the interest of the various commodity groups. He believed that farmers should organize themselves to have a better knowledge of the crop they were producing with special emphasis on proper sprays and appreciation of color shades of fruit.

Other speakers at the meeting included Norman Simpson, fieldman for Eastern Ontario; Perry Van Black of Napanee, and Ray Short of Picton, both provincial directors, and Roscoe Robson, M.L.A., for Hastings East.

There was a general discussion on maintaining the price spread between No. 1 and No. 2 tomatoes but no action was taken by the meeting.

There was some concern over the fact that pea seed had gone out to farmers in paper shipping bags bearing the required germination tags and it was felt that this their own interests canners should see that these tags were on.

SUGGESTS BETTER PRICES

Resolutions passed included one asking canners to pay more money to farmers for growing of certain varieties of corn with small ears and whereby farmers might have higher tenderometer readings be put into effect when peas were purchased on this basis.

Thomas Kelly of Thomasburg was named grower rep. of the Quinte district growers, succeeding Stanley Martin of Consecon, who was made honorary president.

Vice-president is Lloyd Sheppard of Carrying with Clayton Ritz of Corbyville, returned as secretary-treasurer.

Other directors include the following: Sidney, E. Hubble and E. Hart; Thurlow, Roy Hall and Beverley Foster; Tyendinaga, Harold Powers and J. A. Walsh; Hungerford, Bruce Countryman; Huntingdon, Milton Shaw.

Denies Freedom To Set Rail Rate Means Monopoly

OTTAWA (CP)—One of Canada's top railway research experts said today Canadian railways would not be able to monopolize transportation in this country if they were free to set competitive rates.

Such a conclusion is "foolish," R. W. Fairweather, vice-president of research and development for the CNR, told a royal commission considering an application into railway agreed charges. Granting the railways freedom in the competitive rate field would stimulate competition among carriers and result in greater Canadian productivity.

Railways set their rates but must show the board of transport commissioners the rates are necessary to meet competition and are compensatory.

Peace of World Greatest Problem Facing Mankind

TRENTON (Special) — The Rev. Canon Minto Swan, guest speaker at the annual Armistice Day banquet here last night, gave veterans his conception of the meaning of Remembrance Day. Using the words, recollection, reminder and recognition to send home his points he reminded the legion members that the peace of the world was the greatest problem facing all mankind today. He looked on the United Nations as an organization that could see that mankind worked for peace of the world." He asked the veterans to recognize those who took in that way.

The rector of St. John's Church in Kingston said it gave him great joy to come back to Trenton on Remembrance Day. He recalled happenings from the days he spent in Trenton while serving as a padre at Camp Trenton after returning from overseas after World War II. He said he admired the fellowship and spirit of the Canadian Legion. He said it was a good thing to remind themselves "why we fought and why they died."

CONSTRUCTION STARTS

The site for the new high school north of No. 2 Highway on the land that was known as the Little Farm, has been under preparation for the last two weeks. The proposed quarter-mile running track and the level street around the sports field will be graded and ready for seeding this fall, according to a spokesman for the school board. Preliminary construction has started on the $525,000 school.

NO DAMAGE

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — An earthquake, described as sharp and jolt, shook this city at approximately 7:25 a. m., EST today. There were no reports of damage.

College Hill District Rapidly Becoming Residential Area

Quite generally considered as Belleville's fastest growing suburb, the College Hill district north of the city is rapidly becoming a residential area boasting of all the recognized urban services and conveniences.

With the city literally "bursting at the seams" the post-war housing boom had to go somewhere and the past three years has seen the College Hill area go ahead by leaps and bounds.

Thurlow township clerk Earl Dafoe notes that his municipality in recent years has seen about 70 houses built each year. Of that number approximately 75 per cent have been constructed in the College Hill area. And with such a pronounced building boom it was only natural that city conveniences should be followed.

New roadways were required and the built-up areas along Mt. Park and Wellington Streets extended far beyond once familiar boundaries. New streets were added and names, such as Valleyview Crescent, Orchard Drive, Orchard Park Gardens and Craig Street came into being.

DOOR-TO-DOOR DELIVERY

Then came door-to-door mail delivery by postal letter carrier and a new post office and mail office was established to serve the population in the rural area outside the city.

Only a few years ago city water services were extended throughout the College Hill area and now that portion having a natural southward drainage is being served by sanitary sewers.

The steady increase in population has also brought about the natural school accommodation problem. This has been met with the construction of the Holy Rosary Separate School, serving both the immediate rural and urban district, and by an addition to the Prince Charles school.

RATEPAYERS FAVOR PROGRAM

The sewers are being installed under the local improvement act, the work preceding after two-thirds of the affected ratepayers had signed a petition favoring the program.

Starting a week or so ago the sanitary sewer program is proceeding according to schedule and it is expected that it will be completed by the end of the year.

College Hill residents have the sewers in their own area but as the sewage will pass through city mains before finally emptying in the sewage area will have to pay a "sewer rental charge" when he connects with the sewer. This charge is $10 per year for a single family residence and $15 for a duplex dwelling.

For the time being the sewer installation will not be undertaken west of North Front Street as the terrain here slopes quickly off to the north and natural drainage into the city sewage system would be difficult. To date the installation is practically completed along North Front and work is now underway on Donald street. Also completed is the section of North Park street from Donald street to the height of land, remaining to be done is the east end of Donald street and North James street.

NOT COMPULSORY

Although frontage charges will have to be paid by property owners, township authorities are not making compulsory the actual connection with the sewer main, where present septic tanks are adequate. Installation of laterals and connection with the sewer is thus left at the convenience of the property owner.

Sanitary sewers have also been installed in certain sections of the rural area immediately east of the city in the Herchimer Ave. district.

These also have been installed under the local improvement act with property owners paying a sewer rental charge to the city when properties become connected.

Christmas Seal Campaign Starts Monday Nov. 15

The annual Christmas Seal sales campaign, sponsored by the Ontario Tuberculosis Association gets under way on Monday, November 15. The seals will be in the mails after the week-end, Mrs. Nina Gault, secretary of the Hastings County Tuberculosis Association said today.

The tuberculosis control picture will be presented over the CBC news-magazine on Sunday, November 14, starting at 7.30 p.m. Televiewers, who are asked to "get Toronto" on their sets should not miss the interesting film.

The Hastings County Association is doing a splendid job in this city and district and the general public is generously requested to meet the appeal as generously as possible.

Casares was arrested in Mexico City and returned here.

BELLEVILLE LEADS ONTARIO

Belleville now has the cheapest power in Ontario.

The Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario is the authority for that statement—but it is buried in a maze of figures in the Commission's forty-sixth annual report, for 1953.

However, with the assistance of O. H. Scott, general manager of the Belleville Public Utilities Commission, the Ontario Intelligencer was able to dig it out.

Mr. Scott was happy to assist—and got a pleasant surprise. The publicity conscious HEPC had sent the Ontario Intelligencer a copy of its report before one reached Mr. Scott's desk.

So, until he checked the figures with his newspaper, Mr. Scott did not know that his utility had taken over provincial leadership in a most important field.

In 1953, says the HEPC, power cost Belleville users' $17 per annum per horsepower on the basis of 130 hours' monthly use of demand. That is no change from the 1952 figure—but the 1952 leader, Niagara Falls, saw its cost increase from $16 per horsepower to $17.50.

Tied with Belleville is Perth, where power also costs $17. Galt, which in 1952 had a $17 figure, now charges $21. Since Belleville's rates have not changed since 1953, and since the general rate trend is up, it is certain we still enjoy the leadership we unknowingly acquired last year.

Power in Belleville now costs less than half the amount charged in most Ontario municipalities. Courtright, Erie Beach, Hepworth, Kirkfield, Lambeth -and Windermere all charge $38. Hearst is alone at the top at $45. Many municipalities charge at least 50 per cent more for power than does Belleville.

To arrive at the figure of $17 per annum per horsepower, it is necessary to figure consumption at the rate of 130 hours monthly use of demand at seven different rates. In Belleville these rates are 1.3 cents for the first 50 hours per month per kilowatt, 0.8 cents for the second 50 hours per month, 0.65 cents and 0.25 cents per kilowatt hour for all additional consumption. Because the various municipalities in the province have widely differing rates, it is impossible to make a comparison between power costs without giving some arbitrary consumption figure, that selected by the HEPC being the above-mentioned basis of 130 hours monthly use of demand.

No municipalities have lower rates than Belleville in any of the three categories. Only Perth equals Belleville's rate in the first category, only Perth and Niagara Falls in the second category, but there are seven municipalities, Barrie, Dundas, Fort William, Orangeville, Perth, Smith's Falls and Trenton which have the same third rates as Belleville, and one, Ottawa at 0.15 cents, which is lower. However, because of higher first and second rates, Ottawa power costs $18 per horsepower per annum, compared to Belleville's $17. Most municipalities charge 0.30 or 0.33 cents per kilowatt hour on the third rate, the rate which really determines power costs for large industries.

Besides these three rates for kilowatt hours, there is another charge the power consumer must pay, a service charge per kilowatt hour per month. Belleville's rate, $1, is equalled by Ottawa, Perth and Trenton.

Belleville domestic and commercial consumers also enjoy rates which are among the lowest in the province.

A YOUNG MAN'S PROVINCE

Go West young man certainly sounds like good advice —if the young man in question is interested in a political career.

Saskatchewan Liberals will choose a new provincial leader at a convention at Saskatoon on November 25.

There will be five to eight candidates for the task of endeavoring to oust Premier T. C. Douglas' CCF government.

One rumor has it that Hon. James G. Gardiner, the Federal minister of agriculture, may seek to return to the post he held in 1926, when he resigned as premier of Saskatchewan to join the Federal cabinet.

If he does run, though, he will be the only veteran. The certain candidates are:

Wilfrid Gardiner, his son, aged 29.
A. H. McDonald, 35.
John Egnatoff, 39.
Wilfrid Estler, 40.
Donald L. W. Hood, 47.
Their average age—39.

JIG-SAW PICTURE

Probably thousands of Canadians swore softly to themselves when they read their newspapers on Tuesday.

Five Canadian cabinet ministers helping Communists celebrate the anniversary of the October revolution!

But if Canadians found something wrong with the picture, their amazement and dismay must have been mild compared to that which shook the sheets on the ghosts of Karl Marx and Nicolai Lenin.

Communists feeding vodka and turkey and marinated herring to a bunch of bourgeois politicians!

NO BEST DRESSER

Often frowned on I;
Built without a stanching tie;
Hat a brown instead of grey;
Glower that should be thrown away.

Still in one respect I'm right:
Shirt, for all occasions, white.

Fashion experts who select Best-dressed men, my name neglect.
Just one look at me they take,
Then their heads they sadly shake
Saying: "In that shiny blue,
Goodness gracious! he won't do.
"Coat and trousers should be pressed.
See the spots upon his vest.
Overcoat is out of date.
He's no modern fashion plate.
Ought to purchase raiment new.
Needs a shave and hair cut, too.

"Formal wedding, and to that Went without a high silk hat;
Can't round the shoulders
tight,
Smell of camphor pellets white.
Listed he, he never can,
As our city's best-dressed man."

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

NOV. 12, 1934.

Yesterday was this city's and district's most impressive day of remembrance and a large turnout was observance of the last war, members of military units from city and outside points and hundreds of citizens paid reverent tribute at the cenotaph. Prior to marching to the cenotaph the men formed on the armouries' lawn and marched to the Tabernacle United Church where a non-denominational service was conducted by city ministers.

A Welfare Club with fifty charter members has been formed here with the following officers: president, Wells Meyer; vice president, George Giffen; treasurer, Fred H. Ponton; secretary, Hedley Lake; ward chairmen, Foster ward, William Marshall; Simcoe ward, Mr. Henry treasing; Ketchenson ward, John Leaton. The Welfare Club has as its purpose just what the name signifies, Welfare. It will operate in South Hastings with headquarters in Belleville.

Dangerous Days of Life

(Ottawa Journal)

Comes now an expert, a professor of anesthesiology no less, to tell us that the most dangerous human life the first 48 hours are the most dangerous—that never again, on the average, will the person lives to be a centenarian, never again will he face the two such conceivably dangerous days except his last two.

Far be it from us to argue with an expert on his own ground, but perhaps less than two days call for there are comforts also. The comforts are spiritual, if lacking in variety, and usually there is a plus attention separating the infant from its more old eager relatives.

Advantages too, statistically speaking, that go into the making of mortality tables. There is no case on record of an infant of some 46 hours, for example, falling off a ladder or breaking a leg on the football field or going swimming after a hearty consumption of hot dogs and pop. It is quite unknown for an infant of that delicate age to drive a fast car after a couple of drinks, or study the interior of a gasoline tank with a lighted match, or smoke a cigaret in bed, or climb a ladder in a high wind with a storm-window in his arms, or drag a loaded rifle over a fence by the barrel.

So let our infants from their sheltered cubicles reflect, if they do reflect, not on the dangers of their infancy but on the dangers of life waiting in the outside world to pounce on them as they achieve what are laughingly called years of discretion.

Does Ontario Grow Wilder?

(North Bay Nugget)

Is Ontario growing wilder? That's the question pondered by some authorities in the Game Department of Lands and Forests, as they scrutinize one week's district reports from outside offices across the province.

Kenoraville reports acquiring a bull moose sighted in Prescott County. Another was reported in Lake Nipigon. Fenelon Falls says that a comparatively new population of Hungarian partridge has become established in that area. Chapleau reports that four moose came down to Chartrand creek for a drink and "then headed off into the marsh towards the golf course." The course is just across a small lake from the village.

In the Chapleau area, too, one of the conservation officers was chased up by a railway signal standard by a bear which he said "didn't have that disinterested look most bears have."

An Island Lake man en route to Chapleau managed to hit and kill two young wolves with his car. He collected $25 bounty for each skin.

Meanwhile, Sudbury has reported that two timber management officers saw a wolf-like animal on a truck haul near Massey. "After a few prods with a log rule, the snake moved into the underbrush where it coiled up and emitted its rattling noise. At this point it was left alone," the report quietly concluded.

Day Off for Mothers

(By Lester David, condensed from "This Week" Magazine)

I was at a houseparty late last summer when someone mentioned a prominent psychiatrist's suggestions for the proper use of leisure.

"Leisure?" snorted a young housewife who was listening. "What does that word mean? The last time I had a full day at it myself was just before the baby was born."

Baby, she added, had just been enrolled in school.

It soon became evident that she hit a sympathetic chord. All the other housewife present promptly agreed that free time, for them, was now just a fond memory of earlier days.

• • •

This was astonishing news. Were these women glaring exceptions, or could it be that despite male opinion wives were still shackled to the home after all? Curious, I did into surveys made by manufacturers and the large public-opinion organizations spoke to housewives economists and social scientists and even conducted my own poll.

The results may not surprise women, but they will certainly jar the men.

I learned that the young homemaker's job is still a staggering one. She works, on the average, three young children, an extensive social life, and has a hand on the job fully 100 hours each week. That means more than 14 hours of work every day.

Eight out of 10 young mothers in the prosperous, suburban country admitted that free time —time they can call completely their own—is virtually non-existent for them. And there is even evidence that today's housewife works a tougher job than Grandma had.

• • •

An idea grew logically from this situation and it is heresy to the home economist's family suggestion box for some serious consideration by husbands and wives. Why not:

Why not give wives a day off each week?

Why shouldn't wives who need it get a specific period of time off—perhaps a full day—in which they can look forward as a break in the monotony when they can be relieved of their chores at home obligations, when they will be free to do as they please? After all, most husbands get two days off weekly.

Why, mostly can, of course, establish its own schedule. The ideal day off starts with a late waking after breakfast and ending about 5 p.m. The "day" should definitely not be limited to the five hours and should include at least one meal which will be nothing—but nothing — for the wife to do that is even remotely connected with housework. The entire idea is to give her a complete change. On some days, families should expect "quickie" suppers; nourishing meals that can be whipped together in no time.

• • •

Frankly, it won't be easy to put this into operation. But there are ways of working it out and husbands and wives should do the article. And doctors and marriage counselors declare that the advantages will far outweigh the sacrifices.

Husbands and wives with older and grown up children, the few with full-time maids and the comparatively small percentage of women who could call on relatives to take over their duties were not interested. But for others who may decide it's a feasible plan, it soon became clear, it might:

1. Let husbands take over on the days they have whichever Saturday, Sunday or mid-week.

2. Enlist the aid of a responsible relative.

• • •

3. If the budget can possible be stretched, hire a mother's helper or baby sitter who can do light dusting, bed-making and childwatching.

4. Try to arrange a neighborswap deal so one watches over child one day, you watch hers the other. If apartment houses have a room for each other, you can rig up a radio baby-sitter device for children to hear the sleeping stage. It allows the watching mother to hear her own voice and still keep an ear tuned for the baby's cry. It's simply a microphone and loudspeaker attachment — a handy husband can make one himself, or it can be bought commercially for about $25.

• • •

5. Try to form a co-operative play group, or small nursery school in your neighborhood.

• • •

A final word to husbands: Unquestionably, the key word, too. The pressures of earning a living in these days of stress and strain are such that even contributions are not undemonstrative. They can be subtle and have your share of rest-and-relaxation. The experts counsel, look at it this way:

An edgy, nervous wife can cause an edgy, nervous household. Find out if your wife is getting enough rest. Is she tired all the time? Does she fly into a temper easily? Is she troubled with insomnia, or is she more irritable all the time? A day off might be the answer!

Mrs. DiMaggio Asked for This

(Fort William Times-Journal)

Here and there writers have taken up cudgels in behalf of Dorothy Monroe who has been divorced from Joe DiMaggio after a stormy marriage. Further complaints have been made against the conduct of newspaper photographers, movie cameramen, television operators, who turned up to cover the funeral in Baltimore and badgered her to tears as they sought an interview and she begged for privacy in which to be the public a picture of her face in sorrow.

No doubt Miss Monroe is in need of some sympathy from those who have had to deal with the publicity technique of the entertainment industry in the United States has been to invade the intimate lives of practically all who are prominent in any of the industry. A sordid business it is.

What Miss Monroe and others of her ilk have to recognize is that in keeping the confidences of such bubbly stardom, she automatically accepts the consequences. When one trades on a bulging bust, a wiggly walk, scanty attire and the whistling of wolves to achieve notoriety and publicity, one cannot hope to enjoy the benefits of propriety.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

After living and striving for fifty five years, a writer friend of mine became, within the past ten brief years, what is described as rotten rich. He is possibly worth close to two million dollars. His wealth came very unexpectedly to him, and both his friends and his business associates agree that he deserves it, for he has been a dedicated writer since the first moment he started in at last rewarded him beyond his wildest dreams.

I heard he was going to relax and take it easy. The news was that he was going on a leisurely and deluxe tour of Britain; which he had not seen since the first world war in which he was a private soldier.

I was with astonishment I met him on the street a day or two ago.

"I heard you'd gone to England for a trip," I said.

We got as far," he replied. "My wife and I simply couldn't take it on. It was too big. We've got so many little things to do, now, before we go after any "big things like that. For example, we like to go down to the market and just wander around looking at the little, trifling things we've wanted for so long. I've been to buy to see what I want, and she's become too careful of the money to flash way, it around. Steaks, for instance. We go to a good restaurant and order a hefty up as we used to be twenty years ago, and I'm left some bad financial bumps. So we pick on steaks two inches thick, off, beef that's tender when I eat it, medium-well, prime. We haven't bought a new car for big, money yet. We've got getting all the things we wanted for the old house, for so long-that we've been putting off certain. We get a great kick out of remembering things we've wanted but never could afford fifteen years ago. So now we buy it. The same stuff. The little things. I don't know why, now, when we could easily afford better. But we don't—You wouldn't understand.

"I think I do," I said.

"At last, money doesn't mean a thing," he wound up, "when you have it, and you've got most of your life, and then you suddenly have enough. To tell the truth, it's rather fun to have enough that too much."

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

INTERFERENCE WITH PHYSICAL EDUCATION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Quoted here the conclusion reached by the Education Policies Commission of the National Education Association:

"Recent years have witnessed the alarming increase in efforts to involve young boys in highly competitive sports programs. This unhappy development should be reversed. Highly organized programs in these sports often create pressures that cause children to exert themselves beyond the point of healthful fatigue to harmful exhaustion.

" . . . The promotional efforts of some adult organizations and business firms to involve boys from eight to twelve . . . constitute a problem of serious proportions . . ."

A representing (1) The American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, (2) Society of State Directors of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and (3) Welcome, now — the National Council SCEED of Elementary School Principals of U.S.A. (Yes, I swear), made a three year study of the problem and concluded that:

"Interschool competition of the worst sort is being promoted and organized competition under auspices of other community agencies are disapproved for children of the ninth grade."

They didn't say "we oppose" or even remember, brothers, free agents, and if one speaks out of turn or utters an opinion which displeases the high priests of education, the local big business interests, the politicians, and the wealthier parents, he had better begin looking for another job.

An executive of a wholesale concern writes from another city saying the article published here Sept. 22 has been brought to his attention of various remarks. Detailing the "restrictions" imposed upon the Little Leagues (to avoid harmful effects), such as limiting games to five innings, forbidding pitchers to pitch in more than six innings in any one week, etc., the tycoon says that:

"If the Medical Profession" (capitals his) "is honestly alarmed about the possibility of physical harm to boys participating in Little League Baseball, I feel I can speak for the business community better than the form of education that is to be provided in organizations of the boys and ways to help them stay within such limitations if they do not wish to have a program which is enjoyable to many and filled with so many educational possibilities."

If I do not, I don't wait for the medical profession. I give merely my own observations, and I don't wait for the medical profession.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

In a modest way, I have given out and scattered to the four winds, books that have inspired me. Just the moment a book is loved it is personalized. It then takes on character and, in its silent way wants to go places. How many a book I have bought at a second-hand book shop that seemed to say to me, when first discovered: "please take me home with you!"

That's why I have taken so much pleasure in scattering books about in libraries, and to personal friends whom I knew would befriend the book presented. I knew someone, with the genius to do so, would write a book itself as the main character, personalized, with the whole lifetime of that book told as though it were a person. The story of its birth, its youth, its happy and unhappy days, its encouragements and triumphs, and then its unperishable old age—printed in large, clear type, lovingly in libraries, and doted upon by collectors!

I want to do so a modest way, but it thrills me to give a much loved book to someone I like temperament to mine. When we say a book out upon an adventure, we know that the joy of that book will spread and its message deepen!

When I go into the reading room of a great library, and note the many readers there, I am confident it gives me a personal thrill for I know that each one is having for an intellectual feast in that spot. And if each book could talk, so each one would say: "Take me up next!"

I've scattered books around over the years and I have felt rich for so doing. I have left a bit with their kind. They represent pure delectation. I have been happy and comfortable beside any book and, as books, never quarrel, but they bide their time to deliver all that they are and know.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

DECISION

Some years ago there was a youngster in a midwestern community who prided himself on going about with a tough gang. He wanted the excitement of a fight and got it. He received the relation of her parents with amiable tolerance and looked upon most of the people around him as knew as a lot of somber old dodos.

One day his minister invited and urged him to come to a New Year's Eve party which the young people of the church were giving. He went and had a swell time. He never knew that Christian people could be as fun-loving as these kids were. Little by little he grew up the old gang and found his social life in the church.

When he was a sophomore in college, his father said to him one day, "Son, did you see those young boodlums in the morning paper?" Don's account is as follows: "I looked at the story and the pictures. There, staring out at me were the frightened faces of my own 'gang' which I had left behind in Centerville. The boys had just been sentenced to six years in the penitentiary. The sentence continues Don, "my eyes were playing tricks, but there in the newspaper was a picture of a space just my size."

Don is now in a theological seminary, and he went in the hopes that he will some day be able to help young people as he and Boolgirs as he was some years ago.

Immigrants In Nine Months Show Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigrants arriving in Canada in the first nine months of this year slightly outnumbered newcomers in the same period of 1953.

1,500 Sailors Have Volunteered For Sub Service

OTTAWA (CP) — About 1,500 Canadian sailors have volunteered for submarine service, the navy said today. But there are places for only 300.

They are to be trained in Royal Navy submarines on loan to Canada or in other RN subs. The Canadian Navy has no undersea craft.

The navy said the new plan will enable officers and ratings of Canada's anti-submarine navy to obtain first-hand experience with sub techniques which, in time of war, they might have to encounter.

The navy also announced that three submarines will be loaned to Canada by the British admiralty instead of one.

CAMPBELLFORD

Legion Branches Join in Service Of Remembrance

CAMPBELLFORD, — Campbellford Legion, Branch 103, R.E.S.L., in common with the multitude of Legion branches all over the nation, observed Remembrance Sunday in a fitting manner with a service at the Cenotaph on the west bank of the Trent River.

The weather was ideal for the occasion, and the parade from the Legion Hall to the Cenotaph was led by the Campbellford Citizens' Band. Legionnaires and members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, wearing their Legion berets and service insignia, comprised the marching body, and at the Cenotaph they were joined by members of the Beneraydo Chapter I.O.D.E.

GUEST SPEAKER

Legion president, Thomas A. Smith, presided. Guest speaker was the Rev. Dr. Cousens, B.A., B.D., D.D., a veteran of the First World War, and minister of Burnbrae Presbyterian Church at present. Dr. Cousens stated that all living in this great nation today should be thankful to God for those who offered their all in two World Wars.

Several hymns were sung to the accompaniment of the band and during the placing of the wreaths on the Cenotaph.

A Scripture reading was given by Capt. Edith Subbard, of the local Salvation Army, and Rev. A. E. Toombs led in prayer.

Two boys from this district who died in World War II and since the close of the war in 1945, were read by Comrade William McComb of the Legion.

Last Post and reveille for the silence of remembrance was sounded by trumpeters Walter Lowe, James Baker and Bob Cowell.

After the singing of the National Anthem, the parade returned to the Legion Hall headed by the band, for dismissal.

"Last Post" and "Reveille" were sounded by Trumpeter A. Thompson of the Royal Canadian School of Artillery, Picton. One of the largest crowds in years was present at the service held under ideal weather conditions.

The parade was led by legion president, Jack Ogilvy, with Mrs. Ogilvy heading the ladies' auxiliary of the branch. Mrs. Ogilvy placed the wreath at the gates for her organization.

JOHNSON—ALLCORN

On Saturday, November 6, at 3:30 p.m., in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, Elizabeth Allcorn, Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Allcorn, Belleville, became the bride of Gordon William Johnson, Galt, Ontario, son of Mrs. C. Johnson and the late Mr. Johnson. The Rev. H. M. Davis, B.A., officiated, and the nuptial music was provided with sprays of bronze pom 'mums and green garlands on candelabra, formed a setting by candlelight setting for the ceremony.

The music was softly provided by Mr. Alec Gordon, of Belleville, who accompanied Mr. Alec Cuningham, soloist, as he sang "The Lord's Prayer", before the entrance of the "Bliss, Wedding House", during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of nylon net over bouffant skirt of taffeta, with strapless bodice and a Chantilly lace jacket featuring a sweetheart neckline and tulip collar, keyhole neckline and long fitted sleeves ending in lily-points at the wrists. Her fingertip tulle illusion veil was caught to a Chantilly lace headpiece accented on either side with a self flower. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of yellow Perfection roses.

Mrs. Ivan Mackie, of Montreal, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a waltz-length gown of autumn red taffeta with matching shoes. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of 'mums with ivy and wheat sprays and wore a headeau of 'mums for her hair, matching the color of her gown.

Mrs. Thornton Brown and Mrs. Bruce Parsons, both of Belleville, were bridesmaids, attired in gowns and accessories identical to that of the matron of honor.

Little Karen Sanborn, of Galt, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl, dressed in gold taffeta with flowers and headdress identical to that of the matron of honor and bridesmaids.

Mr. Ken Johnson, Kingsloo, Ontario, brother of the bridegroom was groomsman. Messrs. Sidney Allcorn, brother of the bride; Carl Sanborn, of Galt; Pat Kelly, of Galt, and W. Barwise, of Weston, all brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, were ushers.

The reception was held at Club Cedars, Canniton Road, where the bride's mother, wearing a mink rose taffeta dress, with matching hat and black accessories, and corsage of pink carnations assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing navy dress and hat with white trim, navy and white accessories, and a white gardenia corsage, received the guests.

The bride's table was adorned with a three-tiered wedding cake, silver candelabra and tapers, yellow and white 'mums.

Mr. J. Ritchie, of Belleville, proposed the toast to the bride, to which the bridegroom responded and in turn proposed a toast to the bridesmaids and best man. This was answered by the best man.

Mr. Alec Cunningham sang "Because," accompanied on the piano by Mr. Murray Maxwell, of Bancroft.

For motoring to the Muskoka district and continuing on to Washington, D.C., the bride chose a dusty pink boucle suit, matching hat and brown accessories, grey kidskin coat and orchid corsage.

Out-of-town guests were present from Montreal, Lachine, Westton, Galt, Kitchener, Waterford, Kingston and St. Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside in Port Dover.

Prior to the wedding the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Thornton Brown; a bridge party, dinner and personal shower at the home of Mrs. Bruce Parsons; a dance and party at Club Cedars by a group of friends who presented the couple with an automatic toaster; a party in Galt held by the bridegroom's family where they were presented with a coffee-table, end tables, wrought iron lamps and magazine rack; a dinner at the Golden Arrow Inn by the girls in the Sales Department of the Northern Electric. During the week before the wedding, the bride's mother entertained friends of the bride at a delicious tea where a shower and wedding gifts were displayed. Mrs. Bruce Beavis and Mrs. Jim Ritchie graciously presided at the tea table.

Hospital Nurses' Alumnae Enjoy Travelogue

The monthly meeting of the Belleville General Hospital Nurses' Alumnae was held in the Ritchie Memorial residence, Tuesday evening. Mrs. C. Nowlis, president of the association, presided, with 32 nurses present.

During the business period, final plans were discussed for the annual dance and also for the Christmas meeting, which will be in the form of a pot-luck supper with each member bringing a 50 cent Christmas gift to be exchanged that night; also 90 cents to be donated to a charitable organization for a needy family.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. C. John introduced Mrs. E. MacPhail, guest speaker for the evening, who gave an interesting and educational travelogue, illustrated by colored films of British Guiana and the Barbados. Mr. and Mrs. MacPhail made their home in British Guiana for two years.

The illustrations of the country and the customs of its people were most interesting; the flowering trees and unusual flowers most beautiful. The different kinds of parrots, birds and animals were also interesting both to see and to learn of their habits.

Mrs. MacPhail's description of how bauxite ore is mined, and finally shipped to Canada to be manufactured into aluminum, was educational.

Mrs. G. McGreary expressed appreciative thanks to Mrs. MacPhail for her interesting talk and colorful pictures.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. M. Smith, Mrs. J. Campbell, and Mrs. H. Arnott.

Pr. of Wales' H-S Club Sponsors Successful Children's Fair

The Prince of Wales Home and school club is to be highly congratulated on the success of its Children's Fair held in the school on Wednesday evening. The favorable results attest to the hard work and combined efforts of Mrs. Peter Murray, the president, and the members of the Home and School Association.

Each room in the school was utilized for an exhibit. The tea room was under the direction of Mrs. Victor Hart, who was assisted by Sandra Royle, Sandra Dickens and Sheila Hedger. Afternoon tea was served in Mrs. Slack's room. The patrons took their cups into the office where Mrs. Jenkins told their fortunes in a most enlightening fashion.

Across the hall in Mrs. Garrison's room, dainty cakes, cookies, tarts and other home-cooking kept Mrs. Bongard, Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Townsend busy display-ing and selling the wares.

Mrs. Burch and her daughter, Wendy, sold candy to delighted customers in one part of Mrs. Mastin's room while Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. McBride carried on a thriving business over a white elephant table in another part of the room.

FISH POND

Mrs. Badgley's room was a hive of activity when Mrs. Hagerman held forth with the fish pond. Mrs. Hodgins had a "washing-well", and Mesdames Muir, Miller and Gray dispensed delicious buttered popcorn.

Mrs. Watson worked exceedingly hard before the fair, collecting the results of the children's hobbies. Her display showed that the spare time of the children can be put to great use.

Art samples were displayed in Mrs. Hodgins' room. Plaques, crystal work, macaroni pictures, model cars and aeroplanes, embroidery, knitting, masks, dolls, foreign books and a Dutch Bible, as well as many other articles proved that children's talents can be most usefully directed. These were shown in Mrs. Phillips' room. Mrs. Armstrong helped to prepare the display and answer any questions about the different articles.

The cake bar with Mr. and Mrs. Slack, Mrs. Garrison and Mrs. Burtt serving and the hot dog stand in which Mr. Lockyer, Miss Sprague and Mrs. Phillips worked, did an extremely thriving business.

BEAN GUESSING

Rickey Locke and Johnny Mossman sharpened their patrons' wits by making them guess how many beans were in a jar they had. Nadine Flunder was the winner.

A beautiful vase, donated by the Canadian Pittsburg Paints, Limited, was won by Larry Hodge, who made the highest score throwing bean bags into numbered compartments.

Mrs. Sproule and Mrs. Slack were convenors for a variety show put on by the school children and junior choir.

The choir was a great credit to Mr. Dorland Houston's instruction and leadership. Six little girls in fancy costume sang about "Dolly and Molly" and "Betty and Polly" and "Bridget and Mary Anne" who were six little milkmaids.

SQUARE DANCING

Eight little girls, four in white blouses, full red velvet skirts, and four in white blouses and full yellow velvet skirts, accompanied by their small swains, with matching ties, brought down the house with their two sets of square dancing.

More pupils presented "The Wedding Farmer Boy", and different ones sang about "School Days". A skit depicting early life in Prince Edward was also enjoyed.

Mrs. Badgley accompanied these numbers on the piano and Mr. Sproule was the genial master of ceremonies.

The grand finale of the evening was a male fashion show under the direction of Mr. Ted Burch. His models were Messrs. Gray, Mayr, Coghill and Watson. The pleasing creations designed by Schaplarelli were entrancing while the modelling done by the handsome males certainly left nothing to be desired.

The clothes ranged from a tennis costume to a turquoise satin evening gown. While the models changed their entire ensemble, Mr. Burch entertained the audience with songs sung in his own inimitable fashion.

Both the variety show and the comments of Mr. Burch were easily heard as they were translated through the public address system donated by the Northern Electric Company and operated by Mr. Roger Roulette.

Everyone left being refreshed bodily and relaxed mentally and hoping that the Children's Fair will become an annual event.

Administration Of Justice' Topic At Reg. N. Assoc.

The annual dinner meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario District 6, was held Wednesday at the Empress Hotel, Peterborough.

His Honor Judge John Kennedy, Judge of Supreme Court, Peterborough, guest speaker, chose as his topic "The Administration of Justice." "Administration of justice would not be so necessary," he said, "if each new young people were molded character rather than have them cram facts."

Miss Mary McPherson, Peterborough Civic Hospital, introduced the speaker.

Miss Margaret Peart, Belleville General Hospital, as chairman of District 6, welcomed all those present and gave a special word of welcome to the nine student nurses attending.

Following the speaker there was a short business meeting when annual reports were presented from each chapter in the District.

The semi-annual meeting in the spring is to be held in Belleville.

Belleville W. T. F. Hears Talk On Federation

The Belleville Women Teachers' Federation met at Lattimer's Town Room on Wednesday, at six p.m.

Following the supper hour, Mrs. Wanda Sine, 1st vice-president, in the absence of the president, Miss Grace Houston, opened the meeting.

Mrs. Sine then welcomed the guests, Miss Campbell, a retired teacher from the Belleville staff; Mrs. Clarke, director of Region 4, and 1st vice-president of the Ontario Teachers' Federation; and the special guest, Mrs. Keefer, executive secretary of the Public School Women Teachers' Federation, who had been invited at the annual August meeting in Toronto, to speak to the Belleville women teachers at this meeting about "Federation."

The minutes of the meeting were read by Miss Lois Mason, followed by a brief business period.

Mrs. Clarke brought greetings from the Ontario Teachers' Federation. Miss Margaret Hillis, accompanied by Miss Mason at the piano, favored with a solo "Smilin' Through."

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Dorothy Blakely introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Keefer, who stressed the important part played by all teachers both in school and in the community. In order that teachers may know more about themselves, Mrs. Keefer outlined what the word "Teacher" really symbolizes.

T—Teacher, "a teacher is as necessary to a well child as is a doctor to a sick one."

E—Ethics.

A—Assistance.

C—Child, Community, Conferences, Co-operation.

H—Happiness, Health, Help, Hazards.

E—Experience.

R—Regard.

Miss Jane Smyth thanked Mrs. Keefer on behalf of all present.

Miss B. Wallbridge moved that the meeting adjourn.

Teach Canadian Housewives Food, Customs of Other Countries

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The United Nations now functions in the kitchen.

Recently the women's section of Toronto United Nations Association held a three-day international cooking school—their painless way to teach Canadian housewives about food and customs of other countries.

The school, first venture of its kind in Canada, demonstrated dishes from 14 countries and attracted more than 3,000 people. "It did more for international understanding," organizer Mrs. William Tuckey said, "than a four-power conference."

Canadian housewives and their husbands flocked to the displays to watch typical Russian, French, German, Japanese and Scandinavian dishes prepared on the platform.

EXOTIC FOODS

They collected handfuls of menus listing recipes for some of the more exotic foods such as Russian Easter bread which requires 15 eggs and a pound of butter, or Japanese sukiyaki, a stew brewed over a hibachi right at the table.

Japanese food caused most comment—especially when the sudden appearance of raw fish strips being dunked into a spiced sauce. It's definitely in Japan.

Canadians learned that Russians and Germans are partial to rich heavy food, but not overburdened dessert. Instead they pause in midafternoon for tea and cookies.

The artistry involved in serving meals Japanese style was demonstrated. Setting of the meal is important, from the miniature floral display piece to lacquered serving bowls.

DON'T MIX FOODS

Unlike the Chinese, the Japanese don't mix their foods. Everything under the sun may appear on their tables at once but always in separate bowls.

From Japan came a recipe for salmon teriyaki. Ingredients include a pound of red salmon, ½ cup corn syrup, 1 cup soy sauce, ¼ tsp. garlic, 1 tsp. powdered ginger or grated fresh ginger. Slice salmon into ½-inch thick-

Couple Observes 50th Anniversary

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Whiffen were at home to their relatives and friends on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Whiffen came to Canada from Hampshire, England, in 1912, and lived in Belleville since. Most of the time where Mr. Whiffen was employed by the C.N.R. He worked for the company for 32 years. On his retirement in 1945 they moved to Orillia to be with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hoskin.

Both are members of St. James' Anglican church.

Mr. Whiffen enjoys working in his garden, while Mrs. Whiffen still bakes her own bread and buns.

They were the recipients of many gifts and flowers, which included a lazy-boy chair from the family and a canary with cage and stand from their granddaughter, Patsy Hoskin.

Relatives and friends were present from Frankville, Kingston, Petersburg, Oshawa, Hamilton and Belleville.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By HEATHCOTE FAIRFAX

IT'S NOT IMPOSSIBLE, BUT IT'S EXCEPTIONAL

Dear Miss Fairfax:

In your answer to a letter that recently appeared in your column, you stated that 11 years is too much difference between a couple. You made it sound like an impossibility that a marriage with such an age difference could ever work out.

In my own case, there is 9 years difference between my husband and myself, and all the girls in my family—myself, my mother and my husband's mother—were in their teens when they married. No marriages have ever worked out better than theirs and, personally I feel that my life would have been ruined if I had not been allowed to marry the man I loved just because of a matter of 9 years difference in our ages. Many marriages go on the rocks where the cause is not a difference in ages, but just the people themselves.—A.R.

First let me tell you that I have always conceded that a wide difference between the ages of a man and a woman does not necessarily prevent a happy marriage. I merely happen to believe that such cases are the exception.

As you, yourself, suggest, the success or failure of a marriage depends first and foremost, on the two people who become man and wife. If they are people of character, who realize that a successful marriage does not just happen, but must be developed through love, maturity, tolerance and endless patience, all will be well. But the average teenager has not usually reached the point of maturity where she—or he—does realize this, and so is not prepared to cope with the adjustments that will be made. And, for many reasons, these adjustments are far more difficult if the teenager marries a man much older than herself.

No doubt you, and the others in your family who married in their teens, did happen to be exceptionally mature, and also had the good fortune to marry men of understanding and insight who could guide their young wives in adjusting to married life. But this is far from the case in most instances where a very young girl takes a husband considerably older than herself.

If you could read the tragic letters I receive from desperate teenagers who have done just this, and then found themselves overwhelmed by problems and responsibilities they could neither understand nor handle, I am sure you would agree with me.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

RELAX FOR BEAUTY'S SAKE

There are women who drive themselves through the day's activities until their bodies are a bundle of aches, their nerves fairly screaming for release from tension. Life is breathless. And they wonder how come those furrows between the eyes, those lines across the forehead, those dark circles under the eyes. They lose the spirit of youth as well as youthful appearance. What these women need is a little healthy self-indulgence. They also should learn how to relax.

Why should a wife and mother drive herself so hard? Because a little dust under the bed than mama lying in it with old family Doc beside her telling her to "take it easy—or else!

If you are a drive-yourself woman you must see the error of your ways. You are not made of wire and fiddle strings. If you feel tired all the time, you are only half alive. You should have a period of relaxation during every working day—a period when you can forget about all those things you feel you must do, lie flat on your back, close your eyes—and the doors of your mind.

Go limp, and free yourself from muscular tension. Let your thoughts drift. Visualize quiet country roads, rippling streams, trees and flowers. Revive pleasant memories of holidays you have enjoyed. Go on mental journeys that bring a sense of tranquility.

The body will not relax, the nervous system will not calm down if you have racing thoughts. A little practice along these lines and a woman can work more restfully.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

PLEASE PASS THE PITCHES . . . RIGHT

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Will you please answer a question for our group? When one is passing a pitcher, or a jelly or condiment dish that has a handle, how should it be passed? — Kate D.

It should be passed with the handle toward the one who is to receive it.

THE PROBLEM OF THOSE "TLU OL' SIDE DISHES"

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I'm always puzzled to know what I'm supposed to do when I'm confronted with the service of vegetables in the little side dishes. Eat the vegetables from the dishes, as they are served, or serve the vegetables from the individual dishes to my plate? — Patricia H.

When you are, as you say, 'confronted' with this side-dish service in a restaurant, . . which is where one more often encounters it. . . the best way usually to serve the vegetables, or a portion of it at a time, to your plate. But if it's a creamed something and you prefer not to transfer it, it's quite correct to eat it from the small dish. Important Note: when you do transfer the vegetable, don't dump the contents of the dish onto your plate. . . use a serving spoon, or your own pong to serve it to your plate.

YOUR child can have fun making a useful gift from an ordinary enamel wire hanger. Paint the enamel, and when it's dry, add a special name or design or decal. Put a ball of string inside, and there's a dandy kitchen gadget, custom made.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

This is my first letter to you since our second daughter arrived—now four months and a darling. . . a friend and myself have started a new dietary routine—we have allowed ourselves a certain number of weeks to lose a specified number of pounds, we keep an eye on each other. We do our exercises each morning together at 9 o'clock with the TV program . . . I've lost 16 lbs. and feeling better each day. . . tell me amount of calories in vinegar and flour. . . have you ever made beef or chicken noodle soup like this? If I pressure cook a roast, or steam, or boil a chicken I save the stock. Then I pick the carcass of the chicken or cut up left-over beef and put it in stock . . . when boiling I add noodles. It's much nicer than the bought soup and you get most in it.

When I am ready to put my sealers on the fruit shelf I test each one by holding the glass tightly and removing the rings. If the glass is sealed down I know it will keep. . . if glass is loose I rebuil it—I don't have fruit spoil on me. . . in canning yellow plums we always had a jar of juice and just a little plum. . . this year I made my syrup then parboiled my plums 2 minutes, then carefully put them in hot sterile jars and processed them in hot water bath.

Now for the questions: (1) My fruit salad I had to reboil and discovered the apples weren't cooked. . . could I put the jars back in the hot water bath and for how long. Would I have to loosen the glass' top? (2) My crock pickles did not seal when I used the hot sealers and put the hot syrup over them. Will they spoil? I would like Marj. E.'s way of processing cucumbers and also her Crokk Pickles? Can I roll out the pie crust and put it between wax paper and freeze it? When I take it out of the freezer it is wet and seems to get tough when cooked. . . how should I go about it. (3) I have never had dill pickles spoil on me but this year one jar worked,—I used your recipe. . . could you give any reason for it? —Vicky.

ANSWER:

It was fun to hear from you again Vicky. You certainly are a going concern with your family, your exercises, your freezing and canning. One tablespoon vinegar has about 2 calories; 1 tablespoon unsalted white flour contains 30 calories. Question (1) re-process jars (do not loosen seal) starting them in quite hot water, and time them when they come to boiling, giving the 15 minutes longer process to cook the apples. I'd advise leaving out the apples next time, for it is a shame to overcook the other fruits. Question (3) The factor that makes your jars "seal" is vacuum which is formed because everything contracts when it cools from hot to cold. I can't say if your crock pickles will keep—you seem to be a very careful operator, and the chances are good that you have not introduced any unsterile equipment or ingredients. If you are doubtful though, process them in hot bath 20 minutes. Why don't you use pressure for your canning? Question re freezing pastry: I have mailed you two bulletins on this subject. The only explanation I can give for dills not keeping is that one of them might have been spoiled or soil might have been in a crack that was not scrubbed out. Sorry that it had to be from my recipe that these were made. I am returning the clipping, I am mailing the pickle recipes.

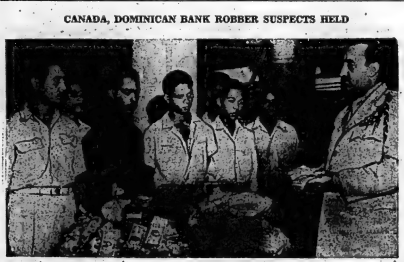
Mexico and Germany to Renew Rivalry at Toronto's Royal Winter Fair



The Mexican army team represented by Brig. Gen. Humberto Marles, at left, Capt. Joaquin D'Harcourt Rguez., and Lt. Roberto Vinals Contreras, are seen above receiving the J. Spencer Weed perpetual challenge trophy from Mrs. Charles Goetz after sweeping to victory in the final day of the international jumping competition at the U.S. national horse show held in Madison Square Garden in New York. Looking on is horse show official Whitney Stone. After cleaning up at Harrisburg, Penn., the Mexicans had to take a back seat to the Germans in New York. For Germany won nine of the 13 International events to be contested with Hans Winkler, world champion, sweeping four individual titles.

The four remaining events were split by Spain and Mexico which shared three each and the U.S. Canada failed to crack the winner's circle. The jumping competition is scheduled next for the Royal Winter Fair now underway in Toronto, and playing host to visiting teams will be W. R. Ballard, captain of Canadian team, seen above, making a fine jump during final competition at Madison Square Garden. (Central Press Canadian Photos).

Two bank employees and two police were killed during the daring theft. Shown with those being held in connection with the crime is Brig.-Gen. V. G. Trujillo, chief of national police, who personally led in the capture of the suspects. Two others are being sought. The youths being held are from left, Jose Almonte, E. D. Maldonado, V. ENTICING TO THE GOURMET'S EYE

French President Rene Coty and members of the diplomatic corps in Paris admire the results of their morning's shoot of pheasants. The shoot, an annual affair, was sponsored by the president at his official country estate at Rambuillet, just outside Paris. The obvious question is "when will dinner be served?" (Central Press Canadian).

Little Benny's Note Book

We were just starting dinner, being a little stake under a lot of onions, and ma said to pop, Mr. William, I meen goodness, just look out the window at that gorgeous erly moon.

Which one? pop said, and ma said, Now William, dont talk like a man with a sole devoid of poetry.

I'm talking like a man with his nose full of the unutterable fragrantz of fried onions, Mrs. Smith, and ma said, I'm ashamed of you, William, I really am. That moon sailing through those wonderful fleecy clouds is like a fairy ship floating in a sea of cotton, she said.

My dear, you awaken the poetry in me, pop said.

And he got up and went to the window and looked up at the sky, saying, By golies You're right, it reminds me of Longfellow's lines, A sight to make the angels laff, It's more than a moon, it's a moon and a half.

All rite, you've seen it now, dont overdo it, ma said, and pop said, How could I possibly overdo a view like that? To quote Shortfellow, a duzzen painters could not overdo. Such an outstanding, instanding, upstanding view.

Do you want your dinner to get cold? ma said, and pop said, In the immortal werds of Mediumfellow, How can a man think of beefsteak and jello, When cloucds are white and the moon is yellow?

William, if you let your dinner spoil after the time and thought I put on it, I dont want you ever to address me again either in rime or prose, ma said, and pop said, Why my dear, I didn't realize you'd miss me so.

And he sat down again looking as if he felt better instead of werse.

Irish Immigrant Was Father Of Canada's Labor Movement

Editor's note: Canada's labor force totals more than 4,300,000 persons. This story is how workers are organ ni zed among militant major bodies as well as small, independent groups. Saturday, Growth of labor legislation.

By JOHN LESLANG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—On the day after Christmas in 1883 Daniel John O'Donoghue walked down Toronto's Queen street, turned into No. 64 and read a convention call to a scattering of men warmed by a pot-bellied coal stove.

The bewhiskered typesetter from Ireland's County Kerry, his brogue still thick after 21 years in Canada, was laying down the keystone for the organization of unions on a national scale in this country.

Dan O'Donoghue, now regarded as "the father of the Canadian labor movement," had spent years trying to get that first national meeting organized, courting the loss of his job and even arrest, for not long before that it had been a criminal offence to belong to a union.

NATIONAL ORGANIZATION

The Canadian labor congress he sponsored—its handful of members scattered through the East and a few Prairie points—was the precursor of today's coast-to-coast organization of 1,300,000 workers and is generally regarded as the basis for the Canadian labor setup in its current flowering stage.

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, biggest central union body with 380,000 members, is the direct successor to Dan O'Donoghue's congress. The Canadian Congress of Labor has another 375,000. And the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor 100,000 centred in Quebec.

Independent railway unions and miscellaneous smaller bodies found out the total to more than one-fifth of Canada's working force of 5,300,000.

Long before Dan O'Donoghue and his friends got together in Toronto's spittoon-sprinkled Dufferin Hall, there had been sporadic attempts by organizing labor in Canada. The earliest on record—known of only vaguely because everything was cloak-and-dagger in those days—was in Nova Scotia in 1816.

The provincial legislature tried to tramp on it by passing a statute declaring meetings of workmen unlawful.

ILLEGAL IN 1872

As late as 1872, unions that now enjoy a high degree of respectability in this country were illegal. So were strikes. A group of Toronto labor leaders was jailed in Toronto that year for instigating a walkout.

But from 1883 on, union organization in Canada moved ahead.

Most of the growth came after the turn of the century, for at that time there were perhaps only about 15,000 active union members in Canada. In fact, more than two-thirds of union membership has been signed up since the start of the Second World War.

As the 20th century came in, a carpenter in a big Canadian city got from 17½ to 25 cents an hour and worked 56 hours and more a week. Today, he may average around $2 an hour while working about 40 hours a week.

He and his fellows get unemployment insurance; their right to negotiate for their services is laid down by law. Many employers provide educational, health and recreation facilities. Pension plans are spreading.

Of late, more and more talk is being heard about the idea of a guaranteed annual wage.

While the Trades and Labor Congress developed gradually on a craft basis, a few young railwaymen in the Maritimes were getting together in 1907 in an organization that was to have a lasting impact on Canadian labor.

The leaders were Aaron R. Mosher of Halifax, a freight handler, and M. M. MacLean of Sydney, N.S., a dining-car conductor only 20 years old. They set up in 1908 the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, which was eventually to become the spearhead of industrial-type union organization in Canada and the strongest challenger to the TLC's supremacy.

Mosher, now white-haired and 73, stayed at the head of the CBRE until 1932. His remains president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, which he founded in 1940.

His CBRE, Canada's biggest non-international union, was in the TLC and was kicked out in a jurisdictional fight before Mosher in 1927 carried it into a new all-Canadian Congress of Labor. In 1940, after the TLC expelled unions affiliated with the CIO in the United States, Mosher gathered them together in what now is the CCL.

Largest unions in his congress now are such groups as the 100,000 steel workers, organized across the board in mass production industries.

QUEBEC MOVEMENT

While the two larger congresses were developing, the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor was evolving in Quebec from 1921 beginnings founded on an 1881 encyclical on social problems that spelled out the Roman Catholic church's belief in freedom of association and collective bargaining as means towards social justice.

The CCCL links about 15 federations of workers and many local unions, largely organized on craft lines.

Right now, there is a spreading move to unite all three bodies—and miscellaneous smaller groups—in a single Canadian labor organization.

But many political and organizational difficulties remain to be overcome before Canadian labor reaches the goal of a single entity.

LABOR TALKS TO GOVERNMENT

Labor in Canada has grown as a force in the national community since the first attempt at country-wide organization was made in 1873. In this photo, Prime Minister St. Laurent has just received a brief at Ottawa from the 380,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. Chatting with the prime minister are (left to right) TLC vice-presidents Carl Berg, Edmonton; Bill Jenkins, Toronto, and the K. Davis, Vancouver. Claude Jodoin (head table, background), this fall became the TLC'S first French-Canadian president in 46 years. (CP Photo).

'I'm Not Going to Work My Head Off' Says Gable

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After 25 years in the movie business, I'm not going to work my head off."

This was Clark Gable talking. He was reflecting on his life in his usual off-handed manner. A big man with an easy grin, he lacks any pretense. He scoffs at the idea of "icing," which Hollywood puts on him despite the fact that films of other stars earn more money.

Although he has two or three pictures lined up and could name his deal at any studio in town, he insisted he will space his work with plenty of time between films. Does this mean he is "peeded" financially?

"Lot's say I'm in pretty good shape," said Gable, who is considered one of the most moneywise of stars. "I'm not rich by any means. But I'm comfortable. That's all I ask of life—to be warm, well-fed and comfortable."

"A LAZY MAN"

Among the comforts and diversions he enjoys in life are good female companionship, travel and fishing. He'll talk for hours about fishing—about the only subject on which he is voluble. I asked him why he liked it so much.

"Because fishing is a lazy man's sport," he said, "and that's me—a lazy man. I like to hunt, but there's a lot of walking involved. Fishing is easy; you can just sit and wait."

When he is in town—which isn't often between pictures, Gable stays at his home in the San Fernando valley. He has lived there since he was married to the late Carole Lombard, 15 years ago.

"Sometimes I wonder . . . why I don't sell it," he said. "The house isn't too big, but I've got a lot of property. Of course, it's getting more valuable all the time, so I can't complain."

WASN'T TOO HAPPY

Reflecting on his career, Gable said that "Mogambo" was the only really good picture he has had in the last 10 years. He made a slight exception for "Command Decision," for which choice he was responsible. The play was originally sent to him. He turned it down, but induced MGM to buy the film rights. He wasn't entirely happy with the result.

What are his favorite films?

"If you really want to go back, you can pick one like 'It Happened One Night,' 'Test Pilot,' 'San Francisco,' 'Boom Town' and 'Gone With the Wind,' of course. That one was a cinch.

"I'm glad my term was a half month, but I don't think I worked more than seven weeks. I even got married (to Carole Lombard) and had a honeymoon during the picture. There were whole stretches I wasn't in. But when Rhett did make an appearance, he made it count."

As Gable climbed into his sleek convertible, I asked him about a report that his doctor had told him to cut down on the party life.

He grinned. "I saw that, too, and got a big kick out of it. I was dancing a tall highball at the time."

Peacetime Military Conscription Urged in Canadian Legion Brief

OTTAWA (CP) — Peacetime military conscription in Canada was urged on the government today by the 215,000-member Canadian Legion.

The Legion's annual brief was presented to the cabinet four hours after the ceremony at the National War Memorial honoring Canada's 100,000 war dead.

It was presented by Very Rev. John Anderson, MC, Legion president, who, with Prime Minister St. Laurent, placed a wreath at the base of the monument.

The brief said:

"We have stressed the Legion's conviction that scientific and world developments have made Canada's initial position in the event of war much more precarious than it was at the outset of either the First or Second World Wars. . . .

DANGER SEEN

"Members of the Legion . . . still are disturbed by the fact that Canada is the only major nation of NATO that does not have compulsory military service. The Legion believes that in the world today this is unrealistic and dangerous to our country.

"It is the responsibility of the government to initiate a policy on national defence that is for the benefit of the people and realistic for the world in which we exist. Only such a policy will avoid defeatism and a feeling of hopelessness amongst ordinary people as they think of the tremendous engines of destruction which science has recently evolved. . . ."

The Legion advocated:

1. Compulsory selective service in the active forces for a period long enough to train a substantial defence organization, without crippling the economy of the country in the process;

2. Service by those discharged or released from the active forces for a definite period in the reserves so that there will be a continuing trained nucleus in the militia.

REPEAT REQUEST

The Legion banged away at the government for the umpteenth time on War Veterans' Allowances.

It urged again that WVA for the some 40,000 recipients — "burned-out" veterans and their dependents—be increased to $50 from $50 a month for single persons and to $120 from $90 for married persons.

It also reiterated its request that the ceilings on permissible income for WVA recipients be raised to $1,200 from $720 a year for single persons and to $2,000 from $1,200 for married persons.

"It seems hardly possible that a human being can keep body and soul together in this day of inflated living costs if he is limited to an annual income of $720 if single and $1,200 if married," the nine-page brief said.

The Legion also urged that disability pensions be made effective from date of application. At its discretion, the pension commission now can back-date a pension for one year or in special cases another six to 18 months.

Before the Commons veterans' affairs committee earlier this year, the Legion cited cases where some disabled veterans had had to wait as long as 12 years before a pension was granted.

WANT AMENDMENT

The Legion also requested that the Pension Act be amended so that, where a pension applicant who served in a war theatre is found to have a disability resulting from an injury or disease not recorded on his medical examination on enlistment, such injury or disease be presumed to have occurred or started after enlistment.

Another request was that the pension for a dependent parent be increased to $100 from $75.

QUEEN HONORS WAR DEAD AT CENOTAPH CEREMONY

During Remembrance Day services in London, England, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh laid a wreath on the cenotaph in Whitehall. Monty Recalls Order of Day When War Ended

OTTAWA (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery Thursday night recalled his order of the day to the British group of armies May 9, 1945, when the German war ended.

It read:

"Great problems lie ahead; the world will not quickly recover from the upheaval that has taken place; there is much work for each one of us. We have won the German war. Let us now win the peace."

That peace is not yet won, but it can be won "if we stick closely to our aim, which is: Peace through strength and strength through unity." Lord Montgomery said in a Remembrance Day speech which he called "Lest We Forget."

The recorded address was broadcast over the CBC's trans-Canada network.

The deputy commander of Allied forces in Europe said:

"We have been at peace now for over nine years. It is a very uneasy peace that broods over the world. We are in the midst of what has come to be called the cold war; a better name would be the cold peace."

Just Friendly Game

MONTREAL (CP)—A man was rushed to hospital in critical condition Thursday as a result of what police termed a friendly game of "Russian roulette."

Police identified the man as Yvon Normandin, 23. Police said he was shot by a friend, Paul Savigny, were playing with a .38-calibre revolver at the Normandin home on northend Cartier street when gun fired and a bullet penetrated Normandin's right thigh.

Issues Challenge To Gardiner To Tell of Meet

SASKATOON (CP) — J. Wilfred Simmie has challenged Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner, who earlier charged of "inter-ference" in the Saskatchewan Liberal leadership race, to release details of an alleged meeting in Regina between Mr. Gardiner and one of the leadership candidates.

In a prepared statement issued here Thursday, Mr. Simmie said:

"The minister appears to have forgotten about his meeting with one of the candidates in Regina within the last few days.

"If the meeting was not arranged to-have the candidate withdraw, probably the minister would like to inform us why he even attended that meeting and the purpose for which it was called . . . and what transpired."

Mr. Simmie, also a leadership candidate, said that he will hold Mr. Gardiner "on his own terms and in his own back yard" if he wants and requires to use "the prestige of his high office to exert unwarranted influence in the party leadership race."

Another candidate, A. H. McDonald, M.L.A. said earlier he had been approached and asked to withdraw.

In Ottawa Monday, Mr. Gardiner denied Mr. Simmie's charges made in a Rosetown, Sask., speech, that the minister had "interfered" in the leadership race.

Mr. Simmie's statement yesterday was told of a meeting in Saskatoon—"which I did not initiate"—where the minister said there were only two men who were interested in the leadership who were not "heading the party". Mr. Simmie added he was one of the three named.

Holding Hearings On Power Supply For Atomic Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atomic energy committee members gathered for a winding public session on the Dixon-Yates contract today amid fresh signs the dispute over the private power project will boil over into the new 84th Congress.

Representative W. Sterling Cole (Rep., N.Y.), chairman of the Senate-House of Representatives group said he hoped to finish open hearings on the contract, finally signed Thursday, with further testimony from top Atomic Energy Commission officials.

He said the legislators may be called into closed session Saturday to decide whether to grant a quick go-ahead on the project as President Eisenhower has asked.

On tap for questioning, today were AEC chairman Lewis L. Strauss, AEC General Manager K. D. Nichols, acting comptroller general Frank H. Weitzel and R.W. Cook, the AEC's acting assistant general manager for manufacturing.

Cook signed the contract for the AEC Thursday after the commissioners approved it 3 to 0 with minor last-minute changes aimed at making its terms more favorable to the government.

Signing for the private utility, the Mississippi Valley Generating Co., was Edgar H. Dixon, whose Middle South Utilities Inc., and the Southern Company, and Eugene Yates, created Mississippi Valley to carry out the project.

Under the contract, the Dixon-Yates concern would build a $107,000,000 steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., whose output would go into Tennessee Valley Authority power lines to replace electricity TVA is supplying to atomic plants. The AEC would pay about $20,000,000 a year for the power, with the contract to run 25 years and for 20 years beyond that if the government wishes.

Administration supporters say the contract is a fair, economical way of getting added power now without expanding the government run TVA. Opponents have called it a "power grab" and a step to cripple TVA.

Multi-Million Dollar Search Under Way to Find Answer Is Cigaret Smoking Harmful ?

Exactly what steps are under way to find out definitely whether or not smoking causes cancer or other diseases? Here's a concise wrapup of research projects now in progress and what can be expected from them, last of four articles on the cigaret controversy.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — A multi-million dollar search is getting under way to find the answer to this question: Are cigarets guilty or innocent as a cause of cancer, heart disease or shortened life?

Numerous laboratories and agencies, here and abroad, are conducting it. The search will lead into strange byways.

It should in time produce enough evidence to give yes or no answers, to the satisfaction of almost all physicians and scientists.

COSTLY RESEARCH

One phase is a research program by the tobacco industry research committee, starting with an initial $500,000. This week its scientific advisory board, headed by Dr. C. C. Little of Bar Harbor, Me., announced the first of six grants totalling $82,000 for research projects.

This advisory board says no one has yet proved a definite cause-and-effect relationship between cigarets, cancer and heart disease. It has mapped out a broad program to cover studies of humans and human lungs, smoke-tests on mice, human habits, jobs and geographical differences, the effects of inhaled smoke on animals' nervous systems, blood vessels and lungs, and in test-tube and other studies.

The British tobacco industry has pledged $100,000 a year for seven years for research there.

The American Cancer Society, saying the evidence "against cigarets available "indicates an association" between smoking and cancer and heart disease, has not yet marked a special $500,000 fund for more studies on lung cancer.

This society is continuing its study to learn what happens to 180,000 men whose smoking habits are known.

VETERANS' HABITS STUDIED

The U.S. Veterans Administration and National Cancer Institute are making a similar study of smoking habits of 200,000 First World War veterans, to determine any relationship between lung cancer and smoking.

In some laboratories, scientists are breaking down cigaret tars, trying to find the specific constituent causing agent or agents.

Some of these have already proved—or strongly suspected—as a cause of cancer, it might be removed from the tobacco in the process.

Development or use of new types of tobacco, shown to be free of suspected agents, has been proposed.

Cigaret paper is being studied. If danger is found to exist there, it might be changed, or avoided.

HUMAN GUINEA PIG

In one human experiment, a New York scientist is having his skin painted with tobacco smoke extracts, to see if they produce skin cancers as tobacco tars have produced cancers in mice. His skin also is being painted with other chemicals which are known to induce cancer in animals. He is relatively safe in this experiment.

for any skin cancers which may appear, could easily be removed surgically.

Dr. Little of the tobacco industry's research group says he would like to see answers sought to such questions as effects of smoking on the nervous system, whether there are differences in the nervous or other makeup of smokers and nonsmokers, or smokers of pipes or cigars compared with cigaret smokers. What makes teenagers start to smoke? What kind of person may tend to smoke moderately or to excess? More tissue studies, more analyses of tobacco and its components also are under way.

One theory of cancer is that some cancers, at least, come only after years of irritation. This is one reason for suspecting smoking in lung cancer. But, Dr. Little asks, is this because of the irritation, or because the person himself or his body tissues have changed during the process of aging?

Time enters into the cigaret controversy. Some experts say the evidence is clear enough now; that in time they will convince others that this is so. Others say not enough facts are known; that in time the facts will influence or controvert the present evidences.

Prince Charles Will Be Six On Sunday

LONDON (Reuters) — A black limousine rolled out through the gates of Buckingham Palace Thursday, carrying a sleepy-eyed boy and a load of birthday presents.

In the back seat were Prince Charles, who will be six on Sunday, and his sister, Princess Anne, 4.

Later, at the Royal Lodge at Sandringham, Queen Elizabeth gave them a hug and prepared to weather two days of questions from the curious public.

Charles did not know that the presents had been slipped into the trunk of the limousine and were going to Sandringham with him.

Among the gifts are miniature cars, jigsaw puzzles and books. Since a tutor was appointed to him a year ago, Charles has learned to read so well that every bedtime he insists on reading brightly-covered books to his mother and his father.

Sheik Jaffar Fails in Mission To Wed Narriman

CAIRO (Reuters)—Multi-millionaire sheik Ezzat Jaffar flew to Langer Thursday night over the refusal of former queen Narriman's husband to divorce her and pave the way for his marriage to the 21-year-old beauty.

Jaffar, chief of the royal cabinet of the Persian gulf state of Bahrein, admitted, however, that he had failed to see Narriman's husband, Mohammed Ali Rushdi Bey, chief of Nakib. She married him seven months ago after divorcing former King Farouk.

To the reporters' surprise, Jaffar jumped up in a temper and shouted: "Her husband will never divorce her. He has said so repeatedly."

He made no mention of reports he had told Rushdi Bey Narriman's hand-bargain for a staggering price. Nakib earns about $25 a week from his practice in Alexandria.

2 Million Dollar Fire at Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — Damage was estimated at more than $2,000,000 Thursday night in a fire which almost destroyed a huge, filled east warehouse here. No one was injured.

An arson spokesman said at least $1,000,000 in equipment went up.

The blaze was caused by flying sparks from the blowtorch of a workman repairing the building's sprinkler system while all water supplies were shut off.

The "major-million-dollars" No. 2 warehouse of the 11th Royal Canadian Division was a hodge-podge of barracks on Edmonton's northern outskirts housed army blankets, uniforms, tent and food.

Soldier Returns To Base After One-Day Reunion

OTTAWA (CP) — Sgt. Robert Netter left by car Thursday for his United States Army base at Fort Dix, N.J., after a much-publicized one-day reunion with his German immigrant sweetheart here.

The 41-year-old soldier and the girl of 21 met 11 years ago in bomb ruins at Darmstadt, Germany, and Netter financed Miss Gerlinde after the immigration department cleared her entry.

The couple was thrust into the limelight when the department of citizenship and Immigration at Ottawa announced Miss Gerlinde's visa to Canada Union station here last Friday night did not materialize, and Netter flew to Ottawa for the girl. She was located Tuesday at a labor department hostel near Mount Laurel.

The girl was to start work here today as a domestic.

Duke Publicly Thanks Canada For Fine Trip

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh publicly thanked Canada Thursday night for the reception it gave him last autumn.

"I had a perfectly magnificent time," the duke said. "Everyone was the soul of hospitality and kindness."

The duke made his remarks in a three-minute off-the-cuff address at the inaugural dinner and dance of the Canadian Universities Club. About 350 graduates from 15 Canadian universities attended and stayed out for dancing until the small hours.

Victoria Cross Proved Fake

LONDON (CP) — A medal claimed to have been a Victoria Cross won in Canada in 1866 has been declared a fake by British experts.

The war office, which knew that the VC was in a British military museum, published a report that it had been bought in New York. Examination showed it to be false. The original was awarded to Private Timothy O'Hea of the rifle brigade for putting out a fire in an ammunition train travelling between Montreal and Montreal. It is believed the only VC ever won in Canada.

Now the other case of a forged VC has been reported recently. "They are being put on sale to collectors—one was sold recently for £140," an authority said.

The accident occurred near the intersection of highways 115 and 7's at the eastern edge of the village of Cavan.

The train dragged the truck 50 feet along the tracks. The cab of the truck was demolished but the driver climbed out unaided.

Working in Salt Mines Not As Tough as It's Said to Be

By RAE CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NAPPAN, N.S. (CP) — Ninety men with some water and pipes have that working. In that salt is mines isn't as tough as it's said to be.

The 90 comprise the labor force at the Maritime plant of the Dominion Salt Company here. There, which actually isn't a mine at all.

Salt deposits in terms of dollars and cents. But its above-average wage rate have made it one of the healthiest industries in northern Nova Scotia. The "mine" is about five miles from the manufacturing town of Amherst.

The Nappan branch of the company was opened in 1947. The others are at Goderich and Sarnia, Ont., and Unity, Sask. The water-and-pipe method of producing salt is used in all four of them.

Packaging is a major part of the operation. The company found that table salt put up in a square carton seemed to salt better in the province of Quebec than it did in a round container. So Quebec wholesalers got their salt "square."

The brine is so laced with salt that it's almost slush. The concentration of 26 per cent makes sea water's three per cent pale by comparison. A gallon of this brine will yield three pounds of salt.

Salt destined for table use has to be treated with magnesium carbonate powder to make it "free running."

Another item that must be added to table salt is iodine. This is required by federal law.

The company declines to define its output in terms of dollars and cents. But its above-average wage rate have made it one of the healthiest industries in northern Nova Scotia. The "mine" is about five miles from the manufacturing town of Amherst.

A-BOMB BLASTS

KANAZAWA, Japan (AP) — A Japanese scientist said today the explosion of 20,000 atomic bombs explosions were carried out in the Lake Baikal area of Siberia. Kameo Ito, head of the Kanazawa University observatory, said a study of air currents showed that radio-activity from that area was being carried over Japan. His observatory estimates fixed the period of the atomic explosions in late October and early November.

Majority report of the conciliation board rejected the local's demands for increased wages and more complete company - paid health coverage. Average wage at the depot is $1.37 an hour.

The minority report from the conciliation board recommended a wage increase of from six to eight cents an hour.

Queen Mother Enjoys Visit To Old British Colonial Capital

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (CP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth, who "seemed in truth to step back into the 18th century" during a four-day visit to this old British colonial capital, moves on today to 20th-century Washington.

The Queen Mother was to take off from here at 8 a.m. EST aboard an RCAF plane, arriving in the capital about 9:15, being met by a brief engagement in the United States was a luncheon at the Mayflower hotel given by Canadian embassy.

Thursday night at a farewell dinner with her American hosts the Queen Mother spoke of the "delightful visit" she had had in historic England and the U.S. and added: "It has greatly increased the ties between us may grow even stronger; and that the understanding between us may bring our two countries even closer together, enriching not only them but the whole civilized world."

The Queen Mother spoke at the dinner in the ballroom of the home where John D. Rockefeller Jr., industrialist and philanthropist, has spent a quarter of a century and more restoring part of the town to the way it was when it was the seat of Britain's Virginia government before the American revolution.

"Yesterday evening," she said, "I walked by candlelight through the capitol of the governors who once represented the British monarchy here and I could in truth to step back into the 18th century when Williamsburg was a thriving and energetic community."

Earlier Thursday she visited the site at nearby Jamestown where the first permanent British American colony was set up in 1607.

The Queen Mother, who was dressed in the colorful costume of the old colonial capital, was to attend a candle-lit concert of 18th-century music after the dinner in the palace of the British governors.

Grain Champions Already Chosen as Royal Winter Fair Opened Tonight by Monty

TORONTO (CP)—The 26th Royal Agricultural Winter Fair opened today for business—the showing off of Canada's agriculture.

Billed as the biggest indoor agricultural exhibition in the world, the Royal has $145,000 to give away in prize money plus a room full of silver trophies. It has something for everyone to see.

For the men there is the white-tie-and-tails royal horse show, featuring leading jumpers from five countries. For the ladies it has fur-coses with three-foot stems, or flowers of any other variety.

But for the farmers it has the eight world agricultural championship classes. Judging for these was completed Thursday.

Three of the championships went to Ontario farmers. Two went to Alberta, one to Quebec, one to Indiana and one to Scotland.

ONTARIAN WHEAT KING

Only one of the world champions appeared at the show. He was William E. Brecken, 62, of Burlington, who won the wheat title with a sample of Conference, a white winter wheat.

William R. Beattie of Staples, a former winner, took the soybean award with a sample of haricot and the other Ontario award was won by David D. Hackett of Cochrane, exhibiting Chippewa oat grain.

Thomas B. Brown of Castilla, Alta., won the hay prize. George Snow of Milk River, Alta., took the barley prize for the second straight year.

C. A. Rivard of St. Simon, Que., captured the prize for forage crops, Floyd Riner of Lewisville, Ind., won the corn prize and James Gray from Kincardine-on-Forth, Scotland for tops in the oats class.

Mr. Brecken, who won the winter wheat class last year, had tough competition from last year's world title winner, Ronald Leonhardt of Drumheller, Alta. Leonhardt tried with chinook and took the reserve award. He won the world title for two straight years.

HAIL WINNING WHEAT

Deputy agriculture Minister C.D. Graham said the wheat prize "couldn't have been won by a better man." Judges described the Brecken sample as "terrific."

Mr. Brecken operates a 300-acre farm and specializes in Jersey cattle. He planted 129 acres of wheat and picked the entry variety by luck. It was the first time in 25 years that winter wheat was a championship at the fair.

For years Marquis and related wheat have monopolized championships at Toronto. Genesee is the Toronto title. It is a recent improvement of Conference, developed by

Mr. Beattie, an oldtimer around the fair, has been entering soybeans in competition for many years. Last year's soybean title went to the De Putter brothers of Appin, Ont.

The Beattie farm is in the heart of the soybean area, near Leamington in Essex county. Many fair officials had expected the title to go to southwestern Ontario, since soybeans got their start in Canada in that district.

Mr. Beattie farms three miles south of Cochrane. He and his father, George Hackett, are considered largely responsible for the development of the Chippewa potato in the north. Last year's winner was Gabriel Kolonecte of Dunning, 15 miles east of Cochrane.

Other grand and reserve champions included:

Winter Wheat: Reserve—T. Miller, Clacton-on-Sea, Essex, England.

Spring Wheat: Champion—Ronald R. Leonhardt, Drumheller, Alta.; reserve—Norman Johnston, Cranum, Alta.

Peas: Champion—Elsoms (Spalding) England, Spalding, Lincs., England.

Shelled corn: reserve—H. Trissan, Painecourt, Ont.

Potatoes: reserve — Russell Barnard, Waldron Station, Ont.

Hay: Champion—Waldie Cross-bird, Bradford, Ont.; reserve—Clarence V. Coons, Lakefield, Ont.

Tonight Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery officially opens the show.

Sunday School Lesson:

Social Security in New Form

By ROY L. SMITH

The poets of all ages and of all tongues have been among our most effective teachers. It is highly probable that the average individual has been more profoundly influenced by a few bits of verse from some wise singer than he has been by the labored definitions of the economists and the philosophers. This week's Sunday School lesson rests down upon some choice bits of Hebrew philosophy expressed in poetical terms.

TEACHING BY CONTRASTS

The Hebrew poet delighted in teaching by contrasts; the good against the bad, the clever against the stupid, the immediate against the eternal, the thrifty against the wasteful, or the wise against the stupid.

In this week's scripture we have such a collection of teachings. The difference between the man who goes out looking for the good and the one who goes out intent on finding the evil of life; the temporariness of the rich man's happiness compared to the eternalness of the righteous man's joy; the pretensions of the man who wants his neighbors to think he is rich compared to the pretensions of the man who pretends to be poor; the cheerful and the morbid, the wise and the foolish, those who enjoy poor health and those who are filled with irrepressible joy, contentment with little and worry with much, happiness with scarcity and wretchedness with satiety!

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for November 14: "A STUDY IN VALUES," Proverbs 11: 24-28; 12: 7; 15: 13-17; 17: 16: 8, 16; 20: 11-12; 22 1-8; 9; 6-28.

A bombastic youngster once said that he thought it was silly to include such a simple book as Proverbs in the Scripture—that anyone could write proverbs. To which an elder and wiser man replied, "Then suppose you try writing a few yourself." He discovered that it takes centuries, in some cases, to write a proverb.

SORTING OUT VALUES

The big responsibility every man faces in living his life is choosing his values — selecting those things for which he is going to strive, those values for which he will be willing to give the most precious things of his life.

That there is enormous value in laying aside enough to guarantee the necessities of life in one's old age is quite generally admitted, but there are those who get so engrossed in the task that when they arrive at that old age they have provided for they have no gracious memories to keep them company. Then there are those others who have accumulated enough to permit them to travel to the ends of the earth, but they have no knowledge of the things they see and come home resentful of the fact that "those Europeans got our money and only showed us a lot of art galleries and cathedrals."

No man is rich until he knows the real difference between poverty and poverty, between wisdom and folly, between the immediate and the eternal.

WHEN DOES LIFE BEGIN?

There has been a certain amount of controversy between the popular psychologists concerning the question of when life really begins. Some say at age 40, some say at age 30, and some say at 70, when the minted wisdom of the generations has become fixed and we live above the level of the calendar.

It seems more fair to say that life begins when we have discovered how few of the great joys of life can be bought, when we know the difference between the satisfying and the sensational, when we have learned the rules of life so that we no longer worry, when we have matured in our emotions and our appetites just as we have in our physiology, when we have discovered something to live for that is worth dying for.

RAWDON

Wellman's M. B. Holds Open Meeting

RAWDON— The annual open meeting of Wellman's Mission Band was held at the church Friday evening, with a large attendance of parents and children.

Miss Yvonne King played quiet music. Mrs. Burton Morton gave the call to worship and the pastor gave the devotional prayer.

Miss Anne Watson sang "Jesus Bids Us Shine." Charles Nix read Psalm 84 and Miss Mary Dracup sang "The Captain Calls."

Mrs. Morton told the story entitled "The Honest Pound of Soap." A group of juniors sang "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall."

Miss Mildred Morton read a selection entitled "Those Little Birds." Misses Bonna Dracup and Carol Beckett contributed a vocal duet "Tell Me the Stories of Jesus."

The offering, amounting to over $5 was gathered by Allan Fletcher and Bernard Beckett and dedicated by the pastor, who then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. A. Packman, of St. Paul's Stirling, who gave an interesting missionary talk to the children and told them many true stories and thus showed the members of the Mission Band how they could each help the cause of missions in their own small way.

The leader, Mrs. Morton, extended thanks for the message.

A group of senior children rendered a chorus.

At this juncture the group divided and Mrs. Packman entertained the children in the vestry with games, while the Rev. W. G. Fletcher was in charge of a film for the adults entitled "The Family Affair," and the information was prescried on a record player as the film was shown. This was a new innovation and the record gave the film a special message.

Following the benediction, the assistant leader, Mrs. Carman Nix and her committee, served cookies and tea.

The members of the Mission Band were pleased with the success of their annual event.

CORNWALL TONIGHT!

Don't look now but the Cornwall Colts, rated one of the strongest teams in this Senior "B" League will be the guests of the Belleville Memos tonight. From reports from other centres the Memos will have to be on their best hockey behavior if they want to pull out with a win and cling to that share-the-top position. It actually will be a battle for first place since the Colts and Memos each have eight points along with the surging Kingston Goodyears. The Goodies, too, should remain up there since they have a date in Peterborough with the not-so-good Petes of Purdue's village.

The Colts form a speedy, tricky organization and their passing is said to be the best in the league. They have beaten Kingston, Whitby and Brockville twice in their four victories and have been beaten but once, that at the hands of the Petes in the opening game of the schedule.

The Memos have been playing a fine brand of hockey too, although they appeared a bit off balance in that last game with Kingston. Tonight, if they are in full third, should produce one of the best games of the season. It is Cornwall's first meeting with our side.

FOOTBALL FINAL

Pete Bouche's cold and black gridders of Albert College go a-gunning for the 1954 COSSA Senior "B" football championship tomorrow afternoon with Notre Dame Colleges of Welland, Ont., providing the opposition. The rollege team won the title in 1953 and were runners-up in 1951 and again in 1952.

The gold and black 'won the Bay of Quinte Senior "B" title, going unbeaten through the schedule. They defeated RCI 14-0, Picton CI 18-5, St. Michael's 7-7, and Picton CI 31-0. In the semi-final they defeated Port Hope CI 28-8.

Coach Beach has a big, husky team that should give a good account of itself against the "Irish" from Welland. The gold and black' averages six feet in height with plenty of poundage on the heel. David Bruce, Albert's all-star halfbacks and Fred Bothwell, a middle are the only Belleville boys on the roster. The rest of the team comes from all parts of Ontario with Bill Perry hailing from Bourlamaque, Quebec and Lloyd Budgell from Terra Nova, Newfoundland.

Coach Beach is not selling the Notre Dame team short and has been drilling his charges hard for the big game tomorrow. Ed, Handford, of Renfrew, is the team manager and Ronald Webster, Oshawa, assistant manager. The game starts at 2.15.

THEY'RE LEARNING!

For the first time in a good many years New York Rangers' fans have become so excited about their team that they're even hollling over in public.

The Montreal-New York game on October 24 at the Garden was a fine one, but was tame compared to the battle next to the Canadiens' bench in the final period. That one was so good referee Red Storey postponed action on the ice until order had been restored.

It seems that one Ranger fan from Long Island, seated in a side loge, didn't agree with one Canadien fan from the Bronx seated in the side promenade. One word led to another and soon the Ranger fan jumped over the rail and landed on the Montreal fan.

They fought with fists and they fought with wooden seats. Before the cops were able to break it up, one innocent bystander a lady, had been kicked in the face. Neither combatant was damaged as they were escorted to the cells.

The Ranger fan from Long Island, adjudged to have been the aggressor, was arraigned on an assult charge in lower Manhattan court. But the magistrate, possibly taking into account the fervor the Rangers have now aroused in their town, dismissed the case.

Habs' Goalie Downed by Puck As Canadiens Blast Hawks 7-4; Surging Leafs Whip Detroit

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jacques Plante fractured a jaw and Toronto Maple Leafs broke a jinx in the National Hockey League Thursday night.

Plante, 25-year -old goaltender with the league-leading Montreal Canadiens, fell as if pole-axed when struck on the right cheek by a puck a few minutes before Canadiens met Chicago Black Hawks. Canadiens went on to win 7-4 with rookie Andre Binette in the nets before 14,033 hometown fans.

The Leafs, meanwhile, edged the second-place Red Wings 1-0 on Sid Smith's goal at Detroit Olympia in a game that had bot-tempered Ted Lindsay taking a poke at Toronto coach King Clancy and then going after a heckling fan.

The Leaf win was the feature though. It was the first time since Nov. 2, 1952, that Leafs beat the Wings on Detroit ice in a regular league game.

BINETTE FINCH-STOPS

Plante, former coach of Shawinigan Falls, Que., taking a crack at his first full NHL season, was hit by a shot from Bert Olmstead's mate Bert Olmstead. Binette, 20-year-old Montreal goalie, was called in for his first big-league game. He operated nicely, stopping 27 Chicago drives.

The victory gave Canadiens a four-point lead over Detroit. That loss left the Hawks in last place with two wins in 13 games.

Highlighting the fracas, Richard scored two goals for Canadiens. Bernie Geoffrion, Dollard Saint Laurent, Ken Mosdell, Floyd Curry and Jackie Leclair scored the others.

Two of the Chicago goals were scored by players who had just joined the club — Paul Masnick, traded by Montreal, and Metro Prystai, switched by the Detroit. The others were fired by Jack Medjurys and Bob Chrystal. Al Rollins in the Chicago cage had to stop 33 shots.

Smith startled 10,933 fans when he scored at 19:44 of the second period with a shot that hit the stick of Detroit defenceman Bob Goldham and caromed past goalender Terry Sawchuk. That gave Leafs their sixth victory of the season and moved them to within one point of the Wings.

The fireworks started in the second period when Lindsay and Toronto defenceman Jim Thomson mixed it up near the Leaf bench.

HURLS GLOVE

When order appeared to be restored Lindsay tossed a glove at Clancy after he yelled: "That's the first time I ever saw you drop your stick in a fight (Lindsay)."

The glove brushed Clancy. Lindsay then took a swing at King. He missed. Lindsay and Thomson went to the penalty box with two each at 15:25. Both teams were on the way to the dressing room when Lindsay crashed into the screening at one end to get at a heckling fan. There were a few punches but none apparently landed.

Goalie Harry Lumley, celebrating his 38th birthday, was credited as he stopped 45 Detroit shots. The Leafs peppered Sawchuk with 23 drives.

No games are scheduled tonight. There are six during the weekend. Boston Bruins are at Montreal, the Red Wings at Toronto and the Hawks meet Rangers in New York Saturday. On Sunday it's Canadiens at Detroit, Bruins at Boston and New York at Chicago.

BIG SEVEN

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens fattened their scoring average Thursday night to 14 points for a total by Chicago and wound up with five of their players in the top ten in league's top eight scorers.

Bernie Geoffrion scored one goal and kept up his goal-a-game pace. He now has scored 14 and collected five assists in 14 games for a total of 19 points.

Maurice Richard took over undisputed possession of second place in the standings by picking up two goals and an assist to run his total to 16 points. Ken Mosdell scored one goal and assisted on another to boost his total to 13, good for third place in the race.

Harry Lumley of Toronto registered his first shutout of the season in a 1-0 victory over Detroit Thursday but Terry Sawchuk of the Red Wings still leads in that department with three.

Says Canadian Football to Be TV'd Next Year

NEW YORK (CP)—Tom Gallery, sports director of the National Broadcasting Co. network, said Thursday night he believes Canadian football will be televised in the United States again next season.

After a dull start in which some games were not as exciting as they could have been from the standpoint of U.S. TV viewer interest, Gallery said the last two televised games from Canada were just "wonderful."

"They were the best we've looked at," he said in expanding on a recent interview with The Canadian Press.

NBC's decision on Canadian football will depend on the TV ratings, Gallery said, and he expects them to be high on the basis of the last two games. The ratings are due about the year end.

"MEDIOCRE" PLAY

In the earlier interview, given last week, Gallery said Canadian football has flopped as a television attraction for American fans because the Big Four Football Union provided "a mediocre brand" of game this season.

He declined at that time to say definitely that NBC will not take another crack at the broadcast rights for games played in the Canadian circuit.

"The part of the National Broadcasting Company has always been to show only the best in sport, like the world series, the Rose Bowl and championship fights," he said. "At last one of the Big Four games have been dull and unexciting.

"We would rather do without football than do a mediocre game. Then provide a mediocre brand."

Gallery said pre-season hopes of NBC officials that the TV rights to Big Four games would be a hit with Americans have turned to disappointment. The network paid the Big Four a reported $20,000 for the U.S. TV rights this season.

NBC has until Jan. 15 to take up its option for next season and its decision will depend on the 1955 U.S. college TV policy. NBC was outbid by ABC for the TV rights to the college games this season after carrying them for several years.

Sizzling Race Marks American Hockey League

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only two points separated first and last place in the American Hockey League today.

Quebec's result of Thursday night's 6-1 Buffalo Bison victory over Cleveland Barons and Providence Reds' 5-2 defeat by Springfield Indians, a four-way tie for second was created.

Hershey Bears are in the van with 15 points.

Tied for second, each with 14 points, are Cleveland, Springfield, Buffalo and Pittsburgh Hornets.

Buffalo turned its game into a rout in the last period with three goals by Gaye Stewart, Dino Wochy and Joe Lund.

Ken Wharram opened the Bison scoring with a goal at 1:46 of the first period. The lone Cleveland score was by Fred Glover, also in the opener.

Orval Tessier and Gene Kapusta scored 39 seconds apart in the second period for the Reds' only tallies.

Kitchener Defeats Sarnia Imps 16-8, Wins Ontario Rugby Football Title

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen Thursday rode a favoring wind and an intercepted pass into the Grey Cup semi-final.

The wind and interception sparked an eight-point rally in the fourth quarter to give Dutchmen a 16-8 victory over Sarnia Imperials in their Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union final. Kitchener won the best-of-three series opener 13-12 in overtime last week.

Quarterback Bob Celeri, a castoff of the Big Four Hamilton Tiger-Cats who was voted the ORFU's most valuable player this year, was the key man in the Kitchener drive. Dutchmen now meet either Edmonton Eskimos or Winnipeg Blue Bombers for the right to advance into the Grey Cup classic in Toronto Nov. 27.

It was 8-8 until the last quarter. That's when Celeri went to work. He broke the tie with a booming kick—helped by the wind—into the end zone to make it 9-8.

INTERCEPTS PASS

On the first play from scrimmage, Sarnia quarter Jim Lambert's pass was intercepted by Alf Crocker on the Imperials' 37-yard-line. In four plays Dutchmen struck for a touchdown on Celeri's pass to Gerry MacTaggart in the end zone. Celeri kicked the final point.

It was a big win for the Dutchmen, who returned to the ORFU last season after a 25-year absence. They placed first in the three-team home and away total.

Lambert, who completed six of 14 pass attempts, scored a first-quarter 22-yard field goal and Cookie Gilchrist went over for a touchdown in the second last period quarter to account for Imperials' scoring. Paul Amodio scored a major and kicked two converts and Crocker downed Gilchrist in the end zone for a safety touch to complete the Kitchener scoring.

The Imps moved in front early. They settled for Lambert's field goal after a march stalled on the Kitchener 14. The lead held until early in the second when Celeri and Amodio combined for a 30-yard pass to the Sarnia 37. In two plays Amodio carried over from the three. He kicked the convert.

Sarnia's touchdown was set up when Kitchener's Dutch Holland fumbled a kick and Jack Glendenning recovered for Imperials at midfield. Six plays later Gilchrist plunged for a major from the two.

Although Dutchmen were not as strong along the ground, Celeri more than made up for it with his passing. He hurled 13 passes and completed eight.

Huge Telegram Sent To 'Irish' Star

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The largest telegram ever dispatched from South Bend, a six-by-four foot sheet, was to be received by Dick Szymanski, injured Notre Dame centre, at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia today.

The telegram says in oversized letters:

"Mend well, Szymo,

"Just a little thanks for four great seasons. You'll always be all-American to us.

"Our appreciation and prayers."

Signed: "The Notre Dame student body."

Szymanski's final Irish season ended when he underwent an emergency operation for spleen removal following injury in the Pennsylvania game last Saturday.

Veeck Says American League 'Missed Boat'

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Veeck left the Chicago Thursday, declaring the American League had missed the boat by picking Kansas City over Los Angeles as a site for the franchise.

Veeck, former Cleveland and St. Louis owner in the junior circuit, said the American League will be sorry for passing on a golden opportunity.

"Conrad Hilton and an associate, representing enough money to purchase the entire American League, wanted to put Los Angeles in and could get permission to shift them to Los Angeles, but the deal was blocked," Veeck declared.

Sam 'The Rifle' Etcheverry Awarded Jeff Russell Trophy

OTTAWA (CP)—Sam (the Rifle) Etcheverry of Montreal Alouettes today was awarded the Jeff Russell trophy as the most sportsmanlike and valuable player in the Big Four, Halfback Ken Howell of Hamilton Tiger-Cats was chosen rookie of the year in the league.

The 34-year-old Etcheverry who earlier this year was unanimous choice as quarter on The Canadian Press Big Four all-star team, is the fourth Montreal player to receive the award since it was first put up for competition in 1936. Last year's winner was Bob Cunningham, Canadian-born Ottawa Rough Rider back who retired after the 1953 season.

The award was announced here by D. Wes Brown, league secretary.

Etcheverry, third-year import with the Als from Denver University, sparked the team to first place by his brilliant passing and field generalship.

Election of Etcheverry was made by the Big Four board of governors and field officials. Players on each team in the league nominate two of their number for the trophy pot up in honor of Jeff Russel, one of the Big Four's all-time great player with the old Montreal AAA in the '20s who was electrocuted while repairing a power line in Montreal in 1926.

Other nominees this year were:

Gene Wilson and Tommy Adkins, Argonauts; Bobby Simpson and Brown Bilkowski, Rough Riders; Ray Truant and Eddie Bevan, Tiger-Cats and Hal Patterson of the Als.

The rookie award goes to the best player who comes up each year from junior or high school ranks. The 18-year-old Howell played Tiger-Cat from Hamilton Westdale secondary school. Last year's winner was Bobby Dawson also of the Ticats.

Blue Bombers Whip Eskimos To Even Western Grid Final

By AL VICKER Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—For the first, successive year the western football final is going the limit before a winner is decided.

The best-of-three 1954 Western Interprovincial Football Union final was turned into a sudden-death affair Thursday when Winnipeg Blue Bombers defeated Edmonton Eskimos 12-6 to tie the series at one game apiece. Exhs won the opener 9-3 at home last Saturday. Final game is at Edmonton Saturday night.

The western final was turned into a best-of-three series from a two-game, total-point affair in 1950. Every year since, the club which won the first game has also dropped the next two.

Winner of the western final will play host Nov. 20 to Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, ORFU champions, in the Grey Cup semi-final. It's a two-year import fullback, a 26-year American back, now classed as Canadian, and a 20-year-old Canadian back were the big guns Thursday as Bombers ripped through the Eskimo line for a total of 243 yards.

They were Byron Townsend, former Texas Tech pile - smasher, Tom Casey and Gerry James. Townsend, who performed for pickup 102 yards, and Casey, a standout both on offence and defence, went over for Winnipeg's touchdowns. James ground out 49 yards and went for good gains on punt and kickoff returns. His 63-yard runback of the opening kickoff was a gem.

Guard Buck Rogers, who has taken over the place-kicking chores since 1953 scoring leader Bud Korchak went sour, converted Casey's game-winning touchdown. He also booted a single which deadlocked the game at 6-6 early in the fourth quarter.

A hard-charging Winnipeg line, headed by tackles Buddy Tinsley and Dick Huffman, gave Exk quarterback Bernie Faloney a bad time as they poured through on several occasions to halt plays before they got under way. Edmonton's backs, Jackie Parker and Rollie Miles, failed to get going at any time. Fullback Norm Kwong was their most consistent ground gainer as the club picked up only 138 yards.

Quarterback Jack Jacobs, renowned as a passer, tossed only 12 passes, completing four for 61 yards. Edmonton tried the same number but were successful on only two for 27 yards. Four were intercepted, three by Keith Pearce. Jacobs made a 15-yard run which was instrumental in Bombers' drive for their game - winning touchdown. Casey picked up the yards, and Casey, a standout both on offence and defence, went over on a pass attempt, Jacobs wheeled around right end for a first down.

CHEER BASEBALL'S "BIG SWITCH"

A group of Kansas City officials let out a cheer of approval after the American League approved the switch of the Athletics' franchise from Philadelphia to Kansas City. New owner of the A's is Arnold Johnson (right) and second from left, front row, is American League president Will Harridge. Only Washington Senators' President Clark Griffith and Cleveland General Manager Hank Greenberg voted against the deal. (Central Press Canadian).

'Never-Say-Die' Won't Run In Manchester

LONDON (AP)—The flat racing season closes Saturday in England's misty Midlands and for as long as horses run in this motherland of modern racing, 1954 will be known as the year of Never Say Die from Kentucky.

The last run of the season will be the Manchester November Handicap. But Never Say Die, chestnut son of Nasrullah, will be eating hay in a padded stall at the Earl of Derby's Plantation stud in Newmarket. The petted favorite of the establishment commands the best stud price in England.

Never Say Die, American-born and raised, is expected to continue the growing tradition of sired winners which marks his line. The line passes through such great sires as Man o'War, War Admiral, Americus, Americus Girl, The Tetrarch, Phalaris, Bleuheim II, Nearco and Nasrullah.

When Epsom Derby day came around Never Say Die was a 33-1 shot at the track. But he won the Derby with plenty to spare and made Robert Sterling Clark of New York and Upperville, Va., the first American owner of an American-bred horse to win at Epsom in 72 years.

When September arrived Never Say Die was the choice for the famed St. Leger at Doncaster. Never Say Die showed just how much better he was than any other three-year-old in Britain. He won by 12 lengths.

Soccer Player Tops In Punt Contest

VANCOUVER (CP) — A husky soccer player, packing a lethal wallop in his right foot, outdistanced Canadian football and English rugger hooters in a kicking exhibition here Thursday.

John Pickburn of Victoria, regarded as the hardest kicker among Pacific coast soccer players, booted the ball for a total of 150 yards on three tries to take top honors in the contest staged at a benefit soccer game.

Al Pollard of British Columbia Lions, former Philadelphia Eagle who completed the top punt average in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, threw a scare into soccer enthusiasts. He ended in runner-up spot with a total of 149 yards on his three boots. Ruddy Cervi of Vancouver's Ex-Tech, representing English rugby, finished last with 140 yards.

The representative of each sport kicked a regulation ball for his own game and only the distance the ball travelled through the air was counted.

Hamilton Cubs Whip Kitchener

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Cubs trounced Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks 7-2 Thursday night in the only game played in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A group. The contest at Hamilton marked the eighth in a row without a victory for the Canucks.

Bob Robinson and Garry Sharpe led the Cubs with two goals each. Bill Binnie, Jerry Sullivan and Brian Kilrea fired singletons.

Whitey Youngberg and Gary O'Reilly tallied for Kitchener.

Cubs have yet to lose a game at home but are still winless on away ice.

Toronto Marlboros play at Kitchener and Barrie Flyers go to Guelph for tonight's games.

Jonquiere Jrs. Stay in Loop

QUEBEC (CP) — Last-place Jonquiere Marquis will stay in the Quebec Junior Hockey League, getting player help from the loop's two leading teams, it was announced Thursday night.

President Lionel Fleury said following a league meeting that Montreal Canadiens and Quebec Frontenacs each promised to send the Marquis at least one top-flight player.

Governors of the four-team loop decided Trois-Rivieres Flambeaux couldn't afford to give up a good player without putting themselves in Jonquiere's position. The league will hold another meeting in Montreal Saturday to confirm the decisions.

The Marquis, with only one win in 14 games, threatened to withdraw from the league unless they got player and financial help.

CUBS EXTEND WELCOME

CHICAGO (AP) — Clarence (Pants) Rowland, 72, president of the Pacific Coast League, has a "standing invitation" to become an official, perhaps president, of Chicago Cubs, owner P. K. Wrigley said Thursday. Wrigley said he would like to have the baseball veteran in the Cub organization "in any capacity."

If he wants the presidency, and fitted to that position, he could have it," said Wrigley, current Cub president.

Edmonton tired in the finale but hung on for their tie at New Westminster. It was their third game in three nights. Enio Sclisizzi, Bronco Horvath and Don Pelle scored for Flyers. Coyle Fielder, Blinky Boyce and Gord Fashoway were the Royals' snipers.

Get Ready For Russ Threat In Olympics

NEW YORK (AP)—"Competition and more competition" is one way of getting set for the powerful Russian threat in the Melbourne Olympic Games, said Dan Ferris in an interview Thursday.

"We hope to get the program rolling next summer and follow it up in '56, the year of the Games," added the veteran official who saw the Russians in action in 1952 and watched them sweep by Europe's best in Switzerland last summer.

"Our track programs usually wind up when the colleges get through. We can't afford to do this any more if we want to make any kind of a decent showing in Melbourne. Our athletes must be in top shape for the games in November and December."

Ferris said the United States hopes to send 450 men and women competitors to Melbourne compared to 400 who went to Helsinki. It's going to cost about $2,000 for each athlete, said Ferris.

All good bridge systems agree on a few signals without hinting at an exception. One of these perfect signals is an immediate jump shift; the one-jump takeout to a new suit; forcing to game.

Culbertson says: Any one-jump response to an opening bid of one is forcing to game; except if the one-jump responder had previously passed up opportunity to open the bidding.

In such a case (he says) it is not necessarily forcing if the one-jump is no assist or a no-trump bid. The fact that the responder had not opened when he had a chance takes the force out of the jump.

Goren agrees with this version. I disagree with both their exceptions. In my system, any one-jump is forcing to at least a game whether responder has passed a chance to open or not.

But no exception exists in either the Culbertson or Goren rules, when the one-jump is a takeout to a new suit. So in this one case of the one-jump all three of us agree.

South opens with a heart when you have this north hand:

♠ K 9 6 4 2
♥ J 8 4
♣ 8 6 5 3 2

Your immediate response is two spades. It is a takeout to a new suit with a bid of one more than necessary. This one-jump takeout to a new suit is forcing to at least a game in all modern systems.

It matters not if the jump responder has already passed a chance to open the bidding. The fact that the jump is in a new suit is a signal that the responder insists on going to game of some kind.

You will find partners who refuse to be forced by your one-jump assist or no-trump. They follow their fancy and bid blindly and with some confusion. But they all accept the one-jump takeout as a force.

It is lucky that at least one kind of a jump is forcing to game under all and any conditions. Otherwise bridge would be in more of a mess than it already is.

Grid Eyes on College Teams, Big Four Closes Schedule

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Big Four Football Union ends its regular schedule Saturday but nobody particularly cares who wins or loses.

The league - leading Montreal Alouettes, who have dropped only two games in 13 starts, meet the downtrodden Ottawa Rough Riders in Ottawa. The Als are expected to take it easily, even if they loaf along to prevent injuries to key men.

In the other game, the second-place Tiger-Cats, who meet Alouettes in the league playoffs next week, clash with Toronto Argonauts at Hamilton. The winner of this one is a tossup. Argonauts, in third place, will finish the 14-game schedule with a 50-per-cent average of seven wins and seven losses if they come out on top. Ticats have little to gain but scoring points.

Most of the attraction will go to the college boys, who can set up in an unprecedented three-way tie for first place. University of Toronto Blues are host to Queen's Gaels at Varsity Stadium while Western Mustangs take on McGill Redmen in Montreal.

If the Blues and Mustangs win, the senior intercollegiate championship won't be decided until Nov. 27. In this event, Queen's and Western will meet in a semi-final at Varsity Stadium Nov. 20, the winner going against Varsity in the final.

If the Blues lose, however, the Gaels and Mustangs play Nov. 20 for the college title. The Gaels, the surprise club in the Intercollegiate League all season, have four wins in five starts.

SHATTO QUARTERBACKS

Argonauts will be without quarterback Nobby Wirkowski, in hospital with an injured eye. Dick Shatto, used this year as a wingfielder, will replace Nobby. Hamilton coach Carl Voyles expects trouble.

"They've played good games against us in the past," he said. "They'll be out to win this game."

Hamilton tackles Ed McClelland and Vince Mazza, who missed last Saturday's game against Montreal, will be out of the lineup Saturday. Mazza has a sore back and McLelland an injured knee.

Alouettes will be on a slight limp against Ottawa. Out to end Hal Patterson, who suffered a broken ankle two weeks ago. Backfielder Larry Grigg, still bothered with an ankle sprain, may see limited action.

The risk of injuries worries Montreal coach Peahead Walker. "If you play your best team there is always a chance of injury," he said. "If you don't play them, they could lose their edge."

Chinese Stars For Valleyfield

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The favorites went down to defeat in Thursday night action in the Quebec Hockey League.

In Valleyfield, the Leagueleading Montreal Royals bowed 3-2 to the last-place Braves and Chicoutimi, the fourth-place Braves and at Chicoutimi, the fourth-place Saguenenns upset third-place Quebec 4-1.

Larry (King) Kwong was the whole show in the Valleyfield victory, scoring all his team's goals. It was only the fourth win in 13 games for the Braves and left them still in last place.

Skippy Burchell and Lulu Denis scored for Montreal.

At Chicoutimi, the Saguenenns scored three goals in the first period and Quebec never caught up. Gilles Dube netted a pair for Chicoutimi and Rocky Bartlett and Georges Roy scored once each. Marius Groleau scored for Quebec.

The victory moved Chicoutimi to within one point of third-place Quebec. The Saguenenns trail Montreal by five points.

ILL WIND BLOWS GOOD FOR ROOKIE

It may have been an ill wind that blew down big Harry Watson of Toronto Maple Leafs and sidelined him a month with torn knee ligaments. But it was a stroke of luck for 21-year-old Calvin Parker. MacDonald, seen above, because it gave him his first shot at major league hockey as a substitute for stricken star. The rookie left-winger who got his start in the game via the midget ranks in Sydney, N.S., was brought up from Pittsburgh Hornets where he was sent in 1953 after three-year stint with Toronto Marlboro Juniors. Since coming to Toronto four years ago this is the first time he has had a chance to realize the dream that he brought with him and he is determined to make good. — Central Press Canadian.

MARMORA

Marmora Edges Stirling, 6-5

MARMORA— The convert of Steenburgh's touchdown in the final quarter of the Stirling-Marmora High school rugby game at Deloro on Wednesday afternoon, gave the latter team the narrow victory by 6-5. Lynch obtained the extra point.

The game was closely fought throughout, Stirling got their touchdown in the initial quarter as one of their players got possession of the ball during a fumble by the opposition. They failed with the convert. The lead was kept until the fourth when Steenburgh dashed through for touch to get the convert.

The second and final game of the play-offs will take place in Stirling next Wednesday and with these two closely matched teams living on their mettle, no other close encounter is anticipated.

AT THE BELLE

Thrilling Outdoor Technicolor Film, "Inferno". Has Notable Cast

Action, color and story-line have never been better served than they are by "Inferno," the outdoor thriller presented by Twentieth Century-Fox, which is closing a successful three day engagement tonight at the Belle Theatre. Filmed largely on location in the great Mojave Desert, "Inferno" presents its unusual story with a dramatic punch that is calculated to make you rock in your seat. It is the best drama seen locally in some time.

"Inferno" is no mere routine action film, though there is plenty of comedy-relief and violence to satisfy patrons of lusty type of film fare. The film is a solid piece of dramatic inspyriration, distinguished by characters of realife dimension, intriguing and original situations, good dialogue, tense direction and expert and unusual photography.

The story of a spoiled, spiteful and "cruel" millionaire who learns to be a man the hard way when his faithless wife and two lovers leave him to die in the middle of the Mojave Desert on their precious car, is a game to get help for him after he is abandoned by a rival. The film is continuously vivid, exciting and suspenseful.

The acting is superb, Robert Ryan, always the equivalent of any film actor both in talent and the rugged ability to handle himself in physical action scores on both counts, as a matter of fact, it's his best portrayal, and judicial role since the memorable "Crossfire" of some years ago. Rhonda Fleming, a beautiful redhead, has never been seen to better advantage and is entirely believable as a lithe and sultry beauty. And lanky William Lundigan, in a change of pace that gives him one of the best film parts, neatly etches the character of the other man who joins Miss Fleming in the crime against Ryan.

"Present For A Bride" Unusual

"Present For A Bride", starring Paul Douglas as the story-teller, is a special featurette on the same program. In the cast of this thriller, which is one of the series of films entitled "Calling Scotland Yard", are the beautiful and glamorous Hazel Court, Derek Bond and David Horne. A Colorfun Cartoon, and Warner Bros. News of the World, are added attractions.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Let your conscience tell you what is the best course to follow and you will succeed. Intuition often helps too. Be careful in loans, all deals.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — That "ounces of prevention" will prevent these irritations and failures today. Don't rush into things or speak out of turn if you would have harmony, product good results.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Don't take on more than you can handle successfully. There are tendencies now toward anxiety and irritability. Curb them quickly for your own sake and the happiness of others.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Some turbulent hours could upset the best solid thinkers. Make a strong effort to remain calm, patient. Avoid making snap judgments; don't speak before thinking.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Many of our dilemmas and misunderstandings are a result of insufficient thought given to possible results of acts and words. Be choosey in both action and expression.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — A.M. aspects suggest that you plan well and devote some hours to study and research. Later, with a better outlook, you can increase tempo and make much better progress.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Administer duties with a thought for all with whom you may come in contact; consider all those under your jurisdiction. Usually little things fall into line if you concentrate on them; they are important!

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — While going about duties keep looking for better openings and methods. Support may come from unexpected sources. Be receptive to the worthwhile suggestions. Use propriety, good sense.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — The time element will be important in all activities today. You may lack true interest. Correct this. Prod self from any state of inertia, but don't anticipate trouble. Just be prepared.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Excellent planet configurations. Business or other campaigns should prosper if you proceed vigorously. Curb selfish desires and do not waste time on unfeasible undertakings.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Be solid and alert now. Some contention is possible. A hit-or-miss attitude, speaking or acting without thought are tendencies to avoid. It's good to be friendly, but mind with whom!

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — A good outlook for-all those who take their tasks and duties seriously and who assist others. Be sensibly cautious, diplomatic where a problem is involved. You may have a lucrative surprise.

YOU BORN TODAY are under one of the strongest Signs in the Zodiac. You are energetic, can drive yourself and others too much at times. Objective: this: strike and maintain a happy medium, to get the most out of life, and to preserve health, which you can have in abundance. There is a great difference between the devotees of the undeveloped Scorpio person. Seek education throughout life; hold to your religion and high ideals always. Self-control will be a strong factor in the success formula. Don't worry but be conscientious always. Birthdate: Robt. Louis Stevenson, novelist; Edwin Booth, tragedian.

CAMPBELLFORD

'Public Relations' Topic at H-S Association

CAMPBELLFORD — The regular monthly meeting of Campbellford, Horon and Sidney Association was held on Tuesday night in the Kindergarten room of the public school.

The business portion of the meeting was conducted quickly, after which Mrs. Ted Peake, president, introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. G. W. Young, Inspector of Public Schools. Mr. Young spoke to the group on the subject of "Public Relations," which he said appeared to be good in Campbellford. He said the three main factors in public relations in regard to the school were:

(1) The staff and personnel of the school; (2) the parents and the board members elected by the parents; and (3) the community itself and the interest it displays in the school.

In all these a great deal of responsibility falls to the principal. Mr. Young said in visiting H. S. meetings in different places, he found about two-fifths of the parents of the pupils of the school attended the meetings. The big problem, he said, was to reach and create interest in school problems among the remaining three-fifths.

PANEL DISCUSSION

Following Mr. Young's talk, a panel discussion was conducted with Mrs. A. C. Newman acting as moderator. The panel consisted of Mrs. Harold Mercer, Mrs. Ted Peake, Mrs. Jack Connor, Mr. Ray Hall and Mr. Young, the inspector. A discussion on methods overcoming lack of molar control among some students, occupied a portion of the panel's time.

Also discussed were problems relating to homework, clothing suitable for school wear and the promotion of discussions between teacher and parent with regard to individual problems.

Principal William Rothwell thanked the panel for their co-operation and also thanked Mr. Young for his informative talk.

After a count of the parents present it was found that Mrs. Blanch's class had the most and therefore would receive the attendance banner for the month. Mrs. Peake announced that the Christmas concert would be held in the high school auditorium on December 14th.

At the close of the meeting, tea and cookies were served to those who wished to remain.

Students Will Get $121,300 in Bursaries

TORONTO (CP)—The Atkinson Charitable Foundation announced today grants totalling $121,300 will be made to Ontario universities and schools for disbursement to students during the 1954-55 academic year.

The grants represent an increase of $42,800 over last year when 162 bursaries and 123 other awards were awarded foundation bursaries.

A province-wide program was inaugurated last year designed to encourage needy high school honor graduates to continue their education at university level.

Candidates must have an academic standing of better than 60 per cent in eight grade 13 subjects before receiving the bursaries: $400 for those living away from home and $200 if residing in the university centres.

'Free Enterprise' Government Wins New Zealand Vote

Beats Back Labor Challenge But Majority Sharply Cut

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (Sunday) — (Reuters) — Prime Minister Sidney Holland's "free enterprise" government today held back a strong Labor party challenge at the polls to maintain control of the legislature but with a reduced majority.

Final results of Saturday's national elections gave Holland's National party 45 seats in 37 for Labor, for the old House of Representatives, the National party held 50 seats to Labor's 30.

As predicted, the Social Credit party failed to win a seat in the 80-chamber House but picked up more votes than expected.

The National party, which swept into office 5 years ago after 14 years of Labor rule, fought the election mainly on its program to abolish remaining government controls and encourage "little capitalists."

Labor party leader Walter Nash conceded defeat even before final returns came in but said he was pleased with his party's strong showing. He said the minor flurry in the poll campaign, he had alleged the United States was planning hydrogen bomb experiments in an Arctic territory administered by New Zealand, had demanded the plans be scrapped.

His allegation was denied in Washington.

Of six new seats in the House under a rearrangement of electoral districts, the National party won four. The remainder of the seats it held in the outgoing House. New Zealand has no upper house.

The socialist - minded Labor party held 27 seats, gained seven and won the other three new seats.

Soviet Note Is Sent To French Government

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government today proposed holding a conference on European security rather in Moscow or Paris on Nov. 29.

A Soviet note was sent to the French government today making this proposal. Copies were sent to other interested governments, including the United States. Communist China was asked to send observers.

The new Soviet note was obviously aimed at delaying or preventing ratification of the Paris pact granting sovereignty to West Germany and granting that country the right to rearm.

Copies of the note were handed to correspondents at a press conference in the Soviet foreign ministry conducted by press chief Leonid F. Ilyichev.

Lawyers Seek To Knock Down State's Contention

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK

CLEVELAND (AP)—How well did handsome Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard co-operate with police in their investigation of his wife's slaying July 4?

The state contends he gave them very little help, that his brothers hurried him away to hospital sedation, that he refused to take a lie detector test and that he later clammed up under police questioning.

Through one of the state's own witnesses, the defense made a strong effort at Dr. Sheppard's murder trial Friday to knock down that contention.

Drenkhan, who appeared to have a mental filing cabinet, had been a good witness for the state. The chief defense lawyer, William J. Corrigan, took over on cross examination.

QUESTIONED AT LENGTH

He asked the stert patrolman if he and two detectives had been handcuffed to the Bay View Hospital, where Dr. Sheppard was confined, and questioned the osteopath four days after the slaying.

"Yes," Drenkhan answered.

"Did anyone interfere in any way?"

"No."

"How long did you question him?"

"Three and a half hours."

"Was he willing to answer all questions?"

"Yes."

The 30-year-old defendant is accused of beating his wife, Marilyn, 31, to death in the bedroom of their lakefront home. Dr. Sheppard claims an unknown intruder committed the crime.

Under direct examination, Drenkhan—who admitted he had a high respect for Sheppard and had attended social functions with him—testified:

That there was no evidence of forced entry into the upward home and there was no sign of a struggle in the house. Sheppard says he fought with the slayer in the house and on the beach.

Canada Starts Preliminary Work on Seaway

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has started preliminary work on the $109,000,000 project at the St. Lawrence seaway power-shipping project.

Hon. Lionel Chevrier, president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, announced Friday the first steps in the construction of navigation works on the new way of lesser depth.

The work is being done in connection with the building of a $14,000,000 canal and lock at the Long Sault rapids, 40 miles west of Cornwall. Tenders for the actual canal job, Mr. Chevrier announced, will be called for Dec. 1.

Meanwhile, the authority has awarded contracts for construction work including a start on setting up a new bridge across the south channel. The canal so heavy construction traffic can be carried to the new canal dodging the Iroquois point.

The Canadian canal at Iroquois is to cut across the point. The bridge to give access to the spot will be moved there from Morrisburg, where it has spanned the Lachine canal. Completion of a second under the Lachine canal makes it no longer needed.

Famed 'Boiler Kid' Dies in Iron Lung In Which He Had Lived for 18 Years

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The body of Fred A. Seiler, 32, encased in the iron lung in which the famed "boiler kid" lived, awaited removal to Chicago today for funeral services that will mark the end of a valiant fight against a crippling disease.

The brave victim of infantile paralysis died in the iron lung Friday at West Palm Beach where he had gone to compete in a fishing take part in a bridge tournament. He lived in an iron lung longer than any other person—18 years and seven months, the greater part of his adult life.

The body was encased in the large metal cylinder, leaded upon its special bus, and returned to Miami Beach, where the Seiler family maintains an estate on Indian creek.

Seiler went to sleep Friday after telling attendants he wanted to rest so he would be able to play in a bridge game in the afternoon. He awakened.

Doctors believe the incessant pumping of heart against machine, mechanical machine heart caused death.

Seiler was stricken while on a world cruise with his family at Peiping, China, on April, 1, 1936. His parents, in the following year he was brought home to Chicago. His first treatments there helped the respirator and all possible comforts and attendants.

Seiler developed another respirator weighing less than 10 pounds, which weighs only 900-pound iron lung. With this he could step outside the "boiler" for as long as two hours and was able to sit up, after a fashion, in a specially - built chair which held his assistant.

Seiler was married Aug. 10, 1939, to Sara Larkin of Dayton, Ohio. They have three children, Teresa Mary, 14; Catherine Bernadette, 12, and Mary, 9.

RUSSIA PROPOSES PARLEY ON EUROPE SOON NOVEMBER 29

RETURNS TO DENY SPY SITUATION

The Duke of Windsor, right, waves to well-wishers on his arrival in London from Paris for a visit to his native land. He was met by Sir Walter Monckton, left. This trip followed an implied anti-Nazi espionage leader that the duke had alleged source of information on Allied military plans. The documents cover the period from immediately after the British and French declarations of war September 3, 1939, up to the eve of the Hitler-Mussolini meeting at the Brenner Pass, March 18, 1940. In his denial, the former King Edward VIII said he "never knew or had any connection" with the German whose statements were quoted by the London government. (Central Press Canadian).

Soviets Will Have to Trim Demands to Share Atomic Pool

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and its Soviet allies will have to trim their demands for changes if they want to participate in President Eisenhower's peaceful atom pool plan.

Russia already has on the proposed pool were presented to the UN Friday night by Soviet delegate Jacob Malik. He said Moscow would like to take part—but on conditions the West so far refused to accept.

The chief U.S. delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., describes Vishinsky's speech before the assembly's main political committee as "a magnificent display of forensic fireworks but very little substance to them." Lodge said he would make a detailed reply early next week.

Vishinsky charged the United States with trying to torpedo negotiations on the original Eisenhower proposal to a mere shell by:

1. Insisting on setting up an international atomic agency independent of the Security Council. The Soviets want the body subject to the council, in which they have a veto.

2. Attempting to make the agency a clearing house for moving fissionable materials from one land to another. The Russians regard trade branded this an infringement of national sovereignty.

3. Sponsoring a resolution which makes no provision for a prior ban on atomic weapons. Russia insisted on its use nuclear weapons in the future) Vishinsky added however, that the agency would make such a pledge a condition for joining the agency.

4. Failure to reflect the intent of the Eisenhower proposal by not considering materials for preventing use of atomic materials for warlike purposes.

In his brief reply, Lodge said the United States has no objection to the atomic agency keeping liaison with the Security Council — provided the project does not get "bogged down in vetoes."

Commenting on Vishinsky's call for a ban on atomic weapons, Lodge said question was up to the disarmament commission.

Canada to Abide By Queen's Wish Regarding Crown

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will abide by Queen Elizabeth's wish that St. Edward's crown replace the Tudor crown on royal insignia. The shift will be a slow process.

So far, only the armed forces have been affected by the gradual change as old stocks of badges, buttons and insignia bearing the Tudor crown become exhausted. The change has been reported by other cases in which the government uses a royal insignia. However, few deal with such cases, officials said Friday.

The complete changeover will take some time, perhaps years, one official said.

It was seen at coronation time last year expressed the wish that the Tudor crown be replaced by St. Edward's crown as new insignia were required.

However, her understanding was that the request did not mean an immediate redesigning of royal insignia. The change would be gradual with no unnecessary expense involved.

Actually there is no Tudor crown as the crown worn by Queen Victoria at the opening of the Royal Canadian Navy now wear St. Edward's crown on new cap badges. New cap badges are also available for air force officers.

LIFE FOR MOTHER

RINGGOLD, Ga. (AP)—A 24-year-old mother of five children was given a life term for first degree murder in the fatal beating of her 2-month-old auburn - haired baby behind daughter, Mrs. Joyce McNeese, who was married at 15 and has been married in prison, was found guilty Thursday. The jury recommended mercy. Mrs. McNeese will be eligible for parole after seven years.

Auto Workers Will Press For Guaranteed Annual Wage

DETROIT (AP) — CIO United Auto Workers disclosed Friday they soon will press for in new contract negotiations with the auto industry next year.

Basically, here's what the UAW is asking:

1. A guaranteed annual wage to give employees with two or more years' seniority 52 weeks pay a year.

2. A 12.3 cent-an-hour wage increase.

3. A one or two year limit on contracts.

4. A completely company-paid health and welfare program.

5. An improved overtime pay program, including time and a half for Saturday work and triple time for Sunday work and triple time for holidays.

6. An equal voice in investment of the $500,000,000 pension fund now administered by management alone.

7. A preferred hiring plan under which various auto plants would be required, when hiring, to give preference to laid-off auto workers in the same area.

CIO UAW President Walter P. Reuther unveiled the union's program for 1955 contract talks in opening address at a two-day collective bargaining conference attended by 1,200 delegates from UAW locals in the United States and Canada.

While no UAW official put a price tag on the total package sought it was estimated to range between 40 and 50 cents an hour. Demands formalized at the conference ultimately will involve about 100,000,000 CIO members in auto, industrial and millions more in other industries which usually accept the pattern set by the auto companies.

A UAW spokesman said that while formal demands won't be made on major auto firms until present five-year contracts expire next spring, the union would be glad to make material on the proposed changes available to the corporations for study.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler said they had no comment on the demands.

The union's current contract with General Motors expires May 29. The Ford agreement ends June 1 and the Chrysler pact, Aug. 31.

By BERTRAND THIBAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—A modern, hard-working French premier Sunday will have his first meal in North America in circumstances recalling the pride and splendor of old French vanished aristocrats.

Shortly after sunset Sunday, glittering silver chandeliers will be lit in the vast dining hall at Note de Coulonge, residence of Quebec's Lieutenant-Governor Gaspard Fauteux, and fine porcelain-ware from Limoges, France, will be set for the French declarations of war September 3, 1939, up to the eve of the Hitler-Mussolini meeting at the Brenner Pass, March 18, 1940. In his denial, the former King Edward VIII said he "never knew or had any connection" with the German whose statements were quoted by the London government. (Central Press Canadian).

Pierre Mendes-France and his wife.

Sunday after arrival, Mendes-France will be guest of honor at a luncheon for the 18 parliamentary restaurant given by the speakers of the Senate and Commons. Shortly after 2 p.m. the premier will address reporters in the Senate chamber.

Mr. Mendes-France arrives by air Sunday for an overnight stay before going to Montreal, Ottawa and Washington.

Lieutenant - Governor Fauteux, escorting Mr. Mendes-France, will lead some 40 invited guests to a royal dining-table in the centre of the spacious room—decked with flowers and a red carpet—whose floor-to-ceiling windows overlook the St. Lawrence river below the cliffs of Quebec.

Mr. Mendes-France will escort Mrs. Fauteux.

The premier will be French, although it will include one Canadian dish. Two costumed cooks, in white chef's garb, will serve five different wines, including champagne.

Just before dessert, Lieutenant-Governor Fauteux will offer the first toast—the Queen.

The menu, prepared by chief Roger Bacquemare of Note de Coulonge, lists as entree, a consomme, fish, the main course, dessert, fruit, pastry and after - dinner mints. The Canadian plate will be either a lamb dish or deserts flavored with maple-sugar products.

Want Primatial Seat Permanently In Winnipeg

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — The house of bishops of the Church of England in Canada decided Friday that Winnipeg should be the primatial seat and that the primatial seat of the church be established permanently in Winnipeg.

The proposal, to be presented to the general synod meeting in Edmonton next year, would mean that the primate would reside in Winnipeg, regardless of where he was chosen. The primate now continues to live in Toronto, where he was elected.

Most Rev. W. F. Barfoot, archbishop of Rupert's Land and metropolite of All Canada, in making the announcement said the proposal would be "a very practical and limited time.

The house expressed concern that Anglican Indian children in territories administered by the Indian affairs branch of the federal government were being sent to residential schools of other denominations rather than to Anglican schools.

Queen Mother Arrives

"It was four years ago in Chicago, I was attending a railroad safety meeting and all coming down in the elevator.

"The elevator was over and I remarked to the lady:

"'It's been a rough day for the Democrats, hasn't it?'

"She replied, 'You talk like a Republican.'

"I said, 'I am, but I don't always vote that way.'

"It turned out she was a rock-ribbed Republican and we had a lively discussion.

"I took her to dinner.

"After we had said goodbye, I sent her Christmas cards. She wrote to me a few times.

"But I never saw her again."

Queen Mother To Place Wreath At War Memorial

Will Be First Official Act After Arriving in Canada

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth today was to place her wreath beside the hundreds that clutter at the foot of the National War Memorial on Remembrance Day.

The placing of the wreath is also a personal act of remembrance for the Queen Mother, for it was on a warm spring day in 1939 that she and her husband, the late King George VI, unveiled the memorial.

Her Majesty was to be met at the monument at 12:15 p.m. EST by Veterans Minister Lapointe, inspect a guard of honor, place the wreath and meet a number of veterans. All veterans were invited to the ceremony.

After that, there was to be a luncheon for her in the parliamentary restaurant given by the speakers of the Senate and Commons. Her reply to the speeches of addresses of welcome will be the only speech of her five-day visit here.

STATE DINNER

In the evening, Governor-General Vincent Massey will be host at a state dinner in Government House in honor of the Queen Mother. About 100 guests will be invited, another 345 to a reception afterwards.

The Queen Mother arrived after dark Friday night after a three-hour flight from Fort Harry, on Lake Langley Field, Va.

The temperature was 26 degrees, but the dazzling smile and personality seemed to make it as bright as the sunny days of yesterday.

The C-5 luxury aircraft taxied in front of a new hangar at Uplands airport in which the welcoming ceremony was held.

The Queen Mother, clad in royal blue and looking at least 10 years younger than her 54 years, stepped down from the plane to be greeted by Mr. Massey and Defence Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent.

CAPTURES CAPITAL

Within seconds she had the capital in the palm of her hand.

She wore a blue velvet coat over a deep blue velvet dress, with a silver fox stole, silk-trimmed blue hat and black patent shoes. On her shoulder was a diamond maple leaf brooch and her hands were full of three strands of luminous pearls. She wore pearl earrings to match.

Mrs. St. Laurent, wearing a full-length mink coat and fawn felt hat, presented the Queen Mother with a bouquet of Elizabeth blue butterfly orchids trimmed with blue ribbon. Miss Massey then was drawn from the 1st Battalion of the Black Watch, in full dress, to the Black Watch's 18-man pipe band which played "Highland Laddie" as the Queen Mother inspecting the guard. The Queen Mother is colonel-in-chief of the Black Watch.

The Queen Mother's replies to her greeters included: "It's so nice to be back" and "How nice it is to see you again."

MOTORCADE BYPASSED

RCAF W. E. R. Moffet of Toronto and Ottawa, guard commander, marched with the saluting dais and said: "Your Majesty, Major Moffat, guard commander."

The Queen, according to rehearsal, was supposed to turn to the Queen Mother and say that she would like to inspect the guard.

But the Queen simply passed on. Because of protocol, stepped immediately from the dais and started with Mr. Massey and Mr. St. Laurent for the guard.

Queen Mother's motorcade was bypassed between the saluting dais and the guard.

The cans have labels saying in part:

"This can contains 27 cubic inches of pure northern California air and nothing else!

"A sparkling, refreshing mixture of wholesome breezes collected under smog-free conditions."

Deer Hunting Seems to be Lacking in Results

The biggest stag party in the country ends this day week but it wasn't any of the participants will be able to pass the buck when they get home, in a recent poll.

Deer hunting, which began officially Nov. 1, seems to be lacking in results this year. Most of the hunters from the district have not returned from their expedition, as yet, and reports on achievements are still somewhat clouded. However, any who has reached home seem to be of the opinion that this year's deer season is somewhat less fast and probably fewer deer and the results so far, have not been generally satisfactory.

Conservation officers also seem to share the same opinion. However they promise more definite details Monday, when reports on hunting in the area can be enlarged.

Effort to Soften McCarthy Censure Faces Deadline

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders are reported to have set a Monday target date for efforts to soften a censure resolution against Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.).

Monday was the day set by an influential Republican senator who, asking to remain anonymous, said in an interview that unless the Red Chief and his friends can agree by then on a compromise resolution "it won't be much use to try any further."

So far, this senator added, McCarthy himself has not agreed to accept even the criticism involved in a proposed watered - down alternative to the direct censure recommendation now before the Senate.

The Senate itself was in recess today for the weekend after a session that saw McCarthy acclaimed as a spreader of "slush and slime" and defender of "the strongest voice now speaking out in America against communism."

During the debate Senator William Knowland (Rep.), California, the Republican floor leader, seemed to be laying the groundwork for a compromise by softening language from the censure resolution unanimously proposed by the special committee headed by Senator Arthur Watkins (Rep. Utah). Knowland called the report "not in implicit faith in the six-man bipartisan committee which framed the committee's recommendation had to be accepted without change. Senators are independent."

The senator interviewed today said that one suggested compromise, as yet unnamed by McCarthy, might declare that while McCarthy's actions had been "intemperate and ill-advised" at the occasions the Wisconsin senator had behaved in showing "penetration of key government agencies" by Communists.

Another version of the proposed compromise would strike out all reference to censure or condemnation of McCarthy himself, a move the backers feel sure could command the necessary majority vote.

Senator John Stennis (Dem., Miss.), a Watkins committee member who accused McCarthy Friday of putting "further obstacles in the floor of the Senate", by attacking the group, challenged McCarthy's statement that members of the Watkins committee were the "unwilling handmaidens" of the Communist party. He told the Senate that McCarthy's statement was "a continuation of the slush and slime which has been poured on other committees which have charged with the duty of trying to look into his conduct."

But Senator Barry Goldwater (Rep. Ariz.) told his colleagues that McCarthy's critics had "dipped in the smut pot" in an effort to destroy the Communists' "major political obstacle in America."

Non-Political Appointments May Be Made to Senate by P.M.

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A new deal may be in prospect for the Senate where the government's 10-to-1 majority is believed to be tempting Prime Minister St. Laurent towards some non-political appointments.

Before Parliament meets early in January, Mr. St. Laurent is expected to fill some of the record number of 20 vacancies in the Upper Chamber, which now has 75 Liberals and seven Progressive Conservatives.

Supporters of the idea that Mr. St. Laurent will name distinguished figures without political ties say that before the 72-year-old prime minister quits politics he hopes to have it generally accepted that a portion of Senate seats—at least one for each province—should be filled by persons who have given outstanding service to Canada quite apart from politics.

WOULD SET PRECEDENT

These people say Mr. St. Laurent will take the present opportunity to establish a clear precedent by naming one or two before Parliament meets. Senate vacancies are: Ontario 2, Quebec 4, Nova Scotia 1, New Brunswick 1, Prince Edward Island 1, Manitoba 2, Alberta 1, Newfoundland 1.

There are those who say Mr. St. Laurent already has made appointments on political grounds citing recent appointees Senator Muriel McQueen Fergusson of New Brunswick.

Those who say Mr. St. Laurent won't change from the past practice of selecting appointees from party ranks mention Liberals believe they have an unanswerable argument: the Liberal party would be quiet splitting his party by overlooking workers who had labored long and ably.

Woven through the talk about Senate reform and Senate appointments are the names of a number of prominent and lesser-known Liberals. Here are a few, include the following:

Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, 66, president of the atomic energy control board and former president of the National Research Council.

Dr. Wilder G. Penfield, 63, famous Montreal neurosurgeon and the only living Canadian holding the Order of Merit.

Hon. Rev. Dr. T. Ranison, retired Anglican archbishop of Moosonee and former metropolitan of Ontario.

ARMY COMMANDER

Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, 66, wartime commander of the First Canadian Army.

Percy Bengough, 71, retired head of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Leonard Brockington, 66, brilliant writer, orator and lawyer who guided the CBC in its formative years.

Several heads of universities are included in the speculation, among them, Dr. Andrew Stewart, president of the University of Alberta; Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto; and W. A. Mackintosh, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont.

There has been speculation in newspapers and Parliament that Dr. J. J. Tompkins, a country doctor who has served a wide area of Cape Breton for many years, may fill a Nova Scotia vacancy. On the west coast, there has been talk that H. R. MacMillan, prominent business man, and former Premier Byron Johnson may be picked. Mr. Johnson headed the B.C. coalition government 1947-52.

Revenue Minister McCann and C. G. Power, wartime air minister and now Liberal member for Quebec South, have been reported headed for Senate seats. So also has Mrs. Cora Casselman, former Liberal member for Edmonton East.

Answered Knock, Slugged, Beaten And $65 Taken

TORONTO (CP)—Warwick Dalton, 36, answered a knock at the door of his rooming house, was slugged, tied up and robbed of $65, police said.

Dalton told police a masked man entered the room, pushed him on the bed and slugged him with the butt of a gun.

Dalton, whose wrists and ankles were bound by adhesive tape, was released late in the day by 11-year-old Gerald Bishop, who also lives in the rooming house.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

God Moves In A Mysterious Way

God moves in a mysterious way,
His wonders to perform;
He plants his footsteps in the sea,
And rides upon the storm.

Deep in unfathomable mines
Of never failing skill,
He treasures up his bright designs
And works his sov'reign will.

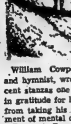
Ye fearful saints, fresh courage take;
The clouds ye so much dread
Are big with mercy, and shall break
In blessings on your head.

His purposes will ripen fast,
Unfolding every hour;
The bud may have a bitter taste,
But sweet will be the flower.

Blind unbelief is sure to err,
And scan his work in vain;
God is his own interpreter,
And he will make it plain.

William Cowper, English poet and hymnist, wrote these magnificent stanzas one day, about 1772, in gratitude for having been saved from taking his own life in a moment of mental despondency.

Born at Great Berkhampstead, England, in 1731, Cowper was the son of a clergyman. It is said that, even in his boyhood days, he suffered occasionally from mental distress, a trouble which was to cause him a good bit of sorrow later in life. Shortly before writing the hymn cited here, he suffered an especially acute attack of melancholia and it was while he was under the shadow of this attack that he tried in vain to end his life. Later, when he recovered from his obsession, he was largely moved by a new and fuller appreciation of divine love, and guidance and, in his hymns, he gave expression to his gratitude.



A year or two earlier, Cowper and a minister-friend, the Rev. John Newton who was living with him at Olney, England, had begun to compile a volume which later was published as the famous collection of "Olney Hymns". Newton wrote some of his best religious songs for that hymnal and Cowper's hymn of gratitude also found a place in the book which appeared in 1779.

A Lift For Living

Shoot at The Right Target

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

A young lieutenant, fresh out of West Point, sat at his desk in a midwest Army base. He raised his eyes to see a sergeant standing before him.

"Sir," said the sergeant, "my wife wishes to see you."

"What about?" asked the officer.

"She is pretty sick, sir. Will you see her?"

The lieutenant went to the sergeant's quarters and stood beside the bed. The frail young woman reached out to grasp the officer's hand. She said: "They touch that shiny little bar on your shoulder?"

He said of course she could, and leaned over her pillow.

Then she said: "You know every day I lie in this bed and hear 'Hep-two-three-four!' What does that mean, Lieutenant? Always it is 'Hep-two-three-four!' Where are they going?"

"Oh, I suppose to mess or formation or maybe to target practice," said the officer.

"Isn't it wonderful that they know where they are going?" exclaimed the young woman. "I wish I knew where I am going. I count the designs on the wall, and the post doctor says I have 30 days. After that, I won't be here. Where am I going, Lieutenant?"

The officer returned to his quarters. For the first time, he prayed. He prayed that God would spare the life of the sergeant's wife, that she would live to know where she was going.

This young woman did live, to become a spiritual force in that community.

Both for life here and hereafter, we want to know where we are going. Every such person has a three-fold desire: to be somebody, to do something worth while, and to get somewhere.

When we feel that we are not getting anywhere, life becomes dreary—even intolerable. After World War I, Hamilton Gibbs wrote that the people of Europe were like bloodshot camels turning an Egyptian waterwheel, thinking in their darkness that they were going somewhere, but in reality treading a dreary round. The result was that Europe soon fell into a second devastating war.

GREATER PART OF ART

What is our duty? One day that same young officer met an obscure poet. You won't find this poet's name in any library. This gentle man — head of a great industry—read some of his verses, lines which linger: "The greatest part of any art, is making your art pay."

"Of course you mean money," said the officer.

"No," replied the poet. "I mean, for example, that our pay may be in setting a standard, or a target, that others might shoot at. You have been taught the science of war. You will find that the payoff is yourself. As you go, so do many young boys."

The officer went back to his quarters. He found his Bible, and read this verse: "The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand." God helped my friend, the officer, to find his target and goal.

Every worker must feel that his work "pays" somebody, that it is worthwhile. God's rewards are not to be measured always by the salary envelope. During the last few weeks, I have addressed several thousand public-school teachers in several states. In comparison with some other occupations, teachers are poorly paid.

PROBE FAST

But their satisfaction may well be that they are pre-eminently the moral architects of the community. Probe back into any person's life, and you will usually find that he has been influenced by some teacher in the public schools or in Sunday School.

When I ask young men in college about their future plans, they must first take their turn in the military service. This interruption does give an element of uncertainty. Young men may not know where they will be next year or the year after.

But everyone should know what kind of person he wants to be, next year or 20 years from now. Global wars and hydrogen bombs have not changed the goals of life. The future is not as uncertain as some of us think.

If we shoot at the right targets in peace, we shall help to stop men from shooting at human targets in war.

DISGRACEFUL CONDUCT

We had occasion to comment on the rural telephone line in an editorial earlier this week and one of the conclusions reached was that privacy is not one of its virtues.

Instead of emergency privacy on the telephone line is essential if party line users the prevents the summoning of aid.

On Tuesday the general store and the storekeeper's home in Melrose burned to the ground. A call to the Belleville Fire Department was made more than 20 minutes because persons using the party line in Melrose would not relinquish it. The person trying to place the alarm had his phone connection burned away before he could make the call and was forced to travel more than a mile down a concession road to another phone before he could raise the alarm.

We heard of no other emergencies in Melrose at the time the call to the fire department was attempted. Apparently there was no legitimate reason why the parties using the line should not have given it up for the minute or two minutes necessary to call for aid.

A fire is always an emergency. In the country, where phones are far apart, the urgency of making an immediate call is undeniable, especially when there is danger that the phone might be cut off at any time.

The few people reallse that they were up a party line in case of emergency is punishable by law. The Ontario Telephone Act provides: "Every person who, when using a telephone instrument or conversing over a telephone line, wilfully hinders the telephone instrument or line is owned by a telephone system under the jurisdiction of the legislature or not, refuses to give up or permit the use of the line when requested to do so by the operator or by any other person in the case of fire, accident, sickness, or similar emergency is guilty of an offence . . . ."

The act prescribes a fine of not more than $50, imprisonment for a term of not more than 30 days, or both, as penalties for such an offence.

It should not be necessary to quote the law and its penalties in neighborly rural party line. Christian charity demands a sympathetic assistance in times of emergency and it does not speak well of those who refuse even to limit their idle conversation while another makes his business be interrupted by fire.

The conduct of those using the party line at Melrose last Tuesday during an emergency was disgraceful.

AIRMEN SEE "FLYING ROCKET"

A "flying rocket," silvery colored and trailing a blue flame, was reported moving at an incredible speed over the RCAF base at Gimli, Manitoba, recently. Many calls then received at the air base by residents in the area who had sighted the strange object. Four airmen who had clear impressions of what they saw were to be questioned separately by RCAF officials.

The "object" followed the curvature of the earth from a lake, over the airport at an "unbelievably high rate of speed." It made no sound, but was trailed by a slight blue flame and left the tail of a meteor.

The four airmen dismissed any likelihood that the object was a meteor by describing it as a "mechanical object."

As reports of "flying objects" continue to pile up it becomes more and more difficult to shrug them off as figments of someone's imagination. Too many responsible people are using the "things" and describing them to brush off the notion that nothing at all exists.

What the "objects" really are is open to conjecture. It is more reasonable to think that they are products of our own aeronautical research than that they are vehicles for inter-stellar space travellers.

However, repeated denials of Air Force officials in all Western countries that these objects are of our manufacture forces the average person to the conclusion that what is being seen must be from outer space. When one realizes that new aircraft are usually displayed by their proud producers within a year or two of manufacture, it is apparent that advanced aircraft of radical design and speed which would explain the "saucer phenomenon" are just not being produced.

In the United States and Canada Air Force officials have steadfastly denied knowledge of "flying objects" that might come from outer space.

Europeans, on the other hand, have bowed to the inevitable, and in Brussels two young men have formed a Martian greeting committee to extend the freedom of the city to space visitors.

Martian reception committees might seem like lighthearted activity for imaginative young men, but a few more unexplainable events like the recent occurrence at Gimli, and Martian reception committees might be right in vogue.

SHOULD CANCEL EACH OTHER

There is a lunatic fringe here which labels nearly everything from fluoridation to McCarthyism, just as there is a lunatic fringe in the United States which shouts that the British are all appeasers and Munichites. What a pity they cannot cancel each other out. (London, Eng., Daily Mail.)

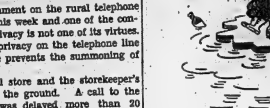
WINDOW SHOPPING

Given orders, I was told
To avoid the places where
Candy bars and cones are sold,
And not even stop to stare.

Though a hardware store for me
Is a fascinating spot
For a child, just half-past three,
I'm not allowed to stop.



She was not inclined to stop
And to feast her twinkling eyes
At a haberdasher's shop
On displays of shirts and ties.

She was plainly in no mood
For a window full of hats,
And disdainfully she viewed
Shoes for gentlemen and spats.

Hand in hand a walk we took
Up and down the busy street,
But she didn't care to look
Long at groceries and meat.
I had orders to obey.
Which I'd promised not to fail,
But we made our longest stay
Where they had ice cream for sale.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

With about half a million Canadians right now planning to do one thing or another, from moose, deer, elk, mountain sheep and caribou hunting to rabbit and even the winsome little cottontail, it is interesting to recall that every one of us, British and European extraction, is the descendant of people who, not so many generations ago, survived in some degree by hunting or poaching. Game today is sport, except to frontier communities, Indians and Eskimos and, even up to the days of Queen Elizabeth I, game was a valuable monopoly and you hunted your own land by royal consent. As far back as the other side of Elizabeth I as we know, hunting was most jealously guarded by the kings not only of England but of nearly all European realms. When William the Conqueror established the New Forest in his newly conquered domain, it involved the destruction of thirty-two villages and the eviction of over five hundred families. It was added to the hunting forest, and brought several English counties under what was known as "forest law".

Man's Battle With the Insects

(New York Herald Tribune)

From London, England, has come news that the roof of famed Westminster Abbey has been nearly destroyed by the "death watch beetle." The insects had tunneled so deeply into the beams of the lofty, carved, 14th century roof, that it would have fallen within two years had not emergency action been taken. Other beetle damage was discovered in time also in the rafters of the nave of the Abbey, which has caused much damage to historical relics in Britain ever because to the eerie tapping heard in the silence of old buildings.

Only recently has the public begun to realize the heavy losses in foodstuffs and property inflicted by insects. It is estimated that due to insect attacks about 40 per cent of food production is lost in fields and warehouses. It has been estimated in the United States that insects devour at least a tenth of all crops raised on American farms. In 1949 alone the boll weevil ate cotton goods destroyed by boll weevils. Among the more expensive insects to man are mosquitoes, boll weevils, corn-ear worms, termites, grasshoppers, clothes moths, potato beetles, chinch bugs and locusts.

Not all insects are enemies. Among man's friends are the bumble-bee and butterfly, who are responsible for the pollen by which oats other insects; the scale insect, used in dyes and "shellac, and the ladybird beetle, used in scientific research. Without such insects there would be, in fact, no natural silk, dyes or shellac. It is estimated that if honey bees disappeared from the face of the earth, of flowering plants would die. Without the aid of pollinating insects there would be no orchards, and blooming plants would become scarce. There are insects which wage war on other insects, and there are more insects than half the population of insects live by preying on other insects.

Insects have been with us since life is to remove enemy insects without destroying friendly ones. It is an arduous task, for there are billions of insects and they multiply by tremendous numbers. It is estimated that 1,000 species of insects still to be catalogued. Authorities believe the list may total possibly 1,000,000 species. In the United there are billions, and most are capable of multiplying so rapidly changes more easily than other living creatures. They have specialorgans, and keen senses for self-preservation. The increased use of insecticides has created a new hability to organize a defence by developing immunity against them.

Says Prairie Is Like Sea

(Lethbridge Herald)

Someone told us the other day why so many Prairie boys joined the navy during World War II. He said the reason was obvious, that the vastness of the prairie is the same as the vastness of the sea and that anyone who has lived with either never wants to leave or forget.

There is a lot in what our friend said. Even a child, sitting on a darkened prairie gazing at the shimmering sky, the silence unlike seeing from the bridge of a ship a lighthouse far away.

And the same way the colors of sunsets are the same at sea as they are here. The wind sounds the same, too, and it is just as fresh and clean feeling.

Yes, the sights and sounds of the prairie are like those of the sea.

Moose Bobs Fisherman
(Edmburgh News)

A Quebec moose has ended the biggest trout he had ever seen in all his life in the Jacques Cartier River, but he ruined too hard. Fish and line flew through the air and tangled in the antlers of a moose peering through the trees. The moose made off with the angler's line and his prize, catch.

Letter to the Editor

Fire Victims Thank Hotel Keeper and Son

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Having been unfortunate to have lost my furniture, clothing, etc., by fire at 49 Graham Street on October 31st my wife and I were given free lodging at the Crystal Hotel. We were also given a bed and bed clothing such as sheets, blankets, etc., to re-start a home. We were also given a donation of money. All this was given by Mr. Paul Haggis and his son, George.

It was a complete stranger to Mr. Haggis, and yet he was a good Samaritan to me and my wife.

So, may I, through the medium of your paper, thank Mr. Paul Haggis and his son George, for giving my wife and me just a little may of hope. We, I am sure, will long remember their kindness.

Savoring Pleasure

(Hamilton Spectator)

An amateur sociologist has told us that most of the ills of modern life stem from a disbelief in a tomorrow; nowadays, only the present matters and the future, if there is to be one, will look after itself. There is a reversal of our grandparents' thinking and their practices. In the past, usually it will lead to disaster. Let us say at the outset that this is not a blanket verdict, although sometimes we are inclined to think that modern society is no longer afraid of disaster; it has been living with it for the last generations that to postpone a pleasure was to enhance it. The attitude to pleasure was often similar to that of the visitor who hesitates to use the good china for fear of spoiling their sparkling freshness. The present generation does not suffer from such inher restrictions; it has made the aim of life the pursuit of the pleasures of present living. It has recognized that time is remorseless and that if a pleasure is deferred too long, the ability to enjoy it is diminished.

We recall a man who had been presented with a hand-rolled Havana cigar made from selected leaf. He had not the courage to light it and so put it away for a special occasion. As time passed it seemed that no occasion could be quite important enough to warrant the smoking of his cigar, so it remained in the cigar box like an heirloom, an object for respect by members of the family. Eventually his only daughter married and it was felt that this was the occasion that would warrant the sacrifice of this heirloom. So it was reverently taken from the box and the bride was invited to light it. She took a few puffs, coughed, for during all the long months that it had been stored away its fine cigar and sniffing its aroma, unknown to him, the inside had been allowed to crumble to dust; time had snatched pleasure away, the person's proper value seems to lie somewhere between excessive caution and folly. This, as far as anything else, the need is for discrimination. Whenever there is a time of unprecedented abundance, can learn this difficult lesson, has still to be decided; as in every life is that someone else whose silent admonitions keep us on the right road.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

EVERY OLD PARTY IS A LITTLE CRAZY

The reason for it is not clear, but in the last two or three years I have been receiving a good many letters such as I have rarely received in the past. Readers express gratitude for some advice or teaching and say that "God bless you" and keep you saving a way there for many years," or anyway they say "God bless you and keep you." I add the touch about work just for fun, for, of course, this job is all fun to me.

I pray that God will let me die naturally, by the involution process of degeneration, just slowly, steadily declining until finally I peter out altogether, quietly and without fuss. I pray I may not die of injury, execution, or illness before I have done all the good I can do.

There is one drawback about natural death, physical degeneration, or the decline of old age that is sometimes overlooked. That is the behavior of the old geezer who takes himself and the kindness or indulgence of his friends too seriously and tries to stay in the game, even though he is warned by his physician to withdraw. I have in mind two old gentlemen who have so behaved, with great embarrassment to their country.

In military and some other public services and in many fields of public and private fields the problem of getting rid of the old geezers is simplified — at an arbitrary age retire them on pensions. This apparently was the idea in the case of some lucky stiffs. In my racket one can't look forward to Sir Elysium. Many years I have dreamed of turning things over to a half dozen qualified ghost writers and taking off on a tour of the world's bowling greens. Then, if the manuscript ghosts I have tried, only one has produced material that passed both editors and readers. So I am resigned to settle for the world's finest bowling green six or eight blocks from my playing and go on pounding away at it (which is not work but always great fun) until my last rendezvous with "Old Father Antic."

What I said above about natural death is not facetious. I'm trying to make you conscious of physical degeneration, involution, and atrophy. This is the way of all flesh, and it is childish and silly to abandon it.

Compulsory retirement at this critical age is perhaps better than no control over the irrational conduct of the elderly. Still, we cannot lose sight of the fact that each individual may be as old at fifty as he wants to be.

I have suggested here before, and I say again, that a testator should be required to pass an examination by physician or psychiatrist appointed by the court, to prove competency at the time the will is made. This reasonable precaution would prevent a good deal of fraud and injustice. For example, I have in mind a friend, who, in a moment of weakness, or mental aberration, or both, executed a will leaving his entire estate, valued at $200,000 — which could not have happened if the testator had been required to prove her competence.

Easy Money Disastrous

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

There is a moral in this story out of Europe.

A Liverpool man, now 42 years old, seven years ago was operating a successful coal business. That supposes he owned a coal yard. On a small wager one day he won $4,500 in a sweepstake. Soon after he bid again, the second time for $28,000.

Now he is in bankruptcy court, the business, houses and land gone and a debt of $4,700 hanging over him.

What happened? After that easy money he devoted the main part of his time to gambling schemes, less and less to business.

The moral: Easy money swells not the bank account but the head.

German Girls Beat U.S. Army

(Detroit Free Press)

Since the Second World War, 20,000 German girls have married brides of American soldiers stationed in their country. The prewar tendency was for GIs and frauleins is 3,000 a year.

Investigators with this, the high command has given up and rescinded the tough regulations against fraternization and discourage such unions. With a cameraman and reporter has proved that he can make the United States Army back off. Nobody else has managed in a fair fight.

Maybe this ought to dismay us, but it doesn't. We're pretty confident on Cupid's side, and we think the more victories he wins the better the general state of affairs on this earth.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEWS ADAMS

THAT SOMEONE ELSE

I believe we all have tucked away in our consciousness the example of someone who has influenced our lives more than anyone else. It may be a father, a mother, or a dear friend. I like to think of mothers and friends as guide posts, for they so often do guide me away from the wrong roads. This is a strange old world, and we all need wise counsellors. We all are hero worshipers. This is well, for it keeps alive the ideals of character and encourages us to go forward, forever enriching growth and encouragement. Many people give out from every life is that someone else whose silent admonitions keep us on the right road.

Abraham Lincoln once said: "All that I am, or ever hope to be, I owe to my angel mother." Each one of us can name at least one person, whose kindly example and directives have been a source of great satisfaction and encouragement. Many people give out from themselves rare inspiration without realizing the fact. We are often influenced by someone else without knowing it. Intellectual characters influence long after their physical forms have gone.

It is possible for that someone else to be your better self, which undoubtedly has saved you from sorrow, or disappointment. How true it is that we have in us the source the origin of our strength, growth, or happiness. All along the line, however, there is someone else—or perhaps many of them—to whom we owe a debt that can never be paid.

We all need one or more friends to whom we can turn the way ahead gets dark and we in our loneliness need someone else to spur us on, or to give us confidence. With someone else near it makes a big difference in the world! All fear flies out of the window and we have around us an atmosphere of peace and hope. I wonder if we can't be that someone else?

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

BASIC CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE

What is the Atonement? The word itself, when we break its syllables explains itself: it is at-one-ment. Atonement is something that brings together persons previously estranged. The Atonement brings together God and man, who have been separated by man's rebellion and sin.

The death of Christ on the cross broke the power of sin and death for mankind. Our Lord challenged sin and gladly went to his death that we might be forgiven. Therefore, sets forth the perfect submission of a human will to the will of God. But this Jesus was both human and divine. The fact that he was the only perfect human that the race has yet produced is a marvelous proof of his divine origin when we think of sacred things. Only the perfect man could make perfect reparation for a sinful race. His perfect repentance pleased God and secured forgiveness. Jesus died on the cross in his defiance of sin, and when we look at his death we see sin and appeal to this great act as our hope for forgiveness. Moreover the Bible assures us that the perfect justice, the perfect righteousness of Jesus Christ, we begin to participate in the great transaction that his triumph over sin produced.

Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures.

Lithium Setting Off Minor Boom in Quebec Townships

LITHIUM LODE

By GEORGE FRAJKOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — Lithium, the metal that helps put the bang into the hydrogen bomb, is setting off a minor boom in three northwestern Quebec townships.

Vast beds of lithium ore in La-Corne, LaMotte and Fiedmont townships were known at least 15 years ago. But the metal then was used only in small quantities in alloys, or to make special types of grease. Large-scale mining was unnecessary.

Now the Quebec Lithium Corporation, a Canadian firm, and the Lithium Corporation of America are spending millions to get the Quebec ore to the United States government. It will make Canada one of the world's major suppliers of lithium.

BIG ENTERPRISE

Pierre Beauchemin, Montreal, president of the Canadian firm, says $2,500,000 will be spent to get a mine into production. Another $1 per cent on property leased from the LaCorne Lithium Mining Co., about half-way between Ottawa and the tip of James bay in the mineral-rich Abitibi area.

The Quebec mines department says the company is making a big foot start and building a concentrator to mill 1,000 tons of ore a day. It has built a road and railway to connect with nearby highways, started work on a steam-plus railway spur line and is negotiating with the Quebec hydro-electric commission for a power line.

The firm signed a contract in June to turn over all its output for 10 years to the U.S. arm to the Lithium Corporation of America, which supplies the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. Beauchemin says present estimates show there are about 10,000,000 tons of workable ore on properties owned, leased or optioned by the firm—enough to last 30 years at the present mill capacity.

The U.S. corporation, which operates a successful open-pit lithium mine at Keystone, S.D., and refining plant at St. Louis Park, Minn., is setting up a $4,000,000 refining plant in Bessemer City, N.C., to handle the concentrated ores from the LaCorne mill.

ACCESSIBILITY FACTOR

Lithium isn't a particularly rare metal, nor even a newly-discovered one. There is plenty in the North-west Territories, in Africa and most parts of South America. Another large deposit, owned entirely by Lithium Corporation of America, is at Cat lake, Man. The LaCorne, LaMotte and Fiedmont ore bodies have the advantage of accessibility.

They are in the middle of an established gold, silver, copper, zinc and lead mining area, close to highways and railways that lead to Toronto on one side and Montreal on the other.

Even without the hydrogen bomb the mines department says, lithium would be valuable in the jet age.

It makes an alloy strong enough to withstand high temperatures created in jet and rocket motors. It is so light it floats, but in the pure state it reacts violently with water.

Going Places

Fall Tops Travel Seasons

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

Travel for both business and pleasure is so much more widespread today than it was even a few years ago that planning a trip of any kind requires some considerations that were unheard of or scarcely aware of. One of these is when to travel.

The season, day of the week, and even hours of travel you choose can have a direct bearing on how successful and enjoyable your trip is.

Consider, for instance, the seasons. If you've chosen the fall for your trip you couldn't have made a wiser choice. It is, in the opinion of many seasoned travelers, the most delightful of the seasons for going places.

The first reason—possibly a psychological letdown after the busy summer—everybody has been resisted travelling in the autumn. Resorts and tourist attractions are all kinds send their rates plunging. Highways are clear, and carriers deadhead—sadly around resort country seeking passengers. Still the customers stay away.

CONSIDER ADVANTAGES

Yet consider the advantages of an autumn vacation. For one thing, you need a much smaller ration more now than you did in July. Traditionally, summer is the travel season because it's top hot to work. On the other hand, it can also be too hot to travel. In the summer you've just been through an invigorating winter and spring. But in fall, after an enervating spell of summer heat, you can both appreciate a vacation.

The air is crisp and exciting, the foliage is beautiful, and everybody can make it, cities are alive with activity and interest once more, and the motels and hotels start treating you like a customer again.

Rates are low, reservations for everything are generally available, you feel like doing things and there are things to do. Aren't you glad you waited?

The time of the week you travel is a consideration for both economy and convenience reasons.

HALF-FARE RATES

The economy angle is in the half-fare family plan rates now in effect on bus lines, airlines and railroads. It permits a man to take his wife and children at half fare on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays in most cases, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays on some carriers. Many railroads feature this plan every day.

The airlines, reservations on the airlines' cut-rate tourist fare flights are more readily available on certain days, usually Tuesday through Thursday. These flights are used more by non-business travelers than the first class trips, thus more readily booked week-ends when most non-business travel takes place.

On Pullman and airlines, where reservations are a problem, the heaviest regular travel takes place four weeks for a reply.

from Sunday night through Monday, and from Thursday night through Friday, when commercial men are either going or coming home.

Non-reserved rail coach and bus travel offer less of a problem, unless you have to stand—which can be pretty miserable.

HIGHWAY TRAFFIC

On the highways, or course, the heaviest traffic days are the week-end ones, when the problem is further compounded by Sunday-type drivers. During the week the busiest hours are, of course, those just before and after business hours. If you can plan your way, driving to miss city traffic at those times you'll save a lot of irritation.

It's a good idea to start and stop early during the summer, because of both the heat and the problem of getting accommodations. These matters are less acute in the Fall. so you might try another trick: Travel and start late driving west, and early driving east. This will put the sun at your back most of the time, making driving easier and the scenery so much more pleasant to look at.

In commercial travel, the early morning hours of the day are fore business hours and after them, well into the night usually, it is hard to get stops and starts around these peak days and hours of travel. Plan your stops and arrange and enjoy.

If you're planning an extensive business trip but hesitate to make it by air for fear that cancellations and delays will upset your schedule, you would be much better off flying than driving, according to Mr. C. Jr. Tacoma, Wash.

A. We make many flights planned business trips by air, sometimes covering two cities a day over a period of two or three weeks without a hitch. Weather cancellations are rare, and in any event most people assume they are. Only a small percentage of flights are cancelled for this reason, and the chances are always good another flight will be along, when the weather improves, that will still get you to your next stop in time for business hours. Planes fly safely in far worse weather than most people realize.

Running late and causing missed connections of appointments is more of a problem. This is usually caused by unexpected mechanical difficulties, neither of which is a problem of the railroads.

3 Different Women in One Body

By EVELYN VAUGHN

Troubled by the bewildering intimate of her life, a shy 23-year-old woman went to her family doctor. "I'm not feeling myself," she explained . . . and soon discovered she was in fact not just one woman — but three different people in one body.

Scientific tests show that she has the electro-brainwave tracings of three different persons at times. Handwriting experts say she has changed in that of the three different women. The puzzled girl also has three different headaches and black-outs now finds she's a real-life Jekyll-and-Hyde . . . a case of multiple personality for psychiatrist and psychologist.

Demure Eve White is the mother of a four-year-old little girl, anxious that her marriage to mechanic George White should not be marred by their separate selves. But when she's Eve Black she's a sexy Cinderella who enjoys rowdy night clubs, perfers provocative dress styles — and after a hard night of Eve and Black's drinking and dancing, worried Eve White awakes with a hangover!

NO MEMORY OF PAST

Then, in addition, there's Jane, a poised and sympathetic young woman who found herself in Eve White's body one day, unaware of who she was, with no memory of the past — and now it seems that Jane may take over from the two Eves and fuse them into one normal human being.

A leading psychiatrist, Dr. Corbett Thigpen of Georgia University Hospital, vouches for the amazing facts in this startling 3-woman-in-1 dilemma. Eve White has no allergy to wearing materials but when she puts on Eve Black a skin rash. Mrs. White's husband tests rats for fun but Eve Black's quotient is several points lower.

Even the way what her doctors have told her, troubled Eve White knows something of the other two women. Eve Black, on the other hand, knows about her — and has taken delight in tormenting her. Jane' however knows about the two Eves and has been trying to help both of them.

Eve White's world found herself in a raucous and smoky night-club, shocked by the flimsy gown she was wearing. Distraught with shock, she took a taxi home . . . and found her husband asleep, unaware she had been missing.

On another occasion, George White was enraged because his wife had apparently ordered a set of new evening gowns, running up credit without his permission. "But I didn't order them!" Eve White tearfully insisted. "I couldn't wear such low-cut dresses!"

HAD RUN UP BILLS

Soon it became obvious that unscrupulous Eve Black had run up the bills. When Eve Black's boy friends showed up at the house, Eve White was embarrassed and shocked Mrs. White slammed the door in their face.

Weddings

CORMIER—EDMUNDSON

A lovely autumn wedding, backgrounded by spreading yew, cedar, laurel, spirea, leaves holly and chrysanthemums, sent from Vancouver by the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. Milburn, was highlighted by candelabra with glowing, yellow tapers, took place in St. Mary's Church, Wiarton, Ont., on Wednesday, October 20, when the Rev. F. Wood united in marriage, Donna Lynn Edmundson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Edmundson, of Wiarton, in a double ring ceremony, to Charles Ernest Cormier, son of Kingston, Ontario, and of Mr. and Mrs. C. Comiskey, of Regina, Sask.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. J. G. Gammon sang "The Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. R. Slotzer, church organist.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. E. W. Edmundson, the bride was radiant in a model gown of white Chantilly lace and imported nylon net. The fitted bodice featured lily-point sleeves and Peter Pan collar, buttoned down the back. Rows upon rows of tulle and lace was sculptured to the bouffant skirt and cathedral train, while triple lay-ers of tulle cascaded over a bouffant crinoline. The bride's bejewelled illusion veil fell from a tiara of pearls and rhinestones and formed a semi-cascade bouquet of feather-ed mums, centred by trailing ivy and white Sharon lilies, the gold wrist watch, the gift of the bridegroom, was her only ornament.

Mrs. R. H. Nelson and Miss Marilyn Wilson, both cousins of Scouts attended as matron of honour and bridesmaid respectively. All were attired in bouffant gowns of nylon tulle over taffeta in shades of mauve, yellow and green, with matching nylon net jackets. Headdresses, and re-lated contrasting bouquets in Colonial design in shades of yellow, green and mauve.

Mr. R. S. Wood, of Hardisty, Alberta, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. R. H. Nelson, R. N. Clydale and A. N. Warin, ushered.

Following the ceremony a reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors. The bride's mother, received, gowned in a two-piece D'Aliad original of midnight blue brocaded taffeta, with black velvet trim and rhinestone jewellery. She wore a white panne velvet model hat, and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted, attired in beige crepe with brown accessories, rhinestone jewellery, and corsage of Johanna Hill roses. The bride's table, beautifully arranged by baskets of chrysanthemums, laurel, ivy and a cluster of white wedding bells, was appropriately appointed with cutwork linen and centred by a three-tier wedding cake, embedded in tulle, and topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, and flanking by yellow tapers in tri-branched candelabra. Mr. J. Bleue proposed the toast to the bride, to which the bridegroom responded, proposing a toast to the bride's attendants. The Rev. K. Wood proposed the toast to the mothers of the bride and bridegroom. The Evening Branch of the W.A. of the United Church, catered.

For travelling, the bride donned an Alice Blue model gown of Black Watch tartan fashioned with finely pleated skirt and fitted jacket, accented by a copper-colored hat and matching clutch purse, with which she wore accessories, and shoulder corsage of bronze and gold mums. Following the wedding trip through the States, Mr. and Mrs. Comiskey will reside at 338 Union Street East, Kingston, Ontario.

The bride is a graduate of Belleville General Hospital, and winner of the Medical and Surgical Nursing Medal. Bridegroom Miss Shirley Smale, is also a Belleville graduate nurse, graduated and winner of the Registered Nurses' award. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Engineering department of the University of Saskatchewan.

Guests were present from Regina, Edmonton, Hardisty, Saskatoon, Belleville, Toronto, Sutherland, and Perdue.

found it possible to call out the separate personalities as required. "Hys, Doc!" drawls Eve Black as she emerges. Yet when 'Jane' first appeared, she was puzzled and frightened, unable even to handle a knife and fork properly.

Sceptics considered that Eve White might be merely an accomplished actress, with an acquiring notoriety by hood-winking the doctors. No person however can control the jiggling electro-en-

The Lure of Lonely Isles

(By DENIS WYLD)

The United States Government recently advertised six islands for sale and got nearly 3,000 excited replies from people who saw a chance of realizing a cherished dream — to get "away from it all." But is it such a good idea after all, even if we found it possible?

Romantic, uninhabited, palm-topped, coral-girt isles with moon-washed beaches are all very well but may have drawbacks. They are also favorite targets for atom-bomb experiments.

I want to get away from it all. I want to run headlong in the troubles and tedium of the modern world and answer the call of those long-legged girls who live on moon-washed lagoons.

Like you I have often heard this call but it comes more insistently than ever after reading about Mr. Ralph Freeman, an American who in his time has lived aboard a yacht in the Atlantic Islands and who has just finished cataloguing all the islands for sale or lease. He has got the list from the West Indies to Alaska.

Do you own an unwanted island? There will be no lack of people ready to buy it from you. Not long ago the United States Government sold a group of six islands for sale and got nearly 3,000 inquiries from people who are tired of the rat-race and are all fed up with civilization.

PRIMITIVE INSTINCT

You and I may have the same dream but we have different ways of making it materialize. Who, then, are the people who acquire islands? The latest case to be reported is that of a 55-year-old businessman from one of the races who says he is planning to get away from it all and live on a tiny island in the sun-drenched Bahamas just for the thrill of it.

He plans to leave his wife and son to carry on their business while he owns in Lincolnshire while he answers his long dormant schoolboy urge.

What boy has not awakened to the call of far-off islands and romance after reading tales by Daniel Defoe and Robert Louis Stevenson? Perhaps psychologists can explain why an ordinary piece of water surrounded by water acquires automatically an aura of romance and mystery, especially if it be set in a silver sea in some tropical latitude.

Perhaps islands satisfy a deep-rooted primitive instinct in all of us to be independent of our fellow men and monarch of all we survey, an urge intensified today by those of us forced to conform to the restrictions that go hand in hand with a hard-society existence.

BUY BAHAMAS ISLETS

The Lincolnshire justice's choice of the Bahamas is not original. Many wealthy Americans own their own islets in the group, having purchased them from the British crown. In the early years of the last war Sir Winkfield Island of East Caicos, about 500 miles southeast of Nassau, the British Government to 30 Californian sportsmen who wanted to turn it into a Utopia for holiday-makers.

This idea of a life is not in the true Robinson 'Crusoe tradition founded by Alexander Selkirk, the hero of Defoe's hero. The island on which Selkirk lived for more than four years is a real one, and not, as some people may have thought, a figment of Defoe's fertile imagination. It is Juan Fernandez, 360 miles west of Valparaiso, Chile. Selkirk was not shipwrecked but put ashore there of his own free will. He was a quick-tempered sailor who had a fight with his captain and was put ashore.

cephalograph tracings of their brain rhythms . . . and those of the Eves and Jane show marked differences.

The doctors have traced this curious case of multiple personality as a lifelong malady. Eve Black recalls that as a child she used to bite her baby twin brothers, and then be spanked while Eve White was punished. For Eve Black's naughtiness, the other well-behaved "Eve" was always beaten. "But it wasn't me!" she once shrilled during a whipping.

Is it possible for three women to live in one body? Stranger than any of the recent incidents of Siamese twins, psychiatrists believe, that 'mental surgery' can effect a lasting cure.

Loneliness and silence drove him nearly mad before he was rescued by Captain Woodes Rogers in January 1709. Rogers afterward wrote: "A man clothed in goat-skins, looking wilder than the goats themselves, came to our boats. He had so much forgotten his language that we could scarcely understand him."

TREATED LIKE GODS

Not all Robinson Crusoes want to be rescued however. The story of four of them is told by traveller-author Robert Casey. Landing on the small island of Raya, in the southwest Pacific, he found it inhabited by four white men and nearly 200 native women. The men had been shipwrecked and washed ashore, and the law of supply and demand being what it is they soon found themselves possessed of a monthly salary that made gods and idolized by the inhabitants.

Casey reported they lived like caliphs and did not even lift a finger to put food in their mouths. The women fanned them, and kept the flies away with fans and dust, the women carried them reverently and gently to their canoes and laid them gently in the sea. They should have known them in as they deserved!"

Casey offered the men a free passage to America if they declined without thanks, so he sailed away and left them to enjoy the idyllic langor of their tropical Venusberg.

So sensual thoughts, living on a South Sea isles might have its drawbacks. There are ways than the very civilization from which I sometimes feel I want to desert-and that catch up with me. Apart from anything else, small desert islands lie in traffic brought by the authorities to be uninhabited, are tempting targets for atom-bomb experiments.

Indian Woman Helps to Carve Totem Poles

By AL MARKLE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—After seven years of patient carving, Mrs. Ellen Neel and her family have completed about 20,000 totem poles, ranging in size from a few inches to several feet.

For her pains, the stocky Indian woman from Alert bay, Vancouver island, has earned a high reputation for proficiency in the nearly-forgotten art of totem carving "little else." The monetary returns have been very slight, "only about enough to cover expenses."

An Indian princess, Mrs. Neel is shown in the act of keeping alive a phase of history that might otherwise be relegated to the texts on Indian lore.

"OFFICIAL CARVER"

The art has been handed down from father to son for generations, establishing this mother of six children as the "official carver" for the Kwakiutl tribe of coastal Indians.

Mrs. Neel and her Canadian husband, Ted,.now are working on a documentary history of the coastal tribes' totem poles, using as a bark paintings as a source for authentic information.

Mrs. Neel's totems are scattered all over the world, in museums in Vancouver, Ottawa, Washington, New Zealand, and the United States. A totem model stands in the lord mayor's office in Sydney, Australia.

AFTER MOTHER

Fifteen-year-old David Neel, oldest son in the family, shows more interest in carving than in totem poles than the rest of the children, and recently completed the world's smallest totem pole—a miniature pole—about the thickness of a pencil—is five-inches high and has 24 figures.

Husband Ted, an ardent carver himself, has been carving the heavier work, roughing out the design sketched on the heavy cedar logs. His machine was operated because the Neel family thinks "the finer points are lost with machines."

Designs of the totems are limited, and of the 125 different figures on the coasts, the Neel family is allowed to carve only about 50.

"They are inherited, and even these 125 are shared with slight variation, by other families."

Antique Show Being Held At Casa Loma

TORONTO (CP) — Stately panelled rooms in Casa Loma housed a huge collection of antiques this week, gathered from dealers in London, Montreal, Oakville and Cookville.

The three-day antique show, a money-raising scheme for a children's home, was sponsored by Toronto Wimodausis Club, representing wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of servicemen.

Hidden among the crystal, mahogany and silks were rich odds and ends as brocades used in the White House in Washington, and a replica of the umbrella stand reportedly bought by the Queen Mother in New York.

Recalling Casa Loma's splendor when occupied by builder Sir Henry Pellatt, was a 130-piece china dinner set made for Napoleon. The set, decorated china, commissioned by Napoleon for one of his generals, was bought for $15,000 by Sir Henry.

A £30,000 diamond necklace and Chinese vases and jade work were exhibited by a Montreal firm. The finest collection of old Canadian silver in existence, the Bates collection, was loaned for the show by Toronto museum.

Shown for the first time was a presentation to Sofia from Queen Victoria, loaned by Mrs. Harold Thorne. The queen sent the gift to her mother, Mrs. W. E. Danner of Perth, during six trips around the world.

Most unlikely antiques were old shoes shown in the section entitled "Before the 1902 Pope-Waverley electric, a 1926 Brooks Steamer manufactured in Stratford, and a Stanley Steamer.

King George H-S Assoc. Holds 'Open House'

The King George Home and School Association met at the school, Monday evening, for "Open House", with a large attendance.

Mrs. Kilfedder presided at a brief business meeting. The attendance roll call was won by grade 1 Miss Post for the Juniors; and grade 8 Mr. Boate's room for the seniors.

Mr. Cousins, the principal, introduced Mr. William Van Tassel, chairman of the Public School Board, who explained the educational policy of the city. He outlined the many problems encountered in keeping the schools running smoothly.

The board has to attend to the needs of today, while keeping a sensible eye to the future. A survey shows that even with the additional school rooms being built, they will not take care of the increase in the future.

At the conclusion of Mr. Van Tassel's remarks, the parents were invited to visit the various rooms, where they had children enrolled and to discuss with the teachers their children's progress.

Judging from the interest and enthusiasm shown, the parents look forward to another "Open House."

Refreshments were served.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

FOUR QUESTIONS FROM A TEENAGER

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Would you please answer these questions for me?

How old should I be before I go out? Before I kiss a boy? Before I get serious about a boy? Before I wear heels and earrings?

I am in my early teens and am troubled about these things, so will you please tell me the exact age for each one of my questions? — Lou Ann

Dear Lou Ann:

I could hardly say that there is any "exact" age for starting to do any of these things. A lot depends on how your parents feel.

However, let's see what we might say in general on these points you bring up.

If by "serious" you mean how old should you be before you have dates with boys, then I can say that there's no reason why as early as 14, perhaps, you shouldn't begin going to afternoon parties or to some afternoon school event or party, with a boy. You might even, occasionally, go to an early party at night, if your parents approve. As you get older, more freedom is permissible, but I don't think any girl should, while still in school, should be out late on school nights nor, except on special occasions, even on weekends.

Kissing a boy is not a matter of age, but a matter of taste, and my own feeling is that the less kissing the better. Save your kisses for the boy you love, who are old enough to pick out a boy for keeps. If you make a practice of kissing any boy at all, while you are growing up, it takes the real meaning out of kissing. Besides it sometimes leads to intimacies for which you would afterward be sorry.

As for "getting serious" about a boy, I realize this modern custom among young people is to "go steady," but since girls and boys usually have more than one date before they get married, I would be my advice not to take any one such experience too hard. Give yourself plenty of time, before "getting serious," to learn enough about boys so that you're sure of the right boy you're going to love about.

Wearing high heels and earrings is a relatively minor matter, and I think teenage girls would do well not to pay too much attention to them, except when they want to dress up for formal parties in the last couple of years of high school. On the very young teenager, they just look silly and make her appear overdressed.

GETTING "BETTER ACQUAINTED" WITH A BOY

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a junior in high school and like a boy who is a senior. I am sure he likes me, too.

Would you please suggest some way I could get better acquainted with him, because we don't seem to be getting anywhere? — Barbara

Dear Barbara:

One of the best ways by which a girl can properly indicate to a boy that she would like to know him better is for her to find an opportunity to invite him somewhere.

Perhaps she might give a party and invite him to be one of the guests. Or if some school event comes along to which it would be natural to invite a boy, she might do that. The point is to keep a sharp eye out for opportunities of this sort, and to take advantage of them.

Of course you'll always be friendly when you meet this lad during the day at school, and stop and talk whenever you can properly do so. Find out what he's interested in among the school activities, and be ready to make appropriate remarks on the subject in a conversation-opener. If you've pitched him play football, or hockey, or basketball, or taken part in any other school events, let him know much you enjoyed watching him and how well he did.

And fully as important as any of this, be sure to get a lot of fun testing activities yourself, so it'll be interesting as a busy, active girl who has lots of friends all can do a lot of things well.

DON'T LET YOUR IMAGINATION RUN AWAY WITH YOU!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I like a boy very much who is 17 and is the Air Force, with four years to go. I am 15, and I feel the four years is a long time to wait for someone.

Although he has written one letter to his mother, he hasn't written me yet, and I feel that a boy who is engaged to a girl should write to her at least once a week. He doesn't like to write, so I think that is why I haven't had a letter.

I hope you can help me. — V.L.

Dear V.L.:

I'm not quite clear as to why you're in need of help. Nor am I conscious about your status with this boy. Is it possible that, at 15 and 17, you two consider yourselves engaged, or are you, perhaps letting your imagination run away with you? Whichever way it is, you'd better call a quick halt, especially since you feel that "four years is a long time to wait."

As for the letter-writing, I suggest that, when and if you do get a letter from this boy, you send him a nice friendly reply, but keep romance out of it. And better wait until you hear from him before you do write.

Children Want Pets

"I'd love to have a pussy! The Short's cat has kittens and they said I could have my pick. I want my own pet!"

How many mothers have listened to urgent requests for a puppy, or a puppy or some other animal's pet must be well looked after, as well as loved! Some families do not seem to realize that if a child is going to have a pussy, that cat must have a bed and the right food and sufficient grooming. A healthy cat is the result of good care.

Owning a pet is apt to be a long time arrangement. It is cruel for both the child and the cat to rush into allowing a youngster to bring home a pussy and later discover that he doesn't want to be bothered with the animal!

Cats love comfort—and they make their own bed in a quiet corner. A wooden box where a cat can sleep and have an undisturbed nap without fear of a small owner suddenly pouncing on her is a good idea. It will help prevent pussy from becoming irritable and may save the child from being scratched.

KEEPS OFF DRAFTS

A shelf in the box, raised several inches off the floor for the bed, keeps drafts from pussy's body. Newspaper makes the cat's bed must be kept clean. Use a folded, piece of cloth or a worn out pussy's pillow which can be washed often. In the box where the cat can sleep with comfort on a newspaper which can be changed often. Don't let pussy go night prowling—insist that she sleep in her own bed!

A kitten can be fed from a medicine dropper the first week of her life and can learn to lap milk the second week. However, it is best to have a kitten fed by the mother cat the first two or three weeks and gradually encourage it to take its milk from a saucer. Kittens have at least three or four meals a day. A cat is full grown when a year is up and a mature cat should be fed twice a day—and not allowed to "piece" all day long.

MUST HAVE MEAT

Fresh water should be available at any time for a pet. A cat is a flesh eating animal and must have a certain amount of meat (as well as the mice she catches), fish, scraps with vegetables in a stew or pussy will pick out the meat and leave the rest. Feed salmon or liver sparingly or the cat may want only these delicacies. Milk, a raw egg and table scraps, or reliable cat food, and also cat nip are all enjoyed by pussy.

A child may be eager to feed his pet, but mother must see to it that he does not forgotten. No animal should be teazed when eating, and a child must learn never to disturb pussy at her meal.

A cat spends hours grooming herself, and takes pride in a shiny coat. Long haired cats need careful brushing and combing with a dull-toothed comb. This too must be done under an adult's supervision or pussy may scratch if treated too roughly.

NEED FEW BATHS

Cats seldom need a bath, and they can be "dry cleaned" with corn meal. However, if a tub bath is necessary use warm water and dry pussy right after with a towel so she will not catch cold. Flea soap or powder should be used at intervals to keep her free from these pests.

A cat is a creature of habit and with patience even a small pussy can be house broken in a short time. Not only that, but a cat's earth should be kept in the same place and changed each day.

A child sometimes inflicts pain on a pet without intending to be cruel. Consideration of animals is learned by loving and caring for a pet. Father or mother may forbid a child a pet means to a child—but they can see how much happiness pussy gives to a son or daughter.

QUESTION:

Some time ago there was a recipe for grilled apples in the paper . . . it was courtesy Ivy P. . . . you asked her to let us know if the flour is sifted before measuring and also suggested 400 deg Fahr. for 8 to 10 minutes. . . . have missed her reply . . . which is the least fattening to use in pastry—lard or corn oil? Could I use an egg blended with oil as I do with the lard—it makes it nice and flaky. . . . are you related to Louise Moore?—J. M.

ANSWER:

No. I am not related to Louise Moore, but she is a member of the Press Club and we have chatted together.

Ivy P. did not reply to my request so I guess she didn't see it. I would suggest sifting the flour, if the dough is not stiff enough add a very little more, then chill it before shaping. 400 deg. Fahr. is the right temperature, but thin cookies require only 6 to 8 minutes.

Lard and corn oil (which is what you are referring to) have the same number of calories—1 tablespoon of either has 110 calories. The only way you can reduce your calorie intake in pastry—is not to make or eat it. Would you be kind enough to tell me exactly how you make your lard pastry with an egg? Do you add any liquid—if so exactly how much? Thanking you in anticipation.

QUESTION:

I am writing this after noting your reply to a question about cooking with chicken fat. You state that it may be used in the same amounts as butter. I am a long-time user of chicken fat for baking and regard it next to butter in excellence. However it was not until I came to Wartime's table of substitutions that I began having perfect results in anything tasting chocolate, spice, molasses, etc. My table gives 1 cup chicken fat for each cup of butter ordered in a recipe. This is just right, too. Also it gives 7-8 cup lard. At one time I rendered some pure leaf lard for old times' sake. Had some grand pastry and wondered why. I think commercial lard has less fat content per cup than home rendered lard or drippings Many a batch of cookies etc., have been shoved flavors owe their entire shortening to my dripping can. 7-8 to 1 cup called for in recipe.

I have read and did try with good results, of mixing good beef suet (melted and hardened) with chicken fat. Forget amounts—imagine about half and half. As you see I use mostly other people's drippings in the soap I've corresponded about.—Ruth D.

ANSWER:

Those are precious proportions for you to use when substituting fat for commercial lard. I was delighted to hear from you again.

Beauty

COLOR AND THE COMPLEXION

When shopping for pretty clothes, Summer colors that will enhance the color of your eyes and your complexion. There are lovely shades this season and your wardrobe should be gay. The taxing down of facial make-up permits the veiling in bright tones that not only add to charm of appearance but help to boost morale as well.

The color that gives vitality to the complexion illuminate the eyes. The color that deadens the complexion, like steel grey and somber shades of dull brown, will, consistently enough, cast a shadow over the eyes. Though not an infallible rule, it is one that can be adopted by the majority.

The object of color in dress is not only to make you look as beautiful as possible, but to give one a feeling of beauty. Clothes have a psychological effect on every thinking woman must realize. Some women have the spirit as well as the complexion while others are downright depressing.

The fact that smart women vary the tone of rouge and lipstick to suit certain costumes bears out the claim that the skin must be taken into consideration.

Black is favorable this season and is a happy choice for either blonde or brunette. Green seems to accent the delicacy of the skin texture. White, worn by the brunette, we may like black as a basic costume, it should be relieved by touches of white, placed in the form of accessories. Black is definitely a color elderly types, since it harshens a face touched with lines or wrinkles.

Brown is a color that can be worn all the year round. It gives depth to brown eyes and it is becoming to practically every type except the woman who has a sallow skin.

It sometimes happens that a woman can wear a color which is normally unbecoming if she combines a second color with it. An interesting combination of colors often makes a dress distinctive and highly individual.

GROOM'S MOTHER SHOULD GET BUSY ABOUT HER DRESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son is to be married soon; very large church, church wedding; large reception following at his bride's home. I remember reading in your column quite a while ago that the mother of the groom-to-be should consult with the mother of the bride-to-be, as to the dress she would wear. I haven't heard from the bride's mother concerning this. Should I send her a note, or should she get in touch with me first about this? Also, am I supposed to pay for my own dress? Groom's Mother.

You should have no hesitation whatever in getting in touch with the bride's mother. She may well probably is, waiting for you to get in touch with her. She will probably send you a sample for the fabric and color of her dress, will tell you what style she will wear, and, definitely, the length. Your dress and hers should be alike in general style, but your dresses should be of the same length. . . this is important. . . since the bridesmaids' dresses are sometimes floor-length, sometimes ballerina length, and sometimes street-length, even for a formal afternoon wedding. As she will "expect you to choose a color that will harmonize with that of her dress. Yes, you pay for your own dress.

SHORT-LENGTH vs. FLOOR-LENGTH DRESSES FOR ATTENDANTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am planning the dresses of my attendants for my large, formal church wedding in February. I think the ballerina-length or waltz length dresses are so much more attractive than the floor-length dresses—and my maid of honor and bridesmaids prefer them, too. But my sister, please, Mrs. Beeckman: Are the shorter length dresses (ballerina and waltz-length, or even somewhat shorter than these lengths) considered less formal than the floor-length dresses? (I want no detail to detract from the formality of the bride.)—The Bride-to-be.

No, definitely no. That is, to day's fashion has decreed the shorter lengths of dresses for the bridal attendants just as formal as floor-length dresses. And at today's formal weddings and most fashionable weddings one sees many, many more shorter dresses on the attendants than floor-length dresses.

DON'T WRITE BABY'S WEIGHT ON BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I've been shopping for birth announcements and before I make my final choice, I would like to ask your advice about whether or not I should write in the weight of the baby on the cards? Personally I think it is extremely poor taste. — Mother-to-be Personally I too think this is extremely poor taste. And although so many of the birth-announcement cards do have this space for weight, it is, fortunately, possible to find most attractive ones that don't carry this item.

On birth-announcement cards, either formal, engraved ones, or informal ones, printed or handwritten, only 3 informations are necessary. (1) The name, (2) the day, the baby's name, (3) the date of the baby's birth. (And very often, of course, it is necessary, or just convenient, to include the address of the parents.)

WHO PAYS THESE EXPENSES?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

To settle a question I am having with a girl friend, please answer this question:"We know that when a girl invites a girl to his Prom he is supposed to pay for her when a girl invites a girl to his Prom he is supposed to pay for her when a girl invites a girl to his Prom he is supposed to pay for her

Remembrance Day Service Well Attended

MARMORA. —The annual Remembrance Day service at the Memorial Hall on Thursday, brought out an impressive gathering in spite years. In the parade from the Legion Hall, marshalled by Major Percy Gray, in addition to the representatives of the local Branch No. 227 of the Legion, and 3 Ladies' Auxiliary were Girl Guides under Mrs. L. G. McGinn; Brownies under Miss Mary Stikeljohn and Mrs. J. McAlister; by Scouts under Assistant Scot Master Bert Gray; Cubs und Cubmaster, William Cook and members also of the I.O.D.E.

COLOR PARTIES

The color parties were in charge of past president Clayton Bedore. The short yet impressive services conducted by Canon J. M. Rowsell, chaplain of the Legion assisted by Rev. J. F. Glove. The gathering joined in the singing of the familiar hymns incidental to such services.

Bert Courtney as bugler sounded Last Post and Reveille with the two minutes silence intervening.

Depositing wreaths beneath the two honor rolls were the following on behalf of the organizations and individuals assigned thereto:

ORGANIZATIONS

Province of Ontario, Mrs. Percy Irwin Sr.; Village of Marmora, L. A. Rundle; Township of Marmora and Lake, V. Glover; Marmora Boy Scouts, Leo Darrah; Marmora Cubs, David Lorenson; Marmora Girl Guides, Sandra Meiklejohn; Marmora Brownies, Susan McKay; Marmora Branch Canadian Legion, Roy Moss; Marmora Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. N. Hepwen; Marmora Chapter IODE, Mrs. M. Borland; Marmora LOL 819, Cyril Dandy; Mine, Mill and Smelters, Lloyd Williams; Marmora Steel Workers, Bert Gray; Marmora Branch, Dominion Bank, Roy Moss; H. Olsen, Mrs. John Vanvolkenburg, Mrs. David Wellman, Mrs. George Osborne.

It is noteworthy that three generations of the Gray family were on parade—Major Percy Gray, his son, ex-Sergeant Robert Gray, and grandson, Cub Brian Gray.

In the evening in the Canadian Legion Hall, the branch held a smoker.

SERVICE AT DELORO

At Deloro Hall shortly before 11 a.m. under Comrade George Osborne, ex-servicemen on duty at the plant paraded to be joined by residents of the village for their annual service.

Officiating was the Rev. K. J. Crawford, assisted by W. J. Cottrell, former chaplain of the Marmora Canadian Legion Branch.

Reading of two appropriate hymns by the officiating minister and the offering of prayer by the assisting Legionnaires preceded the two minutes' silence.

WREATHS PLACED

Comrade G. Brooks, as bugler, sounded Last Post and Reveille. The wreath of the Village of Deloro was then placed beneath one honor roll by Reeve C. H. Husband, and that of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company beneath the other, by R. G. Walsh, general manager.

The Rev. K. J. Crawford read a portion of the second chapter of Isaiah and gave a short address thereon, and its prediction that ultimately peace will come and war no longer be followed.

He referred also to the sacrifices of the glorious dead which were being remembered at that hour.

Before the benediction Comrade W. J. Cottrell recited the hymn poem "These We Shall Be", with the words fitting as they do into the promise of peace, as expressed by Isaiah.

Three Members Of Control Board Oppose Saunders

TORONTO (CP) — Three members of Toronto board of control Friday opposed Mayor Leslie Saunders in his ruling that ex-alderman Nathan Phillips may not appear before the board.

Mr. Phillips, a candidate for mayor, said he did not intend to create a scene. The mayor said previously he would not allow the board to be used as "a sounding board to foster political ambition."

Controllers Roy Belyea, David Balfour and Ross Lipsett each opposed the mayor in statements Friday. Controller Ford Brand is out of the city.

George A. Weale, city clerk, said the ruling is not legal. He said if a majority of board members want to hear someone, he can be heard.

Garden Notes

Substitute for Sun

FLORA M. RAVILLE

As the days grow shorter and our interests turn to indoor pleasures many of us find love in house plants. If we follow a few rules we can grow, not only decorative foliage plants, but keep many blooming plants in top form.

For many years the commercial flower grower has known that artificial light can substitute for sunlight in forcing blooms. The plaster lamp brought this idea into the home but few of us have employed the idea any further.

It has been found that many plants require 14 hours of daylight to bring them into bloom. Another fact that has been proved is that the brightness of the light does not affect the time of bloom as much as the length of light hours. Experiments show that a 60 watt bulb hung near the plant when light begins to fade in the afternoon, and left on until 10:00 p.m. will have the same effect as summer light hours.

We have heard of hobbyists growing hundreds of African violets in the basement, by the use of artificial lights and reflectors. This is too difficult and requires too much time for the busy housewife or the man who enjoys a few pots of green growing plants and a few blooms to add color to the home.

GOOD GROWING CONDITIONS

But there are dozens of plants which will grow well in our living rooms, dining rooms and kitchens where we almost automatically turn on the lights at dusk during the fall and early winter months. We do have to be constant and turn on the lights every day around 4 o'clock and keep them on until 10:00 if we are to get uniform results.

Temperatures on the cool side are favored by most plants. Around 70 degrees for day time temperatures and a drop of not much more than 10 degrees seems to suit them well. Some plants require more moisture than others and this can be supplied as needed. Food also is a matter to be regulated for each plant, but under the same light and temperature conditions you can grow a wide variety of plants.

You can arrange plants on a table under a floor lamp; or conceal lights under a valance over a window; or put plants beneath mirrors on shelves. Ivies, patience geraniums, asparagus fern, philodendron seem to like the moist air of the kitchen where the kettle boils moisture into the air.

SUCCESSION OF BLOOMS

Begonias (this family is large and includes the fancy leaf types and the small everblooming semperflorens) gloxinias, phlox, salvia petunias and many plants will produce a succession of blooms. Foliage plants which do well with extended light hours include many vines and plants with colored leaves. Asperigus fears, creeping fig, silk-oak, hollyfern screw-pine, rex plant, plumosa, baby-wander-ing jew and the cacti.

Gifts can be brought into bloom with artificial light too. They must be started in a cool place but once the buds are formed the extra light will bring them along into flower.

A sweet potato will grow rapidly into a handsome red-veined vine, with the help of a few extra light hours. Choose a potato that was not kiln dried. Place in a jar or bowl and cover and lower third with water. Suspend in the mouth of the jar by sticking tooth picks in at right angles to hold it in position, or lay it on a pin point holder in the bowl. Keep the water level up by adding a little every few days. No plant food is necessary.

Globe Trotters Give Exhibition At Almonte

ALMONTE, Ont. (CP)—Harlem Globe Trotters, grown famous for their basketball, Thursday contributed an afternoon toward a memorial in the birthplace of the man who made basketball famous.

In this Ottawa valley town where Dr. James Naismith lived before he went to Springfield, Mass., and originated the game while teaching physical education there some 50 years ago, they're raising money to build the Naismith Memorial Hospital.

The Trotters, as a contribution, played an exhibition game before some 1,000 fans in the community centre. They beat Toledo Mercurys 64-34.

BRIEF VISIT

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters)—Japanese Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki said here Friday that the only Chinese government recognized by Japan is the Nationalist regime here on Formosa. He said there was little prospect of Japan's recognizing Communist China. Okazaki arrived here by air for a one-day stopover on his return to Tokyo from a trip to Rangoon.

Stock Exchange Is Caught Short In Sale of Seat

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York stock exchange is happy today, but it has a mighty red face.

It got caught short in a sale of one of its own seats. Here's what happened.

A member offered his seat for sale for $74,000. The exchange called the offer. The exchange, however, missed the cancellation and sold the seat.

The buyer wanted his new seat. The seller wouldn't part with it. The exchange was in the middle—caught short one seat like the person who is "it" in a game of musical chairs.

The market for seats immediately shot up to an asking price of $80,000. The short squeeze was on. The exchange clustered and waited. Finally, the asking price dropped to $75,000. The exchange quickly grabbed the seat and delivered it to the waiting buyer for $74,000, a loss of $1,000 for the exchange.

Officials breathed easier. There is an old saying in Wall street about short sellers: "He who sells what isn't his'en must settle up or go to prison."

Ailing Woman's Plea for Peace Ignored by Reds

TOKYO (AP)—An ailing young Japanese mother has received 1,000 letters from America—but the Communists must have writer's cramp.

The woman, on a tuberculosis sickbed, has written letters urging peace and international good will to the United States, Russia and Red China.

She was swamped with American answers, but has yet to hear a word from the Reds.

Mrs. Chizu Tomisawa, 25, decided three months ago to launch her campaign. She wrote 44 letters to leading American newspapers in each state, asking to exchange letters with Americans.

Within a month, some 1,000 letters from Americans reached her.

Japanese students, impressed at the flood, wrote similar letters to Canada, Australia and New Zealand. Another thousand letters came quickly.

Prairie Chicken Dying Out On Western Canadian Plains

By JAMES PEACHELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—The prairie chicken is dying out on the western plains.

Government conservationists say they can do little about it except to curtail hunting seasons since the bird will not live in captivity.

The sharp-tailed grouse now goes by the name of prairie chicken, but the pinnated grouse, found only in Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba, is the true prairie chicken.

Due to the influx of population on the Prairies, these grouse, the two most common species, are being forced from their natural feeding grounds — prairie interspersed with bush country. Grouse need grain but cannot live solely on it. The bird must have grasses to balance its diet and survive.

CONFIRM THEORY

When beef prices are high and the plains are left in grass for cattle feed, prairie chicken increase, bearing out the theory that they will thrive where there is grass and grain intermixed.

Dr. William Rowan, zoologist of the University of Alberta has been studying the habits of grouse for years and has evolved the theory that the bird has a 10-year cycle pertaining to its numbers. This cycle also applies to the lynx, pheasant, hare and grasshopper.

By studying the records kept by the Hudson's Bay Co. since 1830, Dr. Rowan has determined that the numbers increase to a peak every 10 years, declining to the following fifth year. The last peak was in 1946 and grouse numbers since have followed this pattern.

Only government protection afforded grouse is provided by the hunting seasons set by games departments of individual provinces.

Alberta's season this year for grouse is Oct. 16 to Nov. 30. Saskatchewan has a closed season for the pinnated variety and an open season for sharptail from Oct. 9 to Nov. 13. Manitoba has a closed season for both species. In British Columbia with no pinnated, the sharptail season is Sept. 15 to Oct. 31, according to district.

Orien, game laws are not heeded. Some northern residents of the prairie provinces use gopher traps for grouse. A few barrels of grain attract the bird to the trap and it is baited when it finds, instead, the trap's pan.

Highest known peak years were 1882 and 1892. During those years the provinces were over-abundant with grouse, but a gradual falling off followed each peak. But over the years the number of "single" dead birds are seen in comparison to millions of live ones! To keep an even balance, Mother Nature provides what seems to us as abundance of babies, because infant mortality is extremely high. Parents just push the tiny bodies out of the nest. Yet seldom are dead baby birds found!

Catching, pawing, and mutilating, cats are among the worst destroyers of bird life; but their prey is left to die. There is a fact that more of the little victims' bodies are not noticed! Man, too, is responsible for many "accidental deaths": the grouse and the duck he wounded mortally and never retrieved, the hawk he shot just to evaluate his aim.

MANY NATURAL DEATHS

Then there are unusually millions of "natural deaths", from old age. Have you ever watched the aging of either your pet canary or a wild friend over a period of several years? Movement becomes slower, the scales on the feet get more and more wrinkled and knotty looking.

Many New Citizens

CHATHAM (CP)—Judge Henry E.Grosch Monday will hear the largest number of applications for citizenship in his 13 years on the bench.

Two hundred New Canadians will appear before the judge for final hearing in application for citizenship papers.

Each of the applicants, in keeping with the Citizenship Act made effective Jan. 1, 1947, will bring two sponsors. The addition of two sponsors each would swell the court room gathering to 600 so Judge Grosch will hold hearings in four sessions.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BIRDS' GRAVES

Migration takes its semi-annual toll of many thousands of birds as they wing their way between summer and winter homes. Violent storms, lighthouses, power wires, and fast moving aircraft rank high among the causes of death. Oil on the surface of lakes and rivers traps unsuspecting waterfowl. High buildings spell destruction. One morning in October, 123 dead birds were found at the base of the Empire State Building in New York.

When deaths are "multiple", discovery is immediate. But how few "single" dead birds are seen in comparison to millions of live ones! To keep an even balance, Mother Nature provides what seems to us as abundance of babies, because infant mortality is extremely high. Parents just push the tiny bodies out of the nest. Yet seldom are dead baby birds found!

Ready to Name Democrat As Consultant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Associates said Friday that Secretary of State Dulles is prepared to name a bipartisan component of foreign policies if Democratic leaders put forth a qualified man.

Dulles himself served as a Republican consultant to Democratic State Secretary Dean Acheson and other Democratic officials in previous years.

President Eisenhower has said since the election that he will seek a bipartisan component of foreign policy and will consult with Democratic leaders.

Rev. W. J. Long has told about the last days of a wood warbler. Even its head showed aging—grey feathers mingled with the regular dark. Finally, one evening he found it attached to the same twig on which it had sat in the morning; but now the limp little body was hanging quite still.

This was a rare find. When dying, birds seek a secluded spot. Leaves drop on them, rain falls decay begins. In the south, this is hastened by the work of vultures And certain nocturnal beetles are able to dig a grave, roll the body in, and cover it with earth. Mother Nature arranges that within a few hours all traces of death have disappeared.

On the island of South Georgia off the southern tip of South America there is a snow-fed lake where lie the remains of thousands of penguins. Perhaps quite near is are graveyards yet undiscovered where sleep our own feathered

Conn Smythe, Adams Lock In Verbal Battle Over Player Deal With Hawks

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

NARROW ONE!

For the second time in a row one inch thataway or thisaway would have at least tied the score for the Memos against heavy, defensive opposition. Last night they ran into a hard-hitting smear from Cornwall, spotted them a goal, took a 2-1 lead, then watched it fritter away as two players graced the hoosegow. Again a third-period slam-bang alien drive to snatch out a tie or win missed by the narrowest of margins, and forgetting a solid, razzed Cornwall defence that sprawled itself over the ice when other methods failed.

Yup, we missed that one by the proverbial whisker, and a little more luck and punch and shooting around the enemy net might have made a difference. It was another thriller and both teams let down their hair in a sparkling third period that saw the Memos outshoot the opposition 10-5 with M'ajer Devaney, the keeper of the bridge for the Colts, coming up with a display that effectively throttled our side's attempts to dent the twine. Toni Parisi, at the other end, also turned in a fine display and he kicked out plenty of rubber that wore a label.

The victory, the fifth for the Colts gave them ten points and a sharing spot with the Kingston Goodyears at the top of the heap. The Goodies won the spot with an 8-4 victory over the Peterborough Petes in Peterborough. However, the Colts can take over the lead all alone over the week-end for they entertain Peterborough in Cornwall Sunday afternoon. The Memos dropped to second slot with eight points. Next Wednesday they take on the Whitby Seniors in Whitby and the following Friday play hosts to Clinton.

A GREAT HOCKEY PLAYER

Vince Lunny, sports editor of the Montreal Herald, takes up a great big hockey cudgel in defence of Gordie Howe, Detroit Red Wings star, and one of the greatest hockey players of modern times.

It seems that a lot of so-called "experts," especially down Montreal way, have been belittling Howe's scoring record, charging that a number of his assists have been "cooked, pre-cut and phoney."

"In the interests of fair play and justice," writes Vince, "it is about time somebody exploded the myth of 'phoney' assists as it has been applied to Gordie.

"Only the other day a writer referred to 'generous Detroit scorers' in attempting to belittle Howe's four straight Hawks Hockey League scoring championships.

"It is easy to make a statement like that, an empty statement unsupported by facts or statistical evidence. And, unfortunately, there are many people who believe such accusations.

"For those who prefer factual material, here is the truth gleaned by a survey of scoring summaries, from newspaper stories and from play-by-play accounts of Detroit's games in 1953-54 season.

Howe was awarded 48 assists and, according to Canadian Press figures, 30 were gained in Detroit. We are not concerned with the ones he obtained on the road as the assumption that they were all legitimate. Generosity in NHL cities doesn't extend to visiting teams, least of all the Red Wings.

"Of the 30 assists awarded to Howe in Detroit, seven were scrimmy assists, the only ones given on particular scoring plays. That would indicate, to all but a biased observer, that Howe set those goals up himself.

"Seventeen times, after some other Detroit player had handled the puck, Howe relayed the FINAL pass to the scorer. No room for argument here.

"On only six occasions in 35 home games was he given the EXTRA assist on a goal. These are the only ones that may properly be questioned. So, if some of Howe's 1953-54 assists were 'phoney,' the total is less than six out of 48.

"This piece is being written simply to set the record straight. It is a sporting gesture from a city in which Howe has been constantly jeered. Were we taking nothing away from Maurice Richard, the greatest goalgetter ever to flash over ice, a spectacular performer, a man with more individual records than any other player in hockey.

"Richard is great. He's terrific. He's colorful. He's the Rocket. He's in a class by himself as a scorer. But, if we call ourselves sports writers, let's put the accent on the prefix and be fair to a worthy opponent. Let justice prevail. Let's admit, even if it is grudgingly, that Howe is an accomplished playmaker as well as a great scorer."

Little Corporal Says 'Jawn' Is Shedding Crocodile Tears; Wings' Boss Says 'I've Quit'

By The Canadian Press

Conn Smythe has brushed off criticism over the Metro Prystal deal as "crocodile tears."

The president of Maple Leaf Gardens Ltd. said in Toronto Friday night that such tears have been flowing from the National Hockey League District Red Wings for years. And the latest ones by Detroit's general manager Jack Adams, "don't carry much weight" with Smythe.

That, said Smythe, is the essence of his comment on accusations that he engineered the trade that sent Prystal from the Wings to the weak Chicago Black Hawks.

Metro, 37 - year - old star from Torkton, Sask., moved from Chicago to Detroit four years ago and was sent back to the Hawks after a meeting of the NHL board of governors and club owners in New York last Tuesday. Smythe, chairman of the board of governors and club owners, said he has investigated the move without the approval of Adams.

LEAF MAESTRO RETORTS

Smythe commented:

"Detroit moved (Bob) Goldham and Prystal out of Chicago a few seasons ago and there wasn't any talk from Detroit at that time. In his last season with Chicago, Prystal scored 20 goals. Last year he had 12 with Detroit. It might be good for him to return to Chicago where, properly used, he might score 29 goals again."

The writer cracked Adams. He told one newspaper man: "I've been in hockey 30 years—road trips, radio, television, special committees and I've been extraordinarily active for me. I slugged for 28 years building up hockey and selling it to the people here, and Smythe wrecks it with one blow."

The Hawks gave Detroit forward Lorne Davis, 23-year-old native of Regina, who was traded to Chicago earlier this year by the league - leading Montreal Canadiens.

If nothing else, the verbal battle will stir up plenty of fan interest around the six-team circuit.

Maple Leaf Gardens undoubtedly will be packed tonight because the second-place Wings, still smarting from a 7-2 loss to Toronto Thursday, take on the third-place Leafs in Toronto. It is one of six weekend games.

In two other engagements tonight, Boston Bruins go against Canadiens in Montreal and the Black Hawks are at New York Rangers. On Sunday it's Montreal at Detroit, Toronto at Boston and New York at Chicago.

Dutchies Juniors Knock Off Leading Marlies

By The Canadian Press

All season Kitchener - Waterloo Canucks of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League remained on the deck. Friday night they got off with a bang.

The Canucks, almost high, knocked down the league-leading Toronto Marlboros 5-3 before 771 hometown fans. Barry Flyers, second from last in the league, moved into third place by defeating the second-place Guelph Biltmores 4-3 in Guelph.

Apart from the Barrie jump over Hamilton, league standings remain the same. Marlboros are on top with 11 points and St. Michaels, Guelph, St. Catharines and Galt share second spot with 10 points each.

Canucks built up a 4-0 lead before Marlboros connected for their first goal late in the second period. Two Marlboros catcoffs figured in the Kitchener-Waterloo victory with Ron McCall scoring a goal and Kent Douglas playing an outstanding game on defence.

COLLINS SETS PACE

Gary Collins set the pace with a goal and two assists. Other goals were shared by Dave Keon, Jake Milla and Bob White. Billy Harris and Bob Pulford scored for Marlboros.

Flyers withstood a strong third-period rally by Biltmores to win their game. Flyers opened up a 4-2 lead in the second period after scoreless first. Biltmores retaliated play in the third frame but could manage only one goal.

Bob Barlow scored twice and Howie Glover and Bob Kane once each for the winners. Bill Sweeney, Bob Norhan and Paul Midghall fired the Guelph goals.

Twelve penalties were handed out in the rough first period and 23 in all, 14 to Barrie. Defencemen Ed MacQueen of Flyers served five minors.

Tonight Hamilton is at Galt, Guelph at St. Catharines and St. Michael's at Barrie. Sunday St. Catharines meet St. Michaels and Galt play Marlboros in a doubleheader at Toronto.

Vancouver Will Make Bid For Grey Cup Final

By Ken Metheral
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A johnny-come-lately in big-time football has opened a fast drive to break Toronto's stranglehold on Canada's prized plum—the Grey Cup final.

With the backing of civic officials, Vancouver football enthusiasts have launched a campaign to become the first city in western Canada to stage the fall classic.

"We want the Grey Cup game here in 1955 and it will take more than a boy to stop us," says Don Mackenzie, president of British Columbia Lions.

OPPOSE TRADITION

Mackenzie and his co-workers realize they must overcome stiff obstacles to reach their objective.

Toronto has been the scene of the big spectacle for so long it has become almost a tradition that it is held in 27-seat Varsity Stadium the last Saturday in November. And the Canadian Rugby Union (CRU) executive is a shift the game to Vancouver, which made its debut in the Western Interprovincial Football Union this year.

More than balancing such factors as Vancouver's balmy climate and huge Empire Stadium.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

Vancouver opened its drive to bring the 1955 Grey Cup game here almost a week before Lions ended their first 1954 season in which they won only one of 16 league games and lost two post-season exhibition fixtures. Mayor Fred Hume announced an official drive has been launched to get the CRU to stage the game here. He also announced a civic group committee to follow up the invitation with action.

Then came Oct. 25 and Lions' final game against Regina. Fog rolled in on Empire Stadium and forced the game to be called six minutes before the end of regulation time.

"There goes your Grey Cup bid," said Regina coach Frank Filchock as he looked at the fog-shrouded field.

Mackenzie disagrees.

"There is less chance of poor weather during a football game than in Toronto where heavy snowstorms are not unknown late in November."

GOOD WEATHER PROSPECT

A check of weather office records confirms his contention.

In the last five years, fog has been reported here on 14 of the 150 November days and only once during that time in the afternoon.

Both Mackenzie and Mayor Hume said they can see an agreement which the CRU, whose main source of revenue is the big game, cannot ignore.

Empire Stadium, which now seats 25,000, can be enlarged to handle between 40,000 and 60,000 fans.

Minor Leaguers May Get Big Price Tag

NEW YORK K(AP)—A proposal to pin a $15,000 price tag on the major league draft of minor league baseball players will be submitted to the winter baseball meetings.

A spokesman for commissioner Ford Frick said Friday that under present baseball rules, players drafted from the Pacific Coast League cost $10,000. From the class AAA leagues they cost $10,000 and on down to $2,000 for players from class D leagues.

He said the proposal has been placed on the agenda of the meeting of the National Association baseball men in Houston, Nov. 29-Dec. 3 and of the major league meetings in New York, Dec. 6-8.

Blue Bombers, Edmonton Eskys All Out for Victory Tonight

EDMONTON (CP) — Both Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers will be going all out tonight to win the Western Interprovincial Football Union championship.

The split-T Eskimos of coach Frank (Pop) Ivy won the first game in Edmonton a week ago 33-32 but Bombers rallied to win 12-6 in Winnipeg Thursday in their best display of the season.

A record crowd is expected to view the third and final contest, which starts at Clarke stadium at 5:30 p.m. MST.

Al Sherman's Bombers never did realize their potential as they finished third in the regular schedule and eliminated Saskatchewan Roughriders in the playoff semi-final, Thursday the Bombers were rolling as they throttled the Eskimos.

The Edmonton team used the split-T sparingly this season, apparently to avoid the crippling of quarterback Bernie Faloney who already had a gimpy leg.

Now facing elimination, the Eskimos are expected to shoot the works with all the razzle-dazzle possible. The last game proved they probably won't beat Bombers with the close-to-the-vest style they used in the previous playoff games.

The Bombers are expected to continue use of the powerful ground attack that beat the Eskimos in Winnipeg.

A decision won't be made until just before game time on whether to dress Defensive end Frank Anderson who has been out with a charley horse and a broken thumb. There is no chance of using defensive half Ray Willsey who has been out several weeks with a broken arm.

Bombers will be without fullback Floyd Huggins but end Neil Armstrong seems to be recovering from a mild concussion and probably will play.

Eskimos went through a limit-er-ing-up indoor workout Friday night in the weatherman expects a temperature of 20 to 25 at game time so the turf will be frozen. Snowflurries are forecast for today.

Solunar Notes

Odds and Ends

By John Alden Knight
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables.)

After a good many years of trial and struggle, the Corps of Engineers Department of the Army has at last broken down and agreed to meet with and consult the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior in order to promote sound planning for fish and wildlife on river-basin projects.

As you no doubt know, the projects of the Engineers have, in many cases, not served the interests of fish and wildlife. That is a mild way of stating it. Moreover, if other projects of the Engineers had gone through as originally planned, incalculable damage would have resulted to the fish and wildlife of that area.

Now, when any project having to do with irrigation, navigation, flood control and or what the boys call "power multiple purpose projects" (simply another way of saying "big dam construction") is planned, the Fish and Wildlife Service, as well as the State Fish and Game Departments of the states involved, will be consulted.

Plans are here in the process of being considered, and all aspects from the fishing, shooting and recreational angles will be taken into account. Leases of project lands by the Engineers shall specify that such lands shall be open for public hunting and fishing.

To the reporter, the whole idea sounds like Utopia If—and I can't make that big enough—the Engineers heed the admonitions of the Conservation Departments and the Conservationists accordingly.

Only time can give us the answer to the last one. At least, it is a big step in the right direction. Here's hoping that it works out as well as we hope it will.

RIVER PLAN

You can recall, if you have been this country for the past couple of years, some rather caustic comment on our part on the plan to flood a portion of the Dinosaur National Monument by the erection of the Echo Park Dam. Any way a fellow looked at that one, it was not a pretty sight.

Now we learn that the Upper Colorado River plan, of which the Echo Park Dam was a part, failed to pass approval of the 83rd Congress. Two things defeated it: the huge amount of public resentment concerning the destruction of the Dinosaur Monument as it now stands, and there I quote in part from the report in the Congressional Record)", ... concealed subsidy from the Nation's taxpayers of over $1 billion to provide water for less than 370,000 acres of land at a cost of over $2,500 per acre irrigated or $370,000 for each of the 1,000 farms to be benefited."

The Record goes on to say that this land, fully developed, is worth about $150 per acre. The boys had that one figured out real well.

Anyway, it failed to get by, at least for the 83rd Congress. I can't help but wonder whether or not Reclamation will have the good grace to forget about this one. Probably not, but time will give us the answer.

EFFECTIVE BAIT FOR CARP

Early last fall we received a report from Wisconsin that a lady of that state has come up with a bait which actually does function efficiently with carp.

We receive a good many letters, stating that bait fails to catch carp. Naturally, this report was interesting so we wrote to our good friend, Alexander, of the Wisconsin Conservation Commission. He in turn enlisted the aid of Mr. Ed ward N. Hein, also of that department.

Mr. Hein drove over to Green County and interviewed Mrs. William Bleasner, age 83, who has been showing the folks of that area how to catch carp. This is her method.

Mix a quart of cornmeal, two tablespoons of flour, one teaspoon of salt, add water, but don't make it too wet. Cook in a double boiler until stiff. Then roll it into balls of varying sizes.

We cannot say from first-hand experience how well this bait will work. We merely pass it along as we have it. If you are interested in fishing for carp, it might pay you to give it a trial.

RABBIT POISONER

Early last August I wrote a story about the French doctor, Paul Armand-Delille, who was responsible for killing off many of the rabbits in Europe. He introduced the fatalities disease, panzootic, by releasing some infected rabbits in his garden, and thereby wiped out not only the rabbits of his place but of a rest of Europe as well.

Now, I am happy to report, he is being sued—a test case. Should this case conclude with a judgment against the doctor I am afraid that he won't have much time to enjoy his retirement and pulterie about his rose garden.

Many members of injured parties are resting on their arms, waiting —ammunition companies, hotels, resorts, fur dealers, felt manufacturers, butchers, meat packers, and so infinitely. Judgments from actions brought by such a combination will inevitably run into millions of dollars, if not billions.

When and if I receiv report of the eventual outcome, I will pass it along to you. Meanwhile, I wish the doctor luck with his lawsuits—all of it bad.

Cornwall Colts Share Senior 'B' League Top With Kingston Goodyears

Costly Penalties in Second Pave Way for Colts' 3-2 Win In Rugged Senior 'B' Battle

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Two costly back to back second-period penalties paved the way for the tieing and winning goals here last night as the Cornwall Colts edged the Belleville Memos 3-2 in another Senior "B" league thriller.

The victory hoisted the Colts into a fifty - fifty occupancy of first place in the league with the Kingston Goodyears, who defeated the Peterborough Petes 8-4 in another group fixture in Peterborough last night. The Memos dropped back into second place. It was Cornwall's fifth win in seven starts.

The speedy Colts forwards ripped in goal-getting action after trailing 2-1 early in the second period and came out on the fine side of the Colts used everything but the city police station in a successful effort to protect their goal. Devenny in the Cornwall nets came up with a fine display as he tossed back the Belleville punks time after time in a blistering third chapter.

SPOT COLTS GOAL

The Memos spotted the Colts a goal early in the first period but flashed back after close to nine minutes to draw even and two minutes later grabbed a goal lead. Came the penalties in the second period and the Colts' pair of markers and that ended the scoring for the night.

Cornwall flashed a big rugged team with a line bristling like a fence and speedy hard-shooting front lines. Their defensive play was outstanding especially in the third period when the Memos did everything but push the puck in the nets.

Referees "Moon" Flanagan and Kenny Parris kept things moving, later showing here in his first appearance as an OHA official handled an awesome minor penalties, ten of them going to Cornwall. There flared no temper at times as players squared off but no serious damage or major sentence resulted.

The situation reversed itself in the rapid-fire third period when the Colts went ten men short for a space of nearly a minute. The Memos swarmed around the Colts men's net but Devaney and his three-man defence thwarted all efforts to score.

Henri poked Belmow's pass past Parisi after two minutes of play in the second period to open the scoring and three minutes later Bingley got the Colts' first goal as missed MacDonald's pass by inches and Devaney pounded aside Bentley's hard drive while Durston was in the sinbin. With the man advantage, Peter Jones rifled down ice with Bettiol and DeGray, driving the puck home to tie the score.

Jones and Bingley went off for roughing at the 9:06 mark and a minute later Henri joined them. Ted DeGray made no mistake when he took Vern Goyer's pass from the corner to whistle a hard drive into the Cornwall net.

COSTLY SENTENCES

Came the costly sentences in the second period and the Colts swept into a 3-2 lead. Goyer and Gould followed each other into the penalty box and Doug Jones raced in alone on Devaney who coolly kicked the drive aside. A minute later Henri broke into the clear but Tony Parisi, who also came up with a fine net performance outquestioned the Colts' sharpshooter. Belmore went off for interference as the clock read 19.33 of the period.

In the third heat the Memos drove in hard on Devaney with the extra manpower. Play reached the game peak and both teams neared up and down the ice with the Memos having the advantage. Savard went off after eight minutes but the clustered Colts

The language of bidding is very expressive. Simple, too. Though its entire vocabulary is limited to only 15 words, everything can be said that needs to be said. Often more than necessary.

The same words may be used over and over again, each new time with a new meaning. In some spots it includes a number of meanings. Such as giving partner special orders or making no demands.

When a bidding word orders partner to bid again it is a signal known as a forcing bid. Definite are the situations which are forcing and definite are the situations that are not forcing.

The partner of an opening suit bid, of one, has only three types of non-jump responding bids. They are (1) a takeout to a new suit, (2) an assist of the suit opener has bid, and (3) no-trump.

The last two of these never order partner to bid again. That is, opener is not forced to bid again if responder assists his suit or if responder bids no-trump; that is if made without a jump.

This does not mean that opener must pass. It means only that he is not ordered to bid again. If opener does bid again it is because he has some new value that he is voluntarily willing to show.

All modern good systems agree with this; no exceptions. So, any player who hears of it is fully equipped in that department. However, some would like to know the reasons which my future series will tell.

South deals and opens a heart when you have this north hand:

♠Q 7
♥K 9 7
♦A 8 6 3
♣9 7 6 4

Your north hand has enough for an assist response of two hearts or a reply of one no-trump. Whichever of these two responses you make, it will not force the south opener to bid again.

Do not let somebody talk you into the idea that a no-trump reply orders the bidding to be kept open. Or that an assist is a weak, or a strong, or an odd bid. They know not what they say.

Radio Taxes For Fifty Years Perhaps Illegal

LONDON (Reuters) — Red-faced British officials today were hastily preparing a bill to legalize 50 years of radio taxes which they now admit may have been illegal all along.

The admission came Thursday in the House of Commons from assistant postmaster general David Gammans, who conceded the government may never have had the authority to collect the taxes by which it has financed its state-run radio and television monopoly.

But the confession offered scant comfort for radio and TV owners, who have long complained about the taxes on their individual receiving sets. In the same breath, Gammans said the government will rush through a bill of indemnity legalizing the assessments from the present right back to their origin in 1904.

Gammans explained that the legality of the system had been challenged by a private engineering company in a lawsuit against the post office, Britain's radio authority.

CARLSON A MAN OF MANY SKILLS

Hollywood's most unique career is pursued by Richard Carlson, whose first major studio directorial effort is Universal-International's Technicolor "Four Guns To The Border," opening Monday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, with Rory Calhoun, Colleen Miller, George Nader, Walter Brennan and Nina Foch in starring roles.

Considered filmdom's foremost man of many talents, Carlson is one of the screen's best known acting personalities. As a producer, he owns his own independent movie producing company in partnership with Ivan Tors. As a writer, he has done considerable radio and television show scripts. As a television actor, he is the star of half-hour dramas in a series called "I Led Three Lives."

Versatility has been the Carlson trademark ever since he wrote a grammar school play called "The Masquerade." At the University of Minnesota he wrote, directed and acted in a series of college theatricals. When he graduated, he opened a theatre in Minnespolis, and has continued all phases of his many-faceted career since he went to Broadway and then to Hollywood.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — It is mostly in how we go about things, what methods we use in forging our way through this life that make or break us. To achieve Happiness and Success start each day with a prayer.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Don't tackle more than you should and you will be able to accomplish more with less strain. You will also see a clearer picture of what should, and should not, be done in the future. Think about this today.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Please note Taurus. Your vibrations now indicate life sans advice. With a prayer you can start right. Spend some time enjoying the company of children.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Too much of any one thing is not good. There's an old saying, "what cures can kill". If used indiscriminately. So forget work today. Take someone to church with you. Appreciate Little blessings.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — This is a better period than you may think. Sometimes confused talk, or just too much talk is disconcerting. Try listening today; be tolerant; be calm.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Start with good intentions — and keep them. Take care of your health and maintain an even disposition. Eat and rest regularly, sensibly. Listen to your neighbor's problems.

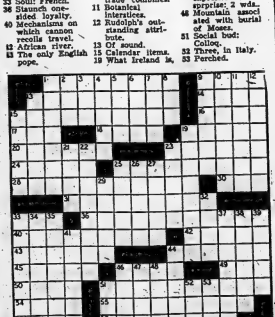
September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — A time for deep thought, re-checking. A bit of time spent in investigation could save much time later.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Don't neglect the old for the new. Neither should you overlook fresh advantages or new friendships where and when offered. Be careful, considerate; protect those things which bring you happiness.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Time and effort-saving devices favored if they don't conflict with principles. Watch disposition and cultivate ambition.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — A better period than you may think. But you will be asked to tread the straight and narrow very narrowly — which is all to the good. Start right at church.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Some plans may have to be changed. But generally you should try to maintain your schedule you planned and think best. Eat, rest and recreate in moderation.



February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — You may think this a more complicated day than it is. Don't let the premise that all is not so intricate. Remember past "impossibles", and how they were conquered. Pray; enjoy rest.

YOU BORN TODAY: Time is often the big factor with you. Not that it need be but, for some reason, not even known to yourself, you are wont to delay to a late and rushed hour the things you could have started and done with ease earlier. You sometimes hesitate till pressed for a quick decision, whereupon you can, often do, make excellent judgments. Regulate each day, week with a view to steadier, less strained achievement. You can be a leader, or able follower; are versatile; appreciate music, art, drama, children's problems. Birthdate of Sir Chas. Lyell, geologist.

ST. PETER'S W.C.

MADOC — St. Peter's Women's Club held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. H. McCoy. During the business session it was decided to hold a rummage sale on November 27th. Mrs. Robert Wright had charge of the devotional period after the Bible story; she read three poems, "In Flanders Field," "The Poet That Refreshes" and "My Strength and My Day." Rev. M. W. Heslip gave a tape recording of the evening service in St. Peter's Church on anniversary Sunday when Rev. Allan Ferris, of Knox College, was the speaker. After the close of the meeting the members enjoyed refreshments served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Trotter, Mrs. Rohbar and Mrs. G. Hill.

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

A special meeting of St. Peter's W.M.S. was held in the Sunday School room on Friday afternoon. Miss VanKleek presided over the meeting and conducted the worship service. The president, Mrs. Allan, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Scott, a missionary home on furlough from India, and at present engaged in doing deputation work for the Presbyterian church.

For her address she chose a text from 1st Timothy 1st 17, "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away, behold all things are become new." She described the life in India and her personal knowledge of the mission work there. There are still thousands who have never heard the message. Miss Scott impressed the need of educated leaders, missionaries and prayer support.

Concluding her address she said, "we should put all our strength, energy and prayers into the work in India so the church there may stand almost." Miss Vas Kleek thanked Miss Scott for her fine address. Mrs. Heslip led in prayer and after singing a hymn Mr. Wood closed with prayer. Mrs. Donohue, Mrs. Kilpatrick and Mrs. Spencer served refreshments.

Comrades Lowery and Adams made up the color party. Jack Kincaid acted as chairman for the service. The Madoc brass band led in the service of song; assisting in the service was Rev. J. F. Lane, of Madoc, and Rev. J. Lewis, of Queensboro. The oration was given by Rev. A. S. McConnell, padre of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. He gave a fine address on "Remembrance Day."

After observing the two minutes' silence, a parade formed and marched to Thompson Memorial Park, where wreaths were placed on the cenotaph in memory of the loyal sons who gave their lives in World Wars I and II. Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Bandmaster Bill Aylesworth.

Edmond O'Brien Could Get Oscar for Role in Film

By BOB THOMAS

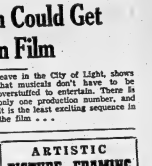
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the new films:

It's open season on press agents, and they don't like it a bit. First came Jack Carson's "A Star Is Born." The character is slightly more redeeming than when it was first played by Lionel Stander in the 1937 version. But he's still a hard-asserted soul who helps send James Mason on his suicide swim into the sunset.

Now it's Edmond O'Brien in "The Barefoot Contessa." He's a sweating, insincere praiser who will defenan himself for a buck. Bogart and O'Brien will be up for supporting awards when Academy time rolls around. It's my bet that O'Brien will snag one.

Hollywood's real press agents are muttering about the injustice of it all. They claim that films are biting the hand that praises them best.

MOVIES TOO LONG



"A Star Is Born" and "The Barefoot Contessa" show the dangers of going bog-wild with footage. Both are too long. Fortunately, Warners saw the folly of their movie and have trimmed 25 minutes out for future runs. I'm sure it is a better picture because of it.

"Contessa" could stand a similar trimming. The director-director was so enamored with his wordage that he repeated one scene in its entirety. His words are mostly wonderful, but you can get too much of a good thing.

Those who scoffed at Elizabeth Taylor as an actress will have to eat their words when they see "The Last Time I Saw Paris." She's great. And it should be a lesson to her studio to pull her out of those dreary costume epics and keep her in up-to-date stories. Van Johnson comes off well in "Paris," too.

"So This Is Paris," a merry romp with Tony Curtis, Gene Nelson and Paul Gilbert as gobs on leave in the City of Light, shows that musicals don't have to be overstuffed to entertain. There is only one production number, and it is the least exciting sequence in the film. . . .

UNION MEMBERSHIP GROWS

Foundation of Canada's Labor Law Laid in 1907

Editor's note: First legislation dealing with labor-management relations was passed by the federal government in 1907. This story traces development of provincial and federal statutes designed to enhance the lot of labor.

By JOHN LESLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Western farmers were burning fence posts and straw to warm their homes when young William Lyon Mackenzie stepped from the train into a blizzard at Lethbridge, Alta., in the winter of 1906.

Coal miners had been on strike for eight months. The West was being throttled by a fuel crisis, and Laurier had sent out his 31-year-old deputy labor minister and chief trouble-shooter to get the colliers digging again.

For days, King plodded between offices of the obstinate belligerents and finally worked out a solution.

DREW UP LEGISLATION

Back in Ottawa, he concluded that adequate legislation could have helped the parties into agreement without the threat of a western disaster. And he wrote his ideas into a Bill which Parliament adopted in 1907.

It was the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, whose principles still remain the foundation of federal and provincial legislation dealing with labor-management relations.

While preserving labor's right to walk off the job, the bill made a strike or an employer's lockout illegal until government conciliation and investigation procedure had been carried out.

It was the first legislation embodying what now is called the "cooling-off period," and it was to be followed through the years by other countries including the United States.

Since then, the basic principles of the legislation have been taken up by the provinces generally. Too, the federal and provincial statute books have become loaded with a variety of other measures designed to enhance the interests of labor.

BIG DEVELOPMENT

Most important development since the 1907 act, perhaps, was the inauguration of unemployment insurance in 1940.

A major joint labor project of federal and provincial governments is the provision of vocational training, now being expanded.

Recently, Parliament has put into effect an anti-discrimination statute, barring discrimination against persons seeking work on the ground of race, color or religion. Some of the provinces also have such legislation.

All provinces now have labor-relations acts laying down the right of workers to organize to bargain collectively. All but Prince Edward Island—where the union element is small—have machinery for the conciliation of disputes.

All provide compensation for industrial accidents and diseases through a system of state insurance under which employers are liable for compensation and medical aid costs.

All the provinces except P.E.I. have one form or another of minimum-wage legislation.

In seven provinces, there is legislation of the industrial standards type for applying wages and hours conditions reached by agreement to all employers and workers in the industry concerned in a specified area.

In six provinces, most employers are obliged by law to give their workers a paid vacation, usually a week. Five have hours-of-work laws setting the work week at 48 hours or less.

Several have varying forms of legislation making obligatory the check-off of union dues, whereby the employer collects these and turns them over to the union.

Marking the growing entry of women into paying jobs, three provinces legislate that they must get equal pay with men for he same work.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was wishing I was finishing my homework instead of just beginning it, and I said to pop, Hey, why do I have to have such a bum memory? Why can't I be like brainy Merkie? All he has to do is reed his lessons once, and he remembers everything in them and gets the best reports of anybody in the class, I said.

My freed Fersey Parolee had an even better memory than that, pop said. Before he was 7 weeks old, he could say mersie, poppa and manma, more distinctly than a parrot. His parents were sure he would grow up to be a great orter, pop said, and I said, Did he?

No, but his memory kept on improving, and he head was so full of facts and figures that people came to him instead of going to encyclopedia, and his teechers predicted that he would become a famous scientist, pop said, then a said, Did he?

Well no, not as he grew up and mingled with the werld, he never forgot a name or misplaced a face, and his parents were sure he would be a successful politician, pop said. But what he is really doing is counting the holes in buttons as they pass by in the endless chain in a button foundry. He remembers precisely how many buttons lack holes and the exact number of holes each button lacks. He helps the efficiency of the foundry, but that is not what he wants is no future. So pody hard and consider yourself lucky, because history and statistics both prove that the hardest workers are the most successful men, he said.

Making me feel partly better but not all the way.

THE MUCH-TOUTED VITAMIN

Vitamins are nutritionally important, there is no doubt about it, but one wishes they would learn their place. They have been overpublicized and over-prized to the point where a large section of the public is already half persuaded that they (and antibiotics) will cure everything, and doctors are no longer necessary. Here are a few examples of what over-eager vitamin palaver has done to confuse the public.

Question: "How about vitamins for psychoneurosis? A neighbor of mine has periodic fits of deep depression in which he behaves irrationally. What would be the proper vitamins to give, and where would they be obtainable? His family cannot afford to send him a psychiatrist."

Answer: No known vitamin or combination of vitamins is an accepted treatment for psychoneurosis, according to Paul Williamson, M.D., writing in the Journal of the Canadian Medical Association. Some preparations are ideally suited to give while waiting for the patient to recover by himself, but it is bad when the physician himself begins to believe that the vitamins and not nature did the trick.

There are certain nervous symptoms seen in connection with pellagra, which is a disease caused by a deficiency of niacin in the diet. It is not a true psycho-neurosis, and is very rare except among extremely poor people in the southern states. It is becoming rarer there too. If your neighbor has pellagra, which is rather dubious, the chances are that he can correct his condition by improving his diet.

The best sources of niacin are green and yellow vegetables, notably carrots. It is also found in whole grain cereal, whole wheat bread, hog liver, pork, beef, salmon, milk, egg yolk and peanuts.

At least some of these items are included in almost all diets except in extraordinarily depressed areas, which is why a diagnosis of pellagra is unlikely. If your neighbor is truly psychoneurotic, which seems more likely, experimentation with vitamins would be costly and futile.

Question: "My doctor tells me that my three-year-old child has a mild form of rickets. I was horrified when he told me, and I have been thinking of going to another doctor. We are not rich people, but we are not poor either. We feed our child properly, according to Canada's Food Rules, and it seems impossible that she could have a vitamin deficiency. I am almost afraid to tell my husband, and I am certainly too embarrassed to tell my friends."

Answer: You shouldn't be embarrassed. Actually minor rickets is very common, even in well-to-do families. This is particularly true in areas where the winters are long and cold, and children spend a great deal of time indoors. Rickets is a form of vitamin D is manufactured by the skin by the action of certain wave-lengths of ultra violet light. Hardly people, who, get out into the sunlight on every possible occasion but on cold weather, are not subject to rickets.

However, in our more refined civilization infants are not subjected to sunlight in very cold weathers, and therefore artificial sources of the vitamin should be found.

Fish liver oils are particularly good sources. In most places it is possible to obtain milk which has been "irradiated" with vitamin D. Because of certain undesirable results of irradiation (such as slight alteration of the taste of the milk and possible destruction of riboflavin under certain conditions) it has recently become the practice of many dairies in the United States to add a tasteless vitamin D concentrate. There is still some argument about this practice in Canada.

Vitamin D in some form should be given to children in northerly climates at least until they are 3-years-old. At about age 4 the diet of the child usually widens sufficiently in scope and his exposure to sunlight increases so that no further supplementation is necessary, though the possibility of rickets should not be completely ruled out at any time during the entire period of bony growth.

V-2 CREATORS BECOME U.S. CITIZENS

REBELLIOUS B.C. CONSERVATIVES WANT CONVENTION

Bitter Struggle Between 2 Factions Flares Anew

VANCOUVER (CP) — A bitter struggle between British Columbia and federal elements of the Progressive Conservative party flared anew here during the weekend as the party's rebellious west coast wing handed their national leader a triple rebuff and demanded the calling of a national convention.

In a stormy, four-hour meeting Saturday, delegates attending the annual convention of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association gave a resounding vote of confidence in provincial leader Howard Finlayson, who has spearheaded criticism of the party's national leader, George Drew.

Delegates also endorsed the action of their executive which last summer at Vernon, B.C., voted "no confidence" in Mr. Drew.

Emphasizing the bitter cleavage between the two wings of the party over the leadership of Mr. Drew's leadership was the walkout of a provincial cabinet minister, the B.C. Young Progressive Conservative Association, the resignation of a provincial constituency association president and the non-attendance of the provincial party members of Parliament—Howard Green, Vancouver, Quadra; Maj.-Gen. H. Kent Hughes, Vancouver-Kingsway; and E. Davis Fulton, Kamloops.

MAYA ATTACKS "VICIOUS"

In a statement issued following the one-day convention, Mr. Green said:

"The only reason for these vicious attacks on our national leader, Drew, is that he refuses to give control of federal activities in British Columbia to the provincial leader, Deane Finlayson. No other provincial leader is asking for such control.

Mr. Green, who said the flight-sent was that Mr. Drew and all three federal members, added that Mr. Finlayson and his supporters should follow the example of other provincial leaders and keep busy running provincial party activities "instead of trying to pull down their national leader and the three federal conservative members of Parliament elected from B.C."

Mr. Finlayson, in Ottawa, Drew, the delegates carried a vote of confidence in the executive. They also passed an amended motion of confidence in George Drew, 50-24; and agreed to hold a "reasonable" number of conferences in Mr. Drew.

A vote of confidence in Mr. Finlayson carried 71-5 with several delegates abstaining.

YOUTH URGES BRAKES

Delegates also heard the unusual spectacle of youth cautioning elders to use restraint and wisdom in the political battle.

"Are you trying to tear us apart?" asked Ralph Maya, representing young Progressive Conservatives at the University of British Columbia, in a plea for unity.

Maya, 21-year-old president of the young group walked out after a motion to set aside the Vernon "no confidence" motion was ruled out of order.

The call for the calling of a national convention "as soon as possible" came on a motion by Deane Gordon Grey of Victoria, seconded by Pat Duke, delegate from Okanagan-Boundary federal riding.

However, there was no voicing of previously-announced intentions to nominate John Diefenbaker as federal leader instead of Mr. Drew.

Queen Mother Elizabeth Hopes She and Queen Will Be Able To Visit Canada Again Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth says she hopes both she and her daughter, the Queen, will be able to visit Canada again.

Her remarks were made in conversations with guests during a diamonds - and - champagne reception at Government House Saturday night and earlier the same day in an address at a parliamentary luncheon.

Judging from the reception given since arrival here Friday for a five-day visit, the Queen Mother would be welcome in Canada the year round. The reigning queen, as Princess Elizabeth, toured Canada in 1951.

Hundreds turned out Sunday in chill, blustery weather to watch the Queen Mother's arrival at Christ Church cathedral. They got a strained physical outgide — the cathedral was already filled—during the 75-minute service, but only another glimpse of her. As she drove away, eight choir boys, angelic lyres flying in the wind, closed down the street to get another peek through the car window.

Today, the third full day of her visit, the Queen Mother goes to Lake Que., to be received at city hall by Mayor Alexis Caron.

Weather permitting, she was to drive up the Gatineau valley north of the city. She also is to visit the National Gallery, attend a small reception given by Prime Minister and Mrs. New Zealand and have dinner with Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent at the latter's minister's home.

Addressing some 200 senators and commons members after a roast-pheasant-and-champagne luncheon in the Government House, Saturday, the Queen Mother expressed the hope that she soon will see more of Canadians.

She spoke of the happy children she saw on her tour Friday with the late King George VI and of them fatherless as a result of the tragedy.

of children since "born into the bright future" of this country. Then she said:

"I hope that the Queen will have many opportunities to witness their happiness also."

That evening, she was piped into the state dinner at Government House by three pipers of the Black Watch Regiment, of which she is colonel-in-chief. Ninety guests sat down with her.

Later, they and another 350 guests were presented to Her Majesty and for an hour she chatted with several of them in the main ballroom. She was during these animated conversations that she said she hopes this visit will not be her last to Canada.

For the dinner and reception, the Queen Mother wore a crinoline dress of white lace worked with silver thread and iridescent beads, diamond-tipped tiara, necklace, bracelets and earrings, Garter blue sash and star and rosettes bearing the likenesses of the Queen and King George.

Accompanied by Governor-General Vincent Massey, the Queen Mother left Government House at 11:15 p.m. after a busy day which had included the placing of a wreath on the national war memorial, unveiled by her husband in 1939. She included in the afternoon a visit with many war veterans and shook hands with a handless vet by deftly grasping his hook.

She said in her address at the parliamentary luncheon that Canada is a living example of unity in diversity.

Her 22-course Sunday luncheon was given for the Queen Mother by Sir Archibald Nye, British high commissioner, and Lady Nye. On her arrival at Ottawa airport, at the lady's residence, the Queen Mother chatted with members of the staff and their families.

A quiet afternoon and evening followed at Government House. At dinner, the Queen Mother saw the British film, "Young Lovers."

Many Young Deer Killed

GRAVENHURST (CP)—A check of deer killed from camps north of here is helping the Ontario department of lands and forests to establish a mortality chart of the deer population.

Visitors are stopped at a special highway station during the weekend and a check was made of the teeth of the deer to determine their age. Several such stations have been set up.

There appears to be an abundance of young animals this year, indicating a healthy herd.

Chinese Reds Use PT Boats To Sink Warship

Inject Dangerous New Element in Civil War

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Red China used torpedo boats for the first time in battle Sunday to sink the 1,900-ton Nationalist destroyer escort Taiping.

This new development in the long civil war was viewed generally by the Nationalists as a stark warning of combat-related measures to come.

The Taiping, formerly the USS Wasp, was until transferred to the Nationalists in 1946, was attacked at 1:45 a.m. Sunday by four swift torpedo boats, which the Nationalists said were Russian-built.

The warship, with 180 men aboard, was convoying a motorized junk from the Tachen islands, 20 miles off the coast of Chekiang province and 215 miles north of Formosa, to nearby Yushan island.

The first torpedo missed, but a later one hit the Taiping amidships well below the waterline, Chinese press reports said.

FOUGHT RUNNING BATTLE

Even so, the ship appears to have conducted a running battle until six hours later when she went down 13 miles out of a Tachen island port. Chinese Red and Nationalist press reports said she sank "with guns blazing."

Rescue efforts continued today for five officers and 23 men still missing. Three officers and seven of the Taibo, picked up by the rest of the Taiping crew, including the captain.

One of the rescued died, she many others were wounded, the Nationalists said.

Nationalist reaction was strong. Chungking's Central Daily News described the attack as "another Communist outrage instigated by Russians."

"It is only a prelude to an offensive against Formosa, the newspaper said.

The Hsin Sheng Pao, which speaks for the provincial government of Formosa, urged the Nationalists to start a "defensive offensive" against the Reds.

Shen Chang-Huan, acting Nationalist foreign minister, said the sinking served as a warning to those who persist in believing that the Chinese Reds want peace and do not intend to force the issue.

Most non-Chinese quarters in Taipeh, however, still doubt whether the Reds would at present violate the defence zone which the U.S. 7th Fleet is committed to defend.

Chinese Reds Use Electrified Field Makes Cows Caper

HENRHYD, Wales (AP)— The mystery of the dancing cows in this North Wales hamlet was solved today.

For days the cows have been cutting all kinds of capers while out in the pastures. Some superstitious villagers even feared they were possessed by evil spirits.

Back in the barn for milking, the animals became perfectly normal.

Bill Prowse's curiosity led him into the field with a sheepdog. They went only a short way when the dog yelped and ran off howling. A cow fell down. Bill went over and pulled the cow's tail and got a shock.

Investigation showed that an electric light pole had short-circuited the swampy field, electrifying it up to 3,000 volts.

Britain Seeks Pacific Isle To Test Novel Type H-Bomb

Britain Will Not Allow Red Plan To Delay Pacts

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Eden said today Britain will push for ratification of the agreement to rearm West Germany and will not be deflected by a Russian proposal for a four-power conference.

He told the House of Commons the Moscow note of two days ago was "openly and explicitly directed against the ratification" of the Paris agreements that provide for giving arms to the West Germans and integrating them into the Western defence system.

"It is the government's view that our first, task is to ratify these agreements and put them into force. We must not let ourselves be deflected."

MEETING PROPOSED

The Russians proposed that 22 European nations and the United States be invited to confer in Paris or Moscow Nov. 29 on "the creation of a system of collective security in Europe." Communist China would be an observer.

The Russian note, phrased in a tone of urgency, was seen in Western capitals as another effort to stop the ratification of the Paris agreements. It stated that if West Germany is rearmed Russia and her allies "will be compelled to take some measures for ensuring their security."

In his statement to the House of Commons Eden said:

"Our first duty is to consult with our allies and other interested powers. Subject to such consultation my preliminary view is that the Soviet note is what it contains no proposals which have not been put forward before, except the proposal of the date of Nov. 29 for a general European conference."

Report Two Ships Are in Distress In St. Lawrence

HALIFAX (CP) — Freezing 50-mile-an-hour gales whistled up the Canadian Atlantic seaboard today and two ships were reported disabled. One reported two of her crew members washed overboard.

The seven surviving seamen on a small unidentified schooner awash off Anticosti island at the mouth of the St. Lawrence river said they were "tossed about like time" at the mercy of the fitful wind. The first appeal for aid did not say how their companions were lost.

Meanwhile, the 7,111-ton Panamanian freighter Stork reported her decks had cracked under a battering from huge gales and was decided shipping near her Gulf of St. Lawrence destination to stand by in the event that it became necessary to abandon ship. Vessels her size usually have a crew of 28 or 30 men.

Forced to Dynamite Six-Lane Bridge Across Humber Before It Is Used

TORONTO (CP)—M. A. Elson, Ontario deputy minister of highways, said today a six-lane bridge over the Humber river will be demolished without ever being used. He said the bridge was weakened by floods last month and engineers have decided to replace it with a longer one.

Dynamiting of the $200,000 span will start Tuesday. Highways department investigators will watch to find out why it collapsed.

W. A. Clark, the department's chief engineer, said there was no indication of faulty or inferior construction.

The bridge is on Highway 401, the new by-pass highway north of Toronto.

To prevent another washout, the new bridge approaches will be farther from the river than the road they replace. It is expected to cost more than the former one because of added safety.

Mr. Clark said the bridge which buckled was built the previously-known flood level of the Humber. However, the flow last month is well above the peak flood of the Humber, which occurred after the bridge was built.

"No bridge is built for peak flood," Mr. Elson said. "The department would be bankrupt doing that. Just can't build for a once-in-a-hundred-years flood."

Area residents said the bridge was the only one damaged beyond repair by the flood.

Wall Up Entrances of Mine After Blasts Take 16 Lives

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Beaten by deadly gas in their attempts to rescue 15 miners, or recover their bodies, sombre mining men Sunday night completed their grim task of walling up entrances of mine No. 9.

One man is dead. Fifteen are entombed in the mine of dead.

The Jamison Coal Co. pit was rocked by a violent explosion Saturday. A second Saturday night sent flames roaring more than 100 feet into the air from the ventilation shaft.

A third, a sort of poof, shook the tiny valley holding the mine about 5 o'clock Sunday evening.

The job of sealing it, in an effort to cut off the flow of air which is another fire burning deep underground, was completed late Sunday night. It would be May or opened until tests show the air inside is safe enough for rescue crews to enter.

Also closed today was James Fork elementary school, only a few hundred yards from the valley from the mine entrance. Officials feared another explosion or the gas-filled mine or escaping gas might endanger the children, many

Firemen Release Child Caught In Rungs of Chair

All calls for the fire department are not fire alarms.

Firemen get called for a wide variety of reasons, ranging all the way from children being locked in bathrooms to getting cats out of trees. And usually the runs for causes other than fires all end happily.

Such was the case this morning when they received a frantic call from a young Foxboro Road mother, stating that her small son had his head caught in the rungs of a chair and would firemen please come and get him out.

The call was answered by firemen with their customary promptness and the mission was accomplished without injury either to the boy or to the chair.

Guelph Furrier Robbed

GUELPH (CP)—Thieves made a big haul in two separate break-ins in the Guelph district during the weekend.

Forcing entrance to the store of Kenneth Havern, Guelph furrier, they carted away fur coats valued at more than $5,000.

At the Ontario Co-Operative Creamery in nearby Fergus a safe was blown and $2,000 in cash and cheques taken.

Provincial police believe the same gang was responsible for both thefts.

Smart Detective Work Ends In Youth's Arrest

Culminating over two weeks' investigation on the part of Ontario Provincial Police Corporal Harry Barker, a 16-year-old Toronto youth, Robert William Hutton, was arrested in the Queen City, Sunday, and charged with leaving the scene of an accident on No. 2 highway on October 28th.

Cpl. Barker and O.P.P. Constable Gaudaur returned the youth from Toronto, where he will appear in magistrate's police court on Thursday.

Hutton has been charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident, two weeks ago when Douglas Manastyr, - age 10, was struck down, while riding his bicycle near his home at Bayside. The lad was carried over 200 feet on the front of the car, before rolling off into the ditch. Fortunately the boy escaped serious injury.

The licence number of the auto was noted by a truck driver and provincial police traced the vehicle to a Syracuse, N.Y., car rental agency. The car was found abandoned in Toronto. It is believed Hutton made the trip there using a stolen driver's licence as identification.

During the investigation Cpl. Barker made two trips to Syracuse and one to Toronto. Sunday's trip ending in the arrest of Hutton as he returned to the Queen City from the south.

The youth is a parole violator from the Brampton training school and is wanted in the Toronto area in connection with the passing of bogus cheques.

TRENTON, Ont. (CP)—Sixteen-year-old Bob Mowbray says she welcome mat is all over Europe for the Canadian hitchhiker.

He recently returned home from a 10,000-mile tour of the continent.

His expedition took him through England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Holland, Belgium and Germany.

He claimed he teamed up with his cousin, Alec Easson, and the two boys crossed the Channel and got their thumbs working.

Bob and Alec ate fruit during the trip to save money but they could get a meal at the youth hostels for about 40 cents," he said.

"And once they saw the Canadian flag on our jeep they just couldn't do enough for us in any of the countries we visited."

quaint town of Williamsburg, Virginia. The town has been restored in the manner of the colonial days of the British Empire and it is from here that she will take her departure and fly to Canada.

Doubtless much publicity has been given in Canada to many of the details of the visit of the Queen Mother. From all accounts one reads locally it has been a highly successful visit. There is a spot in the hearts of many Americans for this representative of royalty whose simple charm and affability and unstudied interest in all that is rare in these hectic times.

Not only because she is of regal birth, but because she is an irresistibly charming person will the memory of this incident be treasured by all who were fortunate enough to be in the presence.

Deer Hunters State Weather Much Too Warm

TRENTON (Special) — Deer hunters from Trenton complain about the unseasonable weather. They find that the deer hide in the swamps and that few use runways, while the hunting season is late in starting.

A Trenton party with a Toronto member shooting with them, known as the Otter Lake Hunt Club, has returned from a camp north of Whitney on the edge of Algonquin Park. They brought back three bucks and one doe and tales hard to believe.

Members of the party, for the first time since the club was organized about seven years ago, found house flies bothering them in their cabin. One of them saw a moth in the wing, unusual for this time of year, and another discovered a bumble bee. He observed a red-breasted robin flying about as if it fully intended to stay the winter. A number of robins were seen in natural surroundings that amazed the party afterwards.

Al Boyer, who killed a 250-pound buck with a single shot, noticed considerable flooding of beaver meadows since the advent of the amphibious beaver. Meadows have been replaced by lakes and the travelled roads inundated. Mr. Auger explains that the low price of furs has not caused the trappers to stop trapping them. The result is an increase in the beaver population.

MOOSE INCREASE

Club members saw signs that bears were present, but no bruins were sighted. Numerous tracks indicated that the moose has increased in numbers in this district since last hunting season.

Hunter Auger saw the wreckage Hurricane Hazel left in its path. He was amazed at the number of trees that had been torn up by that violent storm.

Members of the Otter Lake Hunt Club include— Bill House, Bill Bonter, Bob Bonter, Ken Shuil (Toronto), George Brown, Bob Critsley and Len Barr.

SAME STORY AT GUNTER

Another Trenton hunting party (Len Barr, Ken Bonter and Norman Barr) found similar conditions existing in Gunter way in North Elzevir. Len Barr bagged a nine point buck, his older brother and son Bonter and Austin Scott settled for a spike horned buck. In this party were: Len Barr, Don Barr, Norman Barr, Henry Barr, Alfred Barr, Harry Bush, Austin Scott and Floyd Burke.

It was reported that several unsuccessful attention parties decided to remain in camp for a few days, waiting to get venison to bring home.

One disgruntled hunter commented: "It's going to be hard to take pictures with a camera but it soothes satisfy my stomach than my eyes."

Overheated Pipes Cause of Blaze

TRENTON (Special) — Overheated stovepipes set fire to a shed that spread into a partition and resulted in $400 damage to Russ McDonald's home, 22 George street, here on Saturday.

Firemen laid one line of hose and used two booster lines to fight the flames. When the fire appeared to be out of control furnishings on the ground floor were moved to the garden on the lawn. Some clothing and household effects upstairs were burned.

Firemen answered a call earlier on Saturday to Larry Whitley's home on Wragge street. A flooded oil burner gave cause for alarm. Firemen stood by until the unit burned normally again.

Small Child Has Close Escape

TRENTON (Special) — Six-year-old Robert Turner was back at his desk at College Street school this morning. His arm is still stiff otherwise he has recovered completely from a close call on Friday.

On his way home at noon Friday young Turner was chased by two other boys. Hyram east on Dundas street, he ran behind a car waiting at the Byron and Dundas street intersection and was hit by a taxi as he attempted to cross the road.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Turner, 50 Sidney street, suffered a bump on the head, bruised right arm and hip. He was treated by Dr. Gordon Johnston.

The taxi was driven by Percy J. Merrill of Marmora street.

During the week-end John Utting and his six-year-old daughter Linda, were pushed over by a car as they crossed Dundas street at the Front street stop light. They were not injured.

Chance of Getting Deer This Year Generally Below That of 1953

The only two weeks of the year when the Canadian male refuses an opportunity to pass the buck draws to a close this week.

With deer hunters still prodding the brush for another six days the chances are now 20 to 1 results of the past week still are rather inconclusive in relation to last year's bags.

This is only natural since hunting of any description, is strictly a game of chance. However the chance of game this year does appear to be generally below that of 1953.

Bags seem to be smaller some districts and hunters say. One reason advanced for this is the increase in hunters this year.

Licences issued in Belleville for the 1954 season were reported by the distributor to be "way up", although as yet he has not checked the number of permits issued and is unable to give a comparative tally.

Provincial Lands and Forests official at Tweed, estimates the number of deer hunters has increased possibly 60 per cent in the last ten years. Also some hunters claim the weather conditions have not been entirely suitable for deer-hunting, and complain of the lack of snow.

Mr. Sheppard inspected some areas northeast of here over the week-end. In the Kaladar area he reported "the fruits of the hunt would look about the same as last year," while in the general North Hastings area the kill also compared favorably with the previous season. However in the Deseronto district results were not so good. A recent snowfall in that area had hardened to a crust by the time the season opened, cutting the paws of the hunting hounds thus limiting their usefulness.

GRADUAL REDUCTION

"The Denbigh area is also one of the most sought hunting areas and the deer population probably is being gradually reduced as a result," he said.

"I think they are beginning to decrease there."

A five-man hunting party from this district, which included Bill Williams and Art Generaux, Point Anne, scouring the Denbigh region all last week-end, reported failure to have shot two deer.

Further north in the Wingle-Brudenell district Charles (Ted) Ladouceur, 86 Lewis St., Belleville, went with two others, bagged a couple of bucks during the week.

However on the way out, Mr. Ladouceur said, game wardens checking their bag, told his party they were "a lot luckier than most of the hunters" in the region.

Ald. Bruce Hollowell, probing his region around Millbridge with eight others, reported Saturday they had brought down six deer.

However he had the same complaint as most—too many hunters.

In that district Mr. Spith estimated about "10 hunters for every deer. You have to work for every deer you get."

Clayton Wilson, of the local fire department staff, and a party of five stalking north of Madoc, bagged two on the opening day.

TWELVE GET QUOTA

One of the most satisfactory bags reported thus far comes from Hazen Sinks, Belleville. Hunting with 11 others north of Peterborough, they shot their capacity of 12 deer, including a 150-lb. buck on Friday. Mr. Sinks also reported signs of wolves in the area and said they had even shot a small timber-wolf during their expedition. Herb McCabe of this city and Clarence Thompson of Tweed were the only other local men in the party.

The heaviest buck for sure luck in the hunt is evidenced by a report from the Mayo township district. One night of 16 hunting there, are said to have shot three deer and three bears. In comparison a group of five hunters in the same region shot their capacity of five deer by the o'clock on the first day.

One hunter back from the Mayo area said: "We fired 14 shots 500 yards at one buck. We never even raised a hair on it."

"Of course we saw two deer this year," he said, "but one was the we didn't see any . . . that's better."

Incidentally no serious hunting accidents have been reported from this area, so far.

COUNCIL-MANAGER FORM of MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

This is the first of a series of five articles published by The Belleville Chamber of Commerce following a resolution passed at its last general meeting. This Chamber considers it in the public interest to present to the Citizens of Belleville all the information, both for and against Council-Manager form of civic government, which it has been able to assemble.

It is generally agreed that Municipal Government is becoming increasingly complex. The co-ordinating of the municipal departments is in the hands of elected representatives who may, or may not have the full time to devote to the job that is required today. Such representatives may have pressure brought to bear on them from time to time to have the Department under their jurisdiction carry out a program which they feel is for the best interests of the community.

Good business practice for a corporation demands that they have a general manager to coordinate departments and to make the best use of materials and man power. This would appear to be the most efficient method of administration of a municipal body.

What is the Council-Manager form of Municipal Government? Briefly, it is separation of the policy forming body from the administrative body. Under this system an elected council of five members and a City Manager, heading the administrative group of employees.

MUNICIPAL ACT

All municipalities in Ontario operate under the Municipal Act which gives direction as to what can and cannot be done by elected representatives. It outlines the duties of the various appointive and salaried personnel. A copy of the Municipal Act may be obtained from the Queen's Printer, Toronto at a cost of $2.00 per copy.

COUNCIL-MANAGER PLAN OF CIVIC GOVERNMENT PREPARED BY THE CITIZENS' RESEARCH INSTITUTE OF CANADA

On Canada's West Coast, the City of Niagara Falls, Ont., is introducing the council-manager plan of government. In Ontario, the first-place city, Kitchener, brought in a manager to run its affairs. More recently on the East Coast, Halifax turned to the same plan and is awaiting only the formal nod from the province to complete the change.

Interest in the manager plan is spreading through all parts of the country. The growing complexity of civic operations has caused people to look a bit critically at their municipal machinery and conscientious citizens are asking if appointment of a manager is not the sensible way to try and bring current municipal needs under control. The Institute has had repeated requests for information on the subject and believes that the council - manager plan merits more general study.

The essence of the manager plan is simplicity. The plan is as clean-cut a division as possible between civic policy-making by elected representatives and day-by-day administrative management by appointed qualified officials. Under the plan, administrative authority is centred in the hands of a single appointed executive — the manager — while a small elected council is made fully responsible for legislation and policy-making.

The manager is expected to co-ordinate and supervise the work of the civic departments, to submit the draft estimates and to report as required to the council. The council controls the manager's appointment, sets the pattern of civic operations, authorizes the budget, and sees to it that the manager carries out his duties. The local electorate delegates authority for municipal services to the council as a unit and holds the council alone responsible for performance in line with the wishes of the community.

From experience going back more than thirty years, the Institute is convinced that the manager plan has a great deal to commend it. Like any other constructive innovation, however, it must be well rooted and widely supported to stand a good chance of success. The electors cannot escape their civic responsibilities by setting up this or any other new system. Certainly in the initial stages they must be prepared to pay more attention, not less, to the conduct of municipal affairs. Local citizens should become acquainted with the measures that will lend support to the manager system and be prepared to guard against developments that could sabotage it. Public interest and understanding provide the two guarantees that the manager plan will pay off.

HOW IT BEGAN

Council - manager government was developed in the United States just forty years ago. In those days, local authorities had reached a low point in both efficiency and honesty sufficient to shock any good citizens into action. Reform was in the air. The idea of securing responsible operations by imitating the structure of successful private corporations grew out of two earlier experiments.

In 1901, Galveston, Texas, which had been one of the worst managed cities in the country, put its affairs into the hands of a five-member commission in order to cope with the aftermath of a hurricane-disaster. The commissioners replaced the old city council and also ran the city departments. The improvement exceeded all expectations and, as a result, commission government was adopted by many other American municipalities.

Then in Staunton, Virginia, in 1908 took quite a different line. Introduction of the commission plan could not be readily achieved because of constitutional obstacle. Concequently, it was decided as an alternative, to appoint "a competent and suitable man" as general manager. The man selected was not over a cumbersome two-Chamber council — a situation which was quite unlike anything the Philippoting results in the early days of the city's history persisted and has been considered a model ever since.

The council-manager plan was devised and promoted by the National Municipal League, one of which the late Woodrow Wilson was a member and Richard S. Childs, Secretary. Mr. Childs believed it was far better to entrust responsibility and authority to a single appointed official than to a group of elected representatives. Under his organization's sponsorship, the new system spread to small elected body and an appointed manager — was introduced in 1913 in Dayton, South Carolina. When in 1914 Dayton, Ohio, adopted a council-manager government, the plan was well launched. The National Municipal League, with which the Short Ballot Organization was associated, gave effective help to the plan a year later and has continued this work ever since.

AND NOW IT GREW

From such recent beginnings, the manager plan has spread to municipalities in Canada, Australian Provinces, and to other parts of the world. If Woodrow Wilson were alive today, he could not help but be pleased at the widespread acceptance of the new system. At the end of ten years, there were 400 council-manager municipalities; in twenty there were 425, in thirty years the number had reached 523. The biggest increase has come about in the last two years, bringing the most recent total to 1,013 municipalities under the city-manager plan. Today in United States cities having a population of over 5,000 one city in four is operating under the plan. In Canada, managers are working in 35 of our towns and cities.

BUSINESS PRINCIPLES IN PUBLIC BUSINESS

The similarity of municipal organization under the council-manager plan to the structure of business corporations has always been one of the system's main attractions. Business-like methods are as much needed in civic affairs as anywhere else, and there is little doubt that the introduction of business management into American cities has helped to bring this about. The central control afforded by the council-manager set-up has usually brought co-ordinated management of a city's physical services that was sadly lacking before. It has encouraged a more balanced pattern of spending. And it has served, too, to foster the introduction of civic business in the open. Other improvements which did not grow out of the new system directly, have been inspired by the changeover — such as, better methods of financing. Improved purchasing techniques, more trustworthy personnel policies, and more forthright public relations.

The requirements of operating a city, however, are far from identical with the management problems faced by the average general-manager and board of directors in a private company. We cannot afford to overlook public relations. The experience of (1) The Shareholders, or at any rate the private shareholders, can be counted on to protect to the best of their ability their interests in a private company. But the power of our voice in civic affairs is not measured by the size of our stake in the local community. Consequently, the more responsible citizens are to neglect to vote or, what is much more serious, to maintain a continuing interest in municipal business.

(2) In most companies, the general manager is directing a single purpose operation in which most of the jobs are closely related and well integrated. The chief executive of a city, by contrast, must supervise a number of quite distinctive undertakings and must be sensitive to community objectives that are not always well defined.

CONTROVERSY IS ESSENTIAL

It is curious to note the false importance which many people in democratic countries place on unanimity. In the economic sphere, most people are willing to grant the value of competition. Once we enter the realm of ideas, however, competition, according to many, is suddenly transformed from an aid to efficiency into breeder of chaos. Yet one of the greatest assets of the democratic system is the possibility that the free play of ideas, the open and vigorous expression of differing opinions, can lead to the ultimate choice of the wisest and most efficient policies.

A case in point is the question of the desirability of a "bipartisan" foreign policy—whatever that may be.

The New York Times, in a recent editorial, maintained that "stern international realities have made U.S. foreign policy nearly bipartisan but national."

"Bipartisan," we presume, is used to indicate a foreign policy on the general tenets of which both Republican and Democrats are agreed. The use of the word "national" suggests that the mass of the American people are in agreement with the jointly-held views of their two main political parties.

The congressional elections "the defeat of right wing isolationism is matched by the crushing defeat of such left wing elements as the American Labor Party."

In the sense that the leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties and the great majority of the American people have rejected isolationism on the one hand and appeasement on the other, and have agreed that United States should aim to check Communist expansion by co-operating with other nations, the foreign policy of the U.S. may be said to be both "bipartisan" and "national."

There is a vast difference, however, between an agreement on objectives and an agreement on methods to be used in attaining these objectives. Yet any real foreign policy is concerned with methods as much as with objectives. Is there any unanimity with respect to methods?

We doubt it. And, let us add, if such unanimity exists, it seems to us to be most undesirable.

If the leaders of both political parties in the United States have identical ideas on the best methods to be followed in achieving the objectives of the nation's foreign policy, then they must indeed be suffering from a paucity of ideas. The international situation is not simple but complex and this complexity makes it inevitable that bright minds will not all discern in it the same features and shades. It is only as the result of the expression of differing opinions, resulting from differing appraisals of the problems involved, that the nation can hope to build a truly sound and effective foreign policy.

Therefore, as we said earlier, if United States foreign policy is truly bipartisan and national, if there exists in the nation only one view of the methods to be followed in achieving objectives on which there is substantial agreement, the situation is a dangerous one. For events may show that the methods being followed are in error. If, then, there are no known alternatives, the nation faces a certain defeat in the realm of foreign policy.

Fortunately there are clear signs that the so-called bipartisan foreign policy is not bipartisan at all, as far as methods go. It is true that many Democrats support the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy, but it is also true that a number of prominent Republicans publicly indict the domestic field, too, and that Republicans have joined other Democrats to oppose these policies. In the United States there does not exist the same sharp, unchanging cleavage between Government and Opposition as in general in countries like Canada and Britain, living under the parliamentary system of ministerial responsibility, with the life of the government department depending on it always retaining the support of the majority of the elected representatives of the people. This situation, however, should not be interpreted as indicating any real unanimity of opinion.

That no such unanimity exists has been quite clearly indicated on several occasions in the comparatively recent past, when what Senator Dulles typified as "massive retaliation" was heatedly attacked and defended. That the leaders of the Democratic party are not continually assailing the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy does not mean that they always agree with it. Carping criticism can only be harmful. If Democratic leaders may have doubts as to the wisdom of some moves, they have the right, indeed the duty, to nurse these doubts in silence if they believe that open criticism at the moment would be inimical to the national interest.

It is doubtful whether the foreign policy of the United States is any more bipartisan than that of Canada and of Britain. In both these nations vigorous dissent is frequently voiced — and opposition leaders also support the government in times of crisis when they agree with the principles advocated by the party in power. That is the way of the statesman and in following it—and not by seeking any thought-killing unanimity—lies the road to an effective, realistic and vigorous foreign policy.

FAMILY WEATHER MAN

Our family weather prophet used He scorned the city's weather man.
His rheumatism to predict,
The weather due he said he knew
From certain ills that men afflict.

He had no need for maps or charts
Or telegrams and telephones.
He'd easily say: "'Twill rain today.
I know it from my aching bones."

He thought he had a surer way:
"No rain will fall," he'd tell us all,
"I'm feeling pretty well today."

Grandpa was very often right,
But still uncertain I must say.
When you are old, is rain foretold
By rheumatism's twinge of pain?

Shoe Shiners Must Graduate

(Edmonton Journal)

American schools and colleges have long been criticized for their tendency to offer courses and degrees in outlandish subjects; one scholar is reported to have received a Ph.D. for a thesis on "Seven Ways of Washing Dishes." Now, the South American republic of Venezuela has gone the Americans one better.

According to the Spanish newspaper Madrid, the Venezuelan government has issued a decree forbidding anyone to engage in the profession of shining shoes without certificate of proficiency. Whereupon a special school of shoeshining has been set up to confer this certificate. Venezuelans, it seems, like their shoes shiny, and propose to eliminate any possibility of an amateur job.

This raises the interesting question of what would happen to an untrained citizen who tried to economize by polishing his own footwear. Possibly he would be in trouble for practising surgery without a licence.

A Double Wonder

(The Farmer's Advocate)

If after all this, Marilyn Bell can settled down to study chemistry and algebra, she will prove herself to be a double wonder.

Relax Girls, More Men Now

(New Glasgow News)

During the past five decades, the gals have been taking some merciless ribbing. The largest "available" age group, 15 to 24 years, showed fewer than 100 males for every 100 females. And comedians, dames and others seldom let them forget it.

Now the shoe is on the other foot. According to recent figures, the ratio now is reversed. And for every 100 girls there are 2.3 extra boys.

But before they start gloating too much, there is something the ladies should know.

Since men outlive their menfolk, the ratio including all age groups will show a shortage of men. And the experts say it will stay that way for many more years to come.

Chicken Mitt Long Needed

(Minneapolis Tribune)

A new day is dawning for the fried chicken eater, which means about everyone. A restaurant in Montreal, Canada, supplied customers with plastic mittens the other day so they could handle drumsticks the way they should be handled—and there wasn't a greasy finger in the place.

Here is something that mankind has been waiting for, and we predict that the chicken mitt ten will spread across the land. We are puzzled that it has been so long in coming, considering the need, but now that it is here, the smiles we have felt for the men of science because of their procrastination is forgotten.

They have come up with an invention comparable in importance to the knife and fork. The trencherman should find it a godsend. Not only can he use it as a cockerel clutcher, it will be equally handy in the sweet corn department.

Good Example

A rash of Marilyn Bells bobs can be expected any day. Even teen-agers could choose a worse idol than the youthful wholesome-looking darling of the lake,

'Why Don't You Run Yourself?'

(Ottawa Journal)

This is the season when if a man isn't mighty careful, and ready to run like a deer directly from temptation, he is apt to awaken some fine morning and realize with a sinking feeling that he is a candidate for public office.

It can sneak up on a chap, almost without making him aware of it. Suddenly out of the ordinary is going on and in complete innocence of what is afoot, the municipal news, snorts at what seems to him evidence of graft, and something, indignantly he could do better himself. "Why don't you run then?", asks his wife, and he fails to detect a certain note of sarcasm. Then he is planted.

He talks to Uncle Charlie about the inconsistencies of city hall, and Charlie, perhaps not much interested, says "You'd make a good alderman." Aunt Phoebe too looks him over, tells him she would be very proud of him, and by the time word of the editorial togas that members of council wear. And presently he is hinting mysteriously to his neighbor that they meet over a game of bridge, that what the council really needs is some new blood and there are things he could tell except that his lips are sealed.

Bill, not being a donkey, sees how the wind is blowing, and what his little friend Peter jumps into it yourself," he says as he doubles four hearts, and thus fuel is added to the fire. In the last hour before our hero is saying openly to his friends that he thinks almost anyone who will listen, that he is being pressed to stand for council, that he has decided he had a large and influential delegation and that he is ready to be a candidate, and that as a good citizen he must be ready to put his duty and his public leisure to serve the public.

By the time the day is well booked and somehow word gets to the newspapers about this sterling development, it is the seventeenth ward. A public figure is born, a career is launched, and little never again can be quite what it was in that household. Ambition has taken root. An alderman, controller, mayor, M.L.A., M.P., Hon., Rt. Hon. man! Who knows where this thing will lead! And all because his wife said, in the tone wives use, "Why don't you run yourself?"

TODAY'S TALK

GREENFIELD VILLAGE

The late Henry Ford had a most interesting hobby, that of collecting and preserving of much that has gone into the making of America. In Greenfield Village at Dearborn, Michigan, the tradition of America is kept alive. Here may be seen examples of nearly everything that went into the life of early Americans—here also are the homes of many of the great, restored to their original state.

The Mammoth Ford Museum is interesting, but we would take a volume even to give a check list of all that is there. Here are drawn carriages roll through the village past homes of noted Americans, some of them birthplaces. One of the buildings, Edison's original laboratory, is restored so perfectly that Edison upon visiting it remarked: "Henry has even imported the red clay!"

The first car Mr. Ford built in Detroit is here, early bicycles, sailmish shops, and the workshop of the Wright brothers, the Lincoln Court House, homes of Luther Burbank, Noah Webster, Edison, and the Wayside Inn, made famous and arranged examples of a grocery store, harness shop, barber shop, and a country store, and another that takes one back a hundred years ago, preserving its atmosphere.

I recently was told that Greenfield Village attracts more visitors during the season than many of the great cities. Figures cited on ten being a Detroiter, 623,269 people visited the village, more than 420,000,000 was spent in its restoration. Mr. Ford once told me he had spent a like amount on Greenfield Village.

All in all, this Greenfield Village is one of the most interesting, useful, and conservative projects—examples of what early America was that can be seen anywhere. To visit it is an unforgettable experience.

Tragedy Of Success

(Montreal Gazette)

A man who has attained the highest peak that fame alone can may go. Having achieved his utmost ambition, life must present a series of disappointments and anti-climaxes.

Not everyone literally achieves the highest peak. But one who has is Norkay Tensing. As the Sherpa guide, he accompanied Sir Edmund Hillary on his climb to the top of Mount Everest. Since it was a rather devastating victory.

He now knows the inner loneliness of the man whose great ambition is now behind him.

Take another man that he is today appeared recently in the English weekly, Everybody's Magazine. He is now a man who cannot adjust himself to his success. He has been married twice since he won his fame, he is still restless.

Often he turns to his first little home, where he lived with his wife and his children. Children were born, "I was happy there," he says. "It was a good life."

But now it is lonely, even among his own people. He is not now what he once was, in Sherpa tradition. He is a man with his own place in the community. He owns a home, and Sherpas, but he is not one of them any more. He has gone beyond them in experience and in many ways left them.

He cannot enter into other worlds. He toured the principal cities of England and Europe. He met the famous. His picture appeared under his name. Monarchs, princes, and all came his way. But if he is lonely among his own people, he cannot be otherwise than a stranger in strange lands.

This is a man who often says: "All my life, I wanted to climb Everest."

But he is speaking now less of an ambition achieved than of an ambition that has at last come true. It was fulfilled. At the summit of Mount Everest he became both the writer and unappealing.

Perhaps it is a good thing for everyone to have something still ahead.

Atom Experts Hit Spinach

(Christian Science Monitor)

It's just as Johnny suspected—Superman and other atomic-age heroes may have got their way without eating spinach. And the strongest argument Johnny is likely to face on this subject is that, er, well, probably a little spinach would not have done the supermen any harm.

This is the sort of thing that comes from dealing casually with atoms. It produces not only a military, political, and industrial revolution. It encourages revolution at the family dining table. Johnny now gets no less an authority than the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission to the effect that arguments about spinach being so good for one are—well, "spinach."

As a matter of fact, Admiral Strauss has said that tests conducted with isotopes were inconclusive—but that will be enough for Johnny's dad and other unwilling eaters, not necessarily in a battle with well-developed spinach prejudices.

Food industry chemists have come to the defense of spinach, which seems like most things in human existence, to have its good points along with the others. But the fact remains that the dietary atom so far has not made daily living any simpler either for the housewife or the statesman who heads a government or for that unsung—and often unstrung—human who is between peace and common sense at the same time at the family board.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

HOW DO YOU BREATHE?

Dr. Brady

Breathing, like the circulation (beating of the heart), digestion and other vital functions, is automatic; and hence its control or regulation of the other vital functions, is left to nature. I mean to say that the use or less attention one pays to breathing, pulse rate, blood pressure, digestion, etc., is the better for health.

Pulse counters, chest counters, food fussers, amylophobes (persons who imagine they can't digest starches), poor geeks who take "internal baths" and so sustain their "mucus-forming" capacity — what they need is a swift K.O. elementary instruction in physiology and hygiene.

Breathing, unlike the beating of the heart, is subject to temporary interference of the will. One can breathe slower or faster, shallower or deeper, or even stop breathing for a minute or more (as in underwater fishing) but as soon as one's attention is diverted autonomic regulation takes over.

I have described the manifestations of between deficit or anoxia—such as many persons suffer nowadays from exposure to atmospheres polluted with carbon monoxide, as in a smoke-filled room, a garage or adjacent office or apartment, or in an unventilated room heated by a fuel-burning stove without connection to stovepipe or chimney.

Atomic Energy Is Not Dangerous

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP

Princeton, N.J., Nov. 15 — Despite the widespread fear of atomic energy, the majority of Americans do not believe that the peaceful use of atomic energy is dangerous.

Asked: "Do you think the peaceful use of atomic energy is dangerous?" 39% of those interviewed in a recent survey said "Yes," 61% said "No."

Those who are most likely to say that the peaceful use of atomic energy is dangerous are women, people with little education, and those living in the Pacific Coast states.

Those who are most likely to say that the peaceful use of atomic energy is not dangerous are men, people with college education, and those living in the Middle Atlantic states.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Don't look now, but they are putting zippers on chesterfield cushions. It seems that after a lady has a certain weight, she becomes conscious of the fact that when she plumps down on the outside sides of the cushions sprig up most impolitely, calling attention to her lack of avoirdupois. In the past, it has been necessary for the unfortunate members of the fair sex to aim rather skilfully when they sit down on a chesterfield. To avoid making the cushions bend or bulge up on their edges and corners, a thin sheet of steel, called fashion, a lady has to stalk a chesterfield, aim square on and sit on a cushion and pin the blame thing down solidly.

But now it is possible to get a chesterfield with zippers discreetly hidden between the cushions so that they can be zipped together, making what is to all intents and purposes, a single cushion. By this deception, even the largest lady can throw themselves down plump to a chesterfield with that old, gay insouciance they had almost forgotten.

This is no small thing. If the furniture industry has made this first discreet move in the interests of the larger ladies, I salute it as a turning p o i n t in history. Perhaps, maybe for centuries to come, not only industry but art itself may be affected for, once the expanded size fourteen or size sixteen. By the time a girl got up to size forty, she has practically ignored not only by artists, sculptors and painters, but the fashion trade seems to have assumed that ladies of that size no longer were interested in fashion. Nothing could be further from the truth. I would say, off hand, that a person of those proportions increases by geometric progression with the passing years. Instead of how round she gets, her interest in clothes is to be figured at the square of the age.

Maybe this isn't true of all size ladies of course, but it is certainly true of the size forty and a half.

And what goes into the clothes for the forties and up? Just what is left over when the sorrowful and wise have used up all the materials they want. The zippers of the chesterfield manufacturers have a zip in the right direction. Maybe, then, the less fragile girls will now take hope.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HOW ABOUT YOUR RELIGION?

The difference between true religion and false religion is the difference between the internal and the external. True religion is internal; false religion is external. True religion is "in"; false religion is "on."

We can see this easily when we look at the religion of primitive peoples. We observe their idolatry and animism and reconcile them to nothing but superstitious practices.

But many moderns living amid civilization also have a religion which is "on" instead of "in." There is a type of religion which people put on every Sunday morning and take off as soon as they get home from church. There is another type of religion which people keep in the attics or set of bureau drawers, inherited from their forebears or themselves learned by rote and these beliefs have not the slightest connection with the way such people behave day by day.

There is a vast machine made up of writers, preachers and others employed continuously by a crew of ecclesiastic mechanics. Some of this is good for the Church, but the real Church lives in the quiet hearts of humble men and women who have grasped the essentials of the faith and pledged themselves to it on the basis of these essentials. For these people, religion is "in" not "on."

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:

EXTRA MONEY—would it help you RIGHT NOW?

This is the time of the month when bills come in bunches. Our own experience is that the postman occasionally brings a little money, too . . . but there just isn't enough in the pay envelope to cover every bill. If you are in the same fix, then . . . how would you like to get yours cleared away? Well, we can with a Niagara loan. We've a choice of loan plans at Niagara and many people can borrow up to $1500. Payment plans, up to 24 months, give you time to get back on your feet. Your family is protected because your loan is covered by a life-insurance policy, that costs you not one penny extra. But that's not the only plus you get at Niagara for, if you compare, you'll find that on many amounts our rates are lower. A Niagara loan is a clean-cut way of looking after too many bills instead of just worrying about them. If a Niagara loan would help you get your budget back in shape . . . just drop in or call.

Vancouver Youth Held for Slaying Of Longshoreman

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 20-year-old youth was under charge of murder today for the slaying of his girl friend's father.

Robert Alexander Woolley was arrested and charged Saturday night, a few hours after 39-year-old longshoreman John Tonick was shot and killed in his east end Vancouver home.

Police said the shooting followed an argument between Tonick and the youth, who had called at the longshoreman's bungalow home to see Tonick's 18-year-old daughter, Patricia.

The slaying, third in Vancouver in two months, came as police announced the seizure of one of the largest narcotics caches in Canadian history in their continued drive against the illicit drug traffic blamed for much of the city's mounting crime wave.

Police, reconstructing the latest shooting, said Tonick, his teenage son and two smaller children were at home watching a television program when the youth arrived. Patricia and her mother were visiting friends at the time.

Police said an argument followed and the youth was ordered from the home.

Police said Tonick was apparently standing in the hallway of his home when the shooting started. The first shots struck him in the body, and as he staggered back into the living room, another shot struck him in the head. The youth was shot at the house when police, summoned by one of the children, arrived. He was arrested later at his home.

Hits Duplication Of St. Lawrence Seaway Canals

DETROIT (CP)—Dr. N. R. Danielian, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Association, said today if any part of the St. Lawrence seaway needs to be duplicated it is the Welland canal.

He told the Detroit Economic Club luncheon that duplication of locks and canals up the Canadian side of the international rapids, proposed by Canada Aug. 17, was an "unnecessary duplication of facilities to protect themselves."

He added: "I cannot conceive of any combination of disagreements which our two nations cannot settle for less than $100,000,000 of unnecessary investment on their part."

The canals at the U. S. side of the rapids are the only part of the seaway that would be under complete control of the United States. Canada proposes to build duplicate locks on the Canadian side.

Dr. Danielian proposed Canada consider duplicationof locks at the Welland canal, which is conceded to be a bottleneck, instead of duplicating the rapids' facilities.

"What good will it do Windsor, Sarnia, Port Arthur, Fort William and Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit and all the other ports of the upper lakes," he said, "if the ships that come through there will be held back by the inadequacy of the single locks at Welland?"

"If duplication of any locks is considered, the Welland canal has first claim. In this matter, only the Canadian government can take the initiative."

Dr. Danielian's remarks were contained in the text of a speech issued before delivery.

TYPHOID IN ITALIAN CITY

BENEVENTO, Italy (AP) — A typhoid fever epidemic which started two months ago with an infected water supply was spread to 1,239 persons in this city of 40,000. Most of the cases have been mild, with only three deaths reported.

McCarthy Case Compromise Looks Unlikely

BY JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (A P)— Senator Arthur Watkins (Rep. Utah), chairman of the committee which recommended censure for Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.), was billed for a double performance today as the Senate moved into its second week on the censure issue.

Watkins arranged to appear before McCarthy's Senate investigations sub-committee for quizzing about the case of former Maj. Irving Peress, and maybe other matters on which McCarthy says he was wrongly treated.

Then, at the full Senate session convening later, Watkins said he would reply on the floor to blistering charges that Watkins' alleged bipartisan committee served as the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party.

McCarthy also said of the Watkins group, in a speech which he never delivered but gave to reporters and inserted in the Congressional Record, that the committee had done "the work of the Communist party" and had "imitated Communist methods" in writing its report.

Such attacks apparently were causing rougher going for senators trying to work out a compromise to head off censure. Efforts were under way during the weekend to find a toned-down substitute to which McCarthy and a Senate majority would agree, but Senate leaders said the prospects were not good.

WON'T APOLOGIZE

Also dimming chances for compromise was McCarthy's weekend statement that he had no intention of apologizing for the language he used about a 1951-52 Senate elections sub-committee and its members.

He made the comment at Milwaukee, where he attended a testimonial dinner in his honor.

Many Gifts Mark 30th Anniversary

A most pleasant surprise awaited Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Morgan of West Huntingdon, nee Annie Beatrice Clare, on November 2nd, who were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Morland, when they were called home where 12 guests, relatives, neighbors and friends had assembled to honor them on the occasion of their 30th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Norman Dafoe, MPP, a close friend of the couple, was chairman for an entertaining program, consisting of community singing led by Gladys Clarke with Mrs. Arthur Sherwood presiding at the piano. Mr. Jack Rushnell favored with an electric guitar selection, entitled, "Whatcha Gonna Do Now?" and Miss Enid Coombes gave a reading, "Advice to Her." This was followed by the teen-age girls singing, "Side by Side", with Miss Ruth Morgan at the piano. Gladys Clarke also rendered two selections on the piano accordion, and Floyd Woodcox, two selections on the violin.

ADDRESS READ

Miss Clarke read an address, "This Is Your Life", telling of the couple's childhood, their growing up, the joys and hardships of their married life, their three children, Harry George of Halloway, Elmer Grant of West Huntingdon, Mrs. Tim Skinkle (Aileen Beatrice) of Belleville, Ruth Irene and Roscoe Arthur, at home, and Roy McMurray, who was taken from them on February 11, 1951; of their three grandchildren, Bonnie and Anna Skinkle and Grant Morgan.

Brief addresses, by the chairman, the best man, Clarence Rushnell and the bridesmaid of 30 years ago, Mrs. Alice Coombes, were given, followed by a poem, on "Remembrance Day," by Charlie Morland.

"Happy Birthday," was sung to Mrs. Coombes who was also celebrating her birthday on that day.

Pictures were taken of the bridal party of 30 years ago, after which the numerous gifts were unwrapped, among which was a clock radio from the family, for which the bride and bridegroom graciously voiced their appreciation to the assembled guests for their good wishes, and for the lovely expressions of their esteem.

Refreshments were served including the anniversary cake, which was cut by the honored couple.

The remainder of the evening was spent in music, cards and a social chat.

Many were the good wishes extended to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan for health and happiness and for their 30th anniversary together.

Guests were present from Trenton, Belleville, Stirling, River Valley, Moira, Moneymore, Foxboro, Wallbridge, Madoc Junction, Halloway, and West Huntingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon William Johnson are shown singing the register following their marriage in Bridge Street United Church. The bride is the former Miss Elizabeth Allcorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Allcorn, of Belleville, and the bridegroom the son of Mrs. C. Johnson, of Belleville and the late Mr. Johnson. Middle-Aged Farmwife Called Queen of The Cougar Hunters

By STEPHEN SCOTT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP)—A clear-eyed, middle-aged farmwife is called the queen of the cougar hunters on Vancouver Island.

She is Mrs. Joan Milwarde Yates who has been shooting the big cats for 17 years and her bag now numbers 23.

Shooting is her hobby, but she is also protecting her mountainside farm from marauders. They prey on livestock and have taken heavy toll in many farm clearings.

Sometimes called mountain lions, the cougars seldom attack humans but can be dangerous when wounded. It takes an accurate shot to bring the big cats from the tops of trees they often retire to after being cornered by dogs.

Mrs. Yates hunts with dogs. She has been hunting since a child, starting out from grouse and duck to deer and cougar.

Mrs. Yates, her husband, James and 16-year-old son Douglas, live on the "cougar run"—a circular path followed by cougars each year which starts and ends on the breeding grounds in the centre of Vancouver Island.

Mr. Yates leaves the hunting to his wife and says: "She has such a passion for cougar killing that she will get up in the night and start out with a flashlight. She'll have nothing on but her pyjamas."

She has had some "nasty times" during her hunting career. Once when armed only with a 22-Calibre rifle, she found a cougar ready to pounce on her sheep.

"I called to it and when it turned, I shot it right between the eyes. It reared on its hind legs, foreleps outstretched and and claws bared. Fortunately it dropped—dead."

Cougars are getting scarce on the southern part of the island. A scarcity of game has sent them to new fields.

Mrs. Yates' number one ambition is to hunt in Africa, where she would "like to shoot one of every kind of animal there."

Scotts W.M.S. W.A. Elect New Officers

November W.A. dinner was held at home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sine.

After a bountiful dinner the W.M.S. convened for their meeting. The theme of the worship service was "Discovery and Mission", with the president, Mrs. Farmer giving the call to worship. Mrs. C. Copeland read Psalm selection 714 and Mrs. E. Sine Acts 2:1-4, 46, 47 and Acts 11:26.

A short selection from the book "Bishop Agarish of India," was read, Mrs. K. Faul led in a prayer of thanksgiving for the privileges enjoyed and that the time may speedily come when the peoples of India may share in God's love and power.

INDIA

Mrs. M. Sine took over the chapter in study book "Face to Face With India," on education. With assistance from Mrs. Marion, Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. E. Sine, who showed some of the drawbacks to advancement in this field in India. The greatest difficulty is in the fact that there are 14 major languages in the country and several hundred dialects. Poverty is another great factor. However, India is awakening to the need for education. They are not ignorant only illiterate, and when given a chance will surely make their contribution to bringing in the kingdom. The Christian schools and colleges are doing a big guest good.

Mrs. Farmer gave an insight into the primitive conditions in North India as gleaned from the book "My India."

Women's Activities

HOLLOWAY STREET E.A.

The Holloway Street United Church Evening Auxiliary members held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Doris Pearson, with the president, Noriene Frederick, in charge.

After the business period, the meeting was turned over to Miss Lenore Wilkes and her group.

"A Nation Before God", was the theme of the devotional. Miss Alice Heagman and Miss Betra Best held a discussion on the new study book "The Church in India", inspiring the members as Christians to pray for Divine guidance for those directing affairs in India's present day history.

Reports on India's progress were encouraging.

After the meeting adjourned, refreshments were served by the hostess and a social time was enjoyed.

Annis Dickens Heads College Hill W.A.

The regular meeting of College Hill W.A. was held in the church on Wednesday with a fairly good attendance of members and visitors.

The meeting was opened by the president.

Business discussions followed.

The devotional program, under the leadership of Audrey Flunder, began with the singing of a hymn followed by a scripture reading by Evelyn Ketcheson. Leona Bailey gave an interesting reading on "Spiritual Growth."

The W.A. decided to sponsor a "Baby Band organization" in connection with College Hill church under the leadership of Florence Watson.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The next order of business was the election of officers. Those elected for 1955 are as follows: president, Annis Dickens; vice-president, Alice West; recording secretary, Leona Bailey; corresponding secretary, Audrey Flunder; treasurer, Doris Price; press secretary, Jen Smith; Friendship secretary, Nina Walker; pianist, Gladys Clapp.

PTA Meeting At St. Joseph's

A regular monthly meeting of St. Joseph's Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school auditorium on Thursday evening. The classrooms were open for inspection at 7:30 and the general meeting began at 8 o'clock. Mr. William Meagher presided.

The minutes were read by Miss K. Morrell. Correspondence read by Mrs. C. Hadley included a letter from the federation containing many useful suggestions for activities in the coming months. It is hoped that by use of these ideas PTA meetings will become more interesting and educational for all members.

Mr. Meagher announced the names of the class mothers. These are: Mrs. H. Trepanier, Room 1; Mrs. T. Kelly, Room II; Mrs. G. Williams, Room III; Mrs. D. Casey, Room IV; Mrs. B. Hawson, Room V.

These ladies constitute the social committee with Mrs. H. Trepanier as chairman.

Mrs. G. Ebbley, chairman of the membership committee announced that the attendance prize was won by Mrs. McLaren's class.

A motion was made by Mr. W. Sweet and seconded by Mrs. Carey Braint that this association sponsor a cub pack for this school district. Mr. Sweet answered questions from the floor regarding the program, expenses involved in sponsoring a cub pack. The motion was carried. The cub pack has already begun at the school and boys wishing to join should contact Mr. Sweet.

Mr. F. Maund, chairman of the program committee, with the assistance of Rev. Fr. J. J. Buckley, showed a film entitled "Who Will Teach Your Child." The film contained "tips to parents on how to help select and keep good teachers for our schools. The film was most timely and appreciated by all present. Refreshments were served by the ladies of Room II under the direction of Mrs. Kelly.

New members and visitors are welcome at all Parent-Teacher Association meetings.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE'S EMBARRASSED BY HER BOY FRIEND'S JITTERBUGGING

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My boy friend cannot jitterbug, but he thinks he can, and he is always asking me to jitterbug with him.

I don't want to say anything to him that would hurt him, because I like him very much, but I feel terribly stupid when everybody stops at us as he flings me around the floor like a rag doll.

I would appreciate your advice. — E.

Dear E.:

I suggest that you take your choice of two things you might do.

Or would he make a joke of the whole thing, and play along with your boy friend without getting embarrassed about it. If you just laugh, and look as though you didn't mind a bit when you're jitterbugging with him, you won't feel nearly so self-conscious, and anybody who looks at you will think you're a good sport and having fun.

On the other hand, if you really can't stand it, then I suggest that you tell your friend you don't believe you're doing the dance just right, and how about coming over to the house some night and his of you doing a little practicing. Tell him it makes you feel self-cosious to be out on the floor trying to do a dance you're not quite at home with, and that if you did practice together, and learned how to match your steps, you'd be able to go along with him better.

Try out one or the other of these suggestions and see if it doesn't help solve the problem.

GOOD MANNERS

By HELEN BECKMAN

WHO PAYS FOR THESE HOTEL RESERVATIONS?

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

1. Do out-of-town guests coming to a wedding take it for granted that they are to pay for their own hotel expenses?

2. What bout the bride's attendants—are they expected to pay for their hotelreservations? And what about the groom's attendants?

L.L.

1. The ot-of-town guests coming to a wedding should take it for granted th they are to pay for their own hotel expenses. Unless the bride'sfamily have definitely informed them that they, the bride's fmily, are taking over these expeses—but this is most unusual.

2. The ost of the hotel accommodations or the bridal attendants is the responsibility of the bride's parents. Th hotel reservations for the groom's attendants are paid for by the groom.

THE PROBLEM OF SEPARATED PARENTS OF THE BRIDE

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

My daughter is to be married soon at an 11 o'clock Mass. Our problem is who should give the bride away? My husband and I have been separated for almost four years My daughter seldom sees her father. Must she ask her father to give her away because he is living in the city? Or may she ask her maternal grandfather? Or her father's oldest brother? Or would t be proper for her to ask my brother, who is married but has no children. The bride-to-be prefers my brother of mine, but we want to do the proper thing. — Mothe

It is of course the bride-to-be who must eventually decide this very question for herself. Since apparently she hasn't a devoted relionship with her father, reer himas seldom, I can't think it's necessary for her to ask him to escort hasper the aisle simply because he appens to live in the same city.Also it doesn't seem appropriate for her to ask her father's brothi. Since she prefers to ask your brother, I suggest that she consul with her priest, who is to perform the ceremony, concerning this paeedure.

1954 Christmas Cake Choice

By Mary Moore

The visit of our Queen Mother is of international importance and we Canadian women genuinely love her and wish we knew her triple secret of grace and charm and dignity . . .

. . . but on the Moore home front the big news is A Decision Has Been Made. For nearly a week noue could agree on which Christmas fruit cake be liked the best. A stand had to be taken, for time wng slipping by and your letters were asking me for my recipe for this year. Wouldn't it be fun if I could just pass a plate of the various samples of fruit cake I have here to this Queen Mother and ask her her choice? Aren't my dreams fancy?

However a pretty slick taster name of Big Brother Pete came home and settled the whole matter in three bites. The cake he chose is my choice too—lucky for him—

I carry on as if this were an important matter of state, but it is because I know how much fruit cake ingredients cost, for I've made three 10-lb. cakes this fall, and I do not take lightly the responsibility of my recommendation to you.

Here it is then friends—my selection for

1954 CHRISTMAS FRUIT CAKE

(Rich and medium dark.)

These amounts make a little over 10 lbs. of cake.

One pound each fresh moist chopped citron peel, mixed red and green glace cherries, seeded Valencia raisins, light Sultana raisins, dark Sultana raisins, 1-2 lb. each clean currants, blanched almonds, chopped, best quality pecans, butter, brown sugar, 20-oz. can best quality crushed pineapple, 3 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon each baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon cloves, 8 eggs, 1-2 cup sweet cider or canned apple juice (or if you like a suggestion of orange flavor use orange juice for the liquid). Leave the cherries and pecans whole. You will probably buy the citron chopped small—if not slice or chop it quite small. Be sure the raisins and currants are very clean, if not wash, then dry them thoroughly. Examine the seeded raisins for any lurking seeds. Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Measure out 1 cup of this flour. Have all the fruits (except the pineapple) and the nuts in very large bowl or in clean dishpan, and dredge them with the sifted 1 cup dry ingredients and mix it through them. Cream the butter until it is very light, then beat in the sugar gradually, then beat in the egg yolks. Now add the 20-oz. tin crushed pineapple, alternately with the remaining flour mixture. Add the floured fruits, alternately with the 1-2 cup fruit juice. At this stage the mixture is so heavy I have to get my clean hands into it —it takes about five minutes constant mixing to get this uniform. Now fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Line your pans with three thicknesses of heavy brown paper and butter them. I used an open old-fashioned roasting pan measuring approximately 10x16x3 inches, and filled it a little more than 3-4 full. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. My one large cake took 6 hours—with waterpan in oven throughout, which had to be refilled with water three times. If you take this amount of batter in three pans of same size it will be baked in about three hours—but test your smaller cakes after 2 1-2 hours with toothpick at centre. If it comes out clean cake is baked. Cool cakes in tins. Leave the brown paper on the cakes to store them. Wrap them in triple thickness of wax paper then in heavy towels and store covered. Do not cut for at least three weeks.

I think and hope this recipe will turn out to be one you save to give your daughters.

GET SET TO ROLL EAST

EDMONTON (CP) — Grey cup fever has broken out in Edmonton.

After the Eskimos disposed of Winnipeg Blue Bombers 19-5 in the last game of their best-of-three Western Interprovincial Football Union finals Saturday night, railway officials here made plans for "football special" trains to leave Nov. 27 Grey Cup carnival in Toronto.

Passenger agent F. N. McKenzie of the Canadian National Railways said a special CNR train will leave the Alberta capital Nov. 24. Does Elliott, Canadian Pacific Railway passenger agent, said he plans a CPR special which will leave Edmonton Nov. 23.

All plans are subject to change. Eskimos meet Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the Grey Cup semi-final here next Saturday night. Eskimos are prohibitive favorites to whip the Ontario Rugby Football Union champion, their farm club.

UNLUCKY 13

Saturday, the dark 13th of November, was a day for the superstitious to howl. And howl they did in Montreal, Kingston, and other spots where the gridiron faithful went down to bitter defeat.

The day was the darkest for the supporters of Queen's gallant Golden Gaels who apparently had the game wrapped up in the well-known container when the stubborn Varsity Blues exploded for two touchdowns in the fourth quarter for the needed points and victory.

Nearly 27,000 fans, a record crowd for Canadian intercollegiate football saw the Gaels blow a 9-0 lead after taking advantage of Varsity fumbles. Stunned Queen's supporters saw the advantage go for nothing as the starry Gael's backfield issued in a fumble or two of their own and an interference penalty. And our favorite Queen's backfielder paved the way for the game-winning T.D. with a fumble on his own 34. Varsity tossed two knocked-down passes, then rambled on a long one to the five-yard line. It was good and, the Blue receiver rolled over for the winner.

The victory coupled with the University of Western Ontario Mustangs crushing defeat of McGill by a 43-19 score, created a three-way tie for first place among Queen's, Varsity and Western. It was the first three-way tie for top spot in the colorful history of the Rah-Rah union.

The Blues drew a bye into the final—decided by a toss of a coin earlier in the week and Queen's now meets Mustangs at Kingston next Saturday. The winner meets Varsity the following Saturday—the day of the Grey Cup grid-iron extravaganza.

The day was a dismal one for the Montreal Alouettes, who not only lost the tilt to the Ottawa Rough Riders but may lose the services of Jim Staton, as all-star tackle, for the balance of the season. Staton's knee buckled under him when he was hit by Avatus Stone of the Riders as he hit the line for the winning touchdown.

Hamilton TiCats went through the motions to wrap a 15-7 defeat around the Toronto Argonauts in the final home game of the Big Four schedule, a listless affair with Dick Shatto replacing Nobby Wirkowski at quarter for Argos and accounting for most of the Argos eight fumbles.

ANOTHER TOUGHIE

A big, rugged team from Welland's Notre Dame High School almost duplicated the Varsity last-quarter feat at Albert College Saturday, when they nudged "Flash" Beach's gold-and-black 6-5 with a fourth quarter touchdown. Albert scored a T.D. in the first half, Welland came back with a single in the fourth quarter and hit winning pay dirt in the final minutes of play. Neither touchdown was converted.

It was a "repeat" for both teams and the second COSSA grid title for the Welland "Irish." Their Senior "A" squad defeated Bev Goulding's Peterborough CI Saturday. This team represents COSSA in the Red Feather tournament.

The game Saturday was a clean, hard-fought affair with the Albert line standing up under the heavy charging of their more rugged opponents. Standouts for the gold and black were: Walt Walmsley of Espanola; Ken Haanpaa, of Timmins, and Chuck Benton of Sarnia. Team captain Dave Scott, of Belleville, playing his first game in a month, also turned in a fine performance.

The gold and black were hosts to their conquerors after the game. "The game was one of the best I have seen," commented Coach Beach. "The Welland boys were gentlemen all through."

TAKE THE LEAD

The Cornwall Colts, flashing heavy scoring power, swept into the lead of the Eastern Ontario Hockey League last night with a decisive 10-2 victory over the cellar-dwelling Peterborough Petes. The Colts have won eight of their ten starts and at the moment look like the team to beat in the loop. The Kingston Goodyears flashed surprising strength over the past week and are now ensconced alone in second spot. The Belleville Mecmos bring up third place with eight points, while Clinton, Whitby and Brockville are next with six points each. The luckless Petes are in the cellar with one win as against seven defeats. The lone Petes' victory was registered against the Cornwall Colts.

The Memos are idle until Wednesday night when they trek to Whitby to take on Wren Blair's tough ex-Oshawans and on Friday they entertain the Clinton Comets for the first time. The Comets play in Brockville tomorrow night and can draw up on even terms with the Memos. The standing up to and including Saturday night appears elsewhere on the sports pages.

Sid Smith, Toronto Spark-Plug, Scores Three Over Week-End; Geoffrion's Score String Cut

By The Canadian Press

Bernie Geoffrion was finally stopped on his goal-scoring splurge in the National Hockey League, so up came Sidney Smith as the clutch player of the moment.

Geoffrion, the tough Montreal rightwinger who was riding an amazing streak of a goal a game, was turned back Sunday night as Detroit Red Wings defeated the Montrealers 4-1. Geoffrion didn't get a point but he still is the leading goal scorer with 15 in 16 games.

Smith, veteran leftwinger and consistent 20-goal man with Toronto, caught the 29-year-old native of Toronto scored a total of three goals as the Leafs edged the Red Wings 4-3 in Toronto Saturday and beat the weak Bruins 3-1 in Boston Saturday night.

Smith counted his sixth and seventh goals of the season against Boston to the Leafs' credit and their slim hold on second place, three points behind Montreal and one ahead of the Wings. He won the game for Leafs Saturday — the same as he did last Thursday when Toronto blanked Detroit 1-0.

HAWKS, RANGERS SPLIT

In other games Saturday, Canadiens defeated the Bruins 2-1 at Montreal and Chicago Black Hawks scored a surprise 5-3 triumph over the Rangers at New York. The Rangers pulled a reverse at Chicago Sunday to win a whipping Hawks 5-0.

The busy weekend left Rangers in fourth spot with 13 points, six behind the Wings. Hawks are fifth with eight points, Canadiens, losing victories and two ties in 15 games. Boston is last, one point off the Chicago pace.

Geoffrion, who scored 29 goals last season, counted his fifteenth Saturday with a goal in the second period. Canadiens' game-winning goal fell to Baldy MacKay in the third session to give Canadiens a 2-1 lead. Red Chevrefils scored for Boston late in the final period.

Sunday night in Detroit, Terry Sawchuk easily handled what few shots Goaltender Chicago got to fire away.

A crowd of 13,647 saw Bill Dineen, Vic Stasiuk and Glen Skov score against substitute goalie Claude Evans in the third period to break a 1-1 tie. Johnny Wilson got the other Red Wing goal. Bellveau tallied in the second session to make it 1-1.

PENALTY KILLS WINGS

Smith's game-winning goal Saturday came at the start of the last period when Tony Leswick of the Wings was sitting out a minor penalty.

It was Lumley's second successive shutout over the Wings.

Sid dumped the Bruins Sunday with a goal in each of the second and third periods. Boston had taken a 1-0 lead on Lorne Ferguson's marker in the first but Leafs tied it up as Eric Nesterenko rifled a rebound into the cage when Henry failed to clear fast enough.

Third-period goals by Bill Gadsby and Metro Prystai gave the Hawks their victory Saturday. Gadsby counted on a power play in the second period. Jack McIntyre also tallied twice for the Hawks. Danny Lewicki scored a pair for New York and Andy Bathgate got the other one.

It was strictly a Ranger night in Chicago. Lewicki scored twice in that game, too, 35 seconds apart. His second, at 7:40 of the middle period, put his total to 11 for the season. Bathgate, Nick Mickoski and Edgar Laprade tallied the others.

No games are scheduled until Wednesday, when Canadiens are at Toronto and the Bruins go to New York.

BIG SEVEN

By The Canadian Press

Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion continues to lead the National Hockey League scoring parade, picking up his 15th goal of the season against Boston Saturday. He went scoreless Sunday but his 29 points gives him an edge over teammate Maurice Richard.

Richard was credited with an assist in his tenth of the season, on Geoffrion's Saturday goal. Coupled with his seven goals he has a point total of 17.

Two other Canadiens share fourth place in hockey's big seven. Jean Beliveau had an assist Saturday and scored Canadiens' only goal against Detroit Sunday to give him 15 points on five goals and 10 assists. Kenny Mosdell went scoreless but his previous nine goals and six assists were enough to keep him up with Beliveau.

Tremendous 4th-Quarter Drive Gives Blues Win Over Gaels; Three Tied for Rah-Rah Top

By The Canadian Press

College football fans can put down Varsity Blues as the comeback team in the Senior Intercollegiate Union this year and there'll be no arguments.

The University of Toronto Blues propelled themselves into the college playoffs Saturday with a spine-tingling 11-9 victory over Queen's Golden Gaels before 25,750 hometown fans.

A tremendous fourth - quarter drive, fast becoming a Varsity trademark, gave the Blues two touchdowns and washed out a 9-0 lead the Gaels slowly built up in the first three quarters. The win coupled with the University of Western Ontario Mustangs' 43-19 victory over McGill Redmen at Montreal, set up an unprecedented three-way tie for first place.

Mustangs and the Gaels meet in a special playoff at Varsity Stadium at Toronto Nov. 20 to decide who will go against the Blues in a sudden-death final Nov. 27. Varsity received a bye into the final.

The regular season wound up like this: Queen's had four wins and two losses. Mustangs and Blues each had three wins, two losses, deadlocks and a defeat. Redmen were winless in six games.

The Gaels-Varsity engagement was the big game in the east.

OTTAWA UPSETS ALS

The Big Four union ended its 14-game schedule with little fanfare. There was an upset, though. Ottawa Rough Riders copped their second victory of the season with a 14-13 win over the tough Montreal Alouettes, who were playing many second-stringers. Tiger-Cats closed out the season with a 15-7 victory over Toronto Argonauts at Hamilton.

The Als and TiCats, who finished one-two in the league race, met in Hamilton Wednesday in the first of a two-game, total-point championship series. The second game is scheduled for Montreal Saturday. The winner will represent the East in the Grey Cup classic.

Superior reserve forces carried Varsity to victory. The bench strength showed up the late surge when Varsity overpowered the weary Gaels. The Blues did the same thing Nov. 6 when they tied Western 12-12, with two late-game majors.

The Tricolor held a 7-0 edge at halftime on half Ron Stewart's first-quarter touchdown, converted by Gary Schreider, and a single kicked by Jocko Thompson. Thompson and Schreider added singles in the third quarter before the Blues started to move.

SOPINKA GETS OVER

Halfbacks Al Riva and Johnny Sopinka scored the Varsity markers. Steve Ocesalek converted Sopinka's touchdown. Quarterback Bill Stevenson, who took over from second-stringer Harry Wilson midway in the game, pitched out to Riva at the six-yard line and set up Sopinka with a payoff pass at the two. Sopinka barged past two Queen's players for the score.

That was it. Quarterback Wally Mellow threw a couple of desperation passes in the dying minutes but it wasn't enough.

Gino Fracas led Western's seven-touchdown assault with three majors. He converted all seven.

Quarter Don Getty scored two majors. Bill Britton and Murry Henderson got the others. Rod Kwan kicked a single.

Veteran Lion Quinn, who played his last college game, accounted for the three McGill majors. All came on line smashes. Ken Wright converted two of the touchdowns. Paul Dingle converted the other one and kicked a single.

Edmonton Eskimos Mush Over Blue Bombers For Western Football Title

Kwong, Calgary China Clipper, Sparks Oilers to 10-5 Win; Meet Dutchies in Semi-Final

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos have broken the Western Interprovincial Football Union playoff jinx behind the powerful line plunging of fullback Normie Kwong, the China clipper from Calgary.

Kwong, a bright light in Eskimos' lineup Grey Cup loss, plunged for 133 of Edmonton's 242 yards Saturday night to lead Eskimos to a 10-5 victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the deciding game of the WIFU final.

The victory marked the end of a four-year jinx. Eskimos won the first game 8-3, lost the second 12-6, then came back to take the series. Since the best-of-three series replaced the two-game total-point final five years ago, no team winning the first game had won the round.

Eskimos, who spent most of the game along the ground as quarterback Bernie Faloney sent them winging off the split-T formation, now meet their Southern Ontario Rugby Football Union farm team in Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen — in the Grey Cup semi-final here Nov. 20.

PARKER GETS MAJOR

Jackie Parker, Mississippi State back playing with a chipped knee bone that was the cause of Eskimos' several injuries, plunged through a second-quarter pile-up for the game's only touchdown. The other Edmonton points came on import Charlie Bob Trippi's 35-yard field goal in the final quarter, and Faloney's kick into touch in the first. Dean also converted Parker's major.

Jacobs, who holds the bulk of WIFU passing records, slumped into a disappointing ground attack each time one of his few successful aerials moved Bombers into touchdown position.

When rushing failed, Bombers reverted to kicking. Jacobs booted a first-quarter single and in the same quarter gaunt Buck Rogers added another point when he missed a field goal from scrimmage on the Eskimo 18-yard line. Rogers' fourth-quarter field goal attempt was good after Jacobs' passing stalled.

In the sobering atmosphere of the Bomber dressing room following the game, the 35-year-old Indian quarterback sat dejectedly on a bench while coach Al Sherman, standing nearby, remarked in reference to "My plans are made. We must start looking toward next year." He did not elaborate.

TRIBUTE TO KWONG

Eskimo coach Frank Ivy's grin was as usual more modest than others in the Edmonton quarters and he dropped his reticence only to say it was a team effort. Team manager Al Anderson interpreted this that Eskimos enhanced their victory chances when "Normie Kwong was dressed."

From the stands, it seemed Faloney was at his hottest in the second quarter. He conned Parker, Kwong and halfback Rollie Miles through 78 yards in a relentless rushing attack, and carried himself on the two plays prior to Parker's major.

Faloney had been considered for most of the season as a poor passer unable to utilize the advantages of the split-T quarterback. He played most of the season with his knee taped, and was frequently held to straight spread formation plays.

Faloney's best pass of the night —a 20-yard throw to end Frank Anderson, playing with his hand taped, and Kwong's 20-yard dash through centre to the Winnipeg 35 led to Dean's 35-yard quarter three-pointer.

Bombers threatened a touchdown in the third quarter, but like their other advances, successful Jacobs' passes petered out in the rushing attempts that followed.

Dutchies, Mercs Win Senior Hockey Games

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ken Green and Bill McComb, standouts with Owen Sound Mercurys of the Ontario Hockey Association senior A league, were lectured in a game with Windsor Bulldogs Saturday, but not before they paced the team to a 3-2 win.

McComb suffered a slight concussion in the third period when checked by Cam Henderson and minutes later Green received a five-stitch face cut in a pile-up in the Windsor zone.

Green scored three goals, McComb added another and Reid Hosking scored the fifth. Walt Pawlyshyn, Gord Haley and Bob Brown tallied for Windsor.

In another game Saturday, the league-leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen trounced Stratford Indians 8-3 in a home game. The Dutchmen joined a pack with Falls Cataracts 4-3 at Windsor.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior southern group, Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds edged Sudbury Wolves 4-3 at the Sault while North Bay Trappers trounced Lumber Kings battled to a 2-2 overtime tie at Pembroke Saturday.

Dutchmen jumped to a 6-2 lead in the second period and coasted the rest of the way, outshooting Indians 46-27.

George Scholes and Jack McKenzie spearheaded the attack with three goals each. Ken Lautenbach and Doc Schertzer scored one apiece. George Aitken, Lou Bendo and Doug Verity accounted for the Stratford goals.

Danny Nixon of Cataracts spoiled a shutout for goalie Bill Harrington when he scored off Bill Kovachik at 19:44 of the third period. Jim Peters tallied two of Windsor's goals. Reg Abbott and Gord Haley sank the others.

Wolves Tie, Gunners Lose

LONDON (AP)—Wolverhampton Wanderers blew a 3-0 lead over Preston North End but managed to gain a 3-3 draw. They hold their one-point lead at the top of the English Soccer League's first division.

Moscow Spartak players, who met the Wolves under the floodlights Tuesday, were among the spectators and saw the speedy English champions tear Preston's defence to shreds in the early stages.

Both teams played skilful soccer in the muddy ground. The Wolves led 1-0 at the half on a goal by Peter Broadbent. Early in the second half, wingers Jimmy Hancocks and inside forward Derek Wilshaw made it 3-0.

Preston, inspired by winger Tom Finney, came back to tie the score with Bobby Foster, Jimmy Baxter and John Highman getting the goals.

Portsmouth, which won 3-1 at Manchester City, and Sunderland, which beat Leicester 4-1 at Leicester, are hot on the heels of the Wolves.

GUNNERS BEATEN

Arsenal lost again at home, this time to Huddersfield Town 3-2. Arsenal now is fourth from the bottom of the standings.

The London team experimented with winger Don Roper at centre forward but an injury to fullback Walley Barnes forced Roper back to defence with the inexperienced Barnes on attack.

Middlesbrough defeated Sheffield 5-3 at Cardiff, is at the bottom of the first division with 10 points and Tottenham Hotspur, 2-1 loser to Chelsea, is next to last with 11 points. The two lower teams at the end of the season are demoted to the second division.

Upset of the day was lowly Sheffield United's 3-0 victory over Manchester United. Inside forward Jack Pickering and winger Jim Cross scored.

Blackburn lost 3-1 at Birmingham but still leads the second division.

St. Mike's Take Junior 'A' Lead With Twin Wins

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Michael's College Majors of Toronto piled up 14 points in two games during the weekend to move into the lead of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league.

So far this season they have dropped only two of nine games. Toronto Marlboros, in second spot, have lost one of their 10 games and have 13 points.

St. Michael's defeated Barrie Flyers 7-2 at Barrie Saturday and shut out TeePees 6-0 at home Sunday to take the lead. In other games Saturday Hamilton Tiger-Cubs and Galt Black Hawks fought to a 4-4 overtime tie at Galt and St. Catharines trounced the visiting Guelph Biltmores 8-3.

Toronto Marlboros defeated Black Hawks 8-2 Saturday at Toronto.

EARLY WRAP-UP

Majors won their second game before the week-end was over when Pat Hannigan counted from a scramble at 1:19 of the period. Linseman scored two goals and the others were shared by Duff, Noel Price, Gerry Meehan.

Majors' netminder Gerry McNamara, making his second shutout of the season, made some outstanding saves. He stopped 25 drives, four less than Marve Edwards in the TeePee cage.

TeePees, held to a 2-2 first-period tie, ran up a 6-2 lead in the second to set up the game.

Wimpy Roberts, Barry Cullen, Matt Thompson, Hank Ciesla, Cec Hockstra, Ab McDonald, Elmer Vasko and Ed Hoekstra each scored for Cataracts while Bill McCreary scored all three Biltmore goals.

Cubs and Hawks battled to an overtime win after a scoreless first period and a 2-2 tie in the second.

Hold Deadlock In Quebec Loop

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Both Shawinigan Falls Cataracts and Montreal Royals won in overtime during the weekend to maintain a deadlock for first place in the Quebec Hockey League.

Jean-Paul Denis came through in the extra period for the Cataracts against Valleyfield Braves while Ray Lagiade counted the winner for the Royals against Chicoutimi Saguenegns, both by 4-3 scores. Each team has a four-point edge over the nearest rival, Quebec Aces.

Ottawa Senators broke even with a 5-2 victory over the Saguenegns in the only game Saturday and a 6-2 loss at the hands of Quebec Sunday.

Ottawa's win Saturday put them in a fourth-place tie with the Chics, Mike Ray Powell and Ludger Tremblay each netted singles while Al Kozak, Ray Mahoney and Leslie Dagenais each scored for the winners. Ted Powers and Stan Smrke scored for Chicoutimi.

The Senators had less luck in Quebec Sunday. Pierre Brillant was the big gun for Quebec with two goals. Marius Greleau, Jim Mike, Ray Powell and Ludger Tremblay each netted singles while Al Kozak and Leslie Slipped in Ottawa's counters.

At Shawinigan Falls, the Cataracts had to come from behind to down Valleyfield.

Three Points Separate Teams In American

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only three points separated the six teams today as the American Hockey League waged one of its closest pennant races in years.

Pittsburgh Hornets moved into a tie for the lead with a 3-3 victory over Buffalo Bisons while Hershey Bears, who were the lose leaders, gained a 3-3 tie with Providence Reds in the only league action Sunday.

The Hornet line of Willie Marshall, Bob Sabourin and Kurt Ballou, each with a goal, led Pittsburgh to victory. Pete Wright and Hartley McLeod scored for Buffalo as the Bisons fell into a tie for the league cellar.

Pete Kapusta's goal 43 seconds before the end of regulation time gave the Bears a 3-3 draw with Buffalo.

Hershey scored all its goals in the first two periods. Providence came back with two in the second and the tying one in the third. Neither team made score in a 10-minute overtime period.

Petes Orfuns Win East. Title

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Edging Montreal Flyers 9-7 Saturday, Peterbrough Orfuns won the eastern Canadian intermediate A football title and will travel to Winnipeg next weekend for the Canadian final.

Orfuns built up a 7-5 first-quarter lead on a touchdown by Bill Huntley which Huntley converted and a rouge by Rhys Holman on Don Sark's kick.

In the second quarter, Max Black of the Flyers took a long pass from Ron Lamb for a major which Jerry Heckstinger converted. The Peter Petes' point was on a kick to deadline by Sark.

The Orfuns added a point in the third quarter on a deadline kick by Sark and Montreal gained one point in the final frame on a kick to deadline by Ian Hamilton.

In Toronto, secretary - registrar Bill Fry of the CRU intermediate series said the Orfuns will meet Reggie Hams of the intermediate Western Interprovincial Football Union in Winnipeg Nov. 20 for the Percy Robinson Memorial Trophy.

'Social Outcast' Wins Rich Jamaica Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Jockey Ovie Scurlock, pinch-hitting for suspended Willie Guerin, piloted Alfred Vanderbilt's Social Outcast to victory in the $97,850 Gallant Fox Handicap at Jamaica Saturday.

Social Outcast, four-year-old son of Shut Out-Pansy, drove home 1¾ lengths in front of Mrs. Philip Rieber's Ricarb, who finished eight lengths in front of Mrs. Walter Jeffords' Subahdar. Ogden Phipps' Great Captain finished a nose out of the money.

Guerin, the regular Vanderbilt rider, was grounded 10 days by the carelers riding Thursday in the Remsen Handicap.

Social Outcast paid $9.30, $5.80 and $3.70.

Jonquieres Out Of Que. Hockey

MONTREAL (CP) — Jonquiere Marquis, plagued with player and coaching troubles, have decided to withdraw from the Quebec Junior Hockey League.

The announcement was made at a QJHL meeting here Saturday, and officials began drafting a temporary playing schedule for the three remaining league teams.

Frank Dilio, registrar of the Quebec Junior Hockey Association, said all Jonquiere players will remain property of the QJHL until a final decision is made on the league's operation.

It is believed however the players will be absorbed by the remaining QJHL clubs — Quebec Frontenacs, Trois-Rivieres Flambeaux and Montreal Junior Canadiens.

This season has been the worst in the three-year existence of the Marquis. In 14 starts they only managed one win and a tie for three points.

East-West Game Possible

TORONTO (CP) — Vancouver still has hopes of staging an East-West college football game Nov. 27, although the Senior Intercollegiate Football Union final will be played in eastern Canada that day.

Warren Stevens, athletic director at the University of Toronto, said Sunday he received a telegram from Rod Phillips, athletic director at the University of British Columbia, which suggested that either Queen's Golden Gaels or University of Western Ontario Mustangs could make the trip.

The Queen and Mustangs meet in a semi-final playoff here next Saturday for Dec. 4 finals clash with Varsity Blues for the sudden-death championship game.

Stevens said Phillips proposed the loser of the semi-final could play Nov. 27 and the winner would play Dec. 4.

YOU'LL LOVE 'SABRINA' A DELIGHTFUL, WONDERFUL FILM!

Perfection is rare and "Sabrina" the brand new Paramount celluloid delight that opened Saturday at the Belle Theatre, is a rare film. Seldom has a picture contained so much wonderfulness and charm. Produced and directed by the tremendously talented Billy Wilder, "Sabrina" stars a glittering Academy Award trio, Humphrey Bogart, Audrey Hepburn and William Holden.

And if that were not enough to make the taste buds water, it is our pleasure to report that they are. Involved in a story that is a tantalizing treat. Based on a smash Broadway legitimate play, "Sabrina" is a Cinderella tale that is as fresh and frothy as anything ever delivered to Hollywood.

It all concerns lovely Audrey Hepburn, the Sabrina of our story who as the gangly-legged adolescent daughter of the chauffeur has a crush on William Holden, the youngest playboy son of her father's employers. Audrey is sent to Paris to learn cooking. She returns from France transformed into a drenchingly-beautiful young lady but still carrying the unrequited torch for Holden.

One look at Miss Hepburn and Bill forgets all about his other gals, including his fiancee. Incidentally, one look is all that is necessary as Miss Hepburn brightens up the screen to the point where she virtually glows. It is at this point that Humphrey Bogart, the older brother whose only interest in life is Wall Street mergers, enters the scene. It is his duty to see that younger brother Bill does not impair the family name and fortune by an unfortunate alliance.

What happens from there on in, is a dizzying melange of merriment and romance that has to be seen to be fully appreciated. Normal superlatives can not do "Sabrina" justice. It is a pleasure romp that affords so much entertainment that it can be seen again and again.

The stellar trio turn in performances that are magnificent. Billy Wilder's handling of cast and story is magnificent. The distinguished supporting cast headed by Walter Hampden, John Williams, Joan Vohs and Martha Hyer is magnificent.

AT THE BELLE — Audrey Hepburn and William Holden co-star with Humphrey Bogart, Academy Award winners all, in Billy Wilder's brand new comedy delight, "Sabrina", which is now playing at the Belle Theatre.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Aspects suggest sensible caution in all matters involving money, valuables, collaterals. Tact some will save much unpleasantness, differences. Avoid extremes.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Steer clear of wild schemes, thrusts in the dark. Where there is a possibility that you may run into difficulty, investigate and take precautionary measures. Cope with problems without fuss, worry.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — New situations may bring some overlapping of work, extra duties. Avoid irritation, misunderstandings; remain calm. You can conquer obstacles if you use your innate gifts.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Your curriculum may not include certain outside activities possible now. Reason in all matters carefully. Hold solidly to highest principles and your fine zodiacal characteristics.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Some uncertainties, situation that could alter your course of action. Do not become discouraged because of obstacles. Now is the time to say: "they can't down my spirit or sound intent." Don't give up.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — You may have to top past efforts on this your extremely encouraging day. You can master situations if you stick to sure methods and maintain a hopeful attitude.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — How and what you do with what you have to work with counts — also how you use available opportunities. Specifically, you'll have to be "up to snuff" and eager to work hard for the worthwhile.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — You may encounter some obstacles which will have to be hurdled slowly. Act with prudence. Aim to insure happy relationships at work, at home; don't be over-optimistic.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Bolster your self-confidence; concentrate on the job. Knowledge that things are going to be better. You may find some hard going today but it will pay in the long run if you are consistent, diplomatic.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — It has been said that "opportunity only knocks once." We don't think so. If you missed following up good ideas before, this is the day for another try. Use your initiative!

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — "Stitch in time" knitting" is a pertinent slogan now. Study things well before you act. You can do a good job regardless of what the outlook seems at the start of the day.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Not all goes well. An ounce of prevention could be just what is needed to keep you on the right path now. When in doubt, stop, pause for look-see.

YOU BORN TODAY are innately just; can be appealed to but seldom driven. You have fine intuition, a strong will; a constructive mind. You can judge character quickly; instinctively know right from wrong. If living on the higher plane you will follow the right road, staunchly upholding principles. However, you can attain great success when you utilize your versatile talents properly. Avoid jealousy, ill temper, extravagance. Don't take things for granted, give matters of real importance the thought you know they need.
